Duarte Unified Hosts Inaugural Chain Reaction Contraption Contest

DUARTE - The name alone speaks to the creativity and innovation involved: Duarte Unified School District's Inaugural Chain Reaction Contraption Contest.

If that hasn't tickled your interest just a little, consider that teams of students ranging from elementary through middle school, are designing a contraption - for want of a better word with the end result that it can make the most basic task seem convoluted: The end result is to Sharpen a Pencil.

If this sounds a little Rube Goldberg-ish for those of that era, well, it is. This is a Duarte USD version of the Rube Goldberg Challenge that has been popular over the years, without the national buy-in or cost.

"We've taken the idea that students can make a wild and crazy contraption to complete the most simple of tasks, sharpening a pencil," explained Dr. Michael Chavez, Director of Educational Services for Duarte USD.

Why make something simple so complex? Well, that's the nature of the challenge.

Teams of at least four students were tasked with designing something that fits in a 10 foot by 10 foot space, reaches no larger than 8 feet high, takes a minimum of 15 steps to complete the task, runs for at least two minutes and no more than 8 minutes, and is portable.

Use of everyday items and recyclables is encouraged and rewarded on the scoring rubric; and grades are also given on a

Laugh Barometer, Theme, Artistry and Construction, and for the Absurd Complexity of the Students are graded on their ability not only to construct the Contraption, but to work together (Team Chemistry), but also to follow the mathematic equations require to construct a machine within certain parameters.

Designed much like a science fair, the competitions are currently being judged on the school campuses. A total of four schools, including two to five teams per campus, entered the competition.

"This stemmed from an idea that came from our Committee for Innovation," explained Chavez. "This is a group of forward-looking teachers."

The devices, or Contraptions, involve concepts that include physics, motion and force, which are being discussed by the students. The competition exposes students to teamwork as well as the concepts of engineering a working device.

The benefits for those participating come on all levels, but mostly involve working together in a team atmosphere.

"We had a professor here from JPL and he talked about not just preparing student for college, but for playing well in the sandbox," continued Chavez. "This kind of out of the box thinking is what happens in everyday life. People on the job are asked to work together on teams to design something that works. We're giving them a chance to do that through this contest."

Results of the judging will be shared with the public and the Board of Education at a future meeting.

Event At The Rubel Castle Raised Funds For The Glendora Welfare Association

GLENDORA - The Rubel Castle was home to the 2nd annual fundraiser for the Glendora Welfare Association on May 7th. Attendees were served wonderful food from the Village Eatery; spirits donated from the Grocery Outlet in Azusa and had chances to win various donated prizes at the live and silent auctions. In the past, the Glendora Welfare Association received CDBG grant funding but now relies on donations from fundraisers like this one, as well as private donations.

It may come as a surprise to many folks in our community, but there are needy families and individuals who go without proper food, shelter and essential medical care daily due to a variety of factors, including low wages, job loss, injuries, illness, age, domestic violence or divorce. All of us are susceptible to hard times and can happen at any time. Single Mom's, children, disabled and elderly are at the most risk, and they make up the largest number of clients that the GWA serves. These services are for a one time emergency need for Glendora residents.

Bond Sale Saves Taxpayers $20.8 Million

BALDWIN PARK Baldwin Park Unified has refinanced $74.8 million in facility bonds, including $40.2 million in long-term debt, saving District property owners $20.8 million in repayment costs over the next 21 years. The refinancing takes advantage of lower interest rates for bond issues approved by voters for improving District facilities. The bonds will be repaid on their original maturity date, 2037. The move also refinanced facility bonds backed by Baldwin Park Unified's general fund, generating direct savings to the District.

"We are very pleased with the result of the bond sale," Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza said. "These actions reflect the District's dedication to provide the best stewardship of funds entrusted to us by the community for the benefit of our students. We are saving money for taxpayers and reducing the burden on our general fund."

The District's strong management, financial position and growing tax base are reflected in an upgrade of its credit rating by Standard and Poor's to an A+ from an A. The credit rating firm reviewed Baldwin Park Unified's credit prior to Baldwin Park community members have approved three school bond measures - $15 million in 1996, $46.6 million in 2002 and $75.5 million in 2006.

