Azusa Honors Korean War Veterans At Its 12th Annual Korean War Armistice Day Ceremony

By Jorge V. Rosales

AZUSA - On Wednesday, July 27, members of Azusa's Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8070, American Legion Post 180, Veterans Memorial Committee, and the City of Azusa hosted the 12th Annual Korean War Armistice Day ceremony to honor all Korean War Veterans in front of Azusa's City Hall. The ceremony was coordinated for the seventh year by Jorge V. Rosales in memory of its founder, John P. Moreno, a Korean War Veteran who died July 10, 2010, and who had started this tradition in 2005 to honor all Korean War veterans because for years they were labeled as "The Forgotten Soldiers" in "The Forgotten War."

The Military Armistice Agreement of July 27, 1953, ended 3 years of bitter warfare on the Korean Peninsula and stopped the spread of Communism in Korea, signaling to the world the United State's resolve to stand against tyranny and totalitarian regimes. More than 1.7 million Americans faced forbidding terrain and harsh combat in Korea. In the space of 37 months, the United States lost nearly 37,000 soldiers and more than 90,000 others returned home wounded. Even today, 63 years after the guns went silent; over 8,000 Americans are still missing in action.

In attendance at the ceremony were over 100 persons, including approximately 40 Korean War Veterans from Azusa and surrounding cities. They were honored with the presence of Hector Elizalde for Congresswoman Grace Napolitano; Jorge Marquez for Senator Dr. Ed Hernandez, O.D.; Cesar Cervantes for Assemblyman Roger Hernandez; Yolanda Fuqua for L.A. County Supervisor Hilda Solis; Deputy Consul General Sangmin Ryu, Korean Consulate in Los Angeles; and Joseph R. Rocha, Azusa Mayor.

Jorge V. Rosales, U. S. Army Veteran, Azusa Veterans Memorial Committee member and Master of Ceremonies commenced the ceremony at approximately 10:00 A. M. followed with welcoming remarks by Jesse Martinez, Vietnam War Veteran and VFW 8070 Post Commander, who requested the Presentation of Colors by the VFW Post 8070 Color Guard; the recital of the Pledge of Allegiance by James F. Ayon, Korean War Veteran; the singing of the National Anthem by Synclair Gonzalez, Miss Azusa Outstanding Teen 2012 and the invocation by Pastor Gilbert Becerrel, Pathfinder Ministry.

In addition to comments about the Korean War and sacrifices by so many and their families, representatives to the officials presented Certificates of Recognition to the VFW Post 8070, the American Legion Post 180, the Veterans Memorial Committee, the City, for their sponsorship and support in making the ceremony a success.

The keynote speaker, Hector F. Elizalde, Deputy District Director and Veterans/Military Liaison for Congresswoman Grace Napolitano and a U.S. Army Veteran, delivered his remarks about the sacrifices that many soldiers

Burglar Busted in West Covina After Citizens Post His Picture on Facebook

By George Ogden

WEST COVINA - A career felony criminal was arrested on Tuesday after community members and citizens put themselves on alert for a suspect who was committing crimes in their neighborhood. The dangerous suspect challenged residents with his criminal acts to the point where some felt they should arm themselves in case they run into this guy.

He was seen breaking into homes and cars. At one point, a citizen was able to get a great picture of the suspect on his bike and posted it on Facebook and other Social Medias with a warning about this criminal. Well, that worked out pretty good as the police arrested him the next evening. Locals in West Covina, La Puente and Baldwin Park repeatedly SHARED this picture and information over and over, including sending it to the police media site as well.

Officers were on patrol on Tuesday, July 26 around 10:30 p.m., near the corner of Francisquito and Orange avenues, when they saw a subject riding a bike without any lights or any kind of reflectors. As they attempted to pull him over, he took off and the chase was on. The pursuit reached speeds of almost 20 MPH with the suspect riding all over the place for a few blocks before he basically ran out of gas and couldn't pedal anymore. Officers took him into custody and soon realized who he was from the Social Media and the flyers they had on him. As they searched him, they found money, wallets, credit cards, jewelry and other items that the officer believed he stole.

He was identified as Carlos Flores Jr., 22 from La Puente. Since he has been in the area for the last year and a half, he had been arrested 16 times in that period, most of them felonies. Originally, his bail was set at $40,000. After his first court appearance, it was raised to $110.000 because of the dangerous threat he is to the community.

According to PIO Corporal Rudy Lopez with the West Covina Police Department, the police called the posting of Flores' photo as a great example of the community and police working together in keeping the city safe.

West Covina Woman Dies in Covina Crash

By George Ogden

COVINA - Early Saturday Morning, July 30, around 6 a.m., 9-1-1 operators serving the Covina area, started getting calls of a serious traffic collision at the corner of Lark Ellen Avenue and Cypress Street in the unincorporated county area just outside of Covina.

