Azusa Golden Days Celebration Ends with a Parade and Carnival

By Jorge V. Rosales

AZUSA - As a result of the Metro Gold Line which started operating publicly on March 5, 2016 on tracks between Foothill Boulevard on the south and 9th street on the north, after this year's Golden Days parade, the parade route changed, as it was not possible to go across the tracks on San Gabriel Avenue. The 2016 Golden Days Parade was a historical moment for all Azusans and for Azusa Golden Days and its Committee; a new route and start time was implemented.

The parade started promptly at 10:00 a.m. instead of the usual 11:00 a.m. time. The new route took place all south of Foothill Boulevard along Angelino north where all the Bands were evaluated by independent judges, along Foothill Boulevard where the Bands and the rest of the parade participants merged together in their assigned order, San Gabriel Avenue to 2nd Street to Angelino Avenue and back to Memorial Park.

Azusa Golden Days is a weeklong celebration comprised of events sponsored by a variety of civic and business organizations. Annually it starts on the first Saturday in October and ends the second Sunday in October. This year it started on Satur-

A big component of the Annual Azusa Golden Days is the Carnival which starts on the first Friday in October at 5:00 pm to 11:00 pm, Saturday Noon-11:00 pm, and Sunday Noon to 10:00 pm. The carnival is the biggest Azusa Golden Days fundraiser activity.

day, October 1, with the Azusa Woman's Club 2nd Annual Vendor & Craft Art from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Since its inception in 1949, this weeklong celebration has been designed to promote the organizations in the community and bring everybody together to celebrate Azusa. A good example was on Sunday, October 2 with the Azusa Golden Days 2K/5K Run/ Walk, which this year had also a new route; it started at Palm Drive and ran through the new Rosedale community, wherein nearly 500 participants were on hand, including children 12 and below and adults.

On Mondays, there are usually no Golden Days events because of the regularly scheduled City Council meeting. That evening, Golden Days Committee CoChair Susie Guarrera, introduced publicly members of the Golden Days Committee and the two 2016 honored Citizens, Edith Russek and Jose Torres and announced that this year's parade Grand Marshall, Christian Okoye and the Civic Grand Marshall, Ex-Chief of Police, Sam Gonzalez.

On Tuesday October 4 from 5:00-8:00 p.m., the Azusa Chamber of Commerce's Taste of the Town-"Celebrating America" event was held at the California National Guard Armory. It featured 30 restaurants, 6 wineries, 3 breweries, and beverage donations by Miller/Coors. There were live and silent auctions, raffles and door prizes.

Relatively new to Golden Days, on Wednesday, October 7, there was the 3rd Annual Senior Picnic held again at Veterans Freedom Park adjacent to the Gazebo behind City Hall. The lunch, provided by Chick-Fil -A of Azusa and activities were free

Assemblyman Roger Hernández Hosted a Community Meeting in West Covina

By George Ogden

WEST COVINA - Assemblyman Roger Hernández (D-West Covina) invited residents of the 48th Assembly District to join him at a community coffee to discuss legislative updates and important issues facing the State of California. The free event was open to the public and well attended.

Hernandez talked about a number of subjects and what was going on in the legislature. He also had a Q & A where he answered questions from the audience. This includes AB 109 which is a bill that allows criminals out of jail (early out program) without serving any of their designated time because of overcrowding. Hernandez himself admitted to that this program compromises the safety of our communities. To help remedy the overcrowd-

This was a great event held at

Man Who Drowned in West Covina Identified

By George Ogden

WEST COVINA - A young man who died in a swimming pool accident has been identified as Shravan Kumar of West Covina, 22-year-old Cal Poly Pomona graduate student.

On Sunday, Oct 2, Kumar was in a swimming pool at an apartment complex at 2900 block of Virginia Avenue with friends, all of which could not swim. Kumar wandered to the deep end and started splashing around trying to keep his head above water. His friends realized what happened but since they could not swim, they couldn't go over to him to help him. They soon found a rescue pole with a hook on it and were finally able to pull him out of the pool, but proved to be too

Once the paramedics arrived, they provided emergency treatment and transported him to the hospital where he later died. This is being treated as an accidental death. The identity was delayed so family in India could be noti-ence by highlighting young adults who in the past had participated in the Youth Exchange program with Zacatecas, and later was entertained with the live music of Soul.... That same evening, the weekend long Carnival started at Memorial Park.