Assemblyman Gatto's Parking Bill of Rights Passes Senate Committee

SACRAMENTO – Assemblyman Mike Gatto's (D-Los Angeles) fight for a more fair and affordable parking policy for California motorists received the approval of the Senate Transportation and Housing Committee by a 7-1 vote. The California Parking Bill of Rights will substantially reform how cities and other local governments manage and enforce parking laws, providing common-sense reforms and relief from unjust citations. "When parking becomes a business for cities, the legislature must step in to protect drivers and their wallets," said Gatto. "Municipalities should be looking for ways to make parking easier for their community, not ways to profit off of them."

Judge Orders Hernandez to Stay Away from Councilwoman Rubio

WEST COVINA - State Assemblyman Roger Hernandez was ordered to stay away from Councilwoman Susan Rubio who is now his ex-wife. The judge on Friday, July 1, told Hernandez to stay 100 yards away from her for three years. This order is in place as part of a domestic violence restraining order issued against him by a Superior Court judge during the couple's divorce proceedings.

Judge Shelley Kaufman heard testimony from both sides and a number of witnesses.

The couple got married back in June 2013 and soon was plagued with issues including domestic violence. Rubio, obtained a temporary restraining order against Assemblyman

Assemblyman Roger Hernandez Hernandez in April after there was an incident outside the court-

Rubio described more than a dozen incidents of domestic violence in which Hernandez allegedly choked, punched and assaulted her during their marriage.

They filed for divorce in December 2014 and it was final on Friday, July 1.

However, as part of the restraining order, Hernandez will be permitted within 15 feet of Rubio at public events because of their political status. Because of the restraining order, Hernandez will be prohibited from owning, purchasing or possessing a firearm or ammunition.

The restraining order will last until July 1, 2019.

Hernandez stated that Rubio was to blame for his apparent loss in the primary election for the 32nd Congressional District. However, the latest count has Hernandez officially certified as a candidate for the general election. He will face U.S. Rep. Grace Napolitano, who is seeking her 10th term in Congress. Hernandez used to work for Napolitano.

The pilot program, which launch on July 1, will be for a period of six months. The program involves the mandatory removal of vehicles on both sides of the street on street sweeping days to facilitate unobstructed access to curb and gutter by the sweeper. Street sweeping will occur on the second and fourth Wednesdays of every month. The area involved in the pilot program is defined as Ouadrant No. 2 which will be divided into north and south sections. The northern section of the quadrant includes the Duarte Mesa, every street above Freeborn St. with the outer boundary of Woodbluff Ave. The southern section of the quadrant is defined as Freeborn Street and all streets south of it, with the west boundary at Mt. Olive, the south boundary at Central Ave. and the easterly boundary consisting of Las Lomas Rd. to Royal Oaks and Fernley Drives.

The northern portion of the Quadrant 2 will be swept during the period of 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and the southern portion will be swept from 7:00 am to 11:00 am. Street signs indicating parking restrictions with days and times will be posted in the pilot area during the month of June prior to the beginning of the pro-

The program also features a thirty-day grace period where written warning notices will be left on windshields in order to both educate and familiarize affected residents with the program. Actual parking enforcement will commence August 1st. Citations will cost approximately $45.00. Prior to the introduction of the program, staff will be involved in extensive public outreach. Staff will return to council in January of 2017 with pilot program findings.

West Covina Police Keeping Eyes on the Parks

By George Ogden

WEST COVINA - The West Covina Police have been keeping an eye on the various parks throughout the City of West Covina. They are doing extra patrol in response to concerns by the residents and the city.

Over the last few years there have been undesirables, transients and the homeless populating the various parks in the city. This isn't just a West Covina problem, but it is happening at all parks.

With these groups of people, they bring in drug use and sales, alcohol, and intimidate those that come to the park. Fights break out and shootings have occurred.

In most cases, these are people having hard times, but there is a large percent that are former convicts, parolees and those that have been committing crimes in the area. This includes burglaries, thefts from yards and stolen cars.