When first responders arrived, they found a 2006 Ford F-150 pickup truck and a 2002 Ford Expedition were involved in a crash. Paramedics found a 27-year-old Covina woman who was driving the Expedition standing outside of her vehicle at the crash scene with minor injuries. As paramedics went to work on the pickup truck, they found that a 33-yearold woman from West Covina died in the crash. She was later identified as Leslie Mendiola who died from the impact of the

According to CHP reports,

Mendiola was driving her pickup truck south on Lark Ellen and had pulled into the left turn lane to go east on Cypress. When the light turned green, she pulled into the intersection. The driver of the Expedition, who was driving west on Cypress, failed to stop at the red light and slammed full force into the pickup truck's driver's side causing the fatal injuries to the woman.

The California Highway Patrol's Baldwin Park area office had the intersection closed down for a good portion of the day and has an open investigation that is ongoing. They did not release the driver's name that ran the red light. She has not been arrested and it is expected that she will be cited for running the red light which caused the accident and the woman's death. The D.A. will most likely review the details of the crash after the CHP completes their investigation.

gin at San Gabriel Mission, head west along Mission Road for nine miles and then end in Los Angeles at El Pueblo's Plaza Park. The walk and bike ride take about three hours to complete.

South El Monte Mayor Will Plead Guilty to Accepting Bribes

By George Ogden

SOUTH EL MONTE - The Mayor for South El Monte, Luis Aguinaga, will plead guilty to federal bribery charges. Aguinaga had been accepting bribes from a contractor for over seven years. In return, the contractor would get favorable votes for city projects or simply get awarded the contract.

Aguinaga would get from $500 to $1000 every couple of weeks from the contractor. The U.S. Attorney's Office started investigating the corruption and the bribes along with the money coming in with the help of a confidential informant. It appears that the informant may have been the contractor himself.

As the investigation continued, so did the bribes. It has been suggested that there are others involved within the city including the city's upper management staff. There are two contractors

Budget Balancing Act in Democratic Sacramento 101

By Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

This week I received an email from Glendora City Council Member Judy Nelson and it was followed up by several others letting me know something was afoul again in our political world.

Democrat Sen. Bob Hertzberg - Van Nuys, has decided voter approved of Proposition 218 is irrelevant in the world of the budget balancing act in Sacramento. Hertzberg has introduced SB 1298 that would, according to his press release, "... safeguard California's water supplies by giving local governments more authority to finance local water projects and set reasonable rates."

In regular average taxpayer language that means a potential increase on your tax bill each and every year to pay for this federal mandate allowed by the state legislature to be passed on to us. As local governments try to balance their budgets and are handed a federal mandate costing in the hundreds of millions of dollars, they need to find the money. Will this state proposal provide local governments an opportunity, or excuse, even though it might be a clear circumvention of voter approved Prop. 218 that requires voter approval of any new fees or

In 1999, under Phase II of NPDES, called MS4, or Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System, U.S. EPA issued an order requiring urbanized areas, like cities and counties, to create a Storm Water Management Program (SWMP) to reduce the contamination of storm water runoff from their jurisdiction to storm drains/channels/rivers and ultimately to the ocean.

In December 2012, all cities in Los Angeles County were required to implement this new federal mandate by creating a plan that would need approval from the State Water Resources Control Board through Regional Water Boards.

At a March 22nd meeting in West Covina, with local government representatives present and expressing concerns on how to pay for this recent federal mandate, Senator Ed Hernandez (D-SD-22) pointed out the California Water Quality Control Board and the nine regional boards created in 1967 are appointed not elected and review the MS4 per-

Protected By Their Own Guns?

Alton Sterling came to believe that having a gun was the best way to guarantee his safety. That is what conservative politicians, the propagandists of the National Rifle Association, the gun manufacturers, the local gun peddlers and the gun show hucksters had taught him. Whether or not he was armed when the police stopped him, these officers assumed that he was. Didn't' all young Black men carry weapons? So they shot and killed him. If he had a gun in that car it didn't protect him. How many millions of Americans have come to believe that the best way to guard themselves against violence is to be armed? But the more guns there are in the public's hands, the more people, including the gun owners, will be shot with them

Philando Castile was driving with his girlfriend and their fouryear-old child outside St. Paul, Minnesota. He was stopped by the police because one of his tail lights was not working. A verbal confrontation ended when the police, from outside the car window, shot and killed him. So shooting first seemed the right thing to do. He legally owned a gun, and when he was shot was reaching for his wallet to retrieve the proof that he was a proper owner. Did his gun protect him? The suspicion that he had one in that car caused his death.

In every community it is increasingly clear that guns brought for the purpose of personal protection are often the cause of the deaths of the gun owners. For every home invader who has been shot, somewhere in our nation ten family members have been killed with their own weapons.

