Monrovia Pack 66 Tours Assault Craft Unit 5 "The Swift Intruders"

Monrovia Pack 66 with Assault Craft Unit 5

by Mark D. Peters, BSHA

OCEANSIDE - Monrovia Pack 66 had the honor to tour Assault Craft Unit 5 "The Swift Intruders" on November 12th, 2016; Veteran's Day weekend. There is no better way to honor our servicemen and woman than to learn what they do to protect our country and to educate the future leaders of our country, cub scouts of pack 66.

For many years, I would drive I-5 past the "whitewall" in Oceanside across from Camp Pendleton, with the words "Home of the Swift Intruders"; and I would wonder what is behind there and how can I visit? Years later and 4 years into cub scouting I made the call and was greeted by a wonderful sailor Senior Chief Grady Grammer who made all the arrangements for Pack 66 to visit and I would finally be able to put my curiosity to rest.

Petty Officer 2nd Class Jesse Van Harlinger and Chief Petty Officer Nelson gave our Pack an amazing and in-depth tour of the LCAC's. The Cubs learned about the turbine engines, payload capacity, maintenance, crew positions and what it takes to operate one of these naval behemoth's. PO2 Van Harlinger and CPO Nelson had so much patience in handling all the questions from the scouts. Many of the questions were very detailed in regards to the operations of the LCAC's and engines.

During the tour, our Cubs could interact with Sailors and ask them about their jobs and experiences in the military. Gas Turbine Systems Technician-Petty Officer 2nd Class Jesse Van Harlinger, a deck engineer assigned to ACU 5, was one of the Sailors who enjoyed talking to our pack and showing the cubs the LCACs. CPO Nelson gave the Cubs a behind the scenes look at the cockpit and crew stations on board as well as where the troops would sit when on deployment.

Pack 66 learned that Assault Craft Unit 5 is the West Coast home of the Navy's amphibious assault craft, the Landing Craft Air Cushion (LCAC). This unique craft is supported above land or the surface of water by a cushion of air contained within its flexible rubber skirt system. The skirt when fully inflated reaches 8 feet in height and can support a 75ton payload. Currently the LCAC's are being up-graded to modern technology as like with the aging B-52, making a classic, modern. The Navy is expecting delivery of new LCAC's by the year 2020, needless to say the ACU-5 is looking forward to the new hovercrafts.

Pack 66 Charter Organization Representative Danny Preciado and father to WeBelos 1 Matthew and Lion Cub Josh stated "I was honored to have our Scouts be given the opportunity to experience this rarely seen, behind the scenes look with some of the nation's finest and the incredible equipment they work with."

Thank you to all with ACU-5 for allowing Pack 66 to spend a few hours with you. You have given our cubs a memory and experience they will not soon forget. Also a big thanks to our amazing Pack family and leaders, Assistant Cub Masters Sam and Gina Kurutz, COR Danny Preciado, Awards Chair Peter Vierheilig and Bear Den Leader Andrew Gentile.

If you and your son are interested in joining Monrovia Cub Scout Pack 66 and he is between the ages of 5 and 10 please email us at M o n r o v i a c u b s c o u t pack66@gmail.com or call at 626-485-1032.

Antonovich Seeks Additional Support | Monterey Park Market Place And Restitution For Victims Of Crime Post-Proposition 47

LOSANGELES COUNTY - assault with a deadly weapon on On a motion by Supervisor a peace officer -- it even includes Michael D. Antonovich, the Board of Supervisors has ordered a report on how the county can ensure victims of misdemeanor crimes receive restitution in the same manner as victims of felonies.

"The public was very misled by proponents of Proposition 47 just as we were all misled by AB 109 when the governor told us that the probation department would be supervising "low level" offenders - fact is, nearly 70% of that population is high risk or very high risk – less than 2% are low level offenders," said Antonovich.

"Now, the public is being told that Proposition 57 will only make the "non-violent" felons in state prison eligible for early release. What the public is not being told is that Proposition 57 includes crimes like rape of an unconscious person, solicitation to commit murder, first degree burglary, domestic violence and human trafficking involving a minor."

"With respect to Prop 47, the public was told that there would be nearly $130 million in projected cost savings by the state which has not been realized," he added. "The problem is that we are not talking about giving people second chances - we are talking about giving people a slap on the hand time and time again. In fact, one person has been re-arrested 44 times -- another person 33 times, and nearly 100 lives have been taken by these socalled low-level offenders."

Proposition 47 statistics:

• 55 people have been re-arrested 15 times.

• 222 people have been re-arrested 10 times.

• 2,108 people have been rearrested 5 times.

• Nearly 6,000 people have been re-arrested 3 times since this law took effect.

• 50% of Prop 47 offenders re-offend.