Police appreciate the communities help when it comes to keeping an eye on the neighborhood parks in their area. When people or residents see something wrong or something suspicious, police request that they call the police department so they can check it out. The police prefer that the citizens do not try and make contact with these people but to call police when there is a violation.

Safety in America: after Orlando

by Jane M. Orient, M.D.

Two facts about the Orlando massacre stand out: The killer (may his name be forgotten) was an "authorized" gun owner, and the shootings occurred in a "safe"

The gun-control lobby was ready with its well-rehearsed script, but this was no lone deranged individual who bought a gun clandestinely at a gun show. He had been vetted by authorities and was licensed as a private security officer. The gun controllers do not advocate disarming their own bodyguards—or the many thousands who are certified, hired, or deputized by government agencies.

Obama bewailed the fact that the killer had targeted a place where people came to find "solidarity and empowerment," "to speak [our] minds and advocate for [our] civil rights," and, more importantly, "to dance, sing, and live." The vision of a "gay bar" as a "safe space" was shattered.

"Safe spaces" are springing up across America, for example on college campuses, for groups who feel victimized—to protect them from "microaggressions," societal disapproval, or ideas that "trigger" discomfort. Perhaps Pulse was safe in that regard. And patrons were somewhat protected, by Florida law, from a gun carried by a drunken brawler. Places that serve alcohol are fake gun-free zones. Statistically, 30 people in the bar may have had a CCW permit—but all of them were defenseless, by law.

They were not safe from most threats. Not from infectious disease. A gay nightclub is a breeding ground for sexually transmitted disease. Not from fire. It was a crowded place with loud music, many inebriated people, and the main exit blocked. And not from something Orlando Mayor Buddy Dyer called "unimaginable."

The mayor doesn't have much imagination. Authorities who are supposed to protect us are in deep denial about the really big threats. Orlando was "horrific." we are repeatedly told. But there are far worse possibilities that have happened in the 20th century, are happening now in places like Syria, and are being planned by the sworn enemies of America, including the soulmates of the Orlando gunman.

And what are our rulers doing? They are trying to indoctrinate kindergartners with the idea that all (or almost all) manifestations of sexuality are equally fine. But as homosexuals have just learned, multiculturalism has priorities. The shooter's ideology came before gay lives: the radical ideology that not only teaches that gays should be executed, but that lone jihadis have the duty to act as judge, jury, and executioner.

Vigilant authorities subject toddlers to very intrusive screening before letting them board a flight for a family vacation in the Bahamas, if they happen to be on a special "selectee" list. But the Orlando shooter got a pass despite suspicious behavior. He made two trips to Saudi Arabia in recent years—perhaps, it is suggested, to learn how to turn an AR-15 into a fully automatic weapon. He transferred the deed to his house to his brother-in-law and sister for $10. Allegedly, the government willfully deleted or disregarded information that might have linked him to Islamic terror groups and the San Bernardino attack.

Will the authorities investigate and charge likely accomplices? What about officials who may be protecting terrorists, either deliberately or through politically correct policy? And will the federal government continue to import large numbers of migrants from countries that harbor both jihadists and deadly infectious diseases, and then rapidly disperse them to American cities? Is the Obama Administration

America for those who intend to harm our people?

Recognizing the threat, more Americans are taking steps to protect themselves. Homosexuals are buying guns, and membership in the Pink Pistols is soar-

And what are our supposed protectors doing? The American Medical Association and Democrat politicians are calling for federal research on "gun violence," blaming the NRA and Republicans for Orlando. Guns, not imported jihad or tuberculosis, are a "public health crisis."

More bleeding and broken Americans will be showing up in ERs. But HIPAA, ObamaCare, and now MACRA (the new Medicare "value payment" scheme) have doctors and hospitals mired in compliance, counting "disparities," and documenting "bullet points" to collect payments. We have more burned-out doctors and shuttered hospitals.

We wouldn't need them—if the idea of sacrificing American liberty (except for the freedom to promote jihad) kept us safe.

Jane M. Orient, M.D. obtained her undergraduate degrees in chemistry and mathematics from the University of Arizona in Tucson, and her M.D. from Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1974. She completed an internal medicine residency at Parkland Memorial Hospital and University of Arizona Affiliated Hospitals and then became an Instructor at the Uni-creating "safe space" throughout versity of Arizona College of Medicine and a staff physician at the Tucson Veterans Administration Hospital. Fireworks Can Be Fun, When in the Hands of the Right People.

