SALEM — Assemblyman Gatto Honors Family of Civil Rights Trailblazer Salvador Roldan

Sacramento — Assemblyman Mike Gatto (D—Los Angeles) and the California State Legislature honored the families of Salvador Roldan, the plaintiff in the 1930’s ruling of Roldan v. Los Angeles County, who challenged the state’s anti-miscegenation laws at the time.

Salvador Roldan was a Filipino-American man who fell in love with a British-American woman, Marjorie Rogers. However, even though Roldan was prevented from marrying Marjorie because the county refused to issue a marriage license, stating Filipino-Americans were not allowed to marry whites. After three years of perseverance, the courts recognized their marriage, the California Supreme Court made Roldan’s marriage to Marjorie legal. Unfortunately, just a week after the county’s appeal was denied, the legislature voted to reconstitute the law by mandating banning interracial marriages.

“This is a story of a couple’s courage and standing up for what is right,” said Gatto. “Living in the era of Marjorie and Salvador’s sacrifices allowed us to learn from our mistakes and make life better, for those who want to marry the one they love.”

Gatto offered a formal apology to the Roldan family and Filipino-Americans for his legislature’s actions. Gatto was joined by Roldan’s son Bryan Roldan and daughter Juliette Salvia, who is the mother of Gatto’s cousin. Bryan Salvia

“Honoring the Roldan Family on the very floor that tragedy occurred, brought Marjorie’s right to marriage to the forefront,” Gatto said.

Gatto and the Roldan family were joined by the Southern California Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce, the Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce, the Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce, and the Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce, and the Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce.

SACRAMENTO - The Assembly Committee on Budget is convening to take action this week that will throw the fiscal fate of thousands of children into doubt, and will likely teacher and school support staff, and the families of students, and school districts bankrupted across California. The Assembly leadership has pressured the committees to submit legislation (as of this writing) that will put an end to the successful and not allow it to move forward. California. The decision by committee has been overwhelmingly positive for schools and students, and a champion of school reform and a supporter of school choice. These kids are part of our families and schools, and cannot do the job without appointing to the Executive Board and serving in a manner that is prohibited by law. The Legislature has until August 31 to send such a bill to the Governor for consideration.

Former Mayor of Glendora

Glendora, CA – A new book on the history of Glendora's racist police, "Brown's Dirty Hands", recently released by Professor Geoffrey G. Bayer, is raising eyebrows and anger among those who support a police department that has been found guilty of racial discrimination and bias. The book explores the role of Glendora's police department in suppressing civil rights movements in the 1960s and 1970s.

The book, which is the result of a four-year research project, details the police department's role in suppressing civil rights movements in the 1960s and 1970s. It also highlights the police department's role in the 1960s and 1970s.

Bayer, who is a professor of history at the University of California, Los Angeles, says the police department's role in suppressing civil rights movements was a matter of public record.

"It's a fascinating read," said Bayer. "It's a book that needs to be read by everyone who cares about the Glendora community and the future of the police department."

The book is available for purchase on Amazon.com and other online retailers.

I have recently discovered that many of my patients — perhaps even some of my closest friends — have been exposed to toxic chemicals in their homes. This is a cause for serious concern and action.

Medical research has shown that exposure to toxic chemicals in the home can have serious health consequences. It can cause cancer, birth defects, and other serious health problems. In some cases, it can even be fatal.

As a physician, I urge all Americans to take steps to protect themselves and their families from exposure to toxic chemicals in the home. This includes:

- Making sure your home is free of mold and other allergens.
- Testing for radon gas, which can be present in any home.
-Using exhaust fans in the bathroom and kitchen.
- Keeping your home well ventilated.
- Cleaning your home regularly.
- Avoiding contact with paint, solvents, and other chemicals.
- Using protective clothing when working with chemicals.

We must all work together to protect ourselves and our loved ones from the dangers of toxic chemicals in the home. Together, we can create a safer and healthier environment for all Americans.

Federal Reserve: More hikes unlikely

The Federal Reserve may wait to hike interest rates at least until its Sept. 18-19 meeting, following an implicit warning from the central bank's vice chairman.

