Assembyman Donnelly's AB 64 to remove Off-Roading Off-Road Restrictions

Passes Committee Unanimously

SACRAMENTO – Assemblemen community, environment and safety advocates sponsored Assembly Bill 64 to remove restrictions on off-road vehicles. The Assembly Committee Bill 64 removed restrictions on off-road vehicles. The Assembly Committee Bill 64 removed restrictions on off-road vehicles.

“Last year, retroactive restrictions on the use of off-highway vehicles impacted a huge number of businesses and families across California. AB 64 is an important step towards making sure that people can continue to enjoy using off-road vehicles for recreation. This bill will allow families to continue to use these vehicles in a safe and responsible way,” said Assemblyman Scott Wilk.

AB 64 was introduced by Assemblyman Scott Wilk and co-authored by Assemblyman Ben Allen, Assemblywoman Autumn Spilker, and Assemblymember Tasha Boerner Horvath. The bill was approved on a 16-0 vote by the Assembly Committee on Business, Commerce, and Small Business.

The bill would allow families to continue to use off-road vehicles for recreation, including activities such as hunting, fishing, and outdoor sports. It would also allow families to continue to use off-road vehicles for purposes such as transporting goods and equipment.

Police Respond to Covina Walmart and get Bomb Threat

By George Ogden

Sacramento, April 27, around 9 p.m., the Covina police responded to the corner of Eckerman and Osborne Street.

It appeared that Morgan Hernandez, 42, a male Hispanic, was in the area including closing down the southbound lanes of 9.

The woman was arrested and most likely will be charged with hit-and-run and making bomb threats to the public and police.

PCP and was arrested for both, hit-and-run and being in possession of PCP.

The woman had left a minor traffic collision, the police said. The PCP was located in Hernandez's vehicle still in the vehicle.

Officers determined him and noticed that he was acting oddly, showing symptoms of being under PCP. The officer found Hernandez in possession of PCP and was arrested for both, hit-and-run and being in possession of PCP.

What If the Tsarnaevs’ Motive Was Revenge for U.S. Foreign Policy?

By Shalson Reitan

On the day of the Boston Marathon bombing, President Obama stood in the White House Rose Garden and said, "We will find out who did this." And, we wish to prevent such wanton destruction of our cities and our values.

"We will find out who did this; and we wish to prevent such wanton destruction of our cities and our values.

But what role did American policies play in the motivation of the perpetrators? What if the Tsarnaevs’ motive for committing these crimes was revenge for U.S. foreign policy? Let’s imagine the scenarios that might have prompted them to carry out such heinous acts.

What Happening In The Religious World – First In Series

In these three years I have filed over 150 columns about public policies that have impacted the city of Los Angeles. My lifelong-vocation has been as a pastor and theologian, only three years ago, I was introduced to a new world of religion. Well, that is not to say that I did not learn to be bilingual. When I became a pastor, I realized that people could not speak within the secular world—such as with these columns and articles.

The message, however, is subtle: religion has to do with justice, equity, morality, and human rights. How we treat the earth as well as how we treat one another are both profoundly religious.

But will people remain interested in religion if they don’t like what they hear? Judging by the recent past, the answer might well be no. After 9/11, people wondered if we were being valued in the same way by the Muslim world. By flying airplanes into our cities and our lives, they make us question our values and our agenda. Thus andDP

Understanding Financial Aid

Awards Letter: Compare Costs

When comparing college awards letters, one of a student’s first steps should be filling out the Federal Student Aid Application. Then, students can compare their financial aid award letters from each college.

What do you do if you receive more financial aid than you need? Students should compare their award letters carefully. If they receive more financial aid than they need, they can apply the excess funds toward unmet costs, such as tuition, books, and room and board.

What if you’re better off to wait until next year to apply for more financial aid? Students should compare their award letters carefully. If they receive more financial aid than they need, they can apply the excess funds toward unmet costs, such as tuition, books, and room and board.

Q: Are mailing addresses the same at my local DMV and what are they used for?

A: Yes, you are being frank! About 773,000 people use the DMV’s website for every $5 increase from 2011 Self- Service Terminals (SST) allow the customer to complete registration or renewal online for $5. Online registration or renewal can be done without lining in wait. SSTs accept credit cards and payments for a registration card and sticker or PSO Authorization Stamps printed at the terminal after the completion of the transaction. By the way, if your billing notice indicates insurance is required, please be sure to complete those requirements immediately. Contractors for SSTs still pay fees but your price made a limit payment and do not have to give the information on SSTs, visit www.dmv.ca.gov or call 1-800-776-7222.

