Veterans Honored at Citrus College

By Jorge V. Rosales

GLENDORA - Veterans Day 2016 came one day early at Citrus College on Thursday, November 10.

Citrus College, along with Azusa Pacific University and the cities of Glendora and Azusa, partnered to celebrate men and women who served in all branches of the U.S. military during the eleventh annual Saluting Our Veterans event at the Citrus College Campus Center Mall.

Each city and educational institution had a serviceman honored, and hundreds of students, faculty and community leaders were in attendance to recognize them. The honorees were: U.S. Army Specialist Jorge V. Rosales-City of Azusa; U.S. Navy Petty Officer Second class Valerie Floyd-Davis-Azusa Pacific University; U.S. Air Force Senior Airman Daniel Gigliobianco-City of Glendora; ; and U.S. Marine Corps Staff Sergeant Martha McDonald-Citrus College.

"Veterans, today we salute you. You have fought in all our nations' wars and you have served on the home front. To all of us, you are heroic," said

Geraldine Perri, Superintendent/President, Citrus College. "You are very special to us at Citrus College and we are committed to giving back to you for your service."

The Citrus College Veterans Center offers services for military personnel trying readjust to civilian life. With hundreds of veterans from Afghanistan and Iraq attending Citrus, the campus offers a place where all veterans can meet and speak about their experiences. The Veterans Center is also home to a transition course, the first of its kind in the nation, school officials said.

The Gladstone High School Marching Band directed by Mr. Joseph Calderon provided a music prologue at the event, which also featured a presentation of colors by the Army ROTC from Azusa Pacific University, salute to fallen veterans by the Valley Veterans Memorial Team, patriotic musical tributes by Company B-The Andrew Sisters Tribute, introduction of display of military artifacts and keynote speeches by Mr. Jon Carter, U.S. Marine Corps and Ms. Alma Plunk, U.S. Navy.

Part of the Salute to Fallen Veterans at the event included the folding of the American Flag into the required 13 triangles performed by members of the Valley Veterans Memorial Team.

AZUSA - The Azusa Veterans' Memorial Committee and over 300 community residents, including over 100 veterans, honored all Veterans in a ceremony on Friday, November 11 at 11:00 a.m. in front of Azusa's City Hall. The ceremony was in honor of all Veterans with emphasis on the known four remaining WW II veterans from Azusa: Johnny Granados, Mike Gonzalez, Gilbert Ortiz, and Elmer Skeldon.

The ceremony commenced with introductions and welcoming remarks by Jesse Martinez, Vietnam War Veteran and Commander VFW Post 8070, followed by the presentation of colors by the Azusa High School JROTC which were preceded by members of the Glendora High School Bag Pipers, the invocation by Colonel Rick Givens, U.S. Air Force-Chaplain and the Pledge of Allegiance led by Jimmy Carmona. As is customary, the National Anthem was sung by Ana Aguilar. There were three musical interludes in the ceremony by the Center Middle School Ban, the Gladstone High School Bag Pipers, and the Christbrige Academy Heritage Singers.

As part of his remarks, Azusa Mayor Joe Rocha requested that all veterans to raise their hand in order that Slauson Middle School and Ellington Elementary Cheer could present them a yellow rose as a symbol of gratitude for their service, and then delivered his welcome remarks to the audience and to thank all AVMC members and the City for making this meaningful event possible. He also thanked all Veterans for their sacrifice.

A single wreath in honor of all fallen Veterans was graciously laid in front of the Veterans Memorial Monument by Committee member Bart Luce U.S. Army escorted by two members of Azusa High JROTC.

Prior to the closing remarks by three Azusa high schools students, Nicole Agob, Azusa High; Oscar Brambila-Christbridge Academy; Alyssa Gallegos-Gladstone High; and Abel Carrillo-Sierra High and the Benediction by Pastor Dr. Patricia Vanegas-Without Spot or Wrinkle Ministries, there was a 21-gun salute to all Fallen Heroes by the Azusa Veterans Memorial Team Post 8070 and Taps played by Retired Sgt. AZUSA - Proudly holding up tiny American flags amid boisterous chants of "U.S.A! U.S.A!," Dalton Elementary School students celebrated the commitment and sacrifice of all who have served in the United States Armed Forces during a Veterans Day flag-folding ceremony on Nov. 9.

