West Covina City Fire Fighters, Local 3226 and MDA Kick Off Annual Fill the Boot Campaign

WEST COVINA — Members of the West Covina Professional Fire Fighters Association Local 3226, along with the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA), hosted a special event to kick off the fire fighters' annual Fill the Boot fundraising campaign to help kids and adults with muscular dystrophy, ALS and related muscle-debilitating diseases live longer and grow stronger.

The kick-off event held on Thursday, February 25th at West Covina Fire Station 2 continues more than 60 years of IAFF tradition, providing steadfast drive and uncommon care to help free individuals from the harm of muscle diseases that take away everyday freedoms like walking, hugging, playing and even breathing.

The mayor of West Covina, James Toma, City Manager, Chris Freeland and Fire Chief, Larry Whithorn were all present at the event to show their support of the Muscular Dystrophy Association and the annual West Covina Fire Fill-The-Boot campaign. There were over 30 firefighters present at the event along with an MDA family, whose son went to MDA Summer Camp last year and who Funds raised through the 2016 West Covina Fill the Boot event helps MDA's efforts to fund groundbreaking research and life-enhancing programs, such as state-of-the-art support groups and Care Centers, including the MDA Care Center at the Rancho Los Amigos Medical Center in Downey and the Loma Linda University Medical Center in San Bernardino. They also help send more than 120 local kids to "the best week of the year" at MDA summer camp at no cost to their families at the Irvine Ranch Outdoor Education Center in Orange, CA.

MDA and IAFF Partnership

As MDA's largest national partner, the IAFF fuels MDA's mission to find research breakthroughs across diseases; care for kids and adults from day one; and provide families with services and support.

IAFF support for MDA began in 1954 when the organization committed by proclamation to support MDA until a cure is found, and the organization's unwavering commitment to MDA has remained strong to this day. The IAFF raised $100,000 for MDA in 1955, and $1 million in 1970, and fire fighters continue to raise the bar in their fundraising efforts. In 2015, more than 100,000 fire fighters participated in Fill the Boot events across the country and raised $25.5 million. To date the IAFF has raised $583 million for MDA.

Former Chief of LASD Reserves and Senate Candidate Shot at on Freeway

By George Ogden

PASADENA/SGV - It has been reported that the former chief of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Reserves Deputies, Gary Nalbandian, along with Senate candidate Chris Chahinian, were shot at while exiting the 210 freeway on Monday February 8.

According to reports, the two men were traveling on the 210 freeway at approximately 7 PM on that Monday, when two shots rang out as they exited Pennsylvania Avenue in the Montrose area. One bullet struck the driver side rear passenger door window, shattering the glass and leaving a bullet hole in the window. Nalbandian who was driving continued off the freeway where they spotted two California Highway Patrol officers in separate vehicles. They stopped both officers and reported what had happened. The officers interviewed both men and observed the damaged window from the possible shooting. Neither man was injured in the shooting.

Nalbandian has concerns that this was possibly more than just some type of road rage incident or random shooting. He feels that it is possible there is some retaliation because of political affiliations and his connections with former Sheriff Lee Baca.

When Sheriff Lee Baca resigned from his department back in January 3, 2014, then Orange County Undersheriff John Scott became Interim Sheriff for Los Angeles County. In March of the same year Nalbandian said he asked Scott why he was removed from his position of Chief of LASD Reserves. His answer was, because of your connection to former Sheriff Baca, we want to remove the politics out of the department. Nalbandian sent a letter to the media stating that he felt that because he did not support certain candidates to become sheriff he was then politically targeted.

Back in 2004, Nalbandian was in charge of Baca's Homeland Security Support Advisory Board. On November 12, 2011, Nalbandian was appointed to the position of chief of the Sheriff's

Creating Customer Empathy

If you own, run or work for any of the approximately 23 million small- to mid-sized businesses in America, chances are, you want more sales. So, how do you make it happen? By showing customers you care. In this world of impersonal interactions and instant communication, there's enormous value and differentiation in creating empathy for the customer's situation.

Sales training often piles on facts, figures and details that can turn a salesperson's brain into a mish-mash of disconnected information with no context. So, keep it simple. Train salespeople to be empathetic, consultative professionals by building on the things they already know. They know how they expect to be treated as customers—because we are all customers, right? They know how they feel when people treat them unfairly or push them into a decision. They know when someone is really listening to them, not pretending. So, start with a customer context as a way to build your story.

