Suspected Drunk Driver Fleeing from Police Injures 9 People Including a Little Baby

By George Ogden / Rudy Lopez WCPD PIO

WEST COVINA - On Monday, July 18, around 7:50 p.m., a white Acura driven erratically was spotted in the area of Holton and Avington Streets by West Covina Police Officers. The Acura suddenly sped away at a high rate of speed and a pursuit was initiated. The Acura travelled north on Avington, then turned west on Francisquito. When the Acura approached the intersection of Francisquito and Walnut, it failed to stop at the stop sign and slammed into two vehicles that were already in the intersection. A white Nissan Maxima had been northbound on Walnut, and a White Ford Expedition was southbound when the Acura slammed into the auto's.

The Nissan Maxima had a female driver and her two daughters ages 7 years and 8 months. The back of her car was nearly ripped off the vehicle. All were injured with the baby suffering critical injuries as it had been crushed in the baby-seat. All were transported to County USC Medical Cen-

The Expedition contained 6 people. All 6 received injuries and were also transported to local hospitals. The current conditions of all of the injured victims are presently unknown.

The Acura was driven by Robert Lopez, 26 of La Puente who was arrested and transported to a local hospital for his injuries. His current condition is unknown. The California Highway Patrol is handling the investigation for the collision.

Prosecutors filed criminal charges on Wednesday against Lopez who triggered the threevehicle crash which injured the 10 people, including the baby and himself.

Lopez was charged with three counts of fleeing a pursuing officer's motor vehicle causing serious bodily injury, one count of driving under the influence of alcohol causing injury within 10 years of another DUI offense, one count of driving with a .08 percent blood alcohol content causing injury within 10 years of another DUI offense.

Lopez was convicted of reckless driving and driving with a .08 percent blood alcohol content or more in 2015.

Lopez will be arraigned at Pomona Superior Court. Lopez is still at Los Angeles County USC Medical Center and is being held on $160,000 bail on these charges, however, it appears that there is no bail hold on other charges. During his adult life, it appears that he is a career criminal with three felony convictions and other

Weapons Destroyed at Annual Gun Melt

Nickole Nishida, who is the Public Information Officer at the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, stands by a pile of handguns and rifles that will be melted down.

RANCHO CUCAMONGA -The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department has partnered with the Gerdau Steel Mill in Rancho Cucamonga to melt 7,044 guns into steel rebar for use in constructing new bridges, freeways and buildings across California. This is the 23rd Annual Gun Melt by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, the Los Angeles Superior Court, and the Compton, El Monte, and Beverly Hills police departments. Los Angeles County Sheriff Jim McDonnell spoke at the melt down event about getting rid of the unwanted weapons.

There are a number of ways for these weapons to be turned in. Either through a buyback program or simply turning them in to law enforcement agencies. If you have an unwanted weapon or one that might be too dangerous to fire because it malfunctions or it is not working properly or any other reason, contact your local police agency and see what there policy is for turning in your unwanted weapon. DO NOT simply walk into a police station with a weapon. Contact them first. If you do bring a weapon to a police station, LEAVE IT IN YOU CAR until you make contact with a police officer and they will go to your vehicle to retrieve and secure your weapon.

Critical Blood Shortage: Red Cross Urges Blood And Platelet Donors To Give Now

PASADENA - While thousands of people from across the country responded to the emergency request for blood and platelet donations issued by the American Red Cross in early July, a critical blood shortage remains. The Red Cross urges eligible donors to give now to help ensure blood is available throughout the rest of the summer to meet patient needs.

At times, blood and platelets are being distributed to hospitals faster than donations are coming in, which impacts the ability to rebuild the blood supply. Right now, the Red Cross has less than a five-day blood supply on hand. The Red Cross strives to have a five-day supply at all times to meet the needs of patients every day and be prepared for emergencies that may require significant volumes of donated blood

"The Red Cross continues to have an emergency need for blood and platelet donors to give now and help save patient lives," said Jay Winkenbach, donor recruitment director of the Southern California Blood Services Region. "We are grateful for those who have already stepped up this summer to give and want to remind those who are eligible that hospital patients are still counting on them to roll up a sleeve."

In the U.S., every two seconds someone like Ray Poulin needs blood or platelets. Poulin's liver and kidneys failed following a serious blood infection. The situation became urgent when his liver hemorrhaged. He was given a 10 percent chance of survival. After receiving 77 units of blood, Poulin defied the odds.

"There was a lot that went into saving my life, but if the blood wasn't available when I needed it, I wouldn't be here today," said Poulin.

Blood and platelets are needed for many different reasons. Accident and burn victims, heart surgery patients, organ transplant patients, and those receiving treatment for leukemia, cancer or sickle cell disease may all need blood.

Donors of all blood types are urgently needed to help restock the shelves. The Red Cross is thanking those who come in to donate blood or platelets between July 25 and Aug. 31 by emailing them a $5 Amazon.com gift card claim

To schedule an appointment to donate, use the free Blood Donor App, redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Donation appointments and completion of a RapidPass online health history questionnaire are encouraged to help reduce wait times.

During NNO, San Gabriel residents will lock their doors, turn on outside lights and spend the evening outside with neighbors. Many local neighborhoods are planning block parties, cookouts, contests and youth activities in honor of the occasion, but NNO can be as simple as bringing your lawn chairs out front and visiting with neighbors. San Gabriel Police officers and city personnel will make an effort to visit all registered block parties with police cruisers and firetrucks. It is a great opportunity to meet and talk to city officials and public safety officers. NNO is designed to raise awareness of crime and drug prevention efforts, generate support for local anti-crime efforts, strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community partnerships and send a message to criminals that neighbors are watching out for each other.

NNO can be part of ongoing Neighborhood Watch activities or even a great way to get a Neighborhood Watch Program started in your area. Neighborhood Watch Programs help neighbors work together to make everyone's quality of life better and reduce crime.

