SACRAMENTO - Business owners with the San Gabriel Valley Regional Chamber of Commerce recognized and paid tribute to the achievements of Senator Bob Huff (R-San Dimas), for his work to promote business and new job creation while serving in the State Legislature. Senator Huff was presented with a special Lifetime Achievement Award during a special ceremony held at the Hurst Ranch in West Covina and recognized for the measures that he either authored or supported for the business community.

"An award such as this is very important to me," said Senator Huff during the ceremony. "Leading the fight to make California more friendly to business and new job creation has not been an easy task in Sacramento. I often find myself competing against the interests of others in the State Legislature or the Governor himself. I'm pleased that I represented business and job creators the best way I could in my role as a State Senator, but more needs to be done."

Senator Huff was recognized for his efforts to promote targeted tax breaks for industries that have a big impact in the Southern California region. These include the Film and Television Tax Credit and the Aerospace Manufacturing Tax Credit approved by the Legislature in 2014.

The $330 million Film and Television Tax Credit has helped California reclaim the title of the top production center in the world. 19 out of 109 film projects have been shot in California since the Legislature approved this credit, bringing an estimated $720 million in total production spending to the state.

A new study released this month found that seven of these projects were made here thanks to the tax credit program, including "Straight Outta Compton" with a $4.8 million tax credit on a $50 million budget.

The $420 million aerospace tax break package, which Senator Huff also supported, is credited with landing an $80 billion U.S. Air Force contract to build a new generation long-range stealth bomber at the Northrop Grumman plant in Palmdale.

"This tax credit has also benefitted defense-related firms in Orange County," said Senator Huff during the Hurst Ranch ceremony. "In fiscal year 2016 alone, 17 Orange County companies received $10 million in tax breaks. Five companies earned at least $1 million, and several small businesses got less than $80,000 each."

"The Regional Chamber of Commerce San Gabriel Valley will be losing a strong supporter for business owners and the overall business community in the State Legislature when Senator Huff leaves office due to term limits this November," said Anthony Duarte, CEO of the Regional Chamber.

Arrests Made in Year Old San Dimas Quiznos Sandwich Shop Murder

By George Ogden

SAN DIMAS - Last year, June 2, 2015, the Quiznos sandwich shop, in the 1000 block of West Arrow Highway in San Dimas, was robbed. The owner, Pravin "Peter" Patel, 62, gave the robber the money. When the robber left, Patel followed him outside, most likely to get a description of the car when the robber turned and beat the senior citizen and then shot him to death.

Homicide detectives from the Sheriff's Department have identified a man involved in this killing and robbery. He has been identified as Sergey Gutsu. He was arrested for armored-car robberies and the shooting of an armored car driver. He and his accomplice Ivan Morales, 24 were arrested in Sonoma County for the robbery and shooting in Windsor on Tuesday, July 12. After the robbery, police chased the suspects who fired at the police before they crashed and were arrested. They are believed to be responsible for a number of other crimes in the state including an armored car robbery in Granada Hills. Gutsu had recent arrests in the area... West Covina police arrested him on June 25, 2016 and went to court on June 29, 2016 and was sentence to 95 days jail. Then he was released a couple of days later on July 1, 2016. He did only 2 days in jail. He was again arrested by Industry Sheriff's on July 3, 2016 and bailed out the next day. Soon he

During the investigation, detectives were able to uncover information that linked the suspect to the San Dimas murder. Gutsu was apparently questioned and was presented with evidence that he implicated himself in the mur-children to stop playing and hit the books, you may want to think again. The Genius of Play, a movement to bring more play into kids' lives, wants you to know that playtime is critical to healthy child development. Through play, kids build physical skills, improve cognitive abilities, learn communication and social skills, process and express emotions, and increase creativity.

Family and friends along with the community are pleased to hear that an arrest has been made in this cold blooded murder.

Parenting expert and author Meredith Sinclair, M.Ed., offers four fun tips to help parents encourage more playtime every day.

• Look for opportunities to make chores or activities you al-

The next time you tell your ready do with your kids more playful. For example, grocery shopping can be a great chance to play "I Spy," or you can make flash card drawings of items you want your child to help you find. When you're doing the laundry, have your child roll the socks and make it a basketball challenge.

> • Create a simple "Pops of Playfulness" jar for those moments when there's "nothing to do." Fill a mason jar with slips of paper that say such things as "tell us your best joke," "pillow fight!" or "five-minute puppet show." Whenever you need a spontaneous spark of playfulness, simply pull one from the jar and jump in.

• Make a time for a playdate.

Kids need a well-rounded diet of play to develop into well-rounded adults.

Whether it's playing with friends or family, playdates are an important part of childhood-a time when your children can learn to resolve problems and hone their tures. Don't worry about language barriers. The language of play is universal.

Research shows that play is essential for kids to reach developmental milestones and learn. The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends children spend 60 minutes daily engaged in open-ended, unstructured play. Here are three amazing facts about play:

1. Play enhances the progress of early development from 33 percent to 67 percent by improving language and reducing social and emotional problems.

2. Children with access to a variety of toys were found to reach higher levels of intellectual achievement, regardless of the children's sex, race or social class.

3. Research points to a direct correlation between play and stress reduction.

Parents and other caretakers can get expert advice, play tips and ideas based on their children's ages and developmenstages from tal www.thegeniusofplay.org. Created with the mission to help raise happier, healthier and more successful generations through the power of play, the Genius of Play website and social media channels show how to help kids build confidence, creativity, critical thinking and other skills that will serve them throughout their lives. WEST COVINA/DALLAS-Law Enforcement agencies along with other first responders across the nation went to Dallas Texas to pay their respects to their brothers in blue who were gunned down. This included many agencies from our area that showed their respects for the 6 slain officers. This included West Covina Police who had four officers attending the services.