Joining them were representatives of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines, all of whom have sons, daughters or grandchildren attending Dalton.

"We are honored to pay tribute to the distinguished men and women who have put their lives on the line for our country so that we can live in a free, democratic society," Dalton Principal Laura Clarke said.

MONTEREY PARK -Monterey Park Police Department has been awarded a $171,000 grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) for a year-long program of special enforcements and public awareness efforts to prevent traffic related deaths and injuries. MPPD will use the funding as part of the city's ongoing commitment to keep our roadways safe and improve the quality of life through both enforcement and education.

After falling to a ten year low in 2010, the number of persons killed has climbed nearly 17% across the state with 3,176 killed in 2015 according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Particularly alarming is the six year rise in pedestrian and bicycle fatalities, along with the growing dangers of distracting technologies, and the emergence of drug-impaired driving as a major problem. The Norac Pharma Facility is in a commercial/industrial area of Azusa. Norac has manufactured organic peroxides and small quantities of specialty pharmaceuticals since the early 1950's During this time, contamination to soil and groundwater occurred. Norac entered into a Corrective Action Consent Agreement with DTSC to address issues related to soil and groundwater impact An investigation was conducted to assess the Hazardous Waste Management Units (HWMUs) at the Site. Additional investigations were carried out in 2009 and 2012 to determine the depth

State Transportation and Safety Agencies Warn That Many At-Risk Airbag Inflators Remain on Cars

MONTEREY PARK - The Monterey Park Police Department would like to remind residents of a potentially deadly issue regarding airbags and recommends immediate action if their vehicle is being recalled. The following is reprinted from a joint California State DMV and OTS news release...

"California State departments that oversee vehicle and driver safety are warning that owners of tens of thousands of vehicles, particularly Hondas and Acuras, may not have received or have overlooked the recall notices urging replacement of potentially deadly Takata airbag inflators. Recall repairs are free of charge to all vehicle owners.

The California Office of Traffic Safety, California Highway Patrol, California Department of Motor Vehicles and Bureau of Automotive Repair are working together to urge Californians who own certain 2001-2003 Honda and Acura vehicles to immediately take their cars to an authorized dealer for repair of potentially deadly Takata airbag inflators.

Recall notices have already been sent to registered owners of affected vehicles, but who have not yet taken action on the required recall repair. These vehicles are at high risk of an airbag inflator rupture. When a recalled airbag inflator ruptures, pieces of metal could shoot through the or passengers, resulting in serious injuries or deaths.

While all areas of the state are affected, portions of certain counties have the greatest concentrations of recalled vehicles with owners who have not been heard from. These include east and south Bay Area regions, northern Monterey County, the Central Valley, northern and central Los Angeles County, western Riverside and San Bernardino counties, and San Diego County along the border. However, not being in one of these areas does not mean your airbag is safe. The following are the 2001-2003 Honda/Acura vehicles that may be equipped with recalled Takata driver airbag inflators, and are the subject of this State call to action:

- 2001-2002 Honda Accord •
- 2001-2002 Honda Civic • 2002 Honda CR-V • 2002 Honda Odyssey
- 2003 Honda Pilot 2002-2003 Acura 3.2TL
- 2003 Acura 3.2CL

Honda and Acura owners should check for recalls by locating their vehicle identification number (VIN) – found in the top left corner of the vehicle's dashboard through the windshield and enter the number into the VIN

www.recalls.honda.com,

airbag cushion and hit the driver www.recalls.acura.com or www.safercar.gov.

Honda/Acura urges affected drivers to immediately call 1-888-234-2138 for repair information. The U.S. Department of Transportation recommends that these vehicles only be driven to an authorized dealer in order to have the Takata airbag inflators replaced as rapidly as possible. To search for an authorized dealer, consumers can visit www.recalls.honda.com or www.recalls.acura.com depending on the make of their vehicle.