Here is a three-step path toward building customer empathy in your sales teams.

1. Listen for emotion to find customer pain points: An interesting thing happens when salespeople ask questions: customers talk. What's going on here? How long has that been going on? What have you tried so far to fix it? Here's the secret: listen for emotion in their words—disappointed, frustrated, angry, tried repeatedly, no response. Then, repeat the customer's exact words to confirm their pain point. "It sounds like you're pretty frustrated..." Pain points are the issues or problems that are significant enough for the customer to make a change—and buy from you instead.

ing model for value-based conversations focused on the customer's pain points. I write 3 columns on the whiteboard labeled "What I heard (pain point)," "What we will do (solution)," and "That will help you (value)." Then, I ask the rep to give me one of her customer's pain points. For example, "What I heard is that the odor in your restroom continues to be a problem, even though you've asked your service to fix it. What we will do is use a disinfectant that kills the germs causing the odor. That will help you have a restroom that consistently smells good for your customers and employees."

• Feel. Say something like,

2. Teach a simple consult-

3. Feel, felt, found is still a good formula for moving people from objections to closed deals. When a customer states an objection, try this:

"I understand how you feel." This lets customers know you heard them express their feelings, can relate, and understand why they feel the way they do. The customer feels validated instead of ignored.

• Felt. With a response such as, "Other people I've talked to have felt the same way," you tell the customer the issue is not uncommon. He or she is not alone. It can be resolved. This also sets the rep up to position a way to positively address the issue and move on.

• Found. "They found the situation improved right away after making the decision to _." Convey the idea that people get positive results and improvement after choosing your product or service.

The last step is to ask for the deal! Help your reps find a simple closing statement that works for them. My favorite: "OK, let's get the paperwork signed so we can get started right away."

If your sales team keeps these tips in mind and your customers in their hearts, then you may find more sales on your books. (NAPSI)

SAN GABRIEL – The City of San Gabriel will host an "Ask Me Anything" Twitter chat on Tuesday, March 8 to give residents an opportunity to ask questions about the 2016-2017 Budget & Capital Improvement Program.

The Twitter chat will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on March 8 and residents can submit questions on the social media site at any time during the day using the hashtag #SanGabrielBudget. Once the question has been posted, city staff members will respond promptly with an answer. The city will also host this chat on its Weibo page so Chinesespeaking residents can have an opportunity to ask questions as

Two years ago, the city revamped its budget planning process to make it more transparent and accessible to San Gabriel residents. This new process included elements such as launching the "Budget Central" page on the city website, printing a helpful "Budget in Brief" brochure and creating an online resident survey. This year, the city has added the Twitter chat and several other new components to further involve residents in the process. The goal of this new Twitter chat is to allow residents who may not be able to attend a meeting in person to get their questions answered and have their voices heard in the budget process, which involves some of the most important decisions city staff members and the City Council make each year.

Judge Agrees To 30 Day Extension Of Relocation Costs For Porter Ranch Victims

LOS ANGELES COUNTY

- Hailing today's ruling as a victory for the victims of Porter Ranch who have been displaced by the Aliso Canyon gas leak, Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich announced that Superior Court Judge Elihu Berle has granted a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) to require the Gas Company to extend the period it will pay for relocation expenses to March 18 -- at which point all parties are ordered to appear back in court for a status review and resolution of the matter. The Gas Company and the City of Los Angeles had reached an agreement allowing only eight days; ignoring input from LA County and the Department of Public Health, which sought 30 days to conduct proper testing.

"This is the first time that justice has been rendered in helping these victims," said Supervisor Antonovich. "The Gas Company created this crisis after years of poor oversight by state regulatory agencies, the Governor, and the Gas Company."

Based on an agreement reached between the Gas Company and the City Attorney's Office earlier this month, today was the last day Porter Ranch residents displaced in hotels could be reimbursed, forcing them to return to their homes before all appropriate testing had been completed by the Department of Public Health and the Air Quality Management District. The initial agreement reached between the Gas Company and the City of Los Angeles only provided residents with 48 hours to return to their homes once the well was capped.