By George Ogden

Hope everybody got through the 4th of July weekend okay.

As usual, the celebratory fireworks going off all over the place. Sadly, we have those that think it is okay to fire off guns and illegal fireworks. This can cause injuries and fires. As of this date, the numbers are not in on injuries and fires. Other numbers for citations and/or arrests for these offenses are not available yet as well.

Hopefully, many of you had the opportunity to attend a city or county fireworks celebration. The City of West Covina had a large improvement with their show over last year. Last year was a disaster when the fireworks crew ended up with a domestic dispute within their circle where a soda was thrown at the ignition operator and his computer, shorting out the igniter devices and disabling his computer. The whole fireworks program was a huge "dud"... council members

George Ogden That's just the way it is! even joked at the council meeting that they had a better show with the illegal fireworks going off in the streets throughout the neighborhood.

No fireworks were allowed in West Covina and there are a number of other cities that also prohibit fireworks in their cities. West Covina has on the books a $1,500.00 fine for those that are caught breaking the law.

There was one, pre 4th of July, injury that was reported and a video posted on social media of a male individual with his friends who decided that it would be cool to fire off a skyrocket out of his bottom end. From the video, it looked like early college guys getting together at a backyard party with beer and fireworks. All I know from here, he was hospitalize and suffered serious burns in that area. I think it will be a long time before he can break wind and he well have horrible "flashbacks" when he see a package of "roasted nuts" on a store shelf.

This whole thing was about as stupid as one could get for many reasons. First, the idea alone. What was he thinking? Next, making a video of this insane act of stupidity. Does he have any idea who is going to see this? Family, friends and those who may be the one that will interview him for a job. The only company that may considering hiring this jerk might be NASA.

Think before you do something stupid like this, it can come back to haunt you.

"That's just the way it is!"

Assemblyman to Name Stretch of I-210 After Dodgers Legend Jackie Robinson

SACRAMENTO-Assemblyman Mike Gatto (D-Los Angeles) introduced ACR 197 to name a stretch of Interstate 210 after Brooklyn Dodgers Hall of Famer second baseman Jackie Robinson, who was raised in the City of Pasadena. The measure, joint authored by Assemblyman Chris Holden (D-Pasadena), would create the "Jackie Robinson Memorial Highway," on Interstate 210 between State Route 2 and Orange Grove Blvd, a commonly used route to Dodger Stadium for fans coming from the Eastern Los Angeles County.

"Jackie Robinson is not only an inspiring figure to us for his accomplishments in athletics, but also as a civil-rights-era trailblazer who advocated for social change," said Assemblyman Gatto. "His contributions to baseball and society have made an everlasting impression on our nation."

Jackie Robinson is best known for breaking the color barrier in baseball when he debuted with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947 and for having his number, "42" retired by all of Major League baseball. But before becoming a bigleaguer, Robinson excelled in basketball, football, baseball, and track at John Muir (Pasadena) High School and Pasadena City College. He then transferred to the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) in 1939, where he became the first Bruin to letter in four sports: baseball, basketball, football, and track.

"It's only fitting to honor Jackie Robinson by naming this stretch of highway near the home he grew up and lived in," said Gatto, whose father and uncles were present at Dodger Stadium in 1972 when Robinson had his number retired. "The sacrifices and differences he made will always be remembered."