Consumers also can find answers to general questions about the Takata airbag inflator recalls, including about the higher risk inflators in these vehicles, at the following site: hondaairbaginfo.com/faq/.Any concerned customer can also contact Honda/Acura's Automobile Customer Service at 888-234-2138.

The replacement of the Takata airbag inflator is free of charge for all customers. Customers are not obligated to have unrelated maintenance or other vehicle issues fixed at the same time as the recall repair. Honda/Acura will provide a loaner car, if necessary, while a customer's car is being repaired and a Honda/Acura dealer can also arrange to tow a vehicle to and from the desired location at no cost.

Republican President, Senate and House

By Lois M. Shade

Former Mayor of Glendora Was anyone more shocked than the media when Donald Trump came out President-Elect of what has been called by most as the never before seen, most unusual election ever! Trump's challenges on the media's objectivity and fairness have hit home with a fierceness I hope makes most all of them cringe and reassess their role as reporters. The public should take the time to scrutinize media performance in this election - all elections -and recognize the difference between reporting the facts and

I went to one post-election meeting where someone involved in a local station reporting on the election results said there was not only a delay in reporting the Florida election results, but a pall covering the entire room when those results started coming in to that station. Shock or agony? Aheavy obvious silence hit and then a concentrated effort, as with other media, to hold back on the Florida results. Tears, time outs to settle rattled nerves ... sounds like partisan agony to me.

Outrageous we have people presenting news on election campaigns that obviously could influence public opinions and affect the outcome of those elections they are covering and are not able to separate their personal feelings and opinions from just providing the facts. Just objectively presenting the facts. Some newspapers try to mask over an outstanding platform with their trumped up assessment just to claim having supported a winner.

I watched all the Sunday morning shows, flipping from channel to channel, and then 60 Minutes Sunday night. Donald Trump's positions on all the issues he brought up have not changed. One additional one he added, at least new to me, was term limits. Only heard him mention it briefly but that whisper has me very curious. And, of course, will send the media into a new frenzy of wild interpretations. Conservative Republicans have put forth a yeoman's effort in California the past four years or so to re-establish the GOP but the election results on state races and the initiatives show the hard reality ... we conservatives have a lot more to do. And, for one, I'm in for the long-term no matter what.

Interesting I'm hearing Hillary

Clinton allow the FBI Director Comy to take the blame for her loosing the election by releasing concerns and questions on another round of her security-breaching emails at what she says was a critical point in the election. Or is that just the media hype? I believe it was the honest commentary from Donald Trump on the issues he brought up during the campaign that took him to the White House. While Clinton was focusing on the high population areas of our country, Trump was out talking to the people often ignored in elections. The farmers, the out-of-work people, the areas where there have been huge unemployment levels or very slow to no growth in those levels. Trump knew their issues and all those issues the average person in this country were concerned about and refused to stop hitting on them.

While I bask in this refreshing new day for America, I will also mention Rep. Darrell Issa, who was re-elected, but for an incumbent with an outstanding track record in D.C.. a very squeaky re-election. Issa introduced the Midnight Rules Relief Act of 2016 back in September that amends the Congressional Review Act to allow Congress to consider a joint resolution to disapprove multiple regulations federal agencies have submitted for congressional review within the last 60 legislative days of a session of Congress during the final year of a President's term. In a short, the Republican Congress can "en bloc" disapprove of any last minute liberal Democrat ditch efforts to get their agenda

On another happy note, at least for me, the Transparency Initiative passed and will require legislation and legislative efforts to be available to the public for them to view and understand before the state legislature can approve / pass the bills to become law. We the people, you know, do have the right to know and understand what our state leaders are doing, what their agenda is through their legislative efforts and approve or disapprove of their efforts. I look forward to that and to two years in California of extremely hard work to help put this state back on a course of best jobs anywhere, choice in education to achieve the best for our kids, and the best economic climate for our young generation trying to get started and for our retiring and retired people who want to go out and enjoy life.