Huy Fong Counter-Suit Against City of Irwindale

IRWINDALE - As reported on May 19, 2016, the City of Irwindale filed a lawsuit in Superior Court in the Central District of Los Angeles County against Huy Fong for breach of contract due to Huy Fong's non-payment of nearly half a million dollars in fees as a business operating in Irwindale. These annual fees, known as "Payments in Lieu of Taxes" (PILT), were agreed to in a contract entered into by Huy Fong with the City of Irwindale in September of 2010 and are not "voluntary" fees as recent news articles have stated. The company paid these fees for the first three years of the contract, beginning in 2012 per the 2010 contract agreement, and stopped paying them in 2015. Huy Fong is currently in arrears in the amount of $427,086,76.

The decision to file the lawsuit was made after careful consideration and as a last resort following a year of repeated attempts to collect the outstanding debt owed to the City. The PILT fees are based on contractual agreements that were entered into by Huy Fong and the City of Irwindale in 2010 and terminate after 10 annual payments. The PILT fees are applied to vital City services, including to pay for the men and women of the Irwindale Police Department to serve and protect businesses such as Huy Fong as well as its employees.

Rather than honor its commitments, Huy Fong is now challenging the PILT fees through a proposed cross-complaint in the case. Huy Fong in essence is trying to renege on its contractual commitments that were key in its bid to be the successful purchaser and operator of the property in 2008. Indeed, the City of Irwindale's former Redevelopment Agency selected Huy Fong and its developer amongst 15 proposals submitted by real estate development firms to purchase and develop the former Redevelopment Agency's property where Huy Fong now operates. Between May 21st and July 9th of 2008, several rounds of interviews were held with the top 7 firms concluding with Huy Fong being selected as the successful bidder. A key negotiation point in those interviews and selection process was Huy Fong's offer and commitment to pay the PILT to offset costs to the City of Irwindale from Huy Fong operations since the City does not receive sales taxes from Huy Fong's Sriracha sauce produc-

The City values Huy Fong as an Irwindale business and appreciates that the company chose our city to be the home base for Sriracha, one of the world's most popular hot sauces. However, we value every Irwindale business and believe in the fair and equal treatment of each business. We cannot, and will not, make exceptions for financial obligations for one that will negatively impact all.

The Helitanker, leased annually from Erickson Aviation Incorporated, will arrive for service in Los Angeles County on August 1st and will join the SuperScooper, which will be leased later in the season.

MPPD Special Traffic Enforcement Campaign Targeting Pedestrian and Bicycle Safety

MONTEREY PARK - The Monterey Park Police Department will continue conduct bike and pedestrian safety enforcement operations on July 21 and August 12, 2016 with focused enforcement on collision causing factors involving motorists, pedestrians and bicyclists.

The department has mapped out locations over the past three years where pedestrian and bike collisions have occurred along with the violations that led to those crashes. Extra officers will be on duty patrolling areas where bike and pedestrian traffic and crashes occur in an effort to lower deaths and injuries.

Officers will be looking for violations made by drivers, bike riders and pedestrians alike that can lead to life changing injuries. Special attention will be directed toward drivers speeding, making illegal turns, failing to stop for signs and signals, failing to yield to pedestrians in cross walks or any other dangerous violation.

Additionally, enforcement will be taken for observed violations when pedestrians cross the street illegally or fail to yield to drivers who have the right of way. Bike riders will be stopped and citations issued when they fail to follow the same traffic laws that apply to motorists. All riders are reminded to always wear a helmet – those under 18 years of age must wear helmets by law. Pedestrians should cross the street only in marked crosswalks or at corners.

Bicycle and pedestrian fatalities are rising in California as more people use these non-motorized means of transportation. Locally, the Monterey Park Police Department has investigated six fatal and 167 injury collisions involving pedestrians and bicyclists during the past three years. In 2013, California witnessed 701 pedestrians and 141 bicyclists killed, accounting for more than 28 percent of all traffic fa-

Governor Signs Bill Providing Help for Those Claiming Refunds on Tax

SACRAMENTO – A bill sponsored by the Board of Equalization (BOE) to streamline and simplify refunds on tax liabilities is now signed by the governor and will become law January 1, 2017. AB 1856, authored by Assemblyman Matt Dababneh helps taxpayers making installment payments by only requiring they file one claim for refund, rather than one for each installment payment they have made on a single liability.

"Running a business is challenging enough without having to keep track of multiple layers of paperwork," said BOE and Legislative Committee Chairwoman Fiona Ma. "It is my goal and that of all our members to simplify and streamline our taxpayers' dealings with government agencies so they can spend more time on achieving success in their business ventures." In several cases, BOE taxpayers have been barred by the statute of limitations from recovering all of the installment payments they made to the BOE, even though their tax debt was cancelled or reduced to an amount less than the total payments received—because they made payments after the original claim had been filed, but did not file additional claims to cover the later payments. The new law will allow taxpayers making installment payments to file a single claim for refund before the entire liability is paid in full.

Make America Great Again!

By Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

This is the first time I have ever been to a Republican National Convention. What a thrill it was with all the overwhelming enthusiasm and boisterous support for the Republican nominee Donald Trump and his Vice President choice, Mike Pence.

After the California Republican Convention, I was called and asked to be a Trump delegate from the 32nd Congressional District but with the caveat I had to support Donald Trump and stay bound to that commitment to support his candidacy the entire time. I agreed and became a delegate among 171 others from California.

I made that commitment because I agree with Donald Trump's agenda and, most importantly, the people had spoken across this country loud and clear. Trump rounded up the votes state after state as he went up against many well-known, wellestablished politicians with a long list of political accomplishments. As a former council member and current chair of the 48th Assembly District Republican Central Committee, I feel very obligated to support the citizens who have spoken overwhelmingly with their votes in the primaries and support for Donald Trump for President of the U. S.

Donald Trump won the nomination because he hit every "hot button issue" the general public has been concerned about for the last eight years; and, in the last four years, in a state of panic over those issues Trump talked about in his acceptance speech.

The ultimate target of the politics we the people in this country have allowed to happen election after election. Whether it is democrat or Republican, the voting public supporting Donald Trump said enough is enough. Both parties have been locked into their platforms which are good guidelines but the performance to date to accomplish the end result has not been up to the public's standards. They are looking for results, not words. Both parties will have new platforms after their conventions and I will be reading carefully. But the platforms are only guidelines and will need honest and determined electeds at all levels with a strong leader at the head of the ship to fulfill those prom-

I happened to run into a young couple interviewing Republicans at the convention, not for a newspaper but for their organization, and asked me what I would like to ask Trump if I had the opportunity to talk to him. I said I would like to know how he will be addressing the violence we are seeing across this country today.