"Judge Berle's ruling now extends the reimbursement period to March 18 which allows residents with the opportunity to reestablish their lives and have the peace of mind that the proper testing has been com-

Community Meeting On Historic Preservation

SAN GABRIEL – On an extremely important part of Tuesday, March 8, the City of San Gabriel will host its first community meeting to get resident input on the update of the city's Historic Preservation Ordinance.

The process to update the 50-year-old ordinance began late last year. This public meeting will be an important chance for members of the community to voice their opinions on what the revised ordinance should include. Public participation is the process, so city officials encourage residents to attend. There will be a second community meeting held later this year.

The city's Historic Preservation Ordinance was originally approved in 1965. It was minimally updated in 1999, however, this year's overhaul of the ordinance will be more complete. The goal of the new ordinance is to put in place more protections for historic structures and lay out a better process reviewing new projects. The final ordinance will go before the City Council for approval this fall.

The meeting will take place at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 8 in the Council Chambers at City Hall, 425 S Mission Drive. For questions, residents should contact Senior Planner Larissa De La Cruz at 626.308.2800, ext. 4625.

Service-related injuries have an effect that is felt by the entire family. Here's a look at one couple and how they coped.

One Family's Story

When Melissa Johnson and her husband, Sean, got married in 1995, Sean had already served in Operation Desert Storm and had been trained as a paramedic. He first enlisted in the U.S. Army at 17 and later would go on to do two more tours of duty.

It was during his third tour, Operation Iraqi Freedom, when he was hit by mortar fire. It left him with a traumatic brain injury (TBI), post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and depression.

"The combination of everchanging symptoms really made Sean's situation difficult," Melissa said. "We weren't getting answers from the doctors. Army medics weren't looking for the signs of traumatic brain injury back president has designated March as Red Cross Month to recognize how the Red Cross helps people down the street, across the country and around the world.

During Red Cross Month in March, the American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to join in its lifesaving mission by giving blood. Since 1943, every U.S.

Red Cross Month is a celebration of the everyday heroes, like Karla Essmiller, who are the face of the Red Cross in their communities. Essmiller began donating blood and even coordinated a few blood drives when she was in college. "Donating blood is a simple gift that I can make that may help up to three people live another day," she said. "That makes me feel like a hero!"

The Red Cross depends on blood donor heroes across the nation to collect enough blood to meet the needs of patients at approximately 2,600 hospitals nationwide. Donors of all blood types are needed to help accident and burn victims, patients undergoing organ transplants, those receiving cancer treatments and others who rely on blood products.

Make an appointment to become a hero to patients in need by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting redcrossblood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1800-733-2767).

How to donate blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental consent in some states), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood donors can now save time at their next donation by using RapidPass to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, prior to arriving at the blood drive. To get started and more, redcrossblood.org/RapidPass and follow the instructions on the site.

How Dare The Pope!

Having danced around the issue last week, the time has come for me to say clearly what I feel about the role of religion in the current political campaign. My fundamental orientation is as a Christian pastor and teacher. My political understanding, which is detailed in many of these weekly columns, is an effort to talk about the ethic which flows from what I hold to be Christian substance. I attempt in these columns to describe my religious convictions in a language I call "secularese," a translation addressed to those for whom my "religionese" may be problem-walls instead of bridges is not a Christian, it comes off as doctrine being recited by the head of the world's largest Christian community. Yet he may only be applying the Christian ethic to the secular world. In doing so he is just being honest about how he sees society, through the eyes of his religion.

He understands that to build walls, not bridges, is the oppo- continue to lust after so-called site of an authentic understanding of what Jesus believed and taught. The same holds for those who would solve the most difficult human problems by war, killing, carpet-bombing, torture, capital punishment, the raping of the natural world, bigotry and economic inequity.

Perhaps it is stepping over the line to call anyone committed to those positions as not a Christian. However, to say that certain political positions are not Christian is entirely appro-

So let me be clear. Much of what we have heard from Trump, Cruz and Rubio I believe is contrary to the Christian ethic. Both they, and those who support them, need to stop pretending that they are the only ones who are righteous.

But this is not a new political tactic. One of Trump's first major speeches was given at Liberty University where he was praised by its President, Jerry Falwell, Jr. Other Christian fundamentalists including James Dobson and Tony Perkins have been lavish in their support of Cruz. Rubio has tried, but has a harder time wooing the evangelical elite.