• 50% of those go on to commit part one crimes which includes violent crimes.

Prop 47 repeat offenders have committed the following part one crimes in our county: • 2,637 aggravated assaults

• 3,717 burglaries

• 73 arson

- 4,564 grant theft auto • 15,620 larceny theft
- 47 forcible rapes
- 98 criminal homicides

A detailed report by the District Attorney estimates that there are over 335,000 Proposition 47 cases and over 627,000 charges where victims may have suffered losses requiring restitution. This data was produced by utilizing the same list of data that was used for the Proposition 47 outreach campaign excluding drug possession charges. The District Attorney has implemented policies and procedures to ensure that victims' right to be notified of post-conviction hearings and case dispositions is preserved using various means available to locate them, including using DMV records, Lexis, social media and other local, state or federal databases.

Marsy's Law, which includes the constitutional right to court ordered restitution for victims of crime, does not distinguish felony from misdemeanor. Thus, all victims, regardless of level of crime, are eligible for court-ordered restitution. This obstacle impacts more victims post-Proposition 47 because certain property crimes are no longer felonies.

Commercial Center Breaks Ground

Monterey Park City Council with shovels at groundbreaking ceremony.

MONTEREY PARK - The City of Monterey Park, along with developer M & M Realty Partners - a venture backed by two industry-leading real estate development, property management and construction companies - celebrated the construction of the Monterey Park Market Place Shopping Center on November 16, 2016. This new, long-awaited retail center is situated on a 45+ acre property in the City of Monterey Park, where construction began this summer. The Market Place will be anchored by a full service Costco Warehouse, as well as a Home Depot and Garden Center. Other featured tenants include an In-N-Out Burger and Chick-fil-A. The center is expected to open by early 2018.

The site, located 10 miles east of downtown Los Angeles in the City of Monterey Park, is situated along the 60/Pomona Freeway, just west of Paramount Boulevard and will have access from Paramount Blvd and Potrero Grande Drive.

"Our residents are very excited to be able to shop at Costco and Home Depot, as well to dine at In-N-Out and Chick-fil-A," stated Monterey Park Mayor Mitchell Ing. "The tenants committed to the site are first-class and in high demand. We expect tremendous success at the location for our residents, the developer and the outstanding tenants".

"We've created a dynamic retail center that answers the wishes of our residents, for value and choice among retail offerings, while providing extensive economic benefits such as jobs and tax revenue," commented Monterey Park City Manager Paul Talbot, who shepherded the project to this stage.

Joe Marino, Partner M & M Realty Partners said, "We are excited to break ground and move closer to realization. We have worked closely with numerous agencies to bring this project mental Protection Agency Superfund Division Director said, "One of our goals is to address environmental challenges left behind by industry so that real property can be restored and given back to the community for a safe and productive future. EPA supports this revitalization effort that will boost the local economy."

"It took almost ten years to close the deal with M & M Realty Partners, but we will now have an exciting development underway on the north parcel of the former landfill site," stated David Hirsch, Trustee of the Development Parcel of the Operating Industries, Inc site.

M & M Realty Partners is a privately-owned and financed company created by east-coast based Edgewood Properties, Inc. and JMP Holdings. The company owns and manages over 6,000,000 square feet of retail/ commercial space. Among the company's notable achievements is the redevelopment of the 223acre former Garden State Race Track in Cherry Hill, New Jersey. The Garden State Park project is one of the largest mixed use projects in New Jersey and transformed the once-vacant racetrack into a walkable $800 million Lifestyle Center, featuring over one million square feet of retail and commercial space and approximately 1,700 upscale res idences. M & M Realty Partners possesses extensive, large-scale development experience in the commercial, residential and mixed-use sectors, expertise in environmentally-sensitive properties, and strong financial resources.

DUI Enforcement Operations Planned for the Thanksgiving Holiday Weekend

GLENDORA - Officers from the Glendora Police Department's DUI Enforcement Team will be deploying during the Thanksgiving Holiday weekend to stop and arrest alcohol and drug-impaired drivers in the Department's ongoing traffic safety campaign. DUI Saturation Patrols will deploy on November 25th and 26th between the hours of 7:00 p.m. and 3:00 a.m. in areas with high frequencies of DUI collisions and/or arrests. In California, this deadly crime led to 1,155 deaths and nearly 24,000 serious injuries in 2014 because someone failed to designate a sober driver. Nationally, the latest data shows over 10,000 were killed by an impaired driver. Data shows that in 2015, Glendora Officers arrested 227 DUI drivers and between 2014 and 2015, alcohol-involved collisions we up 41.2%. Officers will be looking for signs of alcohol and/or drug impairment with officers checking drivers for proper licensing delaying motorists only momentarily. When possible, specially trained officers will be available to evaluate those suspected of drug-impaired driving, which now accounts for a growing number of impaired driving crashes.