Being Mindful

There are several lessons that I have had to learn over and over. By the time the next Presidential election comes around I will have passed my 90th birthday. The little electric circuits in that amazing organ between my ears will have further hardened, and my memory will have become much more fragile. So here I am the day after the election, and I need to pay attention to a couple of the lessons I have too readily ig-

The first is a need to breathe deeply and take my time before registering any strong opinion about a current issue, particularly when I have an obvious emotional response. The cake must be given time to cool before it can be properly cut. When I have forgotten to put my mind in gear before I launch into a verbal or literary barrage, I have not only been wrong, but also embarrassed. So I am drafting this column on the morning following the devastation wrought in the election. While my emotions are in overdrive, I have decided keep my foot off the gas pedal, at least

Some things are clear. Nobody much will really care what those of my generation will have to say. There is only a modest place for the old liberals who still think we are the wave of the future. We are not. We may be the wise old men and women of the past, but unless a new much younger generation seizes the reins linked to the important issues before the nation, what we have dreamed about will just be that-fading fantasies. In the next weeks I will still occasionally write about a few political issues, but I will probably change directions and do more introspection than I will issue proclamations.

Those who live near me realize that I am having a major problem in locomotion, and use either a cane or a walker to get around. In this less than robust state I have found that most people-particularly strangers-are ready to go out of the way to be helpful, even when I tell them I can get across the street by myself. I have had to learn to graciously accept what they so readily want to offer.

Something happened a few days ago that I will not forget. I had driven to my bank, and had parked in one of those bluesigned handicap spaces. These days I need to take my time getting in and out of the car, so as I was hauling my leg from the door to the street, there appeared an older gentleman who was probably of Asian extraction. He did not offer a hand but gave me a much more important three-word gift. He said, "Be very mindful."

I had often heard that expression from friends of mine who may be Buddhists, or at least know about that religion. But here in the parking lot of a bank I finally began to understand what mindfulness might mean. At the latter reaches of a very active life I may be learning to pay attention to what is going on at the moment. Among other things, it means to be a better listener to what someone has to say. It means to look seriously at naturenot to find an image to paint, but for its own sake. It means to be fully committed to a conversation that is taking place, without letting my mind wander as I plan what I should say next or think about what I am going to do that afternoon. It means digesting what is immediately before me before pontificating about it.

So, many future columns will be more focused on what is more interior and personal. I'll still deal with the political and social issues that will continue to consume me, but I will take my time before firing up my Mac. And my reaction to yesterday's election will take time to incubate before I am ready to proclaim.

To the unknown gentleman who suggested that I be very mindful of getting out of the car, he will take his place in the pantheon of saints who have helped

Unite Behind Trump? Are You Kidding?

by Ralph E. Shaffer

A disappointed and defeated Hillary Clinton and an equally dejected Barack Obama appealed to the nation, particularly to shocked Democrats, to unite behind president-elect Donald Trump. Nonsense! We accept that he won an election that gives more voting strength to vast deserts and mountain ranges than it does to sprawling cities and therefore he will be president for four years. But don't ask us to rically opposed to our stand on expand the military - and its vofundamental issues. There will be no unity, no honeymoon, no let up in our criticism of presidentelect, or president, Trump.

Chalk up Clinton's and Obama's conciliatory statements to simply doing what was expected from them. Losers concede to winners, offer their best wishes and urge their supporters to rally behind the victor. That's what we expect. Even Al Gore was gracious in his call for unity behind George Bush after the 2000 election fiasco. But that doesn't mean we aren't going to fight Trump tooth and nail as he attempts to dismantle the social progress of the past eight, or more, years.

Trump has made clear that his first days in office next January will see a roll-back of various Obama programs. We don't know all the executive orders that he will undo, but be assured that anything to do with delaying deportation of illegal aliens will be a top priority. Trump's commitment to rolling back environmental restrictions also puts those orders near the top of the roll-back list. He will open up more areas to oil drilling, lessen restrictions on coal mining and the use of coal, and run pipelines everywhere.

