West Covina Councilman Corey Warshaw Recovering from Emergency Surgery

By George Ogden

West Covina - On Wednesday, June 27th, West Covina Councilman Corey Warshaw went to a restaurant with West Covina Mayor Steve Herbst. After the meal Warshaw experienced severe abdominal pain. He was admitted to the Queen of the Valley Hospital where he underwent surgery because of blocked and twisted intestines. The operation required that they remove his intestine because of the obstruction in the area. It appeared that the operation was a success, but there was a setback. Warshaw needed a pass through to make sure this was a successful surgery and his system was okay. It wasn't until July 2nd that this did happen. I went to see councilman Corey Warshaw to see how he was doing later that the next day, he told me that the procedure went well. He was in good spirits and was hoping to get out of the hospital soon. He expected to be released early this week and as of this writing, he is still recovering in the hospital.

He was saddened by the thought that he would be unable to attend the 4th of July event that the city and MDA put on, however, he felt that he may have one of the best views of the firework show. The fourth floor hospital window has a clear shot for the fire work display. He may have one of the best spots for the fireworks. I went to see councilman Corey Warshaw to see how he was doing later that night. The resi dents complained to those setting off the fireworks. It seemed that the people that were setting off the fireworks thought the residents asked to stop light illegal fireworks in the street was not of their business.

Family and neighbors believe the arson fire was in retaliation for a possible phone call to police, which the residents did not make. There are strong concerns for the safety of those believed responsible as possible vigilantes may try to get even for the residents. There had been cases where people had enough and stepped over the law to get even with the suspects. Everything from shootings to burning down businesses to beating and also murder. The police don’t want to have people taking the law into their own hands. The only thing that will happen is that good people will get into trouble. Let the police do their job. It appears that people were setting off fireworks in the street after midnight. The residents complained to those setting off the fireworks.

West Covina City Council Honors the Little League Dodgers - City Major Tournament Champions

By George Ogden

WEST COVINA - The West Covina City Council, at its July 1st meeting, recognized and gave Certificates of Recognition to the West Covina American Little League Major Division Dodgers who are the City’s Major Tournament Champions. Team members came up while Mayor Steve Herfert and league director Glenn Kennedy shook hands and congratulated each team member. Parents swarmed the center aisle to get pictures of their player and baseball stars and heroes. Both the parents and the city are proud of their Dodgers.

Duarte Kiwanis Club Welcomes New Members

By George Ogden

WEST COVINA - All Kiwanis Clubs are always thrilled to welcome new members - especially those who have been Kiwanians before in other communities. Duarte Kiwanis is proud to welcome Jim Dinsmore and Cheryl Reynolds as their newest members. Jim is a former member of the El Monte Kiwanis Club. Jim brings a wealth of knowledge of Community Service - he actually was one of the contractors who coordinated a project for “Extreme Makeover - Home Edition” a number of years ago, and is ready to help set a new standard in the community.

Cheryl also has a shared vision of community service and has put that to work by providing a fund raising opportunity through her Origami Owl business - 10% of the sales from the fundraiser will go to support the Duarte Kiwanis Relay for Life Team.

The Duarte Kiwanis Club has lunch meetings the first, third and fifth Tuesdays of the month at Westminster Gardens. For further information on speaking or joining the club, contact Dr. Diane Hernandez at deh@heroidentoptometry.com.

The Guyana Party & BBQ Picnic at Bonelli Park

By George Ogden

SAN DIAMAS - This celebrated as a Guyana Picnic and it is a huge event. This is the 30th Anniversary of this event and it was very well attended. It is attended by close to 500 people attending with the majority of the folks having Guyana ancestry. Of course, an event like this would certainly have the food, and boy did they have it. Even after one visited, they were greeted with food. Families from all over came to enjoy the event at Bonelli Park in San Dimas.

Great food, great music and one of the biggest raffles that you could have at an event like this. There may have been over 200 prizes available. You name it, and if it could fit on a table, they had it. Coordinators organized the kids for competition with each one in their age group. The races were the 1st and if you won a guy, you didn’t want to get beat by a girl.

The picnic went all day and into the evening. Everyone who attended this picnic had a great time.