LOS ANGELES COUNI October 13 - 19, 2016 Senator Huff Earns Perfect Score from Small Business Owners

Voting Record "Reflects the Needs of California's Job Creators"

Bob Huff (R-San Dimas) has been awarded a perfect score from the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB California) in the latest voting record compiled for the 2016 legislative session. Senator Huff earned placement in the NFIB's "100 Percent Club" by protecting small business from "additional taxes, mandates, and complex regulation." This is the fourth straight year that NFIB California has awarded Senator Huff with a perfect score.

The NFIB awarded the highest possible of scores to Senator Huff because he understands that "the only way to rebuild our economy and strengthen our communities starts with supporting small businesses." He supported business-friendly measures designed to create jobs and opportunities, and opposed measures that sought to increase the cost of doing business in California.

"Senator Huff is a true friend of small business and his voting SACRAMENTO - Senator record clearly reflects his support for the needs of California's job creators," said Tom Scott, State Executive Director, National Federation of Independent Business/California. "Senator Huff understands the need for new jobs in California and knows the business-friendly steps that need to be taken and policies that need to be adopted to realize this goal."

> The NFIB Legislative Voting Record for 2016 contains key votes on 12 bills, and the NFIB says Senator Huff's voting record on these measures "separates reality from rhetoric for small business owners."

> Senator Huff earned his perfect NFIB ranking by supporting measures that allow small businesses a chance to fix compliance issues spelled out in the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) before they can be sued if they hire a Certified Access Specialist to inspect their facilities. It also allows all small businesses to fix basic issues like signage and warning strips without penalty (SB 269). Senator Huff was also lauded for supporting measures like SB 443, which enforces constitutional protections by requiring a conviction before assets can be permanently confiscated by law enforcement in drug enforcement actions.

Senator Huff was also lauded for opposing measures like AB 1643, which established a troubling precedent by requiring employers to pay monetary awards to injured workers for disabilities or disease that did not result from a workplace injury. He also opposed measures such as AB 1066, which subjected farmers to new legal liabilities and labor lawsuits.

"According to the latest California information from the U.S. Small Business Administration, almost all firms with employees are small," said Senator Huff. "They make up 99.2 percent of all employers in the state. Lawmakers should be taking actions to support and encourage our small business owners. Instead, many times this Legislature takes those contributions for granted."

L.A. County's Restaurant Grading System Strengthened

LOSANGELES COUNTY -

Initiated by Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich in 1998, the County of Los Angeles' restaurant grading system was established to increase public access to information regarding local food facilities and their hygienic conditions, and is now undergoing several critical enhancements to further improve the prominent ABC letter grading system that is currently in place.

For decades prior to 1998, the County's Department of Public Health regularly performed routine inspections of restaurants and retail food facilities, but little information was readily available to the consumer about inspection results. Subsequently, media reports highlighted the unsafe and unhygienic food handling at a number of restaurants in the County. As a result, Supervisor Antonovich authored a motion that was unanimously approved by the Board of Supervisors which directed the Department to develop a plan to address these deficiencies in the restaurant inspection program.

Since the launch of the restaurant grading system, the County has experienced dramatically improved and safer food facilities, better access to information for consumers, and overall reduced illnesses that has yielded in a significant benefit to the public's health. As of 2008, an independent study found that the grading program was linked to a 20% decrease in food-borne illness hospitalizations.

"To continue to preserve the public's confidence in the County's food grading system, we will ensure that on-going improvements are made that ensure the highest standards for our restaurants and consumers," said Supervisor Antonovich.

Public Health will continue to utilize the ABC letter grading system, but include new enhancements such as last inspection dates, quick response (QR) codes that allow a visual dashboard of inspection information, and easy access for business operators to view inspection history information. The new cards will begin to be issued in the coming months during routine inspections.