If Trump is to be believed, the Affordable Health Care system will be undone immediately, replaced by a private insurance system that is free from state regulation. It's striking that a candidate and a party that calls for local control is so insistent on taking away from state governments the regulation of health insurance companies operating in each state. But economic opportunity always trumps the state's rights principle.

And we are expected to unite behind a president who has promised us another war in the Middle East within two months of his inauguration. To that end, he will racious budget - far beyond what now exists. At what cost?

If he cuts taxes on the rich and on corporations, where will the money come from to pay for the increased cost of an expanded military? Easy. It will come from cutting various, as yet unspecified, social programs. Oh, Trump will claim that the tax cuts will increase the economy so greatly that even with the reduced tax rates more money will flow into the treasury. They always claim that. It never happens. So we cut money for education, public broadcasting, food stamps, assistance to the elderly, etc.

Oh, and Trump would dismantle the public education system that made this nation great. Trump believes in school choice, which means that parents cant take state education funds to pay tuition at religious schools, private forprofit elementary and secondary schools, or even at schools run by emirs teaching who knows what. Competition, Trump's backers claim, will improve education. It will also destroy the excellent public school system that California has created. Politicians and right-wing zealots love to attack our schools, but they don't realize that the education our kids get in schools such as those in Glendora is far, far better than what we got in similar California public schools twenty, forty, or in my case, seventy years ago.

There are more reasons - his stand on gay marriage, Roe v Wade, Syrian refugees, etc. - why those of us who did not vote for Trump should reject the calls for unity, but these are enough in themselves. Donald Trump may be sworn in as our 45th president, but he is not entitled to a free pass. We expect, and so do his supporters, that he will fervently try to push through the outrageous roll-backs that he promised during the campaign.

Unite? Not one bit. We will fight him on every vital issue that

Any Excuse to Riot on the Freeway, to Damage and Destroy when he fell he struck him in the

By George Ogden

I'm sure by now you have seen on the news the thugs and lowlifes that got up on the freeways and blocked traffic to do what they call a peaceful protest on the election of Trump.

What a joke this is. These people demonstrated in front of City Hall and started fires and started damaging and destroying things around them. One news reporter walked up to a middleaged guy and asked why he was tagging (spray painting graffiti) on a power box. The man didn't know he was being filmed by CBS news. The same rioters ended up marching down on the 101 freeway and stopped traffic. They started attacking cars and citizens on the freeway. Many had their cars damaged or spraypainted as well as a news van with graffiti all over the side. They were spray painting profanities on people's cars and getting up on top of cars and kicking at the windows. There have been reports that some people were beaten and women had their purses stolen when the windows were broken.

One acquaintance who was in the area and got stuck in this mess soon realized that he and his family were in danger. They got out of their car and went to the trunk of their vehicle and retrieved weapons from a lockbox and armed themselves. They could not leave the area because they were trapped by other vehicles that were stopped by the rioters. He made it known that he and his adult son were armed as they stood outside their vehicle. They were protecting themselves and other people around them. He told me a CHP officer came up to him and told him to put the weapons away or they would be arrested. That didn't happen.

He also stated that he saw one man go to the trunk of his car and get out a tire iron after one of the rioters jumped on the hood of his car. As a guy was dancing around on the hood caving it in, the driver struck the man in the leg and head area. He and the other men ran from the man in between the stuck cars. He said other people got out of their cars and started to chase them but then stopped.

Hillary Clinton had made a comment that half of the Trump supporters were basically lowlifes. So what are these people? The pillar of our society?

Some people supposedly came out for peaceful demonstration, and if that was the case, why did they cover their faces? Personally, I'm tired of all this. I feel our citizens need to be able to protect themselves and should be able to carry a firearm legally for this purpose. They make it extremely difficult today for someone to get a concealed weapons permit, and I cannot say that I support this. People should be able to protect themselves and this is being taken away from

You never know when one of these incidents is going to happen and one of your loved ones gets injured or killed from these people. What has become of our world? Do you know what? Good Luck people...

from most of the media.