How is it that evangelicals swarm in support of these candidates? Does what they really stand for make any difference, even if their announced poli-

Much of the Christian institution has been hijacked by evangelicals who have substituted a right-wing political agenda for what Jesus had to say and how he called his followers to live. In turn these evangelicals have been hijacked by politicians whose policies may be the very opposite of what Jesus held to be

Congresswoman Napolitano Suffers Stroke; Opponent Heightens Campaign Efforts

By Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

As all of you are probably aware at this point, Congresswoman Grace Napolitano has suffered a stroke. Tess Seger from her office said the stroke was very minor. The response to her situation was immediate and the emergency treatment she received has ensured no permanent damage and she is resting and recuperating. As representative in the 32nd Congressional District she serves the communities of Azusa, Baldwin Park, Covina Duarte, El Monte, Charter Oak area of Glendora, Industry, Irwindale La Puente, La Verne, Monrovia, San Dimas, West Covina, and county areas of Avocado Heights, Bassett, and Valinda.

I talked with her staff in El Monte and they assured me Grace is still running to retain her congressional seat. Her committee assignments are Natural Resources, Transportation & Infrastructure, subcommittees on Water Resources & Environment, Highways & Transit, Railroads, Pipelines, & Hazardous Materials, and Chairs the Congressional Hispanic Caucus along with a long list of others. Seger said her focus is rebuilding the infrastructure, the water issue in California and mental health to name a few.

As Napolitano works to recuperate, her opponent in the upcoming election, not a Republican, but Democrat Assemblyman Roger Hernandez who is termed out this year, is working furiously to gain support to take over the 32nd CD seat. As of this date, no Republican has signed up to run so it will probably be two Democrats fighting it out for this seat. The Hispanic women in this county have been strongly united in supporting each other for elective offices for the last 25 years so it will be interesting to see which way these power brokers roll on this election.

Lately, Hernandez has been focusing on the California trauma care system and in Los Angeles County more oversight over Measure B passed by the lishment of the Measure B voters in 2002. AB 430, authored by Hernandez, creates a new state standard for the California Emergency Medical Services Authority (EMSA) requiring Local Emergency Medical Service Agencies (LEMSA) to provide a comprehensive assessment of their regional trauma system at least once every five years. There is no estimated cost attached to this proposal.

Additionally, after Hernandez requested a State Auditor report, the report recommended Los Angeles County undertake a comprehensive study of the trauma care network, their response to countywide needs and re-estabOversight Committee.

Measure B, approved by 73% of the voters on November 5, 2002, provides funding for the Countywide System of Trauma Centers, Emergency Medical Services and Bioterrorism Response. The argument in support of the measure pointed out almost a 50% decrease in the number of trauma centers at that time and reduced ability to serve those who needed critical specialized care within 30 minutes or less.

The opposition to Measure B argued it was the state's responsibility to fund the County Trauma Care System and 88% of our tax dollars for health care and trauma centers was misused by the state. Property is assessed at 3 cents per square foot of structural improvements and remains static unless changed by the Board of Supervisors.

On June 7 and 8, 2016, California Emergency Medical Services Authority, Trauma System Team, will be holding a Trauma Summit in San Francisco. The California Health and Human Services Agency oversees departments, boards, and offices that provide a wide range of health care services, social services, mental health services, alcohol and drug treatment services, and oversight of the trauma care sys-

The Republican Debate, Hilarious!

Not too sure how many of you watched that last debate with Trump and the rest of his comedy crew. I have to say, in my opinion; this is one of the best comedy shows around. I don't usually watch these debates; however, I was the bartender for the VFW that night. So we turned it on and watched it and those that were there had some great laughs at what was being said. In fact, this caused many of these people to stick around longer and the VFW made more money at the bar.

I would have to say, this comedy debate program would have given Saturday Night Live a good run for their money.

I will admit that Trump actually scares the hell out of me. Now, I look at it this way, if he

George Ogden

He and his candidate buddies put on a pretty good show the other night. I'm going to miss this when it's all over. I think it would be fun however, even if Trump does get elected to the White House that he continues with having debates instead of the State of the Union speeches. But we know that's not going to happen.

I can just imagine Trump as our president going to some Middle Eastern country where they expect him to kiss their ring or their hand and him popping off, "yeah, I'll do that only after you kiss my butt first." This would end up being a hilarious media day. I can see the headlines now, "Olive Branch Burns as US President Offers Exchange of Kisses."