"It is important that restaurant goers are provided with accurate and timely information so that they can make informed choices when dining out," said Cynthia Harding, MPH, Interim Director for the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health. "A key component of the improved grading system is public disclosure of the grade or score earned at the time of inspection."

Major changes have been made to allow a more accurate grade reflection of point deductions that result from major violations that require immediate correction or facility permit suspensions. Critical violations such as no water availability, sewage problems, or vermin infestation, will result in an overall score that precludes a restaurant from being awarded the highest score, "A".

Changes to the grading system are available on the website for the public and retail food business owners to view. For more information on the retail food facility grading system, visit www.publichealth.lacounty.gov/ eh.

Covina Bowl Recommended As National Landmark

State Commission Votes to Approve 1955 Bowling Center for Listing in National Register of Historic Places

COVINA - The 1956 Covina Bowl in Covina has been officially added to the prestigious National Register of Historic Places, through a determination of eligibility. While not designated, this decision offers important protection for the site, which faces an uncertain future.

"Covina Bowl is a beloved landmark and an increasingly rare example of an endangered type of Mid-Century Modern architecture," said Adrian Scott Fine, director of advocacy for the Los Angeles Conservancy.

The Conservancy and its Modern Committee submitted the landmark nomination for Covina Bowl in spring 2016, citing its significance as the original prototype for the hundreds of entertainment/bowling centers that followed in Southern California and across the United States. The Keeper of the National Register in Washington, D.C. approved a recommendation by the California Historical Resources Commission that found the Covina Bowl eligible. This means that any proposed project that impacts the Covina Bowl would now have to comply under the California Environmental Quality Act, or CEQA. The owners of the Covina Bowl have expressed opposition to the National Register nomination, and they have begun conversations with potential buyers, placing the landmark's future in question. CEQA requires review and alternatives for the proposed demolition or significant alteration of sites determined eligible for or listed in the National Register. "Once these landmarks are gone, they're gone forever," said Fine. "We urge everyone who cares about Mid-Century Modernism or our postwar heritage to support their preservation, which includes patronizing these places before it's too late. With enough support, we can make sure these gems survive and thrive for future generations." About the Covina Bowl Blending Modernism with Egyptian exoticism, Covina Bowl embodies the exuberant postwar Googie architectural style with its enormous glass-filled pyramid entrance and soaring triangular "Covina" sign to attract motorists' attention. The zigzag entrance canopy floats above natural rock piers, melding modern forms with natural materials.

Covina Bowl was built by and for the Brutocao brothers - Angelo, Leonard, and Lewis-Covina-based contractors and developers. It was designed by the Long Beach-based masters of bowling center architecture, Powers, Daly, and DeRosa. Architect Gordon Powers convinced the Brutocaos to build Covina Bowl, the first full-ser vice bowling center in America. Design architect Pat DeRosa chose the exotic Egyptian theme that permeates every aspect of the building, including its enormous neon sign. Said Powers, who turned 100 this year, "Covina Bowl was our very first large scale bowling center. It was the original prototype for the 71 others that we designed all over the country." When completed in 1955, Covina Bowl was not just another bowling alley with 30 lanes (20 more lanes would be added in 1962), but a complete entertainment center with billiard room, cocktail lounge, banquet hall/live entertainment showroom, coffee shop, conference and meeting rooms, childcare facility, and beauty parlor. Its famous Egyptian Room presented performers such as comic duo Rowan and Martin, Liberace, crooner Mel Tormé, the Smothers Brothers, and many others. On opening day, February 11, 1956, Covina Bowl was lauded by the local press as "a fabulous recreation center whose opulence rivals that of the days of the Egyptian pharaohs," "virtually a city within itself," and "a Dream Palace of Recreation." Bowling industry leader AMF in a congratulatory newspaper ad called Covina Bowl "The World's Most Beautiful Bowling Establishment." As bowling's popularity began to wane in the 1970s, their large lots became more valuable as redevelopment sites for shopping centers or residential developments. As a result, bowling centers began to disappear. By the 2000s, most had been demolished.