Trump has none of these tail winds. Still, he should accomplish some of his goals. The difficulty is figuring out what can get done, when, and what kind of impact it may have.

MAIN TENETS OF TRUMP PLAN

Infrastructure Spending:

Redirect most foreign spending to domestic infrastructure, give states more flexibility to direct federal dollars, use only American steel in government projects, use infrastructure tax credits to induce private investment in public projects, streamline permitting and project approvals, and use incentive-based contracting to speed construction.

Income Tax Cuts and Closed Loopholes on Upper-Income Individuals:

There would be only three tax brackets, 12% on the first $75,000, 25% on the next $150,000, and 33% on income over $225,000.

Carried interest would be taxed as ordinary income, the alternative minimum tax would be eliminated, the estate tax would be eliminated, with some exceptions, and

Childcare costs will reduce taxable income up to the median cost of childcare by state (with exceptions for those earning over $500k joint/married or $250,000 single).

Corporate Tax Reform:

Corporate tax cut from 35% to 15%, Foreign-held profits can be repatriated at a one-time rate of 10%, Corporate AMT eliminated, and

Manufacturers can choose to expense capital investment, but those who do lose interest deductibility.

Regulatory Reform:

Department heads will identify and remove needless regulation, a moratorium on new regulation unless compelled by Congress or public safety, immediate cancellation of illegal or overreaching executive orders, and reigning in the EPA (Eliminate Waters of the US Rule issued in July 2016, which added thousands of waterways and wetlands to EPA and Army Corps of Engineers jurisdiction. Eliminate the Clean Power Plan enacted in October 2015, which mandates CO2 emissions cuts by power plants).

Eliminate Dodd-Frank, and Return to Glass-Stiegel THE RECEPTION

Trump will have to make friends if he wants any in Washington, and his support among the electorate is tepid at best. Most of his economic proposals require Congressional approval, meaning strong support from Republicans, and at least some support from moderate Senate Democrats. That is a tall order in these fractious times and will not happen unless he can build public support, starting with the support of many who voted for him only because they cannot stomach Hillary Clinton.

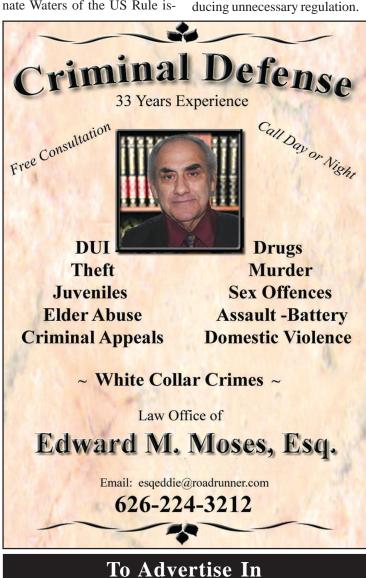

Thanks to reconciliation, which limits the Senate filibuster's use in tax and spending debates, it may be possible to achieve some of Trump's tax and spending proposals. But any tax and spending changes that materially increase the deficit are unlikely. Not enough Republicans would be willing to back a budget that inflates the deficit.

As for repealing Dodd-Frank, it will not happen anytime soon. The Dodd-Frank Act will be reformed, however, because the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau has been effectively hamstrung by an appeals court ruling.

Separately, President Obama imposed thousands of new regulations affecting myriad industries, many of which could be reversed with an executive order if someone takes the time to ferret them out.

THE ECONOMY AND THE

The way the Congressional Budget Office estimates the economic and budget effects of policy, none of these changes would theoretically impact growth, inflation or the deficit, because they are revenue neutral. But the reality is likely to be quite different. After all, there would be economic benefits derived from infrastructure, even when privately funded, just as there would be economic benefits from reducing unnecessary regulation.

Your Money - Ask Julia

My husband will probably be entering a nursing home next year. We're planning to apply for Medicaid for him. Does this mean that I'll have to 'spend down?'