As The Dust Settle's

Last week, the British voted to leave the European Union in Thursday's referendum, a surprising result to a lengthy campaign. Stocks plummeted, the pound plunged, and yields dropped as reverberations rippled through global markets. Investors are just starting to learn the intricacies of EU governing principles on dissolution and new trade agreements and the world's capital markets have almost inexplicably all but recovered. With this latest likely change in the European Union's profile, what are the changes analysts are incorporating into their future thinking when it comes to economic fore-

The economy is in a holding pattern. After almost seven years of expansion, there is less volatility in growth and what volatility there is seems to be following a predictable seasonal pattern. Over the next couple of years, expect economic growth to continue to slow modestly, the governments preferred unemployment rate to stabilize near 5%, inflation to make a run toward 2%, but fall back after a couple of quarters, and interest rates to remain low. Several indicators are flashing recession warnings, but none are definitive. The odds of an official recession are about 50% over the next two years. The economy is not behaving the way it has in the past. Relationships between growth, inflation, unemployment and interest rates are different than in prior cycles. Eight and a half years after the 2001-07 business cycle ended, a new economic regime is painfully obvious. Standard econometric models make predictions based on the way the economy behaved in prior business cycles. Worldwide change after the Great Recession renders these models useless. The FOMC's insistence on using old models despite their consistent failure is destroying the Fed's credibility.

A critical element in orthodox Fed methodology is the long-run natural rate of interest. The natural rate-also confusingly known as the neutral rate-is the starting point for any interest rate decision, the rate of interest consistent with trend growth at full employment. In other words, it is the interest rate that should prevail to keep inflation at 2% when labor force slack is fully removed from the economy.

We know the natural rate is currently low because interest rates are very low and credit is barely growing. Wall Street argues the natural rate could stay low for a long time. As Yellen noted, the FOMC's neutral rate forecast, including the longer-run forecast, has been falling for some time. Britain probably leaving the EU enforces this theory even greater than before. After years of error, the Fed is beginning to think reality might be right and the model might be

For years, Yellen has maintained that the natural rate is low due to temporary headwinds including economic uncertainty, a strong dollar, slow productivity growth and low labor force par-

Recently, she has acknowledged the possibility of structural impediments caused by demographics, increased reliance on the US as an investor safe haven and other factors that could keep productivity growth and the natural interest rate low for

But the most likely candidate for the downward acceleration in the natural rate since 2009, not just in the US but around the world, is the significant tightening of financial regulation. After all, when both lending and borrowing criteria are dramatically tightened, how could the relationship between interest rates and economic growth not change? Yet, while Yellen has been pressed to admit a connection between regulation and the economy, she is resistant, probably because she believes regulatory changes since 2009 are beneficial and she does not want to see them rolled back.

Since last week's vote for Britain to leave the EU, Wall Street feels that what we have experienced in weaker growth will continue for a longer period of time. Wall Street's inflation forecast is higher, but not materially so. Oil's rise from $25 to $50 will boost headline inflation until the second quarter of 2017 even if it rises no further. Some of that will flow through to the core, too, just as some of the drop in oil did. Headline and core inflation are likely to approach 2% before dropping back toward 1.5% in ensuing quarters.

Rents are critical to the Personal Consumption Expenditure Index and even more so to the CPI. Relief is coming, but it could be months before it shows up in the indices. Without question, rents are the biggest inflation wildcard. With rents in the biggest cities already rising more slowly than last year, this trend should soon slow.

The risk of recession has abated a bit since the first quarter, but is still considerable. Several generally reliable indicators including corporate profits, temporary hiring, business investment, industrial production and business sales are flashing warn-

Britain leaving the EU (assuming it occurs) is just the latest in a series of international upheavals. There will be more to come. The common denominator is inadequate growth. A rising tide lifts all boats, but the tide just isn't rising fast enough to keep everyone happy anymore.

While there is uncertainty at any given Fed meeting, an investor with a horizon spanning several meetings can rest assured that something will keep the Fed at bay at most of them. The list of acceptable reasons to leave rates unchanged seems to be

Financial - Ask Julia

Comment about the Stock Market and your money:

As you all saw, the Stock Market plummeted with the news of Brexit. That was followed by the highest one-week gain seen all year, partially due to the focus changing toward global banking. Last week and weekend, there were several terrorist attacks. If you and your investments cannot tolerate the roller-coaster, or even another 'recession,' you should review your financial plan. Consider diversifying the types of products your money is held stocks, bonds, insurance, annuities, and/or certificates of deposit.

With my Stocks and Bonds, I'd like more safety. With my CDs, I like the safety, but I'd like a higher return. I'd also like a guaranteed income when I retire. My peers give me a big chuckle and look at me like I'm crazy. Can I have what I want?