Christian Bishop Calling Blacks To Come Out of "Anti-Christian" Democrat Party

remain in a Democrat Party that is increasingly hostile to Christianity. He has produced a new video which urges black voters to abandon the Democrat Party.

Part of what he says is, "Four years ago I released a video called EXODUS NOW, calling black Christians to come out of the Democrat Party. When I did that video there was no gav marriage. Now we have it, and the Democrat Party is mainly responsible. I am back to say once again, come out!"

In the video, Jackson urges black voters to oppose Democrats on marriage and abortion. "Why has the Democrat Party embraced gay marriage when black voters believe in the biblical definition of marriage? Why does the Democrat Party avidly support Planned Parenthood when they know it's founder, Margaret Sanger, was a racist eugenicist who wanted to stop the growth of the black population?"

But the Bishop also dismisses purported claims that Democrats have helped minorities and the poor. "If the Democrat Party has done so much for the black community, why is poverty increasing? Why are there no jobs? Why is the unemployment rate among black citizens twice the national average? Why is there a 50% unemployment rate among black youth?"

He answers, "They don't care about black people. They care about those who will bow to them." Jackson says that Democrats have offered racial demagoguery, and nothing else. He says they manipulate black voters with fear of what they

> Says Mr. Jackson, "The two parent black family has been all but destroyed. Too many young black people are on drugs, in gangs, prison or the morgue. In fact, government programs supported by the Democrat Party always make poverty worse."

> The video ends with an admonition about Election Day. "When you get to the polls this year, they will hand you a ballot expecting you to vote a straight Democrat ticket. It's time to say, 'No thank you.' It is time to stop blindly following the Democrat Party and start faithfully following God."

> E.W. Jackson was born in Chester, PA, near Philadelphia. After graduating from high school, he joined the Maine Corps, and was honorably discharged after three years of service. He went on to graduate Summa Cum Laude with a B.A. from the University of Massachusetts

Yellen Wants To Have Cake And Eat It Too

In her testimony to Congress recently, Chair Yellen suggested the Fed might take a break from tightening if market volatility causes enough stress in international economies to reduce demand for US made goods or otherwise damage the US economy.

>On the first day of testimony, the takeaway was the Fed is aware of market turmoil and might pause if things get really bad. Stocks and commodities rallied, while Treasury yields gave back a little of the safety premium which has built for weeks.

>On day two, the takeaway was: Wait, did she say "if?" At which point cries of "sell, Mortimer, sell" rang across trading floors and it was back to full on freak-out.

Despite calm and a stock and commodities rally Friday, selling dominated the week. And we've seen these Friday rebounds before. Ten-year Treasury yields of 1.75% remain in downright edgy

What Yellen should have done, indeed what the FOMC should have done at the January meeting, is take the tightening off the table in March so that traders can stop and breathe, financial markets can recover and the Fed can potentially resume tightening in June. By leaving the option of a March hike on the table, Yellen implied the only way to stop a hike in March is to keep the market rout going. Traders got the nudge and obliged.

The Fed's Real Motive

Meanwhile, political leaders showed their lack of understanding by spending little time discussing monetary policy and instead scoring cheap political points against the Fed and Big Banks. The most-asked question by Republicans and Democrats on the first day was: Why are you paying too-big-to-fail banks billions of dollars not to lend to the public? It was a rare display of bipartisan unity.

House Banking Chairman Jeb Hensarling started this line of inquiry by asking if IOER (Interest on Excess Reserves) payments are a subsidy to the big Yellen explained most central banks use the IOER and it has become a key policy tool since the financial crisis. Removing it would do real damage to the economy as short-term interest rates would fall. Besides, she said the Fed has remitted over $600bn to the Treasury, so the real subsidy is going to taxpay-

Economy? the .⊑ What'

& Former Glendora Mayor

Ranking Democrat Maxine Waters was not satisfied. "While the Fed paid close to $7 billion on reserves in 2015, as the economy strengthens and rates are further increased, the amounts paid could increase dramatically into the tens of billions of dollars. Can you expand on why you believe that paying interest on excess reserves is particularly important for raising rates in the current environment, and discuss possible alternative approaches that may exist?"