While I didn't get a specific plan in Donald Trump's acceptance speech, I did get the satisfaction of knowing he is fully aware and ready to acknowledge the problems through the statistics he presented. To me, that is half the battle in addressing problems ... just knowing what it is you need to resolve.

Trump says:

- Homicides last year increased 17% in 50 of our largest
 - 50% in the Capitol
 - Number of police officers

public's ire is the establishment killed in the line of duty has risen almost 50% compared to last

> • 180,000 illegal immigrants with criminal records, ordered deported, are still roaming our

The numbers sited leave me aghast but forget about debating the numbers. For the last 6 months we've picked up the newspaper or turned on the TV and the first thing we hear is another outrageous attack on our civilian population or our law enforcement people. What happens next is a speech from President Obama about how sorry he is but lays out no resolution to cure the problem. How will we recruit law enforcement personnel locally and at the borders if they become fair game to individuals with "issues"?

Three parents addressed those at Convention about their children who died violently at the hands of illegal immigrants, Mary Ann Mendoza, Sabine Durden, and Jamiel Shaw.

Mary Ann Mendoza was the mother of a 32 year old Mesa, Arizona police officer who was killed by an intoxicated criminal illegal driving the wrong way on a freeway for 35 miles. He had been convicted of previous crimes but never been deported.

Sabine Durden, a legal immigrant, lost her only son, a 911 dispatcher, to an illegal who had been deported for felony armed robbery and grand theft and returned again illegally. A previous DUI got him probation. The illegal alien as Durden called him, made a turn in front of Dominic Durden and killed him instantly. Jamiel Shaw, Sr lost his 17 year old son to a illegal immigrant and gang member who mistook Jamiel Shaw, Jr. for a rival gang member. The illegal shot Jamiel Jr. in the stomach then shot again execution style putting a bullet in the back of the head of Southern League's Most Valuable Football Player.

Trump adamantly declared his opposition to sanctuary cities now on the table for discussion and taking place in some cities already but also promised, "The first task for our new administration will be to liberate our citizens from crime and terrorism and lawlessness that threatens our communities."

I should mention here one of the initiatives on the November 8th ballot here in California from Governor Jerry Brown is Prop 57 allowing shorter sentences and early release of some of our criminals in California. The voters in California will review and decide that one in November.

Working in the education segment with the students and parents, I've become keenly aware of the impact a poor economy has on families across the board. Again, Trump's statistics bring home the dire need we have to grow our economy to a level that allows each and every family to have working supporters of that family unit. I've seen students check out and move out of town to live with other family members because mom and/or dad have lost their jobs and their home. The student is devastated because that student is now losing the security base in a community they were raised in.

When we are told:

- 58% of the African American youth are not employed
- 2 million more Latinos are in poverty today than when President Obama took office
- Household incomes are down more than $4,000

those numbers suggest to me we will be looking at more crime that will happen as a survival mechanism for those with no job.

Don't get me wrong. I am very happy to have a job and am treated more than fairly at my work place, but we have conversations there about how the cost of goods and services is outpacing the growth of our paycheck. And some of my co-workers are helping to support retired and ill parents or their children who are struggling just to get started out in the world or just find a job.

Trump said at the Convention address he will bring back millions of new jobs and add new wealth to this country that will help rebuild America. Taking aim at Obama and the democrats, Trump fired off, "This administration has failed American's inner cities ... It's failed them on education. It's failed them on jobs. It's failed them on crime. It has failed them in every way ..."

Finance isn't my strong suit, but it seems to me when we have a huge trade deficit of $800 billion and an ever increasing national debt of $19 trillion with infrastructure repair desperately needed throughout the country that isn't happening, and the jobless rate we now have, we are in trouble.

When we see law enforcement targeted at the levels we've seen recently, when we hear about families being ripped apart by the kinds of violence we are seeing and hearing about in every city in the U.S. and we see open doors at our borders for anything that wanders in to do what they chose, we are in trouble.

As side note: I saw and listened to all Trump's children at Convention. I'm impressed. He has accomplished raising three wellspoken, well-educated, productive children. That denotes character and commitment and I'm ready for that in all elective offices, including the Presidency of America.

Hillary Clinton should withdraw from the presidential race...

Clinton may be the presumptive nominee of her party, but public opinion polls regarding her honesty and integrity have demonstrated that fellow Democrats have doubts about her conduct as president. FBI director James Comey's report on her handling of State Department email confirms those doubts, raising serious questions about the wisdom of electing her president.

Supporters of what today is called the 'progressive' wing of the Democratic party will find it very difficult to vote for Clinton in November. So many Democrats and independents feel that way that they may not vote for president, handing the House to Donald Trump.

If Clinton really puts principle above personal glory and power, she should announce her withdrawal before the nominating convention, freeing her delegates to support someone else for the party's nomination.

Democrats might have bitten their lips and voted for Clinton, but the damning FBI report announced Tuesday by Comey has made that virtually impossible. Despite her repeated assertions that she never received or sent an email marked classified, Comey made it clear that Secretary of State Clinton's computer held email that contained information that she should have recognized was classified even if it was not labeled as such. Furthermore, while the FBI found no evidence that her email had been hacked, Comey said it could have been.

Bernie Sanders may dismiss the email issue as irrelevant, but as Comey's report makes clear it indicates a lack of good judgment on the part of the Secretary. Until he made his report public, Democrats were inclined to agree with Sanders, treating Donald Trump's repetitious reference to the email subject as a statement has changed all that. In fact, while the FBI did not find her actions subject to prosecution, Clinton has fallen short of the high bar set for presidential candidates. Had the Republican primaries ended with a traditional moderate as that party's choice, the polls to be taken in the wake of the FBI report would show their candidate with a substantial lead over Clinton. But Trump's primary campaign correctly tagged him as an insulting bully whom no mother would dare cite as a role model for her children. For that reason, he may still trail Clinton in the next round of polls.

Many Republicans may vote for Trump but without much enthusiasm. They dislike the man, but prefer an obnoxious president to any Democrat. So, unless Clinton withdraws, November will be one of those storied races in which voters were forced to hold their noses and vote.