What is to be done about the proliferation of weapons? Eliminating handguns is both a legal and a Constitutionally remote option. But there are ways to tighten the rules concerning gun sales. Serious background checks would

At the same time there are weapons that no civilian should have a right to possess. Even the disputed Supreme Court decision recognizes that there are classes of weapons that, while they are legitimate military armaments, should never be in civilian hands. Nobody has the right to own a howitzer or a sub-machine gun. And yet Micah Johnson was able to legally purchase and own a military assault weapon. He brought it to Dallas and killed five police officers with it.

A legal ban against the public ownership of assault weapons was passed and signed by the President in 2004. When it expired ten years later, under intense political pressure, it was not renewed. So Micah Johnson was legally entitled to own one.

Chances are remote that there will be a change in legislative action in the near future. But an election is on the way, and depending on what the progressives of the nation do, there may be hope. The time may be coming as vast majorities of the American people believe that the assault weapon prohibition must be reinstated, and that those who cannot legally fly should not be allowed to possess firearms. Serious background checks is an overwhelming popular position

Here is one more evidence that how we vote in November has vast implications beyond electing a President.

Is There a Paradigm Shift on Reality? By Don Ingwerson to me is that many doctors are woman would never be able to give no medicine, but instruct his patient in the ...prevention of disease." This remark is attributed to Thomas Edison - an innovator and visionary - and is just one of many pioneering ideas that continue to be voiced as new, higher concepts of reality are grasped.

A while ago, I had the oppor-

A promising sign of progress

sion that thought is key to reality. Dr. Irving Oyle, an M.D., states: "There is nothing out there. It's all happening on the back of your eyeballs." What I understand this to mean is that thoughts, beliefs, suggestions, and opinions all affect how we experience reality.

These new findings suggest that when a person asks a physician to fix the body, it is important to think beyond that physical body, since from a physical perspective that physical body is made of quarks - which exhibit behavior completely at odds with our view of matter. And that's the paradigm shift - the idea that reality is not based on the current perception of matter.

What's interesting is that this isn't a new thought. More than a century ago, Mary Baker Eddy, a pioneer on the link between health and spirituality, wrote in her seminal book, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, "Christian Science explains all cause and effect as mental and not physical."

The thought that "all cause and effect are mental and not physical" was demonstrated when I was serving as a chaplain's assistant in the military. I received a call from the base hospital that a soldier's wife had been asphyxiated in their military apartment. The physician explained that because of the damage her body sustained by the gas leak, this hear, see, or walk. I was asked by the Christian Science minister to stay at the hospital and pray, so each day I would pray silently and audibly. Soon the woman acknowledged that she heard my prayers and after a time she started reading biblical passages herself. The final healing came when she was able to walk out of the hospital.

Healing took place as thought was lifted spiritually and spiritual qualities were expressed.

And as our understanding of reality and its link to consciousness deepens, the question then becomes where does thought

Theoretical Physicist Michio Kaku gives this explanation of the origins of thought: "...we are in a world made by rules created by an intelligence. Believe me, anything that we call chance today won't make sense anymore. To me, it is clear that we exist in a plan which is governed by rules that were created, shaped by a universal intelligence and not by chance." To me, that universal intelligence is God.

So the real paradigm shift may not be that our thought is reality, but that real thought and consciousness is directly expressed by man from God and that God harmonious, all-inclusive, and all-governing - is the true reality of being.

Having this understanding of reality, I have found, can heal.

"The doctor of the future will now coming to a similar conclu-

tunity to interview Dr. Donald Hoffman, at the University of California, about his views of reality, and the professor of cognitive science indicated that we do not see reality as it is. Instead, each of us is being tricked into believing his or her own view of

As I thought about this view, I correlated it to what happens when our eyes are tricked into seeing a mirage in the desert. As we get a closer view, this mirage disappears, just as we perceive matter as substantial until viewed at the level of its smallest components - quarks.

With this new, closer view of matter, I think it's reasonable to look beyond matter to understand reality, and that's where reality defined through thought comes into focus. Then the preventative and therapeutic pursuit of health and the expression of harmony in the body does not need to be through a reliance on medicines, but through the avenue of thought. I found this conclusion to yield to powerful healing re-

Addressing Homelessness in Southern California

According to information released by the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority in May, the 2016 homeless count for Los Angeles county indicates that while the number of homeless decreased in the San Gabriel Valley by 16%, from 3,093 in 2015 to 2,612, overall, the county saw 46,874 homeless people on any given night, an increase of 5.7% from last year.

In addition, the count also found that there was a 20% increase in what is called "the most visible form of homelessness," those who live in tents on the street and under freeway embankments. Driving around the freeways and metropolitan areas of Los Angeles County we see many of these "encampments." Often these individuals or groups are called the chronic homeless. It goes without saying that homelessness is one of the most critical issues facing quality of life and the overall health and well being of many of our citizens. There has been much political discussion around this topic as of late, and just as many opinions of what is the proper approach. If more money is allocated, where should the money go? Does it go to transitional housing? Permanent housing? Emergency Care? Housing first? Should certain groups be targeted (i.e. veterans, families, etc.)? What about supportive services for the most vulnerable?