I don’t believe that some par- ents or some people are treating this as a little kid and they are not treating this as a baby. You can’t just not pay unless you really don’t want to. You have a right to refuse to pay if you want to. But I think that this is no place to take along small children because they may melt down and have a temper tantrum talking. Get your creative and brand right. It’s not just logos or pretty graphics. Your brand promise, voice, and tone all need to represent your school as quality for better results. Again, input from an unbiased party helps you’re on track.

6. Communicate from beginning to end, using the methods your stakeholders prefer. Personalized, multimodal, phone automated campaigns make this easier and free up your staff to focus on high-value tasks. Bonus: Results are trackable at all points.

7. Follow through with your brand promises. If you don’t live up to your brand, people won’t have a second chance.

8. Don’t search for tips, facts and whitepapers.

Five Ways A Power Outage Can Cost You Money

Despite increases in their frequency and severity, power outages are still viewed by many people as merely inconvenient. Short outages—perhaps four hours or less—certainly fall within that category. Beyond that, power outages can impact your home in the thousands of dollars.

Here are five ways an extended power outage can impact your home in the thousands of dollars.

- Lost refrigerated and frozen foods. If you choose to remain in your home, you will need to invest in batteries for radios and flashlights, coolers to store food, and ice to keep food cold. You may have to move the family to store food, and ice to keep food.
- Loss of income. Depending on the impact on your home, you might have to move the family to store food, and ice to keep food cold. You may have to move the family to another location to stay for more than two hours at over 40 degrees Fahrenheit. Because refrigerators and freezers can’t stay cold without electricity, an extended power outage can cost you hundreds of dollars.
- Additional costs for short goods. If you choose to remain in your home, you will need to invest in batteries for radios and flashlights, coolers to store food, and ice to keep food.
- Damage to your home. Without a pump system to keep that basement dry, additional work to prevent moisture and mold that can keep pipes from freezing, you could suffer damage to your home in the thousands of dollars.
- Expenses from staying at a hotel or eating out. If you have no heat or running water, you might have to move the family into a hotel for a night or two. Add restaurant tabs to that and you’ve lost another couple hundred dollars.

Beyond that, power outages can impact your home in the thousands of dollars.
Awarded to San Gabriel Valley Resident

National Boy Scouts of America (BSA) William T. Hornaday Gold Medal Awarded to San Gabriel Valley Resident

GLENDALE - The Gold Medal Hornaday Award of the National Boy Scouts of America was made to a 30-year Life Scout. Dr. Craig Murray was awarded the Gold Medal on Bluebird Ranch Mountain Preserve, Glendora. The Preserve is one of the newest preservation and restoration projects of the Glendora Conservancy.

In Scouting, the Hornaday, as the prestigious and legendary award is called, is the result of awards presented. Due to length of dedication and difficulty in standards met, few applicants meet the rigor of the criteria for achievement. In fact, years may lapse before awards are given. The Hornaday is given only to an Adult Scout or Venturing Leader demonstrating distinguished and unusual service to natural resource conservation and environmental improvement over a sustained period of at least a 20-year period. Nominations may be submitted by recognized conservation, environmental protection organizations. Nomi- nee accomplishments must be at a local, national, or international level. Murray was this year’s highly qualified and proud recipient.

For Murray with his extensive background and achievement of more than 30 years locally and internationally, it has been a long and arduous path. He continues to be devoted to leadership in conservation and environment regionally and internationally. Murray has been affiliated in many leadership and consulting roles with the San Gabriel Valley Council, Pasadena, and the California Inland Empire Council (formerly Old Baldy Council).

As the outside Sponsor for the Hornaday nomination, the San Gabriel Mountains Regional Conservancy (SGMRC) of Glendora has valued Murray in his expertise and generous service as a Board Member, Board Advisor and for his Technical Assistance. Murray’s family and friends joined with local groups and organizations in the award reception with invited BSA attendees and troopers. Flag Ceremony was given by C.B. Scout Pack 381, Glendora. Local BSA guests came from Glendora, Redlands, Arcola, Walnut, and Pasadena. Special invited guest was Jack Orswell, long-time friend and BSA Board Member, representing the San Gabriel Valley Council, currently running for Congress.