Never in American history have voters been asked to choose between such despicable candidates as the two likely to be offered to them this November. Yet, unless delegates to the Democratic and Republican conventions take to heart all that campaign oratory about revolution, red herring. Comey's public the Democrats will nominate a woman who acts as though the office of president was her entitlement and the Republicans will endorse a man whose conduct on the campaign trail resembles that of a playground bully.

> The only hope is that the delegates to each convention will find the courage to pillory Hillary and dump Trump.

The Pokémon Go Game Can Be Dangerous

By George Ogden

I am sure you have heard about that "Pokémon Go" game that you can play on your cell phone or I-Pad.

Pokémon Go is a locationbased augmented reality mobile game developed by Niantic for iOS and Android devices. It was released in most regions of the world in July 2016 and became popular right away.

I don't know much about the game, but from what understand is you use your device to search and capture targets by using your camera with your device. You watch in your camera mode when you walk around and creatures show up on your screen and you go and capture it by going to that location. People have been caught driving around using this game to search for targets. Not a good idea at all, in fact, it is rather stupid.

Sounds like fun, but these targets can be "anywhere" as players can create targets for people to find. It appears that if a target is put out there, everyone who is playing can go to that location and try to find it. It can be on lawns, backyards, trees and so on and you may not belong there. This can be a problem. The latest in a run of problems that have hit people looking for Pokémon, has included people falling off cliffs and others being lured to be robbed at gunpoint as they search for Pokémon. Many players don't care if they are on private property or violating no trespassing areas and have been shot or beaten by the owners of the property. Some players have been arrested. Some targets have been placed in dangerous areas as people think it is funny to place targets in busy streets or other restricted area.

Before I knew of the game, we have spotted someone with our security cameras in our parking lot lurking around our parked cars. So to be safe, we went out armed to see if he was breaking into our cars. The individual was a tall Asian fellow that was well dressed. We challenged him as to why he was on private property and by our cars. The first thing he does is call me a name. It sounded like he called me a "Porky Man"... Really? So I called him "Skinny" and again asked him why he was there. Again, got the same response. Finally we realize we have a language barrier. He spoke some English, but not much. The one guy that was with me, realized what he was saying and knew of the game. We asked him nicely to leave. It appeared to be a threatening situation for both sides at the time. This had a good ending, however, there have been many incidents where people have been shot or beaten by property owners. If you're playing this game, YOU need to respect other people's property.

Glendora Mayor Endorses Cory Ellenson for State Assembly

I am reaching out to you today on the subject of our upcoming election for California State Assembly - 48th District.

The cities within the 48th District include: Glendora, Azusa, Bradbury, Duarte, Covina, West Covina, Irwindale, Baldwin Park, and El Monte. We are very fortunate to have Cory Ellenson as one of our candidates this No-

Cory Ellenson is smart, experienced, and devoted to our community. He is a self-employed tax attorney; an elected member of the Glendora School Board and has served our community well in that position. He listens to the people, works well with everyone, and created exceptional new programs that will improve education for all students for years to come. As a tax attorney, Cory spent four years fighting civil tax fraud for the federal government, and now helps people and businesses when they need legal representation on complex tax mat-

Cory has served our community through Kiwanis, Rotary, Freemasonry, The Glendora Education Foundation, volunteer teaching, and more. I have personally served alongside Cory for many years and believe that he genuinely cares about people and harbors a true desire to improve our quality of life here in the San Gabriel Valley. Cory is beholden to no one, has a mind of his own, and never loses sight of the fact that the voters are the ultimate power-holders. Cory has the character, diverse background and true leadership experience to do a great job for our area and this is why he is endorsed by all five members of the Glendora City Council and all of his colleagues on the Glendora School Board. Cory has earned the support of all elected officials in Glendora, and won the hearts and minds of our citizens.

It is because of this that I believe Cory is uniquely qualified to be your representative for the 48th District and why I enthusiastically support Cory Ellenson for State Assembly. I ask you to do the same and vote for Cory Ellenson on November 8.

It's like a gulp of fresh cold water, on some days: the "Noted and Quoted: What They Said" section of American Libraries: The Magazine of the American Library Association. As we approach the wonderful annual celebration that is Night on the Plaza, it seems a perfect time to share a few sustaining swallows from the American Libraries well of quotes:

From the June 2013 issue: "The public library is a re-

CONSUMER REPORTS magazine, "101 Secrets from Our Experts," May 2013.

From March/April 2015:

"If a parent or caregiver thinks, 'Oh, I now see why we sing these songs,' they're more likely to do it at home or to try it at home. Or they may recognize a behavior that a child is doing that is connected to here which will, one, and cities, we always made the local library an early stop. We'd hit the newspaper offices, the chamber of commerce, city hall, and Main Street for an introduction to the economics, politics, and stresses of a town. The visit to the public library revealed its heart and soul." DEBORAH FALLOWS, who

Consumer Jitters

Retail sales were much stronger recently, setting the stage for a Q2 economic rebound. But this year's rebound is shaping up weaker than the ones in O2 2014 and '15, consistent with an economy losing steam.

The first quarter was particularly bad. Growth in real consumer spending slowed to a two year low of 1.55% at an annual rate. Economists, for the most part, were baffled. But the data suggest the slowdown is pretty typical late-cycle stuff, you know, close to when expansions die of old age.

Does this mean recession is imminent? Well, it depends what you call imminent. Some fairly reliable recession indicators are flashing warning signs now, meaning the risk of recession is elevated. But calling a recession is a tricky business, which is why most economists insist the economy is still growing for months every time growth stops. For now, it's safe to say the perception of risk will fall as the economy accelerates in Q3, but the economy bears watching, especially consumption.

SHAKEN CONFIDENCE

Consumers are nervous. Both the Conference Board and University of Michigan consumer surveys peaked in January 2015. Both show consumers' assessment of current conditions have been flat for months, while consumers' expectations for the future have deteriorated. Expansions can continue for years without growth in confidence. Both indices typically drift lower for several quarters before plunging more than 20 points in a six month span right before recession sets in. You'd have to go back to the double-dip recessions of the early 1980s, triggered by a very aggressive Fed and the 1980 Credit Controls, to find the most recent example when there was a recession without that sudden plunge. But by the same token, it's rare for both indices to fall for a year without such a drop.