Studies of California drivers have shown that 30 percent of drivers in fatal crashes had one or more drugs in their systems. A study of active drivers showed more tested positive for drugs that may impair driving (14 percent) than did for alcohol (7.3 percent). Of the drugs, marijuana was most prevalent, at 7.4 percent, slightly more than alcohol.

Law Enforcement emphasizes the preventable nature of drunk driving reminding everyone that all it takes is a little planning ahead. Designate a sober driver or call a cab. But whatever you do, don't drink and drive. Drivers centives for the designated sober driver, from free non-alcoholic drinks to free appetizers and more. The feature-packed app even has social media tie-ins and even a tab for the non-DD to call Uber, Lyft or Curb.

The cost of a ride home is cheap, nothing compared to a $10,000 DUI conviction and the 'inconvenience' of not driving your own car home is nothing compared to the inconvenience of spending time behind bars.

Funding for this DUI operation is provided to Glendora Po-

Dance With The One Who Brought You More Elections Coming Up

By Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

While election news has quieted down in the headlines, heading into the Thanksgiving holidays, there are those that are still busy counting ballots cast November 8th on statewide elections, and there are others preparing for the upcoming March 7th local elections.

I am told as of November 19th there were still over 2,980,000 ballots left to be counted in this state due in part to the new election procedure signed into law by Governor Jerry Brown. Under the old law, absentee ballots had to be received by the county registrars by 8:00 PM on Election Day. Under the new law, absentee ballots have to be postmarked by Election Day and received by the following Friday. Because the Friday after the election was a holiday, the last day to receive absentee ballots was the Monday after the election.

The 29th Senate District race between Ling Ling Chang (R) and Josh Newman (D) is being watched closely as ballots are still being counted. On Wednesday, some backers of Chang claimed victory, but Democrats have yet to concede, pointing out that Newman might overcome Chang's 5,051-vote lead when the district's estimated 61,000 uncounted ballots are tallied. This race has become critical to block democrats who already have a 2/ 3 majority in the state assembly.

In the San Gabriel Valley, we have a host of local elections coming up. November 14th was the first day to pull nomination papers and file to run for city council.

Those cities in the San Gabriel Valley who will hold elections on March 7th are Azusa, Covina, Glendora, Pasadena, Rosemead, San Dimas, Temple City, Claremont, La Verne, Monterey Park, San Gabriel, and South El Monte. Monrovia City general election will be held on April 11th. Arcadia Unified School District will hold its election April 18th.

In Azusa, I was told Uriel Macias will be challenging Joe Rocha for a two year term as Mayor. If Macias loses that challenge, he will still retain his position as council member. The two council seats up for election are Edward Alvarez and Robert Gonzalez and as of last week were unchallenged.

Azusa also elects their city treasurer and city clerk. Again, at this time Art Vasquez, city treasurer, and Jeff Cornejo, city clerk, are unchallenged.

Covina has three council seats to be filled and all three incumbents are seeking re-election but have two challengers. John King, Kevin Stapleton and Jorge Marquez will be challenged by Victor Linares and Neal Polzin. City Clerk, Mary Lou Walziek and City Treasurer, Jeff Cobbett will seek to retain their seats but are unchallenged at the moment.

City of Glendora has two seats to be filled in this March 7th election and both incumbents, Gene Muribito and Karen Davis, have pulled papers. No challengers have filed at this time.

It will be interesting to see what issues each of these cities' candidates present on the campaign trail. Will it be city-specific issues, or regional issues impacting their city and others in the area, or a combination of both?

The headlines seem to dictate transportation and water along with the cost of housing as the perceived priorities, but do the coalition of cities under the League of California Cities (LCC) and the San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments (SGV COG) two of the largest lobbying groups, feel the same wav?

The League presents itself as an advocate / lobbyist for local government and says it performs by, "Strengthening California Cities through Advocacy & Education".

The SGV COG is an arm of Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) or clearinghouse for federal monies using regional groups, like the SGV COG, to determine how that money is to be spent using policy development at the local level.

Each of the cities will have a representative sitting on those boards that play a major role in the decision making process on the high profile issues like water, transportation and housing. It is imperative we take a hard look at those running for city council seats to determine their philosophy and strength in representing their cities and their people

That may be good advice for the prom, but in American history staying with a political party has not always been productive. Sometimes the party changes either in direction or name. Sometimes the individual changes. Even so there may be wisdom in staying connected to long-time political allegiances. Prior to the 1960s, the Democratic Party was split between the segregationists in the South and the liberals in the North. When in 1965 Lyndon Johnson signed the Voting Rights Act, the time was ripening for Richard Nixon to produce his southern strategy, and the solid Democratic South became the solid Republican South - spurred on by the short-lived rise of the Dixiecrats.