Dr. Craig Murray, the highly qualified and proud recipient, with Jim Owren, longtime friend and BSA Board Member, representing currently running for Congress.

TOPS Recognizes Member for 51 lb. Loss

By George Ogden
WEST COVINA - At a recent TOPS (Taking Pounds Off Sensibly) meeting, Erika Hernandez was recognized for losing 51 pounds while in the program.

West Covina Mayor Pro-Tem not only took part in the recognition but was also the guest speaker.

Erika filled in at the last minute when Councilman James Toma was unable to make it. On very short notice, Sykes dropped everything to attend the meeting for the member. He was helping out both the members and Councilman Toma.

Sykes made the presentation and congratulated Hernandez on her achievements. It was kind of a bonus for the members as he spoke on how difficult it was to work and stay in shape. As a law enforcement officer, this was a needed task and he talked about riding his bike back and forth to the station which was miles away. He talked about things that people can do to help lose weight and stay healthy.

Next, he turned to another subject and talked about safety, which drew a lot of questions from the members.

TOPS meets every Thursday evening at the West Covina Senior Center on Center just west of Citrus Ave. Meeting starts at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

AZUSA - The Ribbon Cut- ting Ceremony for the Grand Opening of the Sweet Suseth Café and Bakery took place in the afternoon of Saturday June 28th. Azusa Mayor Joe Rocha along with Azusa Mayor Pro Tem Robert Gonzales and Azusa Councilman Eddie Alvarez were at hand to cut the ribbon. Sweet Suseth is a joint venture of William and Arla Sedillos and Betty Alvarado and Lily Martinez. They served many items from cupcakes, candies, apple tarts and eclairs, everybody seemed to have a sweet tooth that day. They had a Disc Jockey playing popular music and friends and family gathered to wish the new Café and Bakery a wonderful future. Mayor Pro Tem Robert Gonzales said that “it is always a pleasure to see new businesses opening in the City of Azusa.” Sweet Suseth is located at 180 W. Sierra Madre Avenue in Azusa. There also have cake for all occasions, from weddings to showers and available for catering.

SAN MARINO - The San Marino Independence Day Parade started sharp at 5 p.m. Although the sun was out and the temperatures were close to triple digits, on that day, it did not stop neighbors of San Marino and surrounding cities from attending this All American event. The streets were lined with children, families and senior citizens, waving the U.S. Flag and cheering the participants in the parade. One senior citizen in a wheelchair kept shouting “thank you” to firefighters as they drove by. There were cars of all kinds of vintages, from Model T Fords to Ford and Chevrolet convertibles from the 1950’s, trucks full of cheering children from baseball teams, fire engines, ambulances and police cars. Three single engine planes from the World War 2 era buzzed the parade about three or four times, spewing smoke in formation. This parade is organized by Rotary of San Marino and is an annual traditional event.

WEST COVINA - The City of West Covina, Silicon Dis- posal and the West Covina Elks participated together to put on a great 4th of July Celebration. The day started off with a Pancake Breakfast at Hurst Ranch, hosted by the West Covina Elks Lodge.
Throughout the day, there was a concert with food, rides, and games that was across the street from the Hurst Ranch at Edgewood High School. Later, the Mayor welcomed all those who attended and intro- duced the band, Cold Duck as well as the dignitaries during a break.
Around 9 p.m., there was a huge Fireworks Show which was spectacular, as always. The entire day was with good food, fun rides and booths, great music and a fantastic fire-works display.

AZUSA - The Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for the Grand Opening of the Sweet Suseth Café and Bakery took place in the afternoon of Saturday June 28th. Azusa Mayor Joe Rocha along with Azusa Mayor Pro Tem Robert Gonzales and Azusa Councilman Eddie Alvarez were at hand to cut the ribbon. Sweet Suseth is a joint venture of William and Arla Sedillos and Betty Alvarado and Lily Martinez.

They served many items from cupcakes, candies, apple tarts and eclairs, everybody seemed to have a sweet tooth that day. They had a Disc Jockey playing popular music and friends and family gathered to wish the new Café and Bakery a wonderful future.