The deterioration in confidence likely reflects shrinking corporate profits. While there has been no increase in people finding jobs, or any decrease in those who think jobs are plentiful, consumers anticipate deteriorating business conditions and a deteriorating job market six months from now. They also worry about future income. Fewer anticipate increases over six months, while there has been an increase in the number expecting income will be the same or lower.

RISING SAVINGS

People save more when worried about jobs and income. With the exception of tax hocus-pocus, the trend in the saving rate has been rising since 2005, a reflection of the secular sluggishness known as the long-term credit cycle. You know, the one Yellen insists is not a real thing.

PROFITS AND M&A

Corporate profits peaked in the third quarter of 2014, but regular dividends are still rising. With profits dropping, companies are using dividends, buybacks and cost cuts to keep share prices from falling.

Mergers and acquisitions tend to pick up when cost cutting is a priority. In 2014 and 2015, there were $4.5 trillion and $5.6 trillion, respectively, in mergers and acquisitions, surpassing the prior two-year record in 2006 and 2007. One of the primary goals of M&A is to take advantage of economies of scale to reduce expenses.

Employees in support roles are especially vulnerable. Accountants and human resource employees and compliance especially (a company doesn't need twice as many support personnel just because it doubles in size). One set of managers and C-suite executives are usually also eliminated.

Because mergers tend to peak late in the cycle, when job openings are plentiful, they tend to limit job growth rather than cause payrolls to fall outright. But tens of thousands of people are displaced every quarter by mergerrelated layoffs, and tens of thousands more work under a cloud of fear for three months to a year, waiting to learn who will stay and who will go. Anyone who has experienced a merger knows how stressful it can be. M&A tends to peak late in the cycle, and is a reliable contributor to perennial late cycle deterioration in confidence.

UNEMPLOYMENT QUES-TIONABLE

Even the best leading indicators are not foolproof. But employment participation is one more to add to the list of critical indicators deteriorating in recent quarters. The list so far:

1. Corporate profits have been falling since 2014. If they don't recover soon, the stock market and employment are at risk.

2. Consumption has slowed for nine months straight. If consumption continues to fizzle, GDP will fizzle, too. Better recent retail sales are a hopeful sign, but several months of improvement are necessary to reverse the downward trend.

3. Business investment in equipment fell in the past two quarters. The Q1 drop was across the board. Structures investment has fallen in three of the past four quarters, but the drop so far has been mostly limited to energyrelated structures. Nevertheless, business fixed investment fell in Q4 and Q1, reflecting the weakness in profits. 4. The ranks of the unemployed are no longer falling, as job growth has slowed to roughly the same pace as labor force

5. Consumer confidence is slipping, and has been for more than a year, driving saving higher and spending lower. A preliminary recent pop in the University of Michigan consumer sentiment index is encouraging, but again, the trend is downward.

Weak corporate profits underlie all five of these warning signs. Profits must recover if business and consumer spending is to reaccelerate. Because so much of the recent profits weakness has been confined to oil and gas companies and exporters, there is a sense that it doesn't really count, especially now that oil is off its lows and the dollar has reversed some of last year's surge. But knowing where the weakness is doesn't make it any less real, especially as weak earnings spreads to companies only peripherally exposed to oil and exports.

With housing prices rising so fast, is there another chance of a housing bubble?

Here's a link to an interesting article about where real estate is showing signs of heating up too fast. http://www.realtor.com/ news/trends/housing-bubble-2/

Is there a way for me to cash out my existing annuity contract and trade into one that better suits my financial needs, but without having to pay income taxes on what I've accumulated?

Do you have any early surrender fees that would be due on your annuity? Sometimes this can be countered with all or part of a bonus offered on a new annuity. With that said, we could look into whether or not it would be beneficial for you to do an exchange (IRS Code Sec. 1035). A 1035 exchange would allow you to exchange an existing annuity contract for a newer one without having to pay taxes on the accumulation in your old contract. If we find that it's a good thing for you to do that, you could gain new opportunities for flexibility and tax-deferred accumulation without paying taxes on what you've already accumulated. Newer annuities offer anything from a bonus, easier access to funds, nursing-home benefits, guaranteed lifetime income, possible increase in retirement payout, and/ or a bonus to beneficiaries willing to take the money over several years rather than in one lump sum.

We'd like to set up some sort of an account for our grandson. What do you suggest?

There are several investment accounts you could establish for your grandchild, but one that my clients fall in love with is a cashvalue life insurance policy. Starting at age 1, and paying less than $100 per month into a $100,000 life insurance policy, the cashvalue could be enough to pay for college or enough to put a sizeable down-payment on a house. Of course, if he waited even longer to access the cash value, he could possibly have more than a million dollars for his retire-

What are the important ages in regard to financial planning, and why?

At age 59 1/2, as long as certain conditions are met, you can start taking withdrawals from qualified retirement plans and IRAs without incurring a penalty. Since these have been growing tax-deferred, you'll now have to pay ordinary income taxes. At age 62, you could start collecting reduced Social Security benefits. Depending on what year you were born, you could take full Social Security benefits when you reach "full retirement age" (usually ranging from 65 to 67). At age 65, you're eligible to enroll in Medicare. (If you want coverage at the earliest possible date, enroll 3 months before turning 65.) For those eligible for SS, Medicare Part A Hospital Insurance benefits are automatic. There's a monthly premium if you decide you want Medical Part B Insurance benefits. At age 70 1/2, you are required to take minimum distributions from most tax-deferred retirement plans if you want to avoid a 50% penalty on the amount that should have been withdrawn. The federal government determines your life expectancy, which is what the annual required minimum distribu-

The check engine light looks different from car to car, but it's always a yellow or orange color, usually with a picture of an engine. If the check engine light comes on solid (not blinking), you can continue to drive the car until you have a chance to bring it in. This does not mean you should ignore it.