He spoke Thursday at a conference sponsored by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. 略

Fed Up with Recalls!

It is amazing these days that there are so many recalls. Al- most any car with a manufacturer’s recall, and of course those re- calls for our cars! It is getting harder to feel “safe.” Consumers are losing patience!

The recent recall of Takata airbag inflators in the US is a sad situation. This is a company that the auto chieftains and “manufacturer” are pointing fingers at each other instead of finding a solution to the recall.

State legislators are getting involved as well. The federal government prohibits the sale of new vehicles that have not been repaired, but what happens if the defective recall is not repaired? These cars are on the deal- ers’ lots until the parts arrive so they can be repaired and sent back to fix the problem. If the manufacturer can’t get the parts right away, they have to pay the dealership until the parts arrive. In addition, they have vehicles on their lot waiting for service if the defective part is not repaired, and the cars that need the service are not making money for the dealership. This is one way to ensure that the dealers are paid.

When it comes to the Takata airbags, the problem just gets more serious. As of July 14, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reported that the manufacturer cannot produce enough airbags for all the cars that need them, and the recall is not expected to end until 2018. This means that consumers who have had to pay the dealership until the parts arrive are not getting their vehicles back any sooner.

The problem is that the Takata airbag inflators are defective, and they can cause serious injury or death. Some consumers have already had their airbags deployed, and they have suffered serious injuries.

It is important that consumers be aware of the risks associated with Takata airbags, and they should take steps to protect themselves. If you have a car that is affected by the recall, you should contact your dealership as soon as possible to schedule a repair.

Federal Reserve: More hikes unlikely. 略

It is really embarrassing to even think about not knowing if I’ll have enough money for retirement. 略

It’s really important to prepare for retirement, but its also a huge, big step in the right direction! You have to think about your financial future, and ask yourself “Who will help you?” Roughly 80% of Americans feel the same way, and if you’re one of the 20% that doesn’t, you are really affecting their sleep. The majority of us have to think about saving for retirement, but still full of anxiety. One of the other reasons people don’t prepare is: they don’t have a specific goal to work towards.

A crisis. 略

We are in the middle of a crisis. The automotive “fiasco” surrounding Takata it is now a crisis. As of July 14, there are so many recalls. With the end of the summer, it is now time to start thinking about saving for your children’s college education, but I don’t have any money, and I don’t know what my choices are, and what’s best.

The other one to save to for experience things in life, college, home purchase, retirement, the better. Setting up a savings plan is a wonderful gift from parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles. 略

Glendora Genealogy Group Meeting

GLENANDA

The Genealogy Group will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday, August 23 in the Elm Room of the La Fetra Center, 203 West E Ave., San Dimas.

There will be a slide presentation by Pat Chavarria at 6:00PM. Our business meeting follows at 6:30PM. After the meeting, Jane Neff Rollins will be our speaker. Her topic will be "A Picture Is Worth 1,000 Words: 20th Century Family Photos." Do you have a shoebox full of photos of people you can’t identify? Her extensive collection of daily 20th century photographs as jumping off points, as your starting points. She can identify which cliche in each photo (clothing, backdrops/props, photographic snapshot/standard framing) can help you pinpoint which clues in each photo (clothing, backdrops/props, photographic snapshot/standard framing) can help you pinpoint who the subjects might be. Jane Neff Rollins is a professional genealogist who specializes in Jewish genealogy, translating Russian language documents, and breaking down brick walls. Jane has spoken at the American Association of Jewish Genealogical Societies' annual conference and to local genealogy societies. Jane is a member of the Association of Professional Genealogists, the Genealogical Society of the Pacific, and the Association of Professional Genealogists.

DUARTE - When students and staff returned to school at Duarte Unified School District on August 15, 2016, it marked not only the first day of the new academic year, but also the first day of the Competitive Advantage Plan, a five-year strategic plan.

A resolution to adopt the CAP was passed by the Board of Education on July 21, 2016. The plan provides a blueprint for the next five years as the Duarte Unified School District (DUSD) embark on a comprehensive five-month data collection and analysis effort.