As I have worked with the homeless population to serve them and advocate for them, I have found the answer to be "all of the above." First and foremost there needs to be available funding, then there needs to be a multi-faceted approach that calls for vision, collaboration and consistency. Partnerships are critical to making sure that no one falls through the cracks and that those being assisted are given the tools to succeed with a holistic approach. It is not a "quick fix," but one that needs patience and perseverance.

One of the first steps in dealing with this complex issue, is to make sure Sacramento delivers on their promises to bring money to the local level and allow local leaders to allocate funds to meet their local needs without a "one size fits all" approach. Cory Ellenson, candidate for State Assembly here in the 48th District, believes in the philosophy of allowing local leaders to decide how money should be spent in their communities because no two communities are alike and each one has different needs and approaches. In his service to the Glendora community, Cory has demonstrated the patience and perseverance needed to tackle tough issues such as homelessness, and Cory has the skills necessary to work collaboratively to build partnerships and to develop long range plans to address the needs of our most vulnerable. Cory cares about community issues, including compassionate solutions for the homeless.

I encourage support for Cory Ellenson in his campaign for State Assembly. To learn please www.CoryEllenson.com.

Productivity, Policy and Investor Strategy Labor market productivity ing pretty rapidly now. Growth in growth has dropped so much in the past five years it is about to take out the late '70s as the least productive stretch of the postwar era. Total factor productivity, which measures output gains from both labor and capital is as weak as labor productivity. It is not as weak as it was four decades ago. Still, that's small consolation considering even if it is growing 75% slower than the past 20

The list of what we don't know about the productivity slowdown is longer than the list of what we know. There are so many things that might be dragging on productivity that economists argue over whether it is slowing cyclically, secularly or not slowing at all. The problems start with the fact that productivity is not measured directly. It is the residual factor reconciling discrepancies between aggregate hours worked and GDP. And, when things are working well, economists assume productivity is a fixed trend underlying long-term growth.

The cyclical/secular nature of slower productivity growth is becoming increasingly important from a monetary policy perspective. If the cyclical drag on productivity fades, the Fed can risk faster GDP growth without fear of wage pressures and inflation. A secular slowdown could be inflationary.

THE CYCLICAL/SECU-LAR DEBATE

It is difficult to predict when a productivity anomaly-strong or weak-might end, in part because analysis remains so inconclusive, even worse than economic mainstays such as currencies and labor market slack.

The Fed and other thinkers have a tendency to talk about productivity as if it is exogenous, something that "just happens" to the economy. But behind this simplifying talk is a great deal of research, and a great deal of disagreement.

A few possible causes for the on productivity. productivity slowdown: There is no slowdown:

>Some think we are not measuring growth in some tech-only parts of the economy. If so, GDP is stronger than measured and than the official data. This theory has been effectively rebutted. If true, however, inflation, policy and investment implications are the same as in the as-reported data once we accept the lower growth rate as the new normal. As a result, even if it is true, this theory is safe to ignore.

The slowdown is cyclical:

>The recession freed up a lot of cheap labor. It may be less expensive to hire than to invest. This is cyclical and should fade once the economy gets close to full employment again, but there could be a nasty bout of inflation first because it takes a number of years for labor-saving investment to pay off.

>A flurry of new regulation means lots of additional work to produce the same stuff. Think of the army of compliance officers at every American bank these days. Regulation is the most commonly heard explanation for the late-70s productivity drop.

Regulation also causes uncertainty. Companies struggle to invest efficiently when they are uncertain how much it will cost to do business past the next two

Because the regulatory cycle is independent of the business cycle, this is not technically cyclical like labor slack. In fact, regulation is often characterized as a secular factor. Still, we are calling it cyclical because history suggests the pendulum will eventually swing back to deregu-

If regulation is the primary problem, it is cyclical and could fade if a new Administration sets a new course. Until President Obama leaves, office, however, he has promised regulations will be imposed at an even faster pace than in his first seven years.

THE SLOWDOWN IS SECULAR

>Demographic changes mean experienced workers are falling out of the workforce and inexperienced workers are coming in. Experienced carpenters, manufacturing line workers, plumbers, pipe fitters, welders and countless others are being replaced with inexperienced newbies. Without question, demographics is the mother of all secular drags

Its effect could take a decade to fade. But fade it will as millennials combine their higher tech comfort-level with skills learned on the job.

>Recent tech advances have productivity is growing faster benefited consumers more than business. This theory is hard to believe, but it is popular with economists who point to Facebook and Twitter as technologies mostly used for entertainment. Still, there are pretty big examples in the other direction. Amazon continues to transform retail. Internet banking tools have allowed banks to reduce dependence on bricks/mortar since the Great Recession. And manufacturing and mining techniques have undergone radical changes, too. If true, this would be secular.