Now it appears that many will be going to Baton Rouge to attend services there for the 3 officers that died in an ambush.

The police killings may be in response to the out-cry of "Black Lives Matter" protests where there is an ongoing campaign to kill police officers. Police across the nation are on extra alert to be aware of the fact that they can become targets at any time.

Citizens need to also be aware and help our officers to be safe by complying with officer's instructions if they have an interaction with police officers for any reason. Simply comply.

The overwhelming public support for the police across the nation has not gone unnoticed by the officers and it is greatly appreciated, not only by the officers, but by the families of the

Los Angeles County New Minimum Wage Became Effective On July 1, 2016

Los Angeles County Code Chapter 8.100

LOS ANGELES COUNTY -In 2015, Los Angeles County passed a new minimum wage law nearly identical to its City of Los Angeles counterpart. Beginning July 1, 2016, a minimum wage worker in the unincorporated areas of Los Angeles County will make $10.00 or $10.50 per hour, depending on the size of the business.

For the City the Los Angeles and unincorporated areas of Los Angeles County, this new $10.50 hourly rate is an increase from $10.00 per hour for employers with 26 of more employees. For employers with 25 or fewer employees, the minimum wage rate will not increase to $10.50 until July 1, 2017.

The County-approved measure will gradually increase the minimum wage each July over five years in identical increments, starting at $10.50/hour on July 1, 2016, then $12.00 (2017), $13.25 (2018), $14.25 (2019), and $15.00 (2020). Following 2020, minimum wage will adjust according to the cost of living.

Despite the identical minimum wage rate increase schedules, the City of Los Angeles and Los Angeles County wages ordinances include some differences. Under the City of Los Angeles wage ordinance, it permits nonprofit organizations with more than 25 employees to apply for coverage under the small business schedule. Additionally, by example, beginning in July 1, 2022, the minimum wage rate increases will be determined by the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W) in the Los Angeles metropolitan area under the City of Los Angeles wage ordinance. Under the Los Angeles County wage ordinance, increases will be determined by an adjusted CPI measure.

LOSANGELES COUNTY – The Board of Supervisors unanimously approved a motion by Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich calling for a report on necessary and adequate federal oversight of opioid prescription use, specifically for manufacturers, physicians, and pharmacies that relate to potential illicit opioid prescription activity.

"We need to look at the evidence of large quantities of opioid painkillers that are prescribed and issued, which suggests the presence of illegal trafficking in our neighborhood pharmacies," Antonovich said. The Supervisor referred to a recent media report regarding some local clinics that were investigated for prescribing substantial amounts of OxyContin as they worked in conjunction with corrupt pharmacies in Los Angeles County. For instance, one MacArthur Park clinic doctor was found to prescribe 1,500 pills of OxyContin in just one week in September 2015, 11,000

LOS ANGELES COUNTY –
ne Board of Supervisors unani-ously approved a motion by Su-pills in October, and over 73,000 pills by December with a street value of nearly $6 million.

"What is even worse is that our homelessness issue is exacerbated as evidence shows that vulnerable homeless individuals are used in these medical rings that conduct scams by shuttling them around to various pharmacies," he added. "This creates problems for security and other societal issues that invade and hurt our communities."

Under federal law, drug makers are required to alert the Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) if there are high volume orders that trigger awareness of illegal trafficking. Opioid manufacturers are slipping through the cracks due to a chronic lack of federal and State oversight. Drug companies maintain data for the purposes of sales which track the number of prescriptions being issued by individual doctors. A duty to reject orders from customers exists if the company suspects that its drugs are going into the black market.

"This sort of federal oversight has fallen short in Los Angeles County," he added. "Not only do pharma companies not alert the DEA, but there is no way to shut off the supply of such highly addictive drugs that are going out on the streets until it is too late. The impact of this lack of federal and State compliance impacts us directly, both in the short and long term."

Antonovich's motion directed the Department of Public Health to report back on the current impacts of opioids and prescriptions of such opioids in the County, including an analysis on how physicians and pharmacies in Los Angeles County are being regulated at the federal and State level, what actions can be taken to ensure that there is adequate and necessary federal oversight of opioid prescription use, and if proper DEA oversight should be established over opioid manufacturers, physicians, and pharmacies that relate to potential illicit opioid prescription activity.

ESCOULT 1 S.G.V. EXAMINER 3 Baldwin Park Unified Launches Classroom Technology Expansion

Program will create prototypes for technology-infused multi-lingual classrooms

BALDWIN PARK – Teachors from across Baldwin Park Unified will embark on extensive training in classroom technology this summer as the District begins to create classrooms that infuse instruction with the latest digital tools. A special emphasis of the effort will be to create two prototype multi-lingual classrooms in the District's dual-language immersion program at Foster Elementary.

"It's critical that, as we increasingly incorporate digital devices into our classrooms, our teachers possess the skills to ensure those tools are effective in helping students acquire the skills they need to succeed, including collaboration, critical thinking, communication and creativity," Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza said.

The District will train two teachers from each of its 20 campuses, two dual-language immersion teachers, assistant principals and principals from each school. The District's leadership staff will also participate in the twoday training sessions, to be held in August. Sessions will be held in person and supported with an online component. The teachers will return to their schools as pioneers in implementing technology-infused lessons.

To support the teachers, the District is upgrading its capacity for wireless internet connectivity, adding two new carts of Chromebooks to each school and installing interactive whiteboard/ projection systems to classrooms.