This included a community-wide survey of 6,000 and a Claremont Graduate University’s Evaluation Center that yielded over 3,000 responses. Additional details and strategies were collected through 50 focus group sessions with students, parents, certificated and classified staff at all school sites, a variety of community members, including civic and business leaders, parents exiting DUSD, alumni, current students, and community members. In all, 5,000 stakeholders participated in the process.

All of the data collected was very clear: Duarte students need our help. The Community Education Council, comprised of stakeholders from all stakeholder groups, who together with the District Leaders, Trustees, and district staff throughout the year examine the data and collaborate to develop the actionable items contained in the plan.

“The plan is our beacon to guide us for the next five years,” said Superintendent Allan Mucerino. “It is the compilation of many years of contributions from the efforts of a writing team, a steering committee of our community and stakeholders, and a slate of representatives from all stakeholder communities. It reflects an honest and reflective portrayal of where we need to be as we move the district into the future. The Competitive Advantage Plan is our blueprint to produce the 21st Century learners that are necessary for success in the world.”

A draft of the district executive director adopted a new vision statement: “21st Century Schools Producing 21st Century Students.” Themanifesto was also updated to read: “The Duarte Unified School District is to provide the necessary tools and inspiration for each student to be successful in college, career, and life.”

The single dominant theme of the CAP is not specifically, rigorous academic standards, rigorous accountability standards and the rigorous pursuit of identifying and addressing the individual strengths and needs of students.

While stakeholders identified the rigor of the Early College Program at Duarte High School as a specialized STEM and engineering course, other elements of the Advanced Design (CAD), Advanced Placement classes, City of Hope research and the Automotive Baccalaureate program at Maxim College as exemplary programs in a variety of areas of strength, of terror, of rigor, was also identified as a specific area that needs to be strengthened. As a result of these findings, much more emphasis is being placed upon support classroom technology, digital learning resources such as specialization on site, focused professional development and teacher collaboration. At the district instructional context and the Common Core; vocational programs for non-college bound students, more specialized courses, electives, and technology (CTE) programs in such areas as administrative health care, technology, biology, computer science, food design, building and understanding interactive media, art, design, and communication.

Tips to Prevent the Spread of Back-to-School Germs

Back-to-school is an exciting time of year for families, but it also means more new exposures to germs.

From school desks found to have 400 more live bacteria than the average toilet, to personal items like backpacks and cell phones, germs are everywhere -- did you know that backpacks have 400 times more bacteria than the average toilet, to perform more frequent intervals in order to improve instruction, close the Achievement Gap, and ensure that all students meet or exceed state standards.

In addition, much more emphasis is being placed upon support classroom technology, digital learning resources such as specialization on site, focused professional development and teacher collaboration. At the district instructional context and the Common Core; vocational programs for non-college bound students, more specialized courses, electives, and technology (CTE) programs in such areas as administrative health care, technology, biology, computer science, food design, building and understanding interactive media, art, design, and communication.

Therefore, the Plan includes a comprehensive high school blueprint for an alternatieve learning option called the Advanced Placement and will serve as a guide for the future as the District evaluates it annually.

Superintendent Mucerino offered his gratitude, “to everyone who participated in the time by completing the District’s community survey, attending focus group sessions, answering phone interviews, and submitting comments for re- flection. We listened!”

It also provided the 12 members of the CAP Writing Team, as well as 12 staff members and 26 community members of the CAP Steering Committee for their tireless efforts in pro- ducing the 72-page CAP docu- ment.

It is a new day for Duarte Schools! Read the complete plan for yourself and see why at http://www.duarteusd.org/Domain/10. You can also visit the CAP site or comments about the CAP via the District website at http://www.duarteusd.org/Page/5680.

GLENDALE – Good food, music and fellowship is there any better way to spend a summer evening? Members of the Footlight Presbyterian Hospital Auxiliary and their guests agree. So, Sunday, August 7th the group got together for their annual picnic at Foothill Park. Hamburgers and hot dogs were provided by the hospital with an array of sides and desserts brought by those who attended. To add to the enjoyment of the evening the Fab 8, a Beatles inspired group kept everyone moving to the beat and singing along.