In July 2009, a state Circuit Court of Appeals case sided with the agency that handles Medicaid services saying that monies in the family's combined asset base can be used for an income annuity for the "well spouse" as long as it follows the stated statutory guidelines. Even if these monies are greater than the asset allocation for the well spouse, if you follow the Medicaid Compliant rules, the annuity is okay. This means that couples will be able to reposition tens, if not hundreds of thousands of dollars into Medicaid-compliant annuities and not have the income from the annuities count against the aid a nursing home bound spouse can receive.

If I buy an annuity, how can I be sure the income from it will last my whole lifetime?

Insurance companies use mortality tables to determine how long you are expected to live. However, nowadays, people are living longer. What happens if you annuitize your annuity and you live longer than the insurance mortality tables said you would? Depending on your annuity contract, and providing you selected the right payout option, the insurance company is obligated to continue paying no matter how long you live. You read it right! Even if your annuity is penniless, you could continue to receive

We have lived and worked in California for 15 years. Now we want to retire in another state. Will California track us down for the deferred taxes on our retirement account?

Public Law 104-95 prohibits state taxation of certain pension income of nonresidents received after December 31, 1995. In other words, the state you move from cannot collect taxes; the state you move to can.

My parents are bugging me to start saving for retirement. I don't have much money for that, but would like to start. What do you have for me?

You can start investing in your own IRA for around $100 per month. Then, as your income increases, you can put in more. Or, you could apply for a life insurance policy that includes a cashaccruing account, available while you're alive. (You might even ask your parents to match your retirement savings for the first year to help you get a start and build a good habit.)

My husband and I have about 20 years left on our mort-gage loan. We're only 10 years away from retirement. Once we retire, we won't be able to afford the mortgage payment. What could we do?

You have several choices. 1. Pay off your mortgage early. 2. Upon retirement, rent your home out, or sell it and obtain less-expensive housing. 3. If your mortgage is paid down considerably in 10 years, you might qualify for a reverse mortgage (HECM -Home Equity Conversion Mortgage). 4. When you are closer to retirement, but while still employed, refinance into a 30-year mortgage to lower your payments to an affordable amount. (Lenders cannot discriminate based on age.)

Although we are not happy with our current financial agent, would it be wiser for us to stay with him, or should we go ahead and change agents?

If your agent is not serving your needs or financial desires, either talk with him to see if he is willing to make the changes you want, or by all means, make the change. The most common reasons folks change advisors are: lack of communication, under-performing investments, personality conflicts, or wanting an agent who is closer to home. It is your money; you should feel confident with your agent.

THE CAR GURU WHAT YOU "AUTO" KNOW

By Gene Morill - Certified Automotive Specialists

Don't Believe Everything You Read Online!

"They can't put anything on the Internet that isn't true!" It is sad how many gullible people believe that! Many consumers don't want to work on their car themselves but they want to buy the parts themselves and have us install them because they found them online somewhere a little cheaper. I want what is best for my customers and I don't want to embarrass them but I won't be putting on cheap parts they find on the Internet either. I have a reputation to uphold and I warranty my work. I've been ordering parts for years and have trusted parts suppliers. I don't go get them out of the junk yard or buy a part that will last only three months. I buy parts that will withstand the rigors of driving and weather, that are reliable, and the pricing is competitive. I put my customers' safety first.

I appreciate the Internet as much as anyone, but it doesn't have the expertise that we have when it comes to ordering the right parts and repairing cars. It doesn't care about keeping consumers safe. I know the automotive repair profession isn't alone when it comes to this frustration. Everyone suddenly thinks they are the expert even though they didn't go to school for years to be the best at this job nor do they have to have constant education to keep current.

I know I'm in good company, though, as doctors complain about the same issue. It seems consumers also trust their health to the self-diagnosis they do with the help of the Internet. Well...just like the doctor isn't going to write a person a prescription based on a diagnosis a patient found on the Internet, I'm not going to order a part or put on a part a customer found themselves. I'm a trained professional in my field with certification to prove it. Doctors are the professionals in their field and they too have the credentials to prove a step further. They believe so much in what they read on the Internet they not only purchase the parts themselves, they try to fix it themselves. I can't tell you how many times I've had to "undo" the damage of do-it-yourself repair. Of course, the Internet provided step-by-step instructions but somehow it wasn't as easy as it looked. The really sad thing about this scenario is the consumer was trying to save a few dollars and they ended up paying so much more as it is often more expensive to undo the damage the cheap fix cost.