In all of the model classrooms, the focus will be on creating a student-centered environment in which teachers act as learning facilitators for a project-driven instructional system. In the prototype multi-lingual classrooms, extra emphasis will be on effective communication and collaboration in English and Spanish.

"Baldwin Park is really at the forefront in developing a technology-infused, multi-lingual classroom," said Rick Hassler, Director of Educational Technology and Support. "There's been a lot of focus on technology in the classroom as well as research into creating multi-lingual classrooms, but not much has been done to bring these concepts together."

For example, in a technologyinfused, multi-lingual classroom, digital tools must be capable of supporting lesson plans in at least two languages.

"We are taking research from both areas and developing a prototype that will not only help Baldwin Park, but which could be a model across the nation," Hassler said.

Baldwin Park is recognized as a leader in developing multi-lingual classrooms, honored repeatedly for the strength of its pioneering dual-language immersion program launched nearly two decades ago.

As part of the technology implementation plan, the District has incorporated time for teachers to reflect on the effectiveness of technology-infused instruction with District technology leaders. The approach means implementation will be slower, but effective.

The training and tools will be rolled out to additional groups of teachers over time. Teachers in the first cohort will have the option of taking additional training and serving as mentors at their campuses.

Azusans Will Walk A Mile Against Crime

AZUSA - The Azusa Police Department and the City of Azusa will observe National Night Out by asking its residents to join them in a one-mile stroll around the City of Azusa on Tuesday, August 2, 2016 from 6:30 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. After the stroll participants can mingle at the Target Store and pick-up free promotional items to be given away by the event sponsors.

"The Azusa Police Department and the City of Azusa would like to thank Target for their sponsorship of this program," said Azusa Interim Police Chief, Steve Hunt. "It allows the public to interact with their civic leaders and Azusa's police, fire and safety personnel to obtain information about their respective prevention and safety programs." National Night Out is a campaign by the National Association of Town Watch (NATW) which works in cooperation with thousands of crime watch groups and law enforcement agencies throughout the country. California Department of Public Health Reminds Public to Guard Against Mosquito Bites

SACRAMENTO - California Department of Public Health (CDPH) Director and State Public Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith today advised that although there is no evidence of mosquitoes carrying Zika virus in California, people should always take steps to avoid mosquito bites, including removing standing water and wearing insect repellent when necessary. Californians should also be advised of international travel alerts for the countries where Zika virus is circulating.

"Although no one has contracted Zika virus in California, mosquito bites can still be harmity, specific locations of infected patients cannot be disclosed.

Zika virus is primarily transmitted to people by Aedes aegypti and Aedes albopictus mosquitoes, the same mosquitoes that can transmit dengue and chikungunya viruses. These mosquitoes — which are not native to California — have been identified in 12 California counties, although there are no known cases where the mosquitoes were carrying the Zika virus in this state. The six confirmed cases of Zika virus in California were acquired in other countries.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) have long pants

Use air conditioning or window/door screens to keep mosquitoes outside. If you are not able to protect yourself from mosquitoes inside your home or hotel, sleep under a mosquito bed net

Help reduce the number of mosquitoes outside by emptying standing water from containers such as flowerpots or buckets

The CDC and CDPH have also issued guidance for pregnant women recommending they avoid countries where Zika virus is circulating. Pregnant women who cannot avoid travel to these countries should talk to their health care provider and take steps to avoid mosquito bites. The CDC and CDPH have also provided guidance for physicians on the evaluation of pregnant women and infants who may have been exposed to Zika virus. Most people infected with Zika virus will not develop symptoms. If symptoms do develop, they are usually mild and include fever, rash and eye redness. If you have returned from an affected country and have fever with joint pain, rash within two weeks, or any other symptoms following your return; please contact your medical provider and tell the doctor where you have traveled. While there is no specific treatment for Zika virus disease, the best recommendations are supportive care, rest, fluids and fever relief. There is concern that Zika virus may be transferred from a pregnant woman to her baby during pregnancy or delivery. Preliminary reports suggest that Zika virus may cause microcephaly (a condition in which an infant's head is significantly smaller than the heads of other infants of the same age and sex). This possibility has not been confirmed and is being actively investigated. CDPH has requested that health care providers report suspected Zika virus disease or associated conditions of microcephaly to local health departments. Local health departments will report cases to CDPH, which is coordinating referral of any specimens to CDC for diagnostic testing. For more information on Zika virus disease and other mosquitoborne illnesses, please visit the CDPH Zika virus information webpage.

San Gabriel Launches WeChat Account

SAN GABRIEL – The City of San Gabriel launched an official account on WeChat, the popular Chinese social communications app, in an ongoing effort to connect with and engage Chinesespeaking residents. Follow the city using WeChat ID: SanGabrielCity.

More than half of the San Gabriel population identifies as Asian, according to U.S. Census data, and the majority of those residents speak Chinese. For some, language is a barrier to connecting with the city government. With one of the only WeChat government accounts in the U.S., the city aims to break that barrier down.

WeChat, and China-based counterpart Weixin, report more than 762 million monthly active users and have surged in popularity both in the U.S. and abroad. With its official WeChat account, the city hopes to reach Chinesespeaking residents on a platform they are already using and in a language with which they are comfortable to educate them about city services, community news, public safety, upcoming events and more.

The WeChat account builds upon the city's ongoing effort to better communicate with and serve Chinese-speaking residents, a goal laid out in the City Council's 2015-2020 Strategic Plan.

"This is a great opportunity for the City of San Gabriel to better connect with our Chinese-speaking residents," Mayor Chin Ho Liao said. "It is important for the city to continue to find new, innovative ways to reach out to all of our residents and ensure no group is left out because they don't speak English well. WeChat will help us make sure we are including everyone."