Others might tell you, "You're dreaming! Face reality! Can't happen!" I'm here to tell you, they are wrong. You can have better returns than you're getting with your CDs and still have the safety you enjoy. You can have indexlike returns without the worry about losses. And, you can have a guaranteed, lifetime income when you retire.

Why do you recommend annuities?

The SEC warns people about the dangers of Variable annuities due to their costs, expenses, and risk to principal. I recommend Fixed and Fixed-Index annuities, with very little or no cost nor expense, 100-percent participation (all of your money has potential growth, not just a percentage of it), and guarantees that you cannot lose your principal, locking in any growth each contract anniversary. (Some 'Riders,' added for additional benefits, can have an annual fee, but this is clearly disclosed to you before you invest; it's something you decide to include or not.)

My financial advisor told me I should buy an annuity from him because the insurance companies he represents are members of some California guarantee company that would assure my protection if the company went bankrupt. Is this true?

Your financial advisor has crossed a legal line. Here's a quote from the California Life and Health Insurance Guarantee Association Act Summary Document and Disclaimer, "Insurance companies and their agents are prohibited by law from using the existence of the California Life and Health Insurance Guarantee Association (CLHIGA) to induce you to purchase any kind of insurance policy." The existence of this Association cannot be used by an agent or advisor to induce you to buy. Annuities are policies issued by insurance companies.

Will my heirs have access to the money in my CDs when I die, or does this money have to go through probate?

Proceeds from a non-IRA bank CD go through probate and may be subject to expenses, delays, and lack of privacy. You have choices. The right life insurance policy, and/or the right annuity, with properly designated beneficiaries (not an estate or trust) can be passed on to heirs without the expense and delay of pro-

Accident scene where firemen paramedics check on the drivers.

By George Ogden northbound in the number 2 lane

COVINA - County
Firefighters along with law enforcement responded to an injury collision in the County area of Covina at the intersection of Cypress and Vincent Avenues. The collision occurred on Wednesday, June 29 around 11:00 a.m. A full sized Nissan sedan was northbound in the number 2 lane approaching the intersection. A light colored midsized sedan made a left turn from the southbound lanes to go east on Cypress. The southbound midsized sedan had its vision obscured by a vehicle in the number 1 northbound lane which was making a left turn to go west on Cypress.

As the midsize sedan made the left turn, it struck the full-sized sedan. This resulted in every airbag in the Nissan to deploy, including all side window airbags.

The extent of the injuries to the drivers was not reported, and the accident is still under investigation.

BALDWIN PARK - As the weather warms up in the coming weeks, city officials are inviting residents to join in some free events that may help them cool down and unwind this summer.

The Department of Recreation and Community Services will launch its annual summer specialties, including Concerts at the Park and Movies on the Green. Community members are welcome to bring their families and friends to the events, both of which are free and open to the public.

Concerts at the Park will be featured every Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Morgan Park, 4100 Baldwin Park Blvd. Movies on the Green will be held Fridays beginning at 8 p.m. at Barnes Park, 3251 Patritti Ave.

Subsequent concerts include the salsa/cumbias sounds of Yari More Latin Band on July 7; The Como La Flor Band, a Selena tribute band, on July 14; King James Brown tribute band on July 21; soul/Latin band Ray Carrion and Thee Latin Stars on July 28; and soul/R&B sounds of Brenton Wood on August 4.

To alleviate parking and traffic congestion, a free shuttle will be available to guests every 10 minutes, starting at 6 p.m., from City Hall to Morgan Park on Thursdays. Visitors are asked to park their vehicles - at no cost in the City Hall parking structure, 14403 Pacific Ave., and board the shuttle from there.

Officials noted that Baldwin Park's Certified Farmers Market, held Thursdays from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., will continue at Morgan Park to complement the concerts.

The Movies on the Green film series kicks off July 8 with the movie "Hotel Transylvania 2" and continues every Friday thereafter. "Inside Out" will be show-cased July 15; "Jurassic World" on July 22; "The Good Dinosaur" is slated for July 29; and "Minions" will be shown on August 5.

Visitors are encouraged to bring a blanket or lawn chair for their enjoyment.