There were changes in the making whose implications resounded in the recent election. One major redirection involved the way Donald Trump captured the votes of working-class men and women. Trump realized that here were millions who believed cheap foreign labor had driven their jobs overseas. What is more, their mines were shut down and the nature of American industry was radically redirected-and they had been left out.

What has radically changed politically in recent decades is the former overwhelming commitment of America's workers to the Democratic Party. That commitment flowered with the passage of the Wagner Labor Relations Act of 1935. This legislation made the federal government the arbiter of employer-employee relations through the creation of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB), which recognized for the first time the right of American workers to organize and bargain collectively with their employers. The Act overturned decades of court decisions that had throttled the rights of organized labor.

Organized labor and political allegiance has been the hallmark of radical-left-leaning politics throughout the developed world. In Great Britain, in Europe and as far away as Australia, labor parties have championed the effort of working people to negotiate for their security without having to rely on the benevolence of plant management or company ownership. In the Wagner Act, the rights of America's workers were finally recognized.

How is it then that in the recent election Trump found his overwhelming base of support in this group? The answer has been, in part, a result of the persistent attack by the Republican Party on the validity of organized labor as authorized in the Wagner Act. The conservative objective has been the emasculation of all unions. Piece by piece there has been a consistent effort to weaken them.

The Taft-Hartley Act of 1947 added a list of prohibited union activities including wildcat strikes, secondary boycotts, jurisdictional strikes, solidarity or political strikes, boycotts, mass picketing, closed shops, and monetary donations by unions to federal political campaigns. It allowed for states to adopt union busting "right to work laws" that outlawed closed union shops. A heavily Republican Congress overrode President Truman's veto of this onerous legislation. But labor remained the basis of Democratic Party strength

Unions had earlier cooperated in their own downfall when it became obvious that corruption had found a new home, encouraging Congress to pass the Landrum-Griffin Act in 1969, which throttled union leadership.

Fifty years ago a third of

Greedy Grocers Couldn't

America's workers were union members. Today that percentage is closer to ten, with the great majority of the still unionized, the employees of government. Having decimated business oriented unions, attention has recently turned to the destruction of government-based or "public" unions. That is what you see in the attacks on teachers' unions, or what the governor of Wisconsin attempted to accomplish as he conducted a campaign to delegitimize them. With that and similar efforts you will find evidence of the effort of the conservatives' campaign to further throttle organized labor.

The union movement created America's middle-class, focusing on communities where the average family earned enough to live comfortably. Go to any formerly middle-class community and you will see that the demise of union jobs has devastated them. Shut down the unions and you will have gutted these communities. And when the unions could not be easily defeated, conservative corporate America simply closed these plants and took them overseas where business could find cheap non-unionized labor.

Having participated in the demise of unions, the Republican Party has been shrewd enough to reach out to the former union members whose right to bargain had evaporated. Having pushed unions off the bridge into the icecold water, Trump has now tossed life preservers to the drowning. And they have grabbed them. There has been no attempt to restore the rights of working people, only to take advantage of their distress. Trump was clever enough to bring off the coup, while the Democratic Party stood by without a clue as how to respond. The cries of the drowning have now resounded at the nation's ballot boxes.

Watch out for anyone who promises to fill your dance card. It may be the very one who had abandoned you.

Say What? Question by Mayor as to Drugs Being Sold at West Covina City Hall?

During the last city West Covina Council meeting, Mayor James Toma directed questions at Councilman Mike Spence during a verbal attack on Spence during the time of the reorganization of the Council. This is the rotation where councilmembers move up in the rotation to be mayor and Mayor pro tem. During almost, what appeared to be attacking statements towards Spence, regarding Spence's personal issues with a DUI charge. While directing questions at Spence about who sells drugs, which was not well received by the audience at the Council meeting, then changed the question by asking if he was getting drugs from someone in City Hall. Again, not a popular question. However the question that does arise, does James Toma know about something that is going on at City Hall that we don't? I had the consensus that Toma may know something or thinks that some people may be selling drugs at City Hall. While sitting in the audience I looked at the reaction from city manager Chris Freeland. I've seen blank looks on people's faces before, but this was the kind of look like, "what the H...". This question took me by surprise, however, he may there. As for those drug dealers that have been arrested that work at City Hall I am prepared to name each and every one of them that has been confirmed. Here are the names of those people that are drug dealers at City Hall

Okay, where the heck is that list? I am sure I downloaded it into this computer somewhere. Oh, here it is. So if you need to get your drugs in West Covina you can pick them up at City Hall not always driven sometimes by staff and state policies. Stay tuned - we've just begun another election!