Highly Anticipated Development To Debut In Baldwin Park

Metro Village among newest undertakings for affordable housing

BALDWIN PARK - Within the last 18 months, passersby along Ramona Boulevard and Maine Avenue may have noticed the steady construction of a new four-story apartment complex near the city's hub. The announcement is now official: Metro Village is ready to open.

In fact, a grand opening ceremony has been scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 13, to unveil Baldwin Park's latest housing project. The special event is slated begin at 4 p.m. and will include a presentation and tour of the new complex, according to organiz-

Metro Village, at 14428 E. Ramona Blvd., is one of the city's most recent construction undertakings for affordable housing. Project and city associates broke Gabriel Valley for the last few years. That figure is above the state's unemployment rate, which measures at about 7.8 percent.

Like many other city associates, Baldwin Park Mayor Manuel Lozano is excited about this week's debut of a new city project.

"The Metro Village represents the beginning of a new era in the history of Baldwin Park., said the mayor. "Already you can see the positive impacts of this project, including the enticement of new businesses and developers seeking to establish other projects in this area that will continue to propel this transformation and soon will serve as an example of what can be accomplished through focused long-term planning and collaboration." Project officials noted that the new Metro Village complex will offer one-, two-, or three-bedroom units to families who make 60 percent or less of the county's median income. The fact that it was designed as an affordable housing complex made it even more appealing. The new building will provide 69 units to new residents, along with space for retail for the general community. Blueprints for the property include 5,500 square feet of floor space for potential businesses, as well as various amenities - such as a community room to entertain guests, a fitness room, a laundry room, and space to barbecue or relax on the patio - for apartment residents.

Metro Village's proximity to downtown Baldwin Park, in addition to its convenient access to public transportation, was also a draw for potential renters, according to officials.

"[Metro Village], along with the Metrolink Station, will serve as the catalyst that will remake our downtown area into the vibrant and dynamic center piece to our city that we all envisioned it could be," Lozano added.

Project managers also highlighted the fact that Metro Vil-

20-Year-Old Career Criminal in Stolen Truck Tries to Kill a Glendora Officer

By George Ogden

GLENDORA - Around 7:30 p.m. Sunday evening, October 9th, a Glendora Police officer was on patrol when the computer's license plate detector alerted the officer that a stolen vehicle had been detected. A 2003 Toyota Tacoma pickup truck had been detected that was reported stolen. The truck was being driven in the area of Grand Avenue and Arrow Highway. At this point, the officer followed the vehicle and called it in. When a second patrol unit fell in behind the first unit, then the primary officer attempted to pull over the truck. The driver sped off and led officers on a pursuit through the city.

The driver of the stolen truck all of a sudden made a U-Turn at Bonita Ave. and Dale Road and drove head on into the second police unit that was a K-9 unit. The officer fearing of being hit again fired two shots at the suspect.

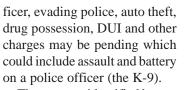

The suspect ran from the scene into a residential area. The police set up a containment area and the Pomona Police came to assist with a bloodhound. Three hours later, the bloodhound was able to track the suspect to a mobile home about a block away.

The suspect refused to come out and the officers not knowing if the suspect was armed, sent in another K-9 to help apprehend the suspect. The suspect fought with the dog by kicking and beating the dog, however the K-9 was able to apprehend and secure the suspect. The suspect was treated for dog bites and then taken to jail.

He will be charged with attempted murder of a police of-

The suspect, identified by police as Andrew Joseph Baltierra, 20, is a career criminal and was recently released from jail. He had been arrested and sentenced 7 times in the last 18 months; however, he has hardly served any time. Assembly Bill 109 (AB 109) appears to be responsible for letting this convict out of jail early without serving much time and this time he tried to kill a police officer. His bail has been set at $2,000,000.00.

MENTAR

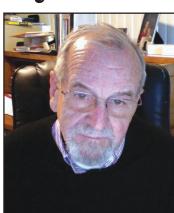

Can Hillary Be Trusted?