Q: I see a lot of information about all of the different things I can do online. What is the best way to use that capability?

A: Visit our website at www.dmv.ca.gov. Times of sale are based on the week of the month of purchase. It is free! DMV was the first state agency to develop an iPhone application in-house, while keeping costs to a minimum. Follow the trend and visit http://www.dmv.ca.gov/online/online.htm. Remember to Save Time! Q: What are the face cards collected for the Veteran’s cemetery plates used for?

A: For the issuance, renewal and personalization of Veteran’s classroom plates benefit the County Veteran Services Officers Fund. The DMV licenses drivers, investigates auto and identity-related fraud, and issues vehicle registrations and insurance. It lies in obtaining benefits and services accrued through military service. Basic car care is the key to a long-lasting car, and to improving its safety and dependability.

What to Do

Basic maintenance procedures can help keep your car operating better for a long time.

1. Check all fluids, including engine oil, power steering, brake and transmission as well as wiper fluid, coolant, antifreeze and oil.
2. Check the tires and be sure to make sure they’re not cracked, bulged, frayed, loose or showing signs of excessive wear.
3. Check the battery and replace if necessary. Make sure the connections are clean and corrosion-free.
4. Check the brake system annually and have the brake lines, return and drain lines inspected at each oil change.
5. Inspect the steering suspension system annually by checking for loose, frayed, loose or showing signs of excessive wear.

Your Key To A Long-Lasting-Car

If you get a major blow out that is larger than a quarter of your tire, repair the tire with the repair kit. If the tire is still repairable, the repair kit will work. If the problem is on the side of the tire, instead of the bottom, you will need to be sure that the tire is properly inflated. Be sure that the care of 80-80 by the time of the repair. This makes sure the tire is still repairable.

This manufacturer also says that TPMS (tire pressure monitoring system) will alert you in most cases that you have a leak which you can fix before you have a flat. If you buy a new car, you might want to look for the spare tire option.

Manufacturers have been mandated by the Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) standards and are scrambling to improve fuel efficiency. Most manufacturers believe that the only way to make it happen is to lower the weight. The manufacturers stress that they are using this method to help their cause but it is something that the manufacturer wants to be strict in the middle of the road. This is to avoid a spate that you aren’t going to fix.

Basic car care is the key to a long-lasting car, and to improving its safety and dependability.

What to Do

Basic maintenance procedures can help keep your car operating better for a long time.

1. Check all fluids, including engine oil, power steering, brake and transmission as well as wiper fluid, coolant, antifreeze and oil.
2. Check the tires and be sure to make sure they’re not cracked, bulged, frayed, loose or showing signs of excessive wear.
3. Check the battery and replace if necessary. Make sure the connections are clean and corrosion-free.
4. Check the brake system annually and have the brake lines, return and drain lines inspected at each oil change.
5. Inspect the suspension system annually by checking for loose, frayed, loose or showing signs of excessive wear.

Five Ways Older Adults Can Be More Active

By The National Diabetes Education Program

As you get older, your risk for health problems, such as type 2 diabetes, increases. You also have a greater chance of getting type 2 diabetes if you have family history of diabetes. But it is never too late to lower your risk for type 2 diabetes. Research shows that modest weight loss through healthy eating and increased physical activity can help to prevent or delay type 2 diabetes in people over age 60.

If you are overweight, losing just a few pounds can reduce your risk of developing type 2 diabetes. If you weigh 200 pounds, a weight loss of about 10 to 14 pounds. Talk to your doctor about setting safe weight loss goals and ways to meet your goal.

Getting Started: How to Get Moving

Once you set your goals, decide what small steps you will take to get started. For example, you might say, “I will walk for 10 minutes during the day.” By allowing a minute or two minutes each day, you will be able to increase your activity each day until you are able to maintain the activity. By increasing your activity each day, you will be able to increase your activity each day until you are able to maintain the activity.

Be active, more and less to help yourself lose weight or stay at a healthy weight and be more flexible and strong. Ask your health care provider how you can safely start to be more active. Before being active, be sure to warm up to get your body ready. Shrug your shoulders, swing your arms, or march in place for 5 to 10 minutes before you begin any activity.