This prompted me to take a look at the employee list at City Hall. I decided to run everyone's name through the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department arrest record database file. I had an old list from 10 years ago and those names that were not on the new list, I added them as well. These are employees that have already left for one reason or another.

Had some interesting results. What I was looking for was sales and/or possession arrests. Other things did come up from domestic violence to driving under the influence. One person was hired after an arrest, and apparently this did not show up in her background check. She is no longer with the city. I am sure we have a few smoking weed that work there, but not while working from the following people. Wow, what an interesting list. I have some very bad news for you people, especially you druggies. We don't have anybody selling drugs at City Hall, so don't waste your time coming by. I have no names whatsoever. For those residents that emailed me and texted me, which were only four people altogether, City Hall is not in the business of selling drugs. I looked around City Hall, I don't see any pot farms or pot grows inside any of the offices. So I am more than confident that you will not buy your drugs at City Hall. However there is a building next door, we call the big red brick building, you can go in there and inquire at the front desk if they have any drugs for sale. If you're not sure which building it is, I'm talking about the one that says West Covina Police Department right on the front.

Once again, no evidence of drugs being sold at City Hall. So to all of you druggies out there, sorry about that.

yet. It has to be the day after the SOS makes that certification.

It isn't just my 30 cents that's at stake. County clerks illegally stopped issuing marriage licenses to same-sex couple the day after Prop 8 apparently passed in 2008. Those couples were entitled to obtain licenses until word came of certification a month later.

Two years ago, in light of Prop 47, jailers emptied the cells a month early on the basis of the apparent passage of that initiative. Is that happening again in the wake of Prop 57?

As far back as 1995 two state senators recognized the conflict between the state constitution and election law on certification. They proposed a constitutional amendment that would have initiatives take effect the day after certification. Unfortunately, the legislature failed to put the measure on the ballot.

Now, let's look at the economics. Those "free" bags I've been taking for decades aren't free. Some bean counter has figured in the $300 million cost of the bags into the price of the groceries we buy. We've paid for those bags. Now, do you really think the bean counter has suddenly reduced soup and canned corn, etc., by that same amount? They'll keep that 300 million dollars in the price of your goods and collect millions more from people like me who take the bags because we re-use them for other purposes, such as garbage.

What is also surprising is that

Wait To Collect Bag Fee five million or so voters successfully defeated Prop 65, which allows the grocers to keep the money I and others pay for bags from here on. The voters were apparently hoodwinked by that maudlin ballot argument that suggested diverting bag fees to environmental purposes was a plot by plastic bag manufacturers to confuse voters. That argument was written by the same guy who wrote the argument for 67, each argument under a different organizational name but using the same Sacramento address. Prop 67, the bag fee, was proposed to protect the environment. Why, then, did voters not use the bag revenue for that purpose? I doubt that any voter can explain it.

> There is an environmental argument for replacing the traditional cheap plastic bag with an easily recyclable type, but that could have been accomplished without giving the grocers a $300 million windfall. Since technically the bag ban is a legislative action - passed initially by the legislature - with luck and a lot of protests from real environmentalists, the next legislature will see fit to kill the bag fee and demand an appropriate plastic bag.

In the meantime, where is the class action attorney who will file suit to make grocers return my 30 cents and the millions from other shoppers they will collect in the next month?

The world of taxation at the personal and corporate level is expected to go through a radical overhaul. For the most part, the forthcoming changes should be positive. With a Republican House and Senate, Mr. Trump has a good shot at having a good number of his tax reforms enacted.

Under Trump's proposed new tax structure for individuals, there will be fewer tax brackets and lower top rates, namely, 12%, 25% and 33%, versus current rates of 10%, 15%, 25%, 28%, 33%, 35%, and 39.6%. The tax rates on long-term capital gains would be kept at the current 0%, 15%, and 20%.

As it stands, Trump's proposed plan would eliminate head-ofhousehold filing status, which has more favorable rate brackets than single filing status, so eliminating it will likely run into stiff resistance from both Republicans and Democrats. About half of single parents with one child would see a bump in their tax rate. Thus, there could be a fire fight on this issue. In the end, expect Trump to bend on parts of his plan.

The new plan would also abolish the alternative minimum tax (AMT) on individual taxpayers. This is a major positive if AMT is eliminated. Trumps desire to eliminate estate taxes is both radical, in that it benefits primarily the wealthy, as well as being a budget buster, meaning is may not be accomplished any time soon. Trump's plan would also subject accrued capital gains that are outstanding at death to capital gains tax, but there could be a $10 million exemption. In addition, the plan would cap itemized deductions at $200,000 for married joint-filing couples and $100,000 for unmarried folks. The standard deduction for joint filers would be increased to $30,000 (up from $12,700 for 2017 under current law). For unmarried folks, the standard deduction would be increased to $15,000 (up from $6,350). The personal and dependent exemption deductions would be eliminated.