>Shrinking foreign trade is a global productivity killer. Global trade peaked in 2008 and is fall-the volume of US trade (exports + imports) has been slowing since the 1980s and is currently negative on a year-on-year basis. Collapsing trade could be a secular drag on productivity growth on a par with demographics. After all, it is likely to get worse if Trump/Clinton follows through with protectionist campaign promises. And China, the engine of a three-decade global trade expansion through 2008, has pretty big problems to solve before it is in a position to carry the global-trade torch again.

>Shrinking share of goods producing employment. Mining and manufacturing are more productive than services. A drop in their share of the economy should result in a slower productivity growth. The problem with this theory is that goods-producing employment has kept pace with service-producing employment since the Great Recession, marking the longest stable stretch in ages. It might explain a productivity slowdown in the '90s or '00s, but not in the past five

MARGINS MATTER

The inflation/growth/policy impact of slow productivity is further complicated by recent weakness in corporate profits. If companies continue to see profits shrink, they may refuse to increase investment in an effort to protect margins. Underinvestment could lead to wage inflation and economic stagnation, the stagflationary mix that haunted the late '70s economy.

Unless companies cannot raise prices. It is still a globally connected world, after all, and foreign competitors can't raise prices at home. If US companies try and charge more, they are bound to be undercut pretty quickly. If prices can't rise, a refusal to invest despite tight labor and slow productivity growth could result in recession. Protectionism could be a factor here,

POLICY IMPLICATIONS

The Fed is running out of time to figure all this out. Just as the cyclical and secular share makes a difference in the policy prescription, so too does the response of companies when labor slack gets tight. If there is a lack of pricing power, the Fed could let the economy run and close the income gap with some muchneeded wage growth. If inflation rises, however, letting the economy run might force the Fed to aggressively hike interest rates, cutting the expansion shorter than would otherwise be

Housing prices are so high that we're thinking we should sell ours and buy a smaller place. The problem is that prices are so high, we're thinking it's a bad time to buy. Can you shed some light on this quandary?

Housing goes through cycles for sellers and buyers. Basically, it boils down to this: Sell high; buy high. Sell low; buy low. Being a buyer in this current market can be very frustrating. It can make you feel like you're in shark-infested waters during a feeding frenzy. Of course, that's great for sellers, because there are many ready buyers vying for your property. In the past, it has worked well for some folks to sell high, rent a smaller place for two to five years or so, and then buy. Right now the inventory of homes for sale is very low, so it is a great time to put your home up for sale. Be ready to move! (If you need an ethical, professional, knowledgeable Realtor in your area, let me know. I have a short list of such Realtors for you to choose from.)

Why are online-mortgage rates lower than a loan officer is quoting me?

The mortgage rate you find on the internet usually does not take into consideration all of your specific financial details - accurate credit history, income, expenses, and appraised value of the property. A real-person loan originator will "pre-dig" into any and all "problems" they can find so you are not hit with a surprise when the lender's underwriter finds those problems. Be sure to read the fine print. Often the rates posted on the internet, on the posters in your bank, and on billboards are based on the borrower having perfect credit, making a 20-percent down payment, and "buying down" the rate by paying an additional 1 or more points (1 point equals 1 percent of the loan amount).

How can I figure out how much life insurance I should have?

Estimate how much your heirs will need to maintain their lifestyle without you. As a rule of thumb, you can withdraw about 4-percent annually from the earnings on a sum of money before touching the principal. If you currently earn $50,000 annually, and purchase 5 times your annual income - a $250,000 policy your heirs would be able to safely withdraw $10,000 per year without touching the principal. Ask yourself, "Is $10,000 a year going to be enough to replace your $50,000 annual income?"

We're in our 40's, active and healthy, and are thinking about cancelling our life insurance policies, for now, and buying some term insurance later?

My strong advice: Do not cancel your life insurance policies. Look at some alternatives. It's a lot easier to get a new, possibly less expensive policy when you are still insured. What if you go to buy insurance 10 years from now, but your health has changed for the worse and you are "rated" (required to pay a higher premium), or worse, are "declined" insurance altogether?

I lost my job and don't want to leave my retirement account with that company! How do I move it without having to pay

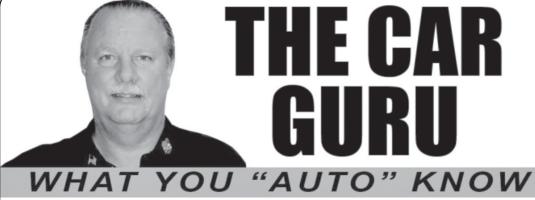

To avoid the risk of having to pay taxes, it's a matter of doing the paperwork properly so that the money is transferred in a timely manner to another qualified account. It's best to use the services of a financial professional to help you with this.

Emergency Tax Relief Available for Business Owners Affected by Wildfires in Los Angeles and Monterey Counties

SACRAMENTO – The Board of Equalization (BOE) announced today that business owners and tax and feepayers affected by the Sand Fire in Los Angeles County and the Soberanes Fire in Monterey County may request extensions to file their returns, ask for relief from penalties and/ or interest for some taxes and fees, or request replacement copies of records lost or damaged.