When the check engine light

However, if the check engine light is blinking rhythmically, there is a serious problem; a computer system has had a major malfunction that will damage the catalytic converter. If you notice a blinking check engine light, you do not need to stop in the middle of the bridge and call a tow truck, but you do need to stop driving as soon as practical. Assessor Prang Secures $3.2 Million in Property Tax Relief for 50,000 Businesses

LOS ANGELES – The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors unanimously approved Assessor Jeffrey Prang's initiative to raise the minimum threshold for business personal property assessments from $2,000 to $5,000. This was a major initiative undertaken by Assessor Prang in order to reduce government bureaucracy and eliminate the property tax burden for some small business owners.

The Office of the Assessor was previously required to assess the value of business personal property, such as furniture and equipment, worth more than $2,000. However, in many of these assessments, the cost of completing the assessment exceeded the property tax collected. Raising the minimum limit would completely eliminate property tax bills for many small business owners.

"Today's vote will allow my staff to refocus our efforts on larger assessments while dispensing with a requirement that costs the County money and creates challenges for business owners," said Assessor Jeffrey Prang. "In fact, approximately 50,000 business owners will see combined property tax relief of roughly $3.2 million. Thank you to the Board of Supervisors, the Department of Consumer and Business Affairs, and the Treasurer and Tax Collector for this important step forward."

This initiative is one component of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors' Small Business Initiative, a five-year effort to help small businesses in unincorporated Los Angeles County transition to paying the County's new minimum wage.

"Growing and supporting small businesses is an initiative of the highest priority for our department," said Brian J. Stiger, Director of Consumer and Business Affairs. "We applaud the decision by the Board of Supervisors and the Assessor to institute a higher tax threshold which should allow many small businesses to thrive."

Joseph Kelly, Treasurer and Tax Collector, is also supportive of this increase because of the positive impact to taxpayers. "Small or low dollar billings are easy for taxpayers to overlook or forget about when updating their billing address. If bills go unpaid, taxpayers incur penalties and costs, as well as a potential tax lien."

Build A Road Map To Help Seniors Stop Or Reduce Driving

Parents don't hesitate to talk to their teenagers about driving safely, but no one is talking to seniors.

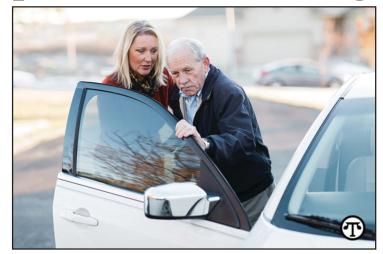

Many older people rely on driving for the independence and freedom to go where they want, when they want. The idea of giving up driving sparks feelings of anger, anxiety and loneliness. Though many drivers can continue to drive safely as they get older, physical and cognitive changes may put older adults in jeopardy on the road.

Developing an objective process to assess a loved one's driving abilities, communicate concerns, and plan ways to transition driving practices can help take the emotion out of the situation.

To help families start the dialogue, occupational therapist and senior driving expert Elin Schold Davis offers five suggestions.

1. Do all you can to keep a safe driver safer. For example, explore the CarFit program, an educational program created by the American Society on Aging and developed with the American Automobile Association, AARP and the American Occupational Therapy Association, available at www.car-fit.org. CarFit is designed to help older drivers find out how well their personal vehicles suit them and highlight actions they can take to improve. 2. Get the facts. Any decisions

A scratch on the bumper or avoiding activities that require leaving home may be the first warning signs that families should talk with aging parents about driving.

about driving cessation should be consider friends or family membased on data, and seniors deserve to have more than just opinions influencing whether or not they can continue to drive. Get the facts with evaluations from medical professionals, such as a physical or vision exam. Encourage your loved one to take a driving self-assessment.

3. Listen and communicate. Listen to your loved one's concerns to help understand and develop a plan with which he or she feels comfortable.

4. Create a plan with plenty of alternatives. When you get to the root of an aging adult's concerns, it's easier to create a plan that meets his or her needs. For example, if isolation is a concern, look into public transportation or bers who are willing to drive.

5. Explore new technologies. Assistive technologies, such as emergency response systems, smart headlights, and blind spot warning systems, keep older drivers safer on the road.

A new survey by Home Instead, Inc., franchisor of the Home Instead Senior Care network, found that 95 percent of surveyed seniors have not talked to their loved ones about driving. Selling Your Life Insurance Policy: Why And How

A growing number of American seniors are discovering the hidden value in an important asset—their life insurance poli-

Americans aged 65 or older leave more than $100 billion in benefits on the table each year by lapsing or surrendering these policies. One reason is that it can be a problem for many retirees to afford their life insurance premiums, either because of increased rates, decreased income or some personal issue.

One option to consider if you're ever faced with this dilemma is a life settlement: selling your policy to a third party for an amount greater than its cash surrender value though less than the death benefit. You get a cash payment. The buyer pays all future premiums and gets the death benefit when the time comes.

Before you sell your policy, however, you should talk with your trusted financial advisor or seek out a qualified professional who specializes in life settlement transactions. A good place to start is by contacting a member of the Life Insurance Settlement Association (www.lisa.org) who is either a life settlement broker or provider.

If you decide to proceed with exploring the sale of your life to interview a couple of LISA members by asking questions and who pays it? Will I know if such as:

1. How long has your firm been in the life settlement business, how many professionals does it employ and how many years of experience does its top management have in the busi-

2. Is your firm fully licensed in jurisdictions where it conducts business and has it ever been convicted of violating any life settlement regulations?

3. Has your firm ever been sanctioned by LISA for violations of its Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct?

4. While acting on my behalf, will you provide me with total disclosure of all information and interaction among providers with whom you are negotiating a sale price for my policy?

5. How is your compensation insurance policy, you may want determined, does it come out of the proceeds of selling my policy there are any other parties to be compensated for selling my policy and how much their compensation will be?

6. Will you keep me informed about the progress of the sales transaction at specific times?

Perhaps the most important consideration is feeling comfortable about doing business with a firm that you are confident is working in your best interest, possesses a high level of integrity and is one you would recommend to a friend.

Don't Let Low-Cost Parts Raise Your Risk And Reduce Your Vehicle's Value

According to the U.S. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), some 10 million vehicles are involved in accidents every year.

If yours is ever one of them and needs repairs, it's important to remember that to keep it on the road to safety and saving, you need to avoid counterfeit, aftermarket, salvaged and recycled auto parts.