If passed in its entirety, Trump's plan saves a married couple making over $130,000 roughly $10,000 per year. Major tax savings begin at very low income brackets. compared to the current income tax brackets, at least on announced just before the eleca static basis, everyone's ordinary tion had a lot of undecided vottax rate falls.

Another mammoth change involves corporate income tax rates. Under Trump's plan, corporate tax rates would be cut from the current 35% to 15%, but he would eliminate tax deferral on overseas profits. A one-time 10% tax rate for repatriation of corporate cash held overseas would be on the table. There's a tremendous amount of support for this change, but it will surely run into opposition from Democrats.

In what hopefully would spark rapid hiring by small businesses, the new tax proposal would apply the same 15% tax rate to business income from sole proprietorship and business income passed through to individuals from "S" corporations, LLCs, and partnerships. The chance of radically lowering this rate would unleash a wave of criticism by economists that federal tax revenues would suffer severely. In the short-term, that might be true, adding to the budget deficit; but with two-thirds of new hires attributed to small business, the longer-term structural gains might be worth it.

One area that should get approval from both sides of the aisle is the elimination of most corporate tax breaks, such as unlimited deductions for interest expense, and many of the writeoffs and credits that have been loudly criticized as being corporate welfare. The special interest lobbyists up and down K Street in downtown Washington, D.C. are already working to protect these corporate goodies.

As to healthcare, expect some degree of overhaul and some other aspects of the existing program to remain in place. Many believe the 3.8% Medicare surtax on net investment income will be the first line item to be cut out of Obamacare. Many also think the recent spike in premium rates ers pulling the lever for Donald Trump and Mike Pence. House Speaker Paul Ryan and his team have a modified bill drawn up that could become law, if they can outlast a Democratic filibuster.

The degree that these grand changes may take effect will depend largely on how fast the Republicans can assemble legislation to go to a vote. In the first 100 days, Presidents that have had wide opposition from within their own party, such as we've seen in 2016, can repair lots of ill will and mend many fences with unified thinking. Simplifying and lowering taxes on individuals, families, and businesses, while reducing the size of federal government by sending more power back to the states and slashing pet projects that fleece American taxpayers, is an absolute must to offset the lower level of future federal tax receipts.

The exploding costs of healthcare, welfare, and entitlements like Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid may have to undergo severe modification as well as rolling back the burden of overregulation if Trump has any shot at proposing a balanced budget over the next decade. If households in America have moved toward fiscal sanity since 2009, so why shouldn't we expect the same from our elected officials?

More money in the hands of ordinary people and businesses, and less in the hands of the long arm of federal government may sound radical to some, but it is one of the hallmark principles on the founding of our nation, when the Continental Congress told King George where to stick it. Back in the Nixon days, a movement was promoted called "New Federalism," which is the political philosophy of devolution, or the transfer of certain powers from the U.S. federal government back to the states. Presidentelect Trump and his budget team might want to pull that plan off the shelf and put it to work as it would continue to keep the trend of less government and taxes more on course for America's potentially new-found future.

Will Social Security benefits have an increase in 2017?

Yes, you'll see an increase of 0.3 percent. Don't get too excited about this average increase of approximately $5, because the cost of other 'Parts' and deductibles will probably be increasing.

(Since 1975, there have been only 3 years of zero cost-of-living increase: 2010, 2011, and 2016.)

Do realtors help renters? How much do they charge? I don't have a lot of time to research and find a place. I'm in college now, and would like to buy later, but I don't know where I might have to move to find work.

Yes, some Realtors help renters, and they get paid by the landlord, not the renter. Start by making a list of 'gotta haves" and "wanna haves" and be prepared to compromise. This will help you prioritize your list and help the Realtor to better help you. Also, consider this: If you have the funds for your first month's rent and security deposit saved, plus maybe a little help from your parents or other close relative, you might buy a small place near your college. If a parent or sibling is currently active duty in the military, YOU can apply for a zerodown, no mortgage insurance loan. When you're ready to move on, you could either rent this property out, or sell it and use those funds to buy a different property.

What do you suggest is the best way for me to be able to use some of that for retirement, and leave the rest to my charity?

You could put your money into an insurance-company-held safe investment with a guaranteed lifetime income for you, and with the remainder going to your charity. Another option would be to get a single-premium cash-value life insurance policy with the possible use of funds while you live and the life-insurance death benefit going to your charity.