In 2015, the city launched an official account on Weibo, another popular Chinese social media platform, and has seen great success. The account has nearly 2,500 fans and has facilitated many new connections with local residents. Earlier this year, the city earned the Award of Excellence from the California Association of Public Information Officials for its work on the account. The city hopes to have similar results on WeChat.

Prop 57: Eliminates Do the Crime; Do the Time

By Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

I thought it would be a good thing for me to go through the November 8th 17 initiatives one week at a time, there aren't enough weeks to do that. Maybe just a few that are critical to the public health and safety and preserving the quality of life we expect to have in Califonria.

Prop. 57 is on November 8th ballot and by way of background, remember the 2011 U.S. Supreme Court order requiring California to reduce its prison population to relieve overcrowding? In order to comply with that mandate, legislators, instead of building more prisons, decided to enact AB 109 to bring California into compliance.

Prison population reduction was accomplished in AB 109 by shifting non-violent, non-serious felons to county jails or being placed on felony probation now called Post-Release Community Supervision (PRCS). This tactic spending reductions, primarily reduced the prison population by 25,000. The 2013 Fact Sheet from the Department of Corrections & Rehabilitation says this shift of additional responsibility to local government would be paid for by a "dedicated and permanent" revenue stream using Vehicle License Fees and a portion of state sales tax. This temporary tax funding became constitutionally guaranteed by California voters under the passage of Proposition 30 in 2012.

(Prop 30 said: "Increases taxes on earnings over $250,000 for seven years and sales taxes by 1/4 cent for four years, to fund schools. Guarantees public safety realignment funding. Fiscal Impact: Increased state tax revenues through 2018–19, averaging about $6 billion annually over the next few years. Revenues available for funding state budget. In 2012–13, planned to education programs, would not occur." Ballotpedia)

Proponents of Prop 57 say this is only to "save money by reducing wasteful spending on prisons; stop the revolving door of crime by emphasizing rehabilitation ... and allow judges, not prosecutors, to decide whether juveniles should be tried in adult court." The threat of federal intervention making "indiscriminate" release decisions to reduce prison population is a target to gain support.

Governor Brown is still under the gun to reduce prison populations at the cap set by the Supreme Court and is using voter approval of 57 to justify early release by amending the laws governing the legal system to achieve that goal and feel good about it. Prop. 57 says:

• Enhancements would be eliminated so a felon convicted of 3 offenses would only serve time for 1 of those offenses. For example, person is picked up for possession of drugs, but is also a gang-banger and is in possession of a weapon. He/she would only serve time for one of those offenses with no additional time added on for the other two offenses.

• Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, if Prop 57 is approved, "shall have the authority" to award credits to the felon for good behavior and "approved rehabilitative or educational achievements". Those "credits" would lead to early release.

• Currently a minor committing a criminal felony offense could be tried in adult rather than juvenile court upon the recommendation of the district attorney. Prop 57 would create a report documenting the behavior and social history of the juvenile along with statements from the victims and the court would then make the decision where the juvenile offender would be tried – juvenile or adult court.

Association (CDAA) is an organization promoting public safety issues and creating awareness of impacts legislation, propositions and public safety funding will have on the citizens. Their focus right now: Governor Brown's Public Safety and Rehabilitation Act of 2016. Their Report, Analysis of The Public Safety & Rehabilitation Act of 2016 opens up with the following:

The Governor has proposed an initiative, The Public Safety and Rehabilitation Act of 2016 ("the Act"). Its apparent intent is to alleviate prison overcrowding and avoid the possibility of a federal court order releasing prisoners. However, the language in the initiative is drafted in a manner that would incorporate into the California Constitution drastic changes to our sentencing laws, including eligibility for parole that disregards enhancements such as use of a deadly weapon, commission of a crime to benefit a criminal street gang, or prior prison terms; disregards consecutive sentences for the commission of multiple offenses; and provides prison officials with broad authority to award increased conduct credits, including to murderers and rap-

CDAA's Report walks through the total disregard of Brown's Prop 57 and the public's previous declarations in other propositions. Because the District Attorneys know their job and the law far better than I, below is the information taken from that Report. You make a decision on Prop. 57.

• It makes no difference if you have committed one felony against one property or individual or several felonies against several persons or properties. Under Prop 57 they both would do the same time in prison and eligible for the same award of credits for early release.

• Conflicts with Prop 8 – June 1992 – Victims Bill of Rights. In any criminal proceeding allows enhancement of sentencing for prior convictions. Prop. 57 excludes prior convictions when making decisions about prisoners' eligibility for parole.

• Conflicts with Prop. 9 -November 2008- Marsy's Law. ... "crime victims have the right to expect the government to properly fund the criminal justice system ... [to] protect crime victims." Criminals should serve their full time and not be given early release to alleviate overcrowding, but Prop. 57 overrides that.

• Abolishes Prop 21 – March 2000 - Gang Violence & Juvenile Crime Prevention Act. 62% of the voters found juvenile crime had become larger and more threatening and needed "vigorous enforcement and ... meaningful criminal sanctions ... including voter approved 'Three Strikes' law". Prop. 57 erase court control over these juveniles.

• Prop. 184 & AB 971 - 3 Strikes Law. Provided enhancement in sentencing by doubling the time for serious and violent felonies and could increase time served to 25 years. Prop 57 eliminates enhancements and could wipe out the 3 Strikes Law.

• Prop 57 nullifies the 10-20-Life law passed in 1997 to combat gun violence. The Legislature found felons who use firearms to commit crimes should serve longer sentences "to protect citizens and to deter violent crime" which is an enhancement and would be disregarded under Prop. 57.