Thankfully, the majority of my customers trust us to do the job right at a very competitive price. I promise if you tried to do-it-yourself and failed, we will never reprimand or cause you to feel uncomfortable. We will undo the fix and not say a word. I do worry, however, about what will happen when consumers start doing surgery on themselves or loved ones because the Internet provided easy, step-by-step instructions! Scary!

St. Francis Dam Disaster Presentation At The Duarte Museum

DUARTE - The ill-fated St. Francis Dam located a mere fifty miles north of Los Angeles collapsed just before midnight on March 12, 1928, unleashing miles of liquid horror and drowning more than 450 people before reaching the ocean. Author-historian Paul Rippens will relive this disaster in a power point program at the general meeting of the Duarte Historical Society & Museum, 6:00 p.m. on December 2 at the Museum, 777 Encanto Parkway, Encanto Park, Duarte. Admission is free.

William Mulholland earned a stellar reputation bringing water to Southern California through the aqueduct he engineered. He was commonly referred to as "the chief." Why did "kill Mulholland" signs sprout up? How did he die one of the most hated men in California's history? Rippens' presentation will bring to light the history and impact of this, the second deadliest disaster in the state of California.

Rippens was born and raised in Southern California and worked for the County of Los Angeles Fire Department for 37 years. He has authored three books on California History, including The Saint Francis Dam and Images of America: San Dimas. He is the archivist for the San Dimas Historical Society.

The meeting will include a few minutes of business before the program and will conclude with a holiday social and pot luck dessert table. For more information, call (626) 358-0329. Space is limited.

The Risk

With daily schedules becoming increasingly congested due to work, school, and extracurricular activities galore, it can be difficult to maintain overall health and wellness through diet and exercise alone. Thankfully, a new, patented, dietary supplement called Avmacol Immune<sup>TM</sup> can help to stimulate your body's natural detoxification process and provide immune support. This innovative supplement combines the essential ingredients needed for sulforaphane production with beta-glucans to promote immune health. Sulforaphane is a phytochemical associated with broccoli that stimulates your body's natural detoxification process and supports its defenses against environmental threats found in the air you breathe, the food you eat and the water you drink. Betaglucans have been shown to help support a healthy immune

When environmental threats enter your body, your natural detoxification process works to remove them via two phases:

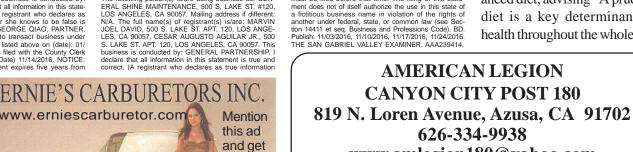

Phase 1 enzymes process them into molecules known as metabolites. These metabolites can be potentially harmful to your DNA and need to be converted to harmless and more easily excreted molecules. Phase 2 enzymes do just that they process the potentially harmful metabolites into molecules that the body can more readily excrete. Sulforaphane production, as supported by the ingredients in Avmacol Immune, boosts phase 2 detoxifying enzymes so potentially harmful metabolites can be more readily removed from the body. The beta-glucans in Avmacol Immune help to support the immune system, which is often threatened by exposure to certain environmental toxins. The once-a-day Avmacol Immune tablet delivers "consistent levels of high-quality ingredients providing glucoraphanin and an active myrosinase enzyme. Both are essential ingredients needed to allow for the supplement to provide the full benefit of natural detoxification and immune support," explains sulforaphane expert Dr. Brian Cornblatt. Research has shown that sulforaphane also supports the body's defenses against oxidative stress and cell damage, supporting brain, heart, kidney and liver health.

Avmacol Immune is vegetarian and gluten-free. It is packaged in BPA-free bottles and undergoes more than 80 quality checks. For more information and to purchase the prod-