Emergency tax or fee relief is available from the BOE for business owners and tax and feepayers directly affected by disasters declared as state of emergencies. Acting Governor Tom Torlakson issued an emergency proclamation for Los Angeles and Monterey counties on Tuesday, July 26, 2016, due to the effects of the Sand Fire and Soberanes Fire.

"My heart goes out to all of the people affected by the fires burning across the state," said Chairwoman Fiona Ma. "I am grateful to all our firefighters and volunteers who are putting their lives on the line to protect our friends and neighbors."

"People should not have to worry about taxes during this horrible tragedy," said BOE Member George Runner. "We're doing everything we can to provide relief to those affected.' "The Board of Equalization sympathizes with everyone who has fallen victim to this disaster," said BOE Member Jerome E. Horton. "I hope that this relief will help those affected by the Sand Fire."

The BOE will also be staffing a Local Assistance Center for residents affected by the Sand Fire at Hart Hall in William S. Hart Park, August 5 through August 8, at 24151 Newhall Avenue in Newhall. There, residents will be able to talk to staff from the BOE and other state and local agencies about available recovery assistance and replacement of government documents that may have been destroyed or lost. BOE staff will be available at the center on Friday, August 5, from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday, August 6, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.; and Monday, August 8, from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Tax and feepayers can go online to request relief from penalties and/or interest, and an extension of time to file their tax or fee returns. They, as well as payers of the Timber Yield Tax and Prepaid Mobile Telephony Services (MTS) Surcharge, may also call the BOE Customer Service Center toll-free at 1-800-400-7115 (TTY: 711), Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Pacific Time), for assistance requesting relief.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE (Probate - Decedents' Estates)

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF MARY LOU BRIGHTON CASE NO. 16STPB01852 ESTATE OF: MARY LOU BRIGHTON

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of MARY LOU BRIGHTON A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Teresa Fernandez in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. The Petition for Probate requests that Teresa Fernandez be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition request the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: AUGUST 26, 2016 at 8:30 AM in Dept. 9 at the SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, 111 N. HILL STREET, LOS ANGELES, CA 90012, STANLEY MOSK COURTHOUSE.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a CONTINGENT CREDITOR OF THE DECEDENT, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of the estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Many Boomers Surprised By Debt In Retirement

If you're like most people, retirement means more time to travel, play with grandkids and experience greater personal satisfaction in everyday life. But as Baby Boomers begin to retire, many will experience a different reality—one marked by debt. Fortunately, there are ways to avoid being among them.

According to a new study commissioned by Bankers Life Center for a Secure Retirement, more than half of pre-retirees think they'll pay off their debts before retirement, but only a quarter of retirees actually are debt free.

eight in 10 middle-income Boomers currently have some debt, and nearly 25 percent have more than 20 years remaining on their mortgage.

"We tend to prepare for costs that we can anticipate," said Scott Goldberg, president of Bankers Life. "Most do not foresee the amount of debt they will carry into retirement and other unexpected expenses, such as longterm care and various health related costs. Our studies show that only about half of Boomers feel they have a strong understanding of financial matters to overcome these hurdles."

Not long ago, many retirees relied on pensions and Social Security for income during their golden years. These income

According to the study, middle-income Boomers are unsure of the best ways to maximize their income and find additional sources of income during retirement. Nearly 90 percent express some concerns about making their money last in retire-

"More than ever, it is crucial that Boomers take proactive steps in advance of retirement and recognize the options available while planning for a secure future," said Goldberg. "From annuities to long-term care insurance to investments, the options beyond Social Security and pensions are increasingly tangible for middle-income Boomers."

Thanks to advances in medicine, retirees are living longer, more independent lives. Therefore, being financially prepared for long-term retirement is more important than ever.

More good news: It's never too late for Boomers to meet with a trusted financial advisor to prepare and take the correct precautions that can set them up for a more fulfilling experience in their golden years. (NAPSI) across the U.S. on summer break, now is an important time to focus on the year-round support kids need to ensure their development doesn't go on vacation.

Keeping Kids' Brains From Going On Vacation During Summer Break

To do this, YMCAs across the country are helping kids have "the best summer ever" by dedicating thousands of hours to youth development. By nurturing children's cognitive, physical, and social-emotional development at 2,700 YMCA facilities in 10,000 communities nationwide, the Y is helping kids reach their potential this summer.

Stopping the Summer Slide

Parents know that when summer starts, it can be tough to get kids to think about school, let alone prepare for the upcoming academic year. "Summer is often a time of learning loss for many students, especially those from low-income environments, meaning the achievement gap can widen after a long summer with minimal educational engagement," said Jorge Perez, Sr. VP Programs & The Y Experience at Y-USA.