Economic Analyst

Yellen argued paying interest on reserves is the only effective way to raise interest rates. What she did not explain is why it is the only effective rate-setting tool. What it boils down to is financing the asset side of the Fed's balance sheet. In order to purchase trillions of dollars of Treasury and mortgage-backed securities, the Fed needed to borrow $2.5 trillion from banks. (Now about $2.25 trillion.) As a result, banks have so many excess reserves at the Fed they rarely if ever have to resort to borrowing fed funds to meet reserve requirements. As a result, the fed funds market is dormant and its influence on short-term rates is negligible.

As for alternatives, Yellen explained that one alternative would be to shrink the Fed's balance sheet before raising short-term rates. By effectively unwinding QE, the Fed would increase the supply of Treasuries and MBS, which in turn would cause interest rates to rise along the whole Treasury curve. The Fed chose not to go this route, she explained, because it is not as well understood as conventional tightening in the form of higher short-term

In the meantime, let's remember the whole point of raising rates is to limit credit creation in the economy. When the Fed complains about tight labor markets and growth rates that, while slow, are overwhelming even slower productivity growth, it is all another way of saying there is too much credit in the economy. The Fed is raising rates because it wants bank and nonbank lenders alike to lend less, and wants credit growth to slow.

Having its Cake

The Fed would like to raise interest rates four times this year and four times in each of the next two years because it anticipates a surge in demand for credit that will lift neutral rates from slightly negative last year to about 3.5% in late 2018. Fed officials worry deviating from this path early could force them to abandon gradualism later, so they really don't want to stop tightening just as they were getting

Hence, even the most dovish FOMC members are reluctant to take a March rate hike entirely off the table. But by keeping a tightening in play, they have not removed the shadow hanging over markets. They may not be able to have it both ways. The constant threat of a rate hike as soon as markets calm down could be enough to prevent calm from taking hold. Put another way, the Fed will be much more likely to be able to raise rates in June if it promises not to raise rates in March (or April, but one meeting at a time will do for now).

Bottom Line

The Fed makes policy based on expectations for growth and inflation 2-3 years in the future (the medium term). Its forecast of 2% inflation in three years is predicated on 300bp of rate increases in the interim. If the rate hikes are removed from their models, their inflation forecast would be higher.

Trillions of dollars in financial wealth sidelined in the past couple of months is deflationary, but Bill Dudley made the argument Friday it is deflationary predominantly outside the United States. The Fed struggles with the concept of global connectedness, especially when it comes to inflation. As a result, the Fed refuses to dismiss the possibility of a rate hike in March.

Will they raise rates? No. Is there any harm in keeping the option? Absolutely. And that is

into financial planning?

Some life insurance policies carry benefits that you can take advantage of while you are alive. For example, a Fixed Indexed Universal Life insurance policy gives you the reassurance of having life insurance, potential cash accumulation, plus the option to access that cash account down the road for any reason. One of my clients is a teacher and single mom. After reviewing several different investment avenues, she chose to get a fixed-indexed universal life insurance policy. Conservatively, this fixed indexed universal life insurance policy's illustrations shows that she'll be able to fulfill all her goals - insurance, optional college fund, and retirement income. She even pays a little extra for 10 months, enabling her to skip paying premiums for the two months she doesn't get paid each year.

Can you tell me about Roth

Although a Roth IRA is not tax deductible, it has many benefits. As long as you follow the rules, you won't have to pay taxes on any of the money you take out, including the growth. Not subject to federal income tax, "qualified distributions" are distributions which are made after a five-year waiting period, and which are made: 1. after the taxpayer reaches age 59 ½ or 2. In the event of a taxpayer's death, 3. Because the taxpayer becomes disabled, or 4. To pay for "qualified first-time home-buyer" expenses (there are limits). Distributions which are not "qualified," are subject to tax and possible penalties. A real plus is that Roth IRAs are not subject to the mandatory distribution requirements triggered on traditional IRAs at age 70½. All this said, it depends on how much household income you have whether or not you are even allowed to have a Roth IRA, and regardless, you are limited to how much money you can put into a Roth IRA annually - probably not enough to retire

We've All Heard The Jokes... But Could It Happen?