Four Ways to Be More Active

There are many ways you can get active. It doesn’t have to be expensive, such as walking or doing chair exercises. Find an activity you enjoy and can do safely. It will make it easier to stick to your plan and reach your goals. Try these ideas.

Around the House. Things that you can do every day can help you be more active. Stand up when you get off a chair and sit down again without using your hands. Rise up and down on your toes while standing and holding on to a stable, high chair or stool. When you watch TV, stretch and move around during commercial breaks. You can also walk around the house when you are watching TV. Sit on your haunches along with a video for older adults that shows you how to get active.

Around Town. Being more active can also be a great way to meet friends. Join a local walking group. Always walk in safe places such as the mall, a museum or community center, or park. If it is safe, park the car further away from stores or restaurants if you take public transportation. The area is safer if you walk a few steps and be more active.

With Your Family. Get your family involved in your activity. Children and adults can be more active together. Teach the kids to turn off the TV when you are at home and the kids to have a “no TV” rule. Ask your kids to help you plan your daily activities and reach your goals. Ask them to share what old tips are an easy way to be more active.

Get Outside. When you can, get active outside. Take a walk in the morning or afternoon. Ask a friend to walk with you. Enjoy a brisk walk with your feet or friends around a park, museum or zoo. Think Together and Imagination Now - Resources for our Schools

DUARTE - At recent meet- ing, the Duarte Kiwanis Club hosted two women from re-markable organizations - Anne Turner, Executive Director, Think Together and Cheryl Stanton, Founder and Executive Direc- tor of Imagination Now. Both organizations provide needed resources to the children of Southern California. THINK Together's mission is to provide high-quality, academically ori- ented out-of-school programs for students regardless of race, creed, or socioeconomic status. Since its inception in 1994, THINK (Teaching, Helping, In- spiriring and Nurturing Kids) Together has been committed to improving academic out- comes for children and youth living in under-served com- munities. THINK Together is already participating and partnering with the Duarte Uni- fied School District with pro- grams in a number of elemen- tary schools. Anne Turner was able to share some of the re- markable successes that are happening in the THINK To- gether programs.

Imagination Now was estab- lished to fuel the future success of children in schools and other institutions at no cost to ignite imagination, inspire creative expression and increase em- powerment behaviors. Imagination Now offers presentations in classrooms and other settings using books as a teaching tool. Cheryl Russell was able to share the successes Imagination Now has already seen in various ele- mentary, school classrooms as well. All in all, it was very in- spirational and an opportunity for the Duarte Kiwanis Club to network resources within the Duarte Community. The Duarte Kiwanis Club has launched two programs that encourage them to have a vision of the kind of adults they want to become. The first, Bring them in, is a free activity that introduces kindergarten through fifth grade students to individual college students or professionals in the community. The second, Inspiring and Nurturing Kids (IMAGINE) was developed to fuel the future success of children in schools and other institutions at no cost to ignite imagination, inspire creative expression and increase empowerment behaviors. Citrus College Campus Safety Officer Honored

by Stacy Armstrong

GLENDALE - David Ramirez, a Citrus College Cam- pus Safety Officer, was recently honored during a meeting of the Citrus Community College Dis- trict Board of Trustees.

Ramirez, who has worked at Citrus College since 2006, was presented with the “Above and Beyond – Classified Development” (ABCD) Award on Tues- day. The ABCD Award is presented to the second Classified Citrus College employee to re- ceive this honor. The ABCD Award is admin- istered by Dr. Martha McDonald, dean of students, and Dr. Avelino, vice president of student services.

“Campus Safety plays an important role in the college’s ability to serve our students and our community,” said Dr. Geraldine M. Paredes, superinten- dent/president. “As a Campus Safety Officer, Mr. Ramirez has consistently demonstrated a professional demeanor when interacting with the public. His thoughtful and professional way of handling situations makes him an asset to his de- partment and to Citrus College.”

The ABCD Award provides the college with the opportunity honor a Classified employee on a quarterly basis. The ABCD Staff Development Committee, under the leadership of Dr. Crosby, director of natural and physical sciences and library, and Tina Crosby, facilities operations assistant, developed the criteria and established the award.

Mr. Robert Coutts, president of the Citrus College Chapter of the California School Employ- ees Association (CSEA) praised Mr. Ramirez on behalf of CSEA and announced that the chapter will present with the “Above and Beyond” (ABCD) Award on Tues- day.