• Prop 35 – November 2012 Californians Against Sexual Exploitation Act. Approved by 81.3% of the voters increases penalties for human trafficking with enhancements of 5, 7 or 10 years for infliction of great bodily injury and a 5 year enhancement for a prior conviction.

From the District

Attorney's Report:

"The intent of the initiative appears to be to accelerate the release of state prison inmates serving terms for non-violent offenses [but Prop 57 amends] the Constitution to drastically reduce sentences by requiring parole consideration for those serving consecutive sentences for multiple crimes, repeat offenders, and those whose crimes are aggravated by factors resulting in enhancements... We recommend that the initiative be withdrawn and be replaced at a future date with a more precisely worded proposal."

More Police and Innocent People Killed

By George Ogden

Mohamed Lahouaiej Bouhlel, 31, a Tunisian deliveryman who drove his 19-ton truck in a zigzag path down a crowded promenade in Nice, France, killed 84 people and more than 200 injured with many critical and clinging to life. These were innocent people, family and friends that came together to celebrate Bastille Day fireworks display.

According to witnesses, he aimed his truck at a promenade where mothers with children and children in strollers along with anyone else as a target for his killing rampage. The carnage was unbelievable.

The victims of the attack were from around the world including the U.S. where a father and his 11year-old son from Texas were killed.

France is taking the heat for letting in these people into their country as refugees. Some riot, kill and commit crimes all over the country. It is sad when I hear things like, what did the people of France expect when their government let these people in. A lot of countries have done this including the U.S. and YES, they are here. Why am I running?

Why am I running? This is the question that I am most-often asked. The truth is, this is all new to me and my wife Natalia. I'm not an experienced politician -I'm a local school board member and self-employed tax attorney. I'm not running because I love politics - I'm running because I love this community and because the people of this community deserve a good State Assembly representative, for a change.

Recently, it was reported by the Los Angeles Times and the San Gabriel Valley Tribune that a restraining order was issued against our current State Assembly representative, Roger Hernandez, due to multiple counts of severe domestic violence. In response, the Speaker of the State Assembly removed Roger Hernandez from all of his committee assignments in Sacramento, including his role as chairman of the Labor and Employment Committee. Further, the Los Angeles Times just reported that Roger Hernandez's supporters are now fleeing in droves, including the Speaker of the State Assembly, the Lieutenant Governor, and several State Assembly and State Senate representatives, after Judge Kaufman issued the restraining order. Domestic violence is deplorable. It is shameful and embarrassing that we have been represented by this man as our State Assembly representative for the past six years. I am running to restore dignity

How Complacent Is Wall Street Regarding Rates?

FOMC members believe the best measure of their communications acumen is the alignment of fed funds futures with the Fed's median fed funds forecast.

In their minds, they are communicating effectively if the market aligns with their forecast and failing to communicate if it doesn't. After all, the fed funds rate isn't determined by the markets. It is determined by the FOMC.

In the April minutes, they had this to say about communications:

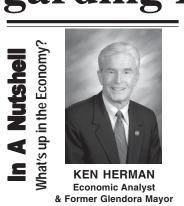

"Some members expressed concern that the likelihood implied by market pricing that the Committee would increase the target range for the federal funds rate at the June meeting might be unduly low."

In June, the warning was less specific, but more emphatic:

"Several participants expressed concern that the Committee's communications had not been fully effective in informing the public how incoming information affected the Committee's view of the economic outlook, its degree of confidence in the outlook, or the implications for the trajectory of monetary policy."

Translated to plain English: Several FOMC participant's fear the bond market will be rocked when rates rise because it will happen much sooner than people think. The FOMC is failing to communicate (1) how unimportant current data are to the Fed's forecast; (2) the Fed's confidence in its forecast and (3) the fact data supportive of the forecast implies a need to raise rates a lot faster than the market realizes.

Clearly, this warning is intended to move the market into alignment with the FOMC rate forecast. It has worked to a point. The odds of a rate hike by December were just 7.9% on July 5. They rose to 11.8% when the minutes were released on July 6 and 17.8% July 7. Of course, if traders accepted the Fed's forecast at face value, the odds of two rate hikes by December might be higher than 50%. But these odds remain extremely low at 0.4%. An Alternative Interpretation away from the Fed when it comes to the fed funds rate's trajectory, but that does not mean they are not paying attention. The FOMC publishes quarterly forecasts and gives dozens of speeches every month which traders read and hear. If there is a communication failure, it's the Fed's increasing inability to convince anyone their forecast has credibility because, for one reason or another, the Fed's rate forecast has been wrong for years.

Traders may be light years

Timing is a huge factor separating market forecasts from the Fed's. The Fed updates its forecast quarterly, after all, while the market updates pricing every second of every day.

There are risks when traders' opinions differ from the Fed's, especially after quarterly meetings. The market reaction to the British referendum was violent in part because traders were certain the vote would go the other way. If opinions had been a little more balanced beforehand some of the volatility could have been avoided.

Pros and Cons of Openness Freewheeling communication theoretically makes it easier for the FOMC to guide market expectations. It possibly minimizes volatility in the wake of Fed decisions and offers a possibility for the Fed to rein in traders when they charge off in the wrong direction. But the Fed's communication is not all good:

1. The message is rarely unified. Just this week Williams and Dudley offered opposing opinions about the British referendum's potential effects on the US economy.

2. Officials attempt to sway each other's views when they speak. As a result, they tend to overstate their case. One result: On several occasions in the past year, a clear majority of FOMC members advocated rate hikes that did not happen.