The Pomona Valley Habitat for Humanity covers a 16-city service area. They said they "look at three distinct areas of selection criteria when reviewing potential 'Partners': 1. Medical Cannabis Tax Exemption Has Begun

LOS ANGELES - The November 8, 2016, passage of Proposition 64 (The Control, Regulate and Tax Adult Use of Marijuana Act) exempts certain sales of medical marijuana from sales and use tax.

Sales of medical cannabis to those who have a medical marian taxes on the exempt sales of medjuana identification card (MMIC) issued on a county-by-county basis by the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) and a valid government-issued identification card are now exempt from sales and use tax. Consumers can obtain the CDPH-issued cards at their county health department, at a cost that varies by county. A paper recommendation from a physician is not sufficient to qualify for this sales tax exemption. This county-issued MMIC will have the State of California seal and indicate whether the card holder is a "patient" or "caregiver." The card will also contain the patient's or primary caregiver's photo, a nine-digit ID number. a CDPH website to verify the ID number, an expiration date, and the county that issued the card, as shown below. Cards are valid for the duration of the physician recommendation or up to one year, at which time the card must be renewed. Retailers should retain the purchaser's nine-digit ID number and expiration date, along with the related sales invoice or other record of sale, to support the exempt sale. Exempted products include medical cannabis, medical cannabis concentrate, edible medical cannabis products, and topical cannabis. These terms are defined in Business and Professions Code section 19300.5. Retailers should not collect sales tax reimbursement on qualifying exempt sales of medical marijuana. They should claim a deduction on their sales and use tax returns for their qualifying exempt medical marijuana sales. Retailers may verify the validity of a nine-digit ID number on the CDPH website at www.calmmp.ca.gov. Cities, consumers, and retailers are advised that the exemption applies to the local and state portions of the sales tax. Accordingly, local municipalities that have authorized the sale of Medical Marijuana will not receive any local up to six marijuana plants for personal use. Medical marijuana patients may still possess the quantities necessary to meet their medical needs, even in excess of the 28.5 gram limit.

costs at around 4 cents per mile driven, which means you should set aside $50-60/month for this line item. Sadly, many put off service/maintenance and they end up having an expensive repair that could have been avoided. I then thought...maybe they don't realize how much it costs to maintain their vehicle annually. With that thought in mind I've decided to share with you something in print so you can fill in the blanks for yourself. AAA estimates maintenance to pay $200 to $350 each year on preventive maintenance until your vehicle is three years of age. After that, a good rule of thumb is to plan to pay $600 to $1200 annually and this includes tires. Preventive maintenance is the best way to keep your car from having to undergo repair. As it ages, certain parts will need to be replaced, of course.

> Those old sayings, "prevention is the best medicine" and "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure", have stood the test of time for a reason. They are true! Take a moment, if you will, and figure out the annual cost of vehicle ownership. You might be surprised at how it adds up!

Annual vehicle payment Annual finance charge on loan Annual gasoline costs Annual car insurance Annual maintenance/repair Annual license fee and other fees Total

Total Divided by 12

This is how much it costs you to drive each year/month. I just think knowing the facts helps you plan a little better.

Remember:

• Keeping current with oil and filter changes prevents the need for a new engine.

• Keeping current with tire rotations and alignments prevents buying new tires less often.

· Keeping current with brake fluid and/or brake pads prevents replacing brakes as often.

• Replacing filters and fluids keeps your vehicle going longer for less.

· Preventive maintenance reduces your expenses going forward.

I think this gives you the idea. Keep your vehicle healthy and it will be good to you and your bank account!

Meet New Duarte USD Student Board Of Education Member

DUARTE - Lindsay Lathrop knew serving as the student member of the Duarte Unified School District Board of Education would be a challenge.

Then she got to her first meeting on Sept. 15 and found the five elected members were dealing with one of the most controversial issues in recent memory, the decision whether or not to close a school.

The Board Members agreed all elementary schools would remain open for now, and "listening to the members of the community speak and watching the board react was definitely a learning experience," said Lathrop, a senior at Duarte High School and president of the Associated Student Body. "I didn't really know what to expect, but the board members were very helpful."

Lathrop's advisory seat on the Board of Trustees is part of her assignment as leader of the student body. "She's a natural-born leader who willingly takes the lead on a lot of issues," said Jennifer Garcia, dean of activities at Duarte High. "Her leadership is very important to the ASB, and she handles it all without getting stressed out."

Superintendent Allan Mucerino said having a student on the Board of Education is essential to improving the educational product at Duarte USD. "We need to hear the input of all stakeholders and the Student Body President represents a very important constituency for our Board," said Mucerino. "Lindsay is going to make a lot of important contributions in the year ahead."

Lathrop juggles her leadership role with Advanced Placement and Honors classes, as well as playing on the high school soccer team and a club team. She's a straight-A student who has made Honor Roll every semester.