For some time the word on the street has been that Hillary cannot be trusted, and that this election is only a choice between two undesirable and equally disliked and despicable candidates. When I hear Republicans repeatedly chanting that refrain I understand that this is about all they have left. When I hear Democrats chanting it, I gnash my teeth. Why do so many solid progressives believe they have to hold their noses and vote for Hillary who may only be the lesser of two unsavory candidates? Where did that notion originate and why do significant numbers of people believe it?

Its origin dates back to a real estate enterprise-a losing one by the way-that Bill and Hillary shared back in Bill's pre-Governors days in Arkansas. A bit later a whispering campaign attempted to link Hillary to the tragic death of an Arkansas attorney. And then it was rumored that Hillary had somehow been involved in the firing of people in the State's travel agency. There was no substance to any of these accusations, each of which was spread by conservative political operatives in Arkansas. Hillary suggested that the campaign against her was "a great rightwing conspiracy," and she was right.

This artificially produced cloud followed the Clintons to Washington, and was kept alive during Bill's terrible sexual escapades in which Hillary is now accused either of failing to condemn him or attacked his paramours.

Nobody who has served in significant political positions has been immune to the fierce assaults perpetrated by their political foes. But during Hillary's Washington career she has been trusted by the people who countfirst the residents of New York who elected her twice to the Senate, and then by President Obama, who selected her to assume the toughest job in the administration-Secretary of State. During her trying years in that office, while much of the world was in shambles, she did what could be done to salvage the nations whose dismantling originated when Bush decided to invade Iraq. The mess that has proceeded from that tragic decision has only gotten worse over the ensuring years.

One of the pivotal nations in the midst of the firestorm was Libya, where four Americans, including the Ambassador J. Christopher Stevens, were killed. The Republican dominated Congress attempted to make Hillary the scapegoat for that tragedy, but try as they might they failed to pin the disaster on her. S o where could they bring her down? She provided the opening with her terrible mistake of using one server for both her personal and government e-mail. Voila! And for two years her enemies have squeezed that lemon dry, and since nothing seriously detrimental in her work has been squeezed out, they are now working on the bitter rind by linking the Clinton Foundation to the State Department.

Having looked carefully at the issues that have been so widely pushed by the Republican establishment, the only one with any real legs was the e-mail debacle.

Nevertheless, no one should be falling for the "two disliked candidates" line. We have one candidate who is a disgrace and would be a blight on everything that has already made America great, and another candidate who is capable, experienced, and whose presidency promises to be deeply effective. I trust her!

Our only legitimate option is to work as hard as we can to energize the Hillary voters and insure that every possible vote for her is produced between now and November 8. This is particularly true for the millennials or those who have contacts in the millennial community. These young adults hold the balance of power and their voting strength will determine where America is headed. Hillary is not just one of two inadequate and equally despised candidates. She is right for America. So let's get to work and see that she is elected by a significant majority, together with a change in the composition of the Senate.

''Make Wonderland A Wonder Land Again'' - An Allegory

by Ralph E. Shaffer

When The Mad Hater, the Patriot party's presidential candidate, heard that Alice was stuck in the rabbit hole, he tweeted: "Which was too fat, her head or her hips?" Sedate Patriots cringed at the slight, but the Mad Hater's plebeian supporters roared with laughter. It was these plebeians, the cry of the plebeians. More conservative members of the party cringed again.

Then there were the refugees from the war in Rumelia. The Mad Hater was as anti-Rumelian as he was anti-Munchkin. "Who knows which side they were on in the Rumelian war? If they'd fought on the right side instead ers objected when they learned the pipeline would cross their reservations.

A month before the election, both candidates engaged in a debate. The Mad Hater subsequently complained that the tin can microphone he used had a faulty string attached and that this was a deliberate attempt to sabotage his performance. Organizers of the debate later conceded that the string was frayed. As election day neared, many voters, questioning the integrity and temperament of one or both candidates, examined the platforms of the two minor parties in the race. The most likely candidate of the two turned them off, however, when, in reply to a question about Rumelia, answered that his wife never planted Rumelias because they didn't grow well in Wonderland.

This is "Our Way of Life", Not Yours!