3. Repeatedly making the same failed prediction is a guaranteed credibility killer. And yet, some FOMC members seem increasingly sure inflation will overheat the longer it remains below 2%.

4. Even before Yellen's term began, the Fed's forecasts have generally missed in the same direction.

After five years, traders would be irrational not to correct for the Fed's incorrect forecasts.

Despite its drawbacks, the Fed's communication policy is unlikely to change in a material way as long as Yellen is Chair. Investors and traders should be careful not to react to Fed guidance without first weighing it against past guidance policy decisions. Communication is a valuable trading tool, but it has to be correct for Wall Street to take it seriously. The wide gap between FOMC forecasts and fed funds futures suggests most traders are comfortable ignoring the Fed's forecast. Still, Fed communication still impacts futures, despite frequently being misleading. The question remains: How shocked will the markets be if the Fed raises rates sooner rather than later?

Financial - Ask Julia

We'd like to buy a house, so we've been looking into the different types of loans. It looks like we should apply for an FHA loan, but want to understand our options. Help!

There are several loan options available. Although FHA loans require a small down-payment, the required mortgage insurance premium can be costly. There are Conventional loans, Veterans Administration loans, USDA loans, and First-time Home-buyer programs which require 3-5-percent down on a 30-year fixed loan. Although a loan with less than 20percent typically requires Mortgage Insurance, there are ways to reduce this, too. Currently there is a loan being offered at 1-percent down (the lender adds 2-percent), for a total of 3-percent down. You'll have mortgage insurance, but this is one of the best loans available to those who qualify.

My friends and I were talking about our investments and the losses we suffer in the stock market. One friend said that she'd talked with you about 9 years ago, followed your recommendation to move her money, and that she hasn't lost a penny since in that investment. That's unbelievable! What did you invest her money in?

After reviewing each client's individual situation, explaining the different places to invest, we agree on a most-suitable product. I recommend products which offer tax-deferred growth potential, guarantees to your principal and credited interest, and the ability to take income for life. With the annual reset function (your balance is locked in each year), the index does not have to make up previous losses in order for the invested funds to earn additional interest. For example, let's say you invest $100,000, and during the year, overall, the stock market tanks. Your account balance would still be $100,000. Or, let's say you invest $100,000, and during the year, overall, the stock market skyrockets. Your account balance would increase by the limits in your policy contract. You don't get all the gains of the stock market, but you don't suffer the losses either. (Guarantees are subject to the strength of the company.)

I used the financial services division at my bank and opened an IRA. Since it's at a bank, it is FDIC insured, right? I also have a safety-deposit box at my bank. Are the contents insured? No, your IRA is not FDIC insured. Read your bank's disclaimer. Here's a typical one from one of the biggest banks: "Investment products offered through [bank's name] are not FDIC insured, are not bank guaranteed, may lose value, are not deposits, are not insured by any federal government agency, are not a condition to any banking service or activity." And, no, the contents of your safety-deposit box is not insured by the bank; you can usually add coverage for this to your renter's or homeowner's insurance policy.

Because of the cost, I have to choose between getting enough life insurance OR saving for retirement. Can you help me with this decision?

Yes. There's actually a type of life insurance now that provides a death benefit to your survivors or beneficiaries, but also provides the opportunity for tax-deferred, cash value accumulation for retirement or other financial needs while you are alive.

Assessor Jeffrey Prang Releases 2016 Assessment Roll, Reports 5.58% Increase, Sixth Consecutive Year Of Growth

LOSANGELES - Los Angeles County Assessor Jeffrey Prang today released the 2016 Los Angeles County Assessment Roll. The Assessment Roll reflects the value of all taxable property in Los Angeles County.

The 2016 Assessment Roll reveals a 5.58% increase in value. The gross assessed value for the County reached $1.391 trillion, and the net taxable value after exemptions (charitable, homeowners, disabled, etc.) is a crease at 2.97%. Additional contributors to the growth of the Roll include decline-in-value restorations (0.51%) and new construction (0.51%). The annual inflation-adjusted trend (also known as the Consumer Price Index) added an additional 1.32% to the Roll.

From 2007 through 2010, the economic recession and the corresponding real estate market decline resulted in consecutive annual Assessment Rolls degrowth, the 2016 Assessment Roll continues this upward trend and market recovery.

In order to create the 2016 Assessment Roll, the hardworking and dedicated staff of the Assessor's Office processed 365,000 deeds, assessed over 131,000 transfers, enrolled over 58,000 new construction events, reviewed approximately 201,000 decline-in-value parcels, and prepared over 37,000 Assessment Appeals Board

Where Did The Transmission Dipstick Go?

I remember when we checked transmission fluid by pulling the dipstick out. We could tell many things by that dipstick but today it isn't that simple. Many new models don't even come equipped with a transmission dipstick!

Automatic transmissions have become marvels of precision and durability over the years. Many are 5, 6, 7 or even 8 speeds and do not have a dipstick to allow checking or adding to the fluid level or inspecting the fluid condition, unless you have specialty tools to do so.

Vehicles with "dipstickless" transmissions came about due to people adding incorrect fluid. For example, a person or non-qualified shop, added or changed the fluid with the incorrect type of fluid. The transmission would fail prematurely because the less expensive fluid did not lubricate

Some of these transmissions are filled with what the manufacturer says is "lifetime" fluid that they claim does not require changing, while other makes may require fluid service at very long intervals that are often 100,000 miles or more. I have seen many transmissions over these last 38 years, and I recommend changing your transmission fluid at 50,000 miles. If the fluid checks out okay, then a longer change interval is acceptable.

creased every year, vehicles have replaced the good old "one type of transmission fluid fits all" cars with very specific synthetic fluids. The cost of today's transmission fluid can be staggering, ranging from $6.00 to $26.00 per quart. Adding the wrong fluid will damage the internally lubricated parts over time.