"She's very intelligent and is willing to take the initiative on a lot of things," said Garcia. "She's friendly and humble and everyone seems to like her."

Lathrop took on the leadership positions naturally. Her father, Bruce, is currently Mayor Pro Tem and a City Council member in the City of Bradbury. Lindsay's first assignment as ASB president was to serve on a panel of adults who were selecting candidates for two Dean positions at the high school.

And when she found out about the commitment to service with the Trustees, she took a proactive approach.

"I realized I should probably start asking my classmates about the issues that we were dealing with so that I'd know more about what I was representing," she explained. "I found out that a lot of students are nervous about the changes that are taking place at the district level because they don't know what is going on here. By having me on the Board, the district is allowing students to have a better insight into the changes."

This year, the role of the student board member has been increased to include mentoring student representatives from every school who will be providing reports to the Board at the beginning of every Regular Meeting about the learning activities taking place at their campuses. Lathrop helps these 5th and 6th graders practice for their firstever presentations in an open meeting.

"I was able to help them because I'm not an adult yet, but a big kid," she said. Lathrop's passage from "big kid" to adult is already underway, though. She has polished off her applications for college and is waiting to learn about acceptance. Although not wanting to list a dream school, she did admit to applying to the top University of California campuses and several top private schools.

Like so many aspects of her busy life, college applications are just part of the busy schedule for Lathrop, who admits to being one of those busy people who find a way to get everything done.

"There's a lot on her plate but she balances things and always makes the best of situations," said Garcia. Many adults can learn something from Duarte's student board member.

Lindsay encourages all community members and district stakeholders to attend meetings of the Board of Education to stay informed about the issues impacting the school district and to see the student representatives share their perspectives regarding school governance.

All meetings of the Duarte USD Board are now streamed live and recordings are available for view immediately following each meeting at the link http:// www.mldistrict.com/districts/ca/ duarte/. For the meeting schedule and agendas, visit the district website at www.duarteusd.org or call (626) 599-5037).

Baldwin Park Unified Elementary School Lauded as Model of Success

BALDWIN PARK - Leaders of the No Excuses University (NEU) movement are hailing Kenmore Elementary School as sterling example of success, specifically lauding the school's approach to helping English learners become fluent.

The Baldwin Park Unified campus is cited as one of six stellar schools in the collegereadiness program's 2016 annual report, released in conjunction with an annual convention held last month.

"Kenmore Elementary School is an excellent example of how our talented and dedicated teachers can make a significant difference in the lives of their students," Baldwin Park Unified Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza said. "Congratulations to Kenmore's team and students for this achievement."

Kenmore, part of NEU's network since 2009, runs a literacy integration program that draws on a tool called Thinking Maps and a companion writing program called Write from the Beginning and Beyond. The tools also were instrumental in the school's recognition as a 2016 California Gold Ribbon School.

"We're on fire," Principal Jane Sattari said. "It's pretty amazing to see our children respond. By the end of the year, our kindergarteners write - not just one of two sentences, but many sentences. And it just goes up from there. When the Gold Ribbon team visited last year, they said our sixth-graders are writing at the level they expect of middle school students."

Sattari said the school adopted Thinking Maps seven years ago and added the writing program four years ago. Both reflect the school's commitment to helping children find strategies to become successful.

Thinking Maps are visual patterns that help student visualize eight specific thought processes, which in turn help them reach higher levels of critical and creative thinking. The writing program marries the maps with a curriculum that helps students write more critically.

"We have a firm belief that if you can write about what you read, your understanding is deeper," Sattari said.

At Kenmore, the program first focused on helping speed the transition of English learners to English proficiency.

"Since they began implementation in 2010, more than 203 students have been re-designated. This is the highest number of re-designated students in their school district," the report states.

Kenmore extended the program to all student groups, boosting achievement across the board. And then something unexpected happened.

"It also helped the parents of their students," the report states. "A mother of a Kenmore student attended a series of six Parent Universities at Kenmore to learn about Thinking Maps and Write from the Beginning and Beyond."

The parent used the systems to prepare for a citizenship test and to organize an essay for a job application.

The combination of successes inspired No Excuses University to call out Kenmore as one of six success stories from among 249 schools in its network. NEU promotes a college-going culture at member schools starting in the primary grades.

NEU Founder Dan Lopez said Kenmore and the other schools "exemplify the heart of who we are as a group of people who quite simply just love kids."

Father Rich Danylak of Holy Name of Mary Catholic Church in San Dimas opened the event with a prayer. Jamie Beeman sang our National Anthem as well as God Bless The USA and God Bless America as part of the evening's events. Beeman has sung the National Anthem at Dodger's Stadium and has performed at many venues throughout Northern America and Canada.