To help prevent summer learning loss and fight the achievement gap, the Y offers the Power Scholars Academy<sup>TM</sup> to support K-8 students in literacy, math, enrichment activities in STEM and the arts, along with a health curriculum. Children who participate in Power Scholars

With millions of children Academy<sup>TM</sup>, gain, on average, 2 months of reading and 3 months in math skills, with 91 percent of parents reporting improvements in scholar's confidence and attitude toward school and learning.

> Younger children reading below grade level can participate in the Y's Summer Learning Loss Prevention Program, designed for children in first and second grade. The program aims to help children read at grade level by third grade, a key milestone in children's academic careers.

Fighting Family Food Insecu-

When school is out, millions of kids and teens who rely on school to provide free and reduced cost meals are at an increased risk of going hungry. The Y's Summer Food Program helps fill this gap and is available to kids and teens at more than 1,500 locations across the country. The program provides meals, snacks and enriching activities at YMCAs, as well as parks and apartment complexes, so that transportation is not a barrier for children and their families.

In five years, the Summer Food Program and the Y's Afterschool Meal Program have served more than 53 million healthy meals and snacks to over 460,000 youth. "Thanks to the partnership with the Walmart Foundation since 2011, the Y is better able to nourish the potential of youth in need. This summer we aim to serve 5 million healthy meals and snacks to 250,000 kids," said Mr. Perez.

Happy Campers

In addition to educational enrichment, the Y is also known for their camp and swimming programs. The Y offers a variety of different types of camps (Overnight Camp, Day Camp and Specialty Camps) as well as outdoor leadership development (BOLD/ GOLD) program excursions in national parks.

"Camp, like many Y programs, is about learning skills, developing character and making friends. Few environments are as special as camp, where kids become a community as they learn both how to be more independent and how to contribute to a group while engaging in physical, social and educational activities," said Mr. Perez. "Attending summer camp is beneficial to every child's development. The experience teaches essential leadership and social skills and helps youth develop the confidence and independence needed to reach their full potential."

Family Caregivers Don't Have To Feel Alone

By Emma Dickison, Certified Senior Adviser

If you are or expect to become a family caregiver, you should know that you're not alone.

Not only are there about 34 million Americans in a similar situation, according to the AARP, there are organizations that have been created to help you all. These groups and companies can assist with such things as:

• planning for the future

• taking into account each individual's wants, needs and · determining how each person involved can contribute.

The Problem

Often, a lack of communication can lead to misunderstanding and, ultimately, choices that aren't as good for anybody. It's important to respect the contributions each member of the caregiver team can make.

The People

Here are a few of the more common caregiving roles:

- The Planner
- The Camp Director
- The Doer
- The Dreamer
- The Rescuer.

None of them is more important than the others. You may find yourself playing multiple roles or your family may divide responsibilities and roles a little differently.

The Planner

The Planner gravitates toward tasks that will come up sooner or later and prepares for them; things like knowing where the life insurance policies are, and making sure the wills and other documents are up-to-date.

The Planner has a plan and any deviations from it should be communicated clearly to this person.

The Camp Director

This person is like the project manager for the team. He or she needs a clear understanding of what is possible and—this is very important—who is doing what and which tasks have been checked off.

The Doer This is the one who's there day to day, who handles the routine errands and helps with the household tasks.

Caring for an aged or ill loved one can mean playing many roles.

The Doer can feel isolated from the rest and it's important that teammates respect and recognize his or her contributions. This is also the person with the most frequent contact with your loved one, so communication is particularly important.

The Dreamer

He or she is too often dismissed as a denier. This is the person who may, in the early going, appear to think that everything will just work itself out and go back to something close to the old "normal."

But the Dreamer has an important point of view as this person is often the advocate for the most important hopes and desires of your older loved one. They HOPE Mom can go back to caring for herself without any additional resources because they KNOW that's what Mom wants.

The Rescuer

With families more spread out these days, there's often a member of the family who really can't be involved day to day, but emotionally is still part of the caregiving team. The Rescuer comes into the picture when the plan has gone off the rails or some unexpected event occurs. The fresh perspective he or she provides can be very helpful, and often, this is the role most likely to first recognize a need because the person is not around every

Mobile App Games Like Pokémon Go Present Potential Physical And Cyber Security Threats

Software developer Niantic's new mobile app Pokémon GO has made history as the most played mobile game in the United States to date, according to TechCrunch. SurveyMonkey found that the app boasts more than 21 million actively daily users, who log nearly 35 minutes a day catching augmented reality monsters by visiting real-world location. Nearly all users want to become Pokémon masters, often overlooking the dangers of "catching 'em all" during the pro-

With the game's popularity, similar games are expected to be developed in the future. Unfortunately it isn't all fun and games, as there are potential dangers of engaging with others online through these types of games and applications. From muggings to cyberhacking, this augmented reality game poses real-life threats.