If GM had developed technology like Microsoft, we would all be driving cars with the following characteristics:

- 1. For no reason at all, your car would crash twice a day.
- 2. Every time they repainted the lines on the road, you would have to buy a new car.
- 3. Occasionally, executing a manoeuver such as a left-turn would cause your car to shut down and refuse to restart, and you would have to reinstall the engine.
- 4. When your car died on the freeway for no reason, you would just accept this, restart and drive on.
- 5. Apple would make a car powered by the sun, reliable, five times as fast, and twice as easy to drive, but would run on only five percent of the roads.
- 6. Oil, water temperature and alternator warning lights would be replaced by a single 'general car default' warning light.

- 7. The airbag would say 'Are you sure?' before going off.
- 8. Occasionally, for no reason, your car would lock you out and refuse to let you in until you simultaneously lifted the door handle, turned the key, and grabbed the radio antenna.
- 9. Every time GM introduced a new model, car buyers would have to learn how to drive all over again because none of the controls would operate in the same manner as the old car.

10. You would press the 'start' button to shut off the engine.

With our cars becoming "computer on wheels" we can expect software updates to become a reality. Currently, Tesla Motors is wanting over-the-air Wi-Fi and 4G wireless downloads so cars can self-park and also have other functions. The more we push for autonomous cars, the more we will rely on software and software updates and downloads to keep them going. Tesla has a new software now that allows certain sedans to park themselves without a driver assist. To download this software takes 45 minutes and it also boosts engine performance and battery usage.

Cars have 200 million lines of code...that only a software expert can appreciate. To the lay person it means regular "updates" and software bugs. In 2014, Toyota had to recall over half of the Prius' sold due to a software glitch. The more "connected" cars become, the more updates and bugs we can expect.

Software companies are all vying to be a part of the new automotive technology and of course, hackers are standing by as well. We are in for a ride...one way or the other!

BALDWIN PARK -Baldwin Park Unified's Walnut Elementary School will receive a 2016 Seal of Excellence Award from the California Association for Bilingual Education (CABE), a recognition of the school's exceptional duallanguage program, Soaring to Success.

Spanish dual-language immersion programs teach a combination of English and Spanish speakers to be bilingual and bi-literate by instructing them in each of the two languages, often starting almost entirely in Spanish and ending with an equal division.

Walnut Elementary launched its program in 1997, and is cited frequently as a model by other districts. The school will receive its award March 25 during CABE 2016, the bilingual education association's annual conference held in San Francisco.

"We are tremendously proud of this achievement by Walnut Elementary School's team of educators. It is a well-deserved accolade for their dedication to giving our students the tools they need to excel in all their future endeavors," Baldwin Park Unified Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza said.

Jonathan Han wins District contest in 10th round

BALDWIN PARK – Santa Fe School sixth-grader Jonathan Han will represent Baldwin Park Unified at the 11th annual Los Angeles County Elementary Spelling Bee on March 30 after besting 29 competitors in the District spelling contest.

Jonathan, a previous contender in the District Spelling Bee, was among the top two spellers from 13 elementary schools and two middle schools chosen to participate.

"All of us here at Baldwin Park Unified are immensely proud of Jonathan's success in the District Spelling Bee and wish him the best as he represents the District at the county level," said Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza.

The spellers competed fiercely for seven rounds Feb. 18 at the Performing Arts Center of Baldwin Park, with students eliminated after missing a single word. School staff, family members and friends cheered on the students as they competed.

In the end, it came down to Jonathan and Holland Middle School sixth-grader Julian Estrella. The two went head to head for three rounds before Jonathan emerged victorious. The hardest words of the day: apparatus and the winning word, or-around the country. His work captures the spirit, beauty, and vastness of the West in his historically accurate, compelling images. His art portrays the diverse cultures of the American West with sensitivity. But, it is his thorough research and experience as a horseman that sets his work above the rest. Much of Grelle's research includes visiting with experts on American Indian culture, visiting re-enactors, and by his own personal experiences on ranches that help him achieve his vision of the old west.

Grelle lives in Clifton, Texas, which has become a mecca for artists because of its beauty and history. He works hard and carefully considers critiques of his work from fellow artists. This includes the early direction from acclaimed western artists, James Boren and Melvin Warren. As it happens, both these important artists moved close to where Grelle had been living and he was able to study with these two luminaries of Western themed art.

Grelle is one of the youngest members of the Cowboy Artist's of America. Through the years, he has won numerous national and regional awards including: the CAA People's Choice Award in 2002, the Ray Swanson Memoman show is held for Grelle each March.