The Problem

Some people think, or are told by their insurance company, that they can save money by visiting independent repair shops that are not recognized by the automakers for collision repairs. Unfortunately, these shops may offer copies of original parts or recycled components from other collisiondamaged vehicles. Often, these parts are unsafe for long-term use. Counterfeit and recycled crash parts also affect the vehicle's appearance and decrease its resale value. Car campaign, highlighting the differences between non-Hyundai and Hyundai Genuine Parts.

"Counterfeit parts have been a growing problem over the last 30 years," said Frank Ferrara, executive vice president, customer satisfaction, Hyundai Motor America. "Customers would see short-term savings after their vehicle was repaired, not even aware that non-Hyundai parts were used to bring these repair costs down. Short-term savings can have adverse long-term implications on the vehicle and passengers, which ultimately ends up costing more. Consumer awareness is essential to addressing this issue and Hyundai is willing to do its part. The more people understand the dangers behind using non-Hyundai components and see the benefits of purchasing original parts, the less likely they are to suffer severe consequences and lose value on their car."

After the repair, it's a good idea to take delivery of your vehicle during the day and inspect it in daylight. Look for consistent gaps between panels and make sure the doors, hood and trunk open properly.

What Else You Can Do

Even before you get your car repaired, remember to do six things immediately after any vehicle accident:

- 1. Check everyone for injuries; call an ambulance when
- 2. If you can, move all cars involved to a safe place out of
- 3. Turn on your hazard lights. 4. Inform the police even if
- the accident is minor. 5. Notify your insurance
- agent. 6. Take photos if you can and make notes, including specific damages to all vehicles involved, witness information and so on.

Ten Signs Your Cooling System Requires A Service Technician

Before you turn on your airconditioning system, you may need to perform a few simple maintenance tasks to ensure it runs efficiently—things such as changing filters, tightening loose screws and clearing away obstructions from vents. Systems that fail to turn on or present challenges beyond your expertise require the skills of a trained technician. This is especially true if your cooling system exhibits any of the following signs:

- 1. Takes a long time to turn on. A slow start could indicate low coolant levels or rusted pipes.
- 2. Blows warm air. Check that your thermostat is set to the cooling mode and be certain dirty filters are not blocking airflow. If warm air continues to blow, you may have a malfunctioning compressor.
- 3. Excessive cycling. A malfunctioning thermostat or a leak could cause your air-conditioning unit to cycle on and off more than it should, causing unnecessary wear on your unit.

- air conditioner should cycle on and off as temperatures inside your home increase and rise above your thermostat setting. If it doesn't, your system may need
- 5. Unusual sounds. Most home comfort systems today are quiet. Loud noises when the system cycles on and off or operation that gets louder and louder is not normal.
- 6. Unusual smells. Air-conditioning systems should not give off a burning smell or any other
- 7. Unexplained increase in billing. Call a service technician if your gas or electric bill is suddenly higher than past bills and you haven't made changes in your lifestyle that would explain the

4. Intermittent cycling. Your your filters are clean and there are no obstructions in the vents or outside unit.

10. Pools of water. A broken condenser pump can cause water to leak under your system's outdoor unit. The leak might also be the result of an improper instal-

To make the diagnostic process easier, there's a new touchscreen thermostat from the YORK brand of Johnson Controls that provides real-time notifications and alerts to you and to your heating and cooling service provider. Six Things That Raise Your Blood Pressure

Keeping blood pressure under control can mean adding things to your life, such as exercise, that help lower it. But you may not realize that it also means avoiding things that raise it.

If you or someone you care about is among the one in three U.S. adults—about 80 million people—with high blood pressure, you need to be aware of these six things that can raise blood pressure and thwart your efforts to keep it in a healthy range.

- 1. Salt. The American Heart Association (AHA) recommends people aim to eat no more than 1,500 mg of sodium per day. That level is associated with lower blood pressure, which reduces the risk of heart disease and stroke. Because the average American's sodium intake is so excessive, even cutting back to no more than 2,400 mg a day can improve blood pressure and heart health.
- 2. Decongestants. People with high blood pressure should be aware that the use of decongestants may raise blood pressure. Many over-the-counter (OTC) cold and flu preparations contain decongestants. Always read the labels on all OTC medications. Look for warnings to those with high blood pressure and to those who take blood pressure medica-

- 3. Alcohol. Drinking too much alcohol can raise your blood pressure. Your doctor may advise you to reduce the amount of alcohol you drink. If cutting back on alcohol is hard for you to do on your own, ask your health care provider about getting help. The AHA recommends that if you drink, limit it to no more than two drinks per day for men and no more than one drink per day for
- 4. Hot Tubs & Saunas. People with high blood pressure should not move back and forth between cold water and hot tubs or saunas. This could cause an increase in blood pressure.
 - 5. Weight Gain. Maintaining a healthy weight has many health benefits. People who are slowly gaining weight can either gradually increase the level of physical activity (toward the equivalent of 300 minutes a week of moderate-intensity aerobic activity) or reduce caloric intake, or both, until their weight is stable. If you are overweight, losing as little as five to 10 pounds may help lower your blood pressure.

6. Sitting. New research shows that just a few minutes of light activity for people who sit most of the day can lower blood pressure in those with type 2 diabetes. Taking three-minute walk breaks during an eight-hour day was linked to a 10-point drop in systolic blood pressure.

For more information about blood pressure management, visit the American Heart Association at www.heart.org/hbp. Bayer's Consumer Health Division, maker of Coricidin® HBP, is a sponsor of the American Heart Association's High Blood Pressure website. (NAPSI)

Dream Vacation Or Nightmare Road Trip?

Road trip car trouble can be a real nightmare but performing a pre-trip vehicle check can help you avoid a vacation breakdown

Before you hit the road, the Car Care Council recommends a vehicle check to help avoid the inconvenience, potential safety hazards and unplanned expense of breaking down miles away from home.

- Check the tires including tire pressure and tread. Underinflated tires reduce a vehicle's fuel economy and uneven wear indicates a need for wheel alignment. Tires should also be checked for bulges and bald spots.
- · Check the hoses and belts as they can become cracked, brittle, frayed, loose or show signs of excessive wear. These are critical to the proper functioning of the electrical system, air-condicooling system.
- · Check filters and fluids including engine oil, power steering and brake, and transmission, as well as windshield washer solvent and antifreeze/coolant.
- Check the wipers and lighting so that you can see and be seen. Check that all interior and exterior lighting is working properly and inspect and replace worn wiper blades so you can see clearly when driving during pre-and that the brakes are functioning properly.