As the game loads, players see a warning screen from Niantic, advising them to be aware of their surroundings. Reports of players walking into objects or even traffic have flooded news stations across the country, like Newsweek and Fox, since the launch of the game. There have also been reports of more serious crimes, like muggings and armed robbery. Many of these threats can be avoided by playing with a friend, not venturing out after dark or sticking to familiar places. Most important, players should remain aware of their surroundings while playing.

The potentially most dangerous, and seemingly unknown threat to players may be in the cyber realm, warns Dan Konzen of University of Phoenix. Most players log into the game through Google accounts instead of creating new accounts. This may be more convenient, but can increase the risk for cyberhacks on personal information. With the success of Pokémon GO, similar games are sure to follow. Being aware of physical and cyber threats to personal information will reduce these risks.

Konzen, Phoenix campus college chair, routinely performs live hacks of colleagues' social media accounts to demonstrate how easy it is for hackers to access personal information like locations visited or photos that are blocked by security settings. Hackers often use this info to send phishing emails or hack bank accounts. The same hacking principles apply to Pokémon GO.

By signing up through one's Google account, Konzen says players are giving Niantic access to modify emails, calendar or Google Docs, and opening doors for hackers to access other ac-

"People who are determined to play Pokémon GO and any similar future games should be cautious of using passwords they use for emails or social media sites when signing in," Konzen said. "If hackers are able to learn and access one site from a password, they can access multiple sites if the same password is used."

Additionally, players should be aware that anything posted online can be accessed by hackers, even if protected by security settings. If you plan to risk cyber breaches by playing online games, be aware that information can be accessed. This applies to Pokémon GO or any other mobile games.

"Players should recognize the potential physical and cyber dangers associated with geocaching games," he said. "Be conscientious of your surrounds. If an area or the people around you do not seem safe, don't continue."

University of Phoenix College of Information Systems & Technology prepares cyber professionals to combat increasing cybercrimes. The University offers associates, bachelors and master's degrees that teach the risk management and information assurance skills vital to an organization's success. For more information about each of these programs, including on-time completion rates, the median debt incurred by students who completed the program and other important information, please visit www.phoenix.edu/programs/gainful-employment. ## Azusa Mayor Joe Rocha: "They Said Our Marriage Wouldn't Last One Year"

Joe and Linda Rocha on their wedding day, August 1, 1966.

By Jorge V. Rosales

AZUSA - When two of my best friends here in Azusa and throughout the world got married, "mixed marriages" as one of them calls it or as the U. S. A. Constitution label them-interracial marriages-were not very common.

Linda Marie Schuler and Joseph Romero Rocha were married on Monday, August 1, 1966. They were married by a Justice of the Peace in Upland, California in a small office, the approximate size of a bedroom, at 10:00 a.m. Subsequently, on Friday, September 2, 1966 they were married in Chapel at Saint Frances of Rome Church in Azusa, California.

Back then in 1966, mixed marriages were an oddity. Back then some people stated that their marriage would not last more than one year due to cultural and ethnic differences. On Monday, August 1, 2016 at 10:00 a.m. Linda and Joe celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary.

Centuries before the same-sex marriage movement, the U.S. government, its constituent states, and their colonial predecessors tackled the controversial issue of "miscegenation": race-mixing. It's widely known that the Deep South banned interracial marriages until 1967, but less widely known that many other states did the same, such as California until 1948, for example - or that three brazen attempts were made to ban interracial marriages nationally by amending the U.S. Constitution, 1871, 1883, and 1964. In 1967, the U.S. Supreme Court unanimously overturns Pace v. Ala-

Joe and Linda Rocha 50 years after their wedding on August 1, 1966. Together, their motto in life has been: "It doesn't matter where you go in life...what you do...or how much you have...It's who you have beside you."

bama (1883), ruling in Loving vs. Virginia that state bans on interracial marriage violate the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution. From this point on, interracial marriage is legal throughout the United States.

Linda's and Joe's love has and continues to be stronger each and every day that goes by. During their 50 years of marriage they have four grown children Lisa Martinez; Joey Rocha (Maria); Roddy Rocha (Maria) and Adam Rocha (Rosie). Combined, they have 14 grandchildren, three greatgrandchildren and a fourth great-granddaughter on her way.

Linda retired from the City of Azusa after 25 years in the Economic and Redevelopment Department. Joe is like the "Eveready Bunny," he just keeps going. After 38 years as teacher with Azusa Unified School District he retired, but way before that in 1997 he was elected as an Azusa City Councilman and in 2007 was elected as Mayor of the City of Azusa, a position that he currently holds to date. He continues to work part-time as an Administrator of AUSD's Adult School.

They both enjoy being at home together as much as possible given his busy schedule. They also enjoy being around their at home as well as extended family, especially during the Holidays.

Linda enjoys sewing and Joe enjoys working in their garden as well as taking care of what he calls his zoo which consists of a Desert and African Leopard tortoises, two dogs, and lots of birds all enclosed in a cage.

"They said we wouldn't last together and here we are this year celebrating our 50th Wedding Anniversary and still going strong," said Joe Rocha