Please do your homework when having any service performed. It can be devastating if the wrong fluid or incorrect fill procedure is performed.

"The 2016 Assessment Roll provides a comprehensive view of the strength of the Los Angeles real estate market," said Assessor Jeffrey Prang. "The Roll illustrates that in the last year, every city in Los Angeles County recorded an increase compared to 2015. I am pleased to report the 5.58% increase for assessed property values in Los Angeles County represents the sixth consecutive year of growth."

Assessor Prang delivered the Assessment Roll to John Naimo, the Auditor-Controller for Los Angeles County. The Auditor-Controller's Office applies the annual tax rate and submits the data to the County Treasurer and Tax Collector. The Treasurer and Tax Collector mails property tax bills to property owners and collects property tax revenues.

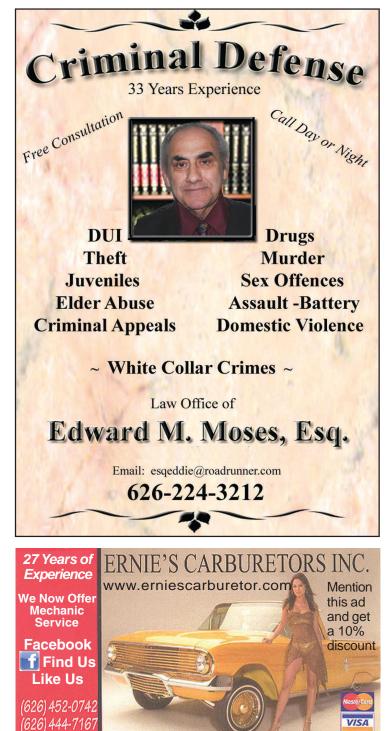

The 2016 Assessment Roll consists of 2,365,869 taxable real property parcels, 309,253 business property assessments, 45,778 boats, and 3,109 aircraft. Transfers of real estate (e.g., sales) were the largest contributor to the Assessment Roll in-

New Campaign Promotes ''Healthy Eating Out'' for LA Families

LOS ANGELES - California has the highest rate of obesity among children between the ages of 2 and 4. In Los Angeles County alone, 19% of 3 and 4 year olds enrolled in the WIC program are overweight. These children are at greater risk of health complications such as diabetes and heart disease later in life. The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health, YWCA San Gabriel Valley and local restaurants are coming together to help parents and reverse this trend.

Angelenos order from a restaurant up to 4 times a week. This includes picking up food, ordering delivery, or going out for weekend treats. The newest campaign by Choose Health LA Restaurants is a reminder for parents to think about their families' health when they are dining out.

Through Choose Health LA Restaurants, both restaurants and parents can make small changes to improve the health of their families while enjoying meals outside the home. The campaign promotes several easy tips including: choose water or milk with every meal, choose fruit or veggies as a side, and choose foods that are baked or grilled instead of deep-fried.

"Working with restaurants and encouraging parents to start small with a few ordering swaps will make a big difference," said Vilma Escalante from YWCA San Gabriel Valley. "Parents are busy so simple reminders can be very helpful. Now that the restaurants are also changing, it will be even easier for parents to stop for food without having to worry about whether it is healthy."

Choose Health LA Restaurants started two years ago and has now reached over 700 restaurant locations in LA County. These restaurants offer their same popular dishes in multiple serving sizes to give their customers the choice of healthier, smaller portions. Restaurants with kids' meals' now automatically come with a side of fruit or vegetables, have removed sugary beverages, and have reduced the number of deep-fried foods.

YWCA San Gabriel Valley has been working in the community to encourage restaurants to change their menus and join the Choose Health LA Restaurants program. "It was important for us to start working with restaurants, to increase access to healthier foods in our communities," said Vilma Escalante. "We already work on trying to create sustainable healthy communities in the San Gabriel Valley and this program supports our collective greater childhood obesity prevention efforts."

Families can easily find Choose Health LA Restaurants at www.ChooseHealthLA.com/eat/ restaurants.

A Win For Millions Of Small-Business Workers

Changes in the way small and midsized companies are regulated by the Affordable Care Act (ACA) could make a substantial difference to some 60 million workers and their families—and both they and their employers could benefit.

As of January 1, 2016, the rules for small-business groups have changed. Now defined as companies with one to 100 employees, the market that once consisted of independent grocers, auto repair garages, local restaurants, dry cleaners and beauty salons has grown to encompass larger small companies such as financial services firms, car dealerships and more. Meanwhile, employers are looking to provide a wider range of options and flexible plans to remain competitive. That's a big win for employees and their families who are now in direct touch with benefits experts, new technology platforms and online services that help optimize their choices. Health care reform and government-sponsored exchanges have accelerated consumers' appetite for choosing the best coverage via a federal or private exchange. An abundance of unstructured plan options are simply overwhelming for small businesses. This can prove costly if either ends up making random decisions about selecting a plan, or worse, not picking one at all. The results are consumers who may be confused, frustrated, unhappy and-perhaps most importantly-improperly covered for their needs. Actually, making the best decision without professional counsel or experienced customer service is another thing altogether. A recent University of Pennsylvania Wharton School study demonstrates that the "health literacy" of Americans is actually quite low. The report found that only about 14 percent of respondents could correctly answer multiple-choice questions about the four basic components of health insurance plans: deductibles, co-pays, co-insurance and maximum out-ofpocket costs. Additionally, just 11 percent could navigate the features of a traditional plan to calculate the estimated cost of a four-day stay in the hospital. For a company of any size, choosing insurance for its employees can be complex. It tends to be even more so for businesses with limited resources that must be aware of all the different tax laws related to employer coverage and then factor in the needs of all workers and dependents. As David Chase, health care policy director for the Small Business Majority, a national small-business advocacy group, summed it up, "If you're a small-business owner, you know how to provide your product or service. But when it comes to health insurance, it's a very foreign concept." As small businesses seek to identify, select and manage health benefits for a diverse workforce and meet ACA requirements, they work closely with professional advisers, such as brokers, to streamline and simplify the entire process.