"A pre-trip inspection gives motorists peace of mind by reducing the chance of unplanned, costly car trouble and providing an opportunity to have any repairs performed by a trusted technician before hitting the road," explained Rich White, executive director, Car Care Council.

The Car Care Council also recommends that motorists re-

Five Ways To Improve Your Next Road Trip

Before you answer the call of the open road, help ensure that your trip is hassle-free by preparing your vehicle so it's ready to log those long miles. Consider the following:

- Check vehicle fluid levels: Before starting any road trip, make sure your vehicle has the proper level of recommended fluids. For maximum efficiency, get an oil change and check for the correct amount of coolant, as well as power steering, brake and windshield wiper fluids. Make sure the tires are properly inflated for optimal gas mileage.
- Bring an updated map (a real one): While most smartphones have a GPS app, there may come a point on the trip when you're unable to get service. To avoid getting lost and wasting precious time, it's vital to have a physical map on hand. Plus, printed maps can help circumvent any detours caused by unexpected road construction or accidents.
- Pack accordingly: When traveling with family or friends, it's both smart and economical to pack a variety of food and beverages for a quick snack. You should also bring an emergency kit with a blanket, jumper cables, a flashlight and first aid items. Traveling with kids? Consider bringing a DVD player, handheld devices or games to avoid the dreaded "Are we there yet?" chorus.

- Check your brakes: The last thing anyone wants to hear in the middle of a road trip is the brakes squeaking. Have a professional examine your vehicle's brakes and brake pads
- Keep the sunshine outside: While nice weather guarantees scenic views, too much sunlight can cause unforeseen problems including glare, interior fading and UV exposure. One way you can protect your car and its passengers is by installing 3M Automotive Window Film, which can reject up to 97 percent of the sun's heat-producing infrared light. Most importantly, the product provides an SPF up to 1,000, making it one of the best sunblocks that doesn't come in a bottle. Don't Let The Wrong Battery Stall Your Outdoor Enjoyment

Since it's hard to enjoy the outdoors if you can't start your car, boat, motorcycle or all-terrain vehicle (ATV), choosing the right kind of battery designed for your vehicle make, model and usage habits is very important.

These tips can help.

Automotive batteries

It's important to understand the tests used to measure battery performance. The two most common are cold cranking amps (CCA) and reserve capacity

CCA measures the number of amps a battery can deliver for 30 seconds at 0° F. This is a useful comparison-shopping tool because it's performed the same way by every manufacturer.

RC measures the number of minutes a battery can withstand a continuous draw of 25 amps. Today's vehicles have more onboard and consumer-installed electronics than ever before, and many systems require constant power even when the engine isn't running.

Frequent, short trips also increase the need for additional reserve capacity because the battery may not have enough time to recharge between stops and

Results of both tests can be found on the battery or online. Check your owner's manual to find the right specifications for your vehicle.

Motorcycle and ATV batteries The most common powersport batteries are conventional leadacid batteries and absorbed glass mat (AGM) batteries, also called maintenance-free batteries.

While conventional lead-acid batteries are typically less expensive, they require more routine maintenance. Users must visually check the electrolyte level through the opaque white case of the battery. If the level is low, it must be refilled with distilled water to keep up performance and avoid an explosion.

AGM batteries are more expensive but need less maintenance and perform well in extreme climates.

Conventional and AGM powersport batteries come with acid bottles for filling the batteries. A motorcycle battery charger should be used to activate these batteries once filled.

Marine batteries

Marine batteries are different from car batteries. A marine battery needs to crank over an engine and supply the energy needed for continued accessory

For that, marine starting batteries—also known as cranking batteries—are a good fit.

If you need to power many electronic devices, such as trolling motors, GPS or fish finders, a deep cycle battery can be bet-

Private Security And Its Expanding Role In Law Enforcement

Having your identity stolen is an eye-opening experience. Even more eye-opening is the response you may get when calling police to report the crime. That's because it's become more common today to receive a follow-up visit at your home, not from that police agency, but from a representative of a private security firm specializing in identity theft.

It's a new landscape of blended roles, as law enforcement agencies increasingly team up with private security companies to form public-private partnerships to serve the public. These partnerships cover a range of specialties including cyber security, financial criminal investigation and private protection.

"Law enforcement and private security share a number of goals including crime prevention, the protection of people and property, and identification of criminals," said Robert Gonzalez, program dean for University of Phoenix College of Security and Criminal Justice. "To better achieve these goals, law enforcement and private security have been teaming up in public-private partnerships that cover everything from local to national security.'

The growing use of these partnerships reflects some recognized advantages. It often makes more sense for law enforcement to leverage the expertise and resources of a private security firm. Specialized security investigation sections can team with law enforcement to better investigate and prosecute complex cases. And private firms aren't restricted by a public budget and can invest in the latest technology. Additionally, law enforcement officers often moonlight with security companies, or transition into careers in private security, and have an understanding of the system and how they can work with law enforcement to better serve their community.

This leads to the greatest benefit of these growing partnerships: the expansion of a force focused on crime deterrence. Neighborhood associations and business groups are finding that cooperation between law enforcement and private security is leading to a higher degree of satisfaction in discouraging criminal activity. This allows law enforcement to expand initiatives like community-oriented policing. The winners are those who now live in safer neighborhoods.

"As public-private partnerships between law enforcement and private security continue to grow, it is important that both law officers and security professionals are receiving proper education to complement their training," said Gonzalez. "University of Phoenix offers associate and bachelor's degrees in security and criminal justice*, as well as professional development and certificate programs that can help public safety professionals enhance their careers."

University of PhoenixTM College of Security and Criminal Justice recognizes the benefits of partnerships between law enforcement and private security. The University offers curriculum for those looking to get into the industry as well as for industry professionals looking to enhance their careers. Students have the opportunity to learn directly from faculty members who have extensive experience in their respective fields. This includes a number of faculty members who are current or former chiefs of police, sheriffs, judges, wardens and security executives. For more information, visit www.phoenix.edu. (NAPSI)