Expert help when it comes to health insurance can make a big difference to small companies and their workers.

"The bottom line is that the expansion of the small-group market has more options, flexibility and opportunity than ever," said Ron Goldstein, president and CEO of CHOICE Administrators, which provides health insurance options and provider access to small businesses and their employees. "Today's marketplace trumpets the virtues of variety, but the reality is that choice works best when it is smartly optimized and benefits professionals can help." More employees now gain year-round from professional advisers who routinely serve as de facto human resources, personnel or payroll departments. This is particularly true as smaller firms tend to have fewer staff and resources to research, manage and administer plans. In the end, small-business owners are well positioned for a win-win situation when it comes to competitive, personalized health insurance. Whether it's through federal or private exchanges, options are abundant and both employers and employees stand to benefit.

Uncle Sam Wants You To Save For Retirement

If you ever feel your finances are too stretched to save for retirement, you're not alone-and there could be good news for you. The Saver's Credit-a littleknown tax credit made available by the IRS to low- to moderateincome workers-could make saving for retirement more affordable than you think. It may reduce your federal income taxes when you save for retirement through a qualified retirement plan or an individual retirement account (IRA).

"The Saver's Credit is a fantastic tax credit because it may help you reduce your tax bill while saving for retirement. It offers eligible workers an added incentive to save for retirement on top of the benefits of tax-deferred savings when they contribute to a 401(k), 403(b) or IRA," says Catherine Collinson, president of nonprofit Transamerica Center for Retirement Studies®.

Here's how it works:

1. Check Your Eligibility Depending on your filing status and income level, you may qualify for a nonrefundable credit of up to $1,000 (or $2,000 if filing jointly) on your federal income taxes for that year when you contribute to a 401(k),

Single filers with an Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) of up to $30,500 in 2015 or $30,750 in 2016 are eligible. For the head of a household, the AGI limit is $45,750 in 2015 or $46,125 in 2016. For those who are married and file a joint return, the AGI limit is $61,000 in 2015 or $61,500 in 2016.

Save for retirement in your employer's retirement plan, if offered, or in an IRA. In general, for every dollar you contribute to a qualified retirement plan or IRA (up to the lesser of the limits permitted by an employersponsored plan or the IRS), you defer that amount from your current overall taxable income on your federal tax returns-and you may also qualify for the Saver's Credit.

Avoid Home Improvement Scams

While home repairs are a standard part of homeownership, they can open the door to scam artists seeking to prey on vulnerable older adults-but you can avoid being a target. That's a good thing, since recent research suggests older Americans lose over $36 billion annually to a range of financial exploitation schemes, including home improvement scams.

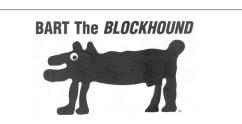

Scammers use a variety of strategies to target seniors, from charging inflated prices and delivering substandard work, to using high-pressure tactics to sell services. Older adults are prime targets for this type of exploitation because they often own homes with equity, tend to be more trusting and may be less likely to report an incident.

been released by the Eldercare Locator to provide detailed recommendations that seniors can use to safeguard their financial future.

The brochure provides information and resources that can help older adults avoid being targeted in the first place and guidance on what to do if you are a victim of this type of scam. It also features a handy checklist to help homeowners select a reputable contractor.

This is an essential publication for any older adult interested in undertaking a home copy, visit the Eldercare Locator at www.eldercare.gov. The Eldercare Locator, a public service of the Administration for Community Living/ Administration on Aging, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is a nationwide service that connects older adults and their caregivers with information and referrals to local providers and programs.

eral tax returns, you can claim your Saver's Credit by subtracting this tax credit from your federal income taxes owed.

Most workers who are eligible to claim the Saver's Credit are also eligible to take advantage of the IRS Free File program for taxpayers with an AGI of $62,000 or less. Thirteen commercial software companies make their tax preparation software available for free through the Free File program at www.irs.gov/FreeFile.

• If you are using tax preparation software, including those offered through the IRS Free File program at www.irs.gov, use Form 1040, Form 1040A or Form 1040NR. If your software has an interview process, be sure to answer questions about the Saver's Credit, also referred to as the Retirement Savings Contributions Credit and/or Credit for Qualified Retirement Savings Contributions.

• If you are preparing your tax returns manually, complete Form 8880, the Credit for Qualified Retirement Savings Contributions, to determine your exact credit rate and amount. Then transfer the amount to the designated line on Form 1040, Form 1040A or 1040NR.

• If you are using a professional tax preparer, be sure to ask about the Saver's Credit.

• Consider having any refund you receive directly deposited to an IRA to further boost your retirement savings.

Please note that the Saver's Credit is not available with Form 1040EZ.

The 16th Annual Transamerica Retirement Survey found that just 25 percent of American workers with annual household incomes of less than $50,000 are aware that the credit exists. Don't overlook Uncle Sam's Saver's Credit; it may help you pay less in your current federal income taxes while saving for retirement.