By George Ogden

Many of us are getting pretty tired of people coming to our country and trying to change our way of life. Many have fought and died for the freedoms we have today.

It irks me when people from other countries come to the United States and try to bring their way of life here and expect US, THE PEOPLE, to bow down to them and try to force their ways on us.

Question; did you not come here to the United States? You had a choice and in the choice, you knew the American way. So why do you demand that we accept your way of life?

The next thing you hear is "Discrimination"... really?

When you come to this country, we have a very acceptable way of life and it seems to work pretty well. Then you get these people that come here and demand that we accept what they do and say. We have people that come here and object to Christian, Jewish and all other religions. They complain that they can see a cross or the "Star of David" and it offends them. Well, it offends me

No On Proposition 64

By Joe Santoro Former Glendora Mayor and retired Monrovia Chief of Police

Here we go again, another ballot initiative that is packed with misinformation intended to convince us Proposition 64 is a good for Californians when in fact nothing could be further from the truth!

Proposition 64 that will be voted on the November 2016 ballot wants to legalize Recreational Marijuana for adult use.

To be clear, Proposition 64 is not about Medical Marijuana for the sick, it's about getting loaded just for the hell of it and being under the influence at home, at work, while driving, at restaurants and all other public spaces.

It also sends another bad message to our children that "it's Ok to get loaded" when scientific studies tell us that Marijuana is a serious problem. "It's clear that acute intoxication impairs learning and memory, and if you are stoned every day as a high school student, you will be less good as a student." Said Doctor Tom Strouse, Medical Director of UCLA's Resnick Neuropsychiatric Hospital, He also said "We have a child/adolescent unit that treats kids to age 17, and an adult unit for 18 and older, and we see young people in both age groups who come to the emergency room with florid symptoms of psychosis that appear to be associated with heavy use of marijuana." Make no mistake about it, this is a well-funded Proposition sponsored by special "Big Marijuana" interest groups who want to put Marijuana smoking ads on that you can't accept one's religion or their ethnicity. We have people that object to the Ten Commandments being publicly displayed. These people go as far as to go to court to try and change the way we live and the life that we openly expect.

These women come to this country and wear "burkas" and expect us to deal with this. They want to use the privilege of getting a driver's license then cry "foul" when they get their picture taken for the driver's license. This is supposed to be able to identify the driver with a picture. But yet, they will not take this picture with the burka removed. They say we are discriminating against them. In fact, male police officers are not allowed to prime-time television.

If Proposition 64 passes, marijuana-smoking ads would be allowed on broadcast television during programs viewed by millions of California children and teenagers. Here's what Prop 64 actually says: Any advertising or marketing placed in broadcast, cable, radio, print and digital communications shall only be displayed where at least 71.6 percent of the audience is reasonably expected to be 21 years of age or older, as determined by reliable, up-to-date audience composition data.

In other words, almost 28% of any broadcast, cable, radio, print and digital audience can be under 21 years old. This means that almost any primetime TV or radio show could run recreational marijuana related ads.

The authors of Proposition 64 made a calculated decision to a real problem in states that have legalized pot. The AAA Foundation for Highway Safety reported deaths in marijuana-related car crashes doubled since the state of Washington approved legalization and in Colorado, marijuanainvolved fatal crashes increased 34 percent. Currently, California averages over 300 fatal crashes a year due to marijuana-impaired driving. According to these statistics, if Proposition 64 passes, fatal crashes in California involving marijuana could go up to and possibly beyond 600 crashes a vear.

• Conveniently put's the pot lobby in charge of setting the marijuana product safety and testing standard which, also conveniently, will be based on voluntary codes. That's like putting Philip Morris in charge of tobacco regulation.

Finally and most importantly, parents and teachers already struggle every day to monitor search these people. We have seen in other countries on many occasions these same people attack police officers with hidden knives and other weapons that were not detected because of the policy that they weren't allowed to search them. These same folks walk into banks and businesses all covered up. When the banks and businesses object to this, they yell that they are being discriminated against. Same when they try to board airplanes and they refuse to be searched and in some cases scanned for weapons. There have been cases where they are not allowed to board the aircraft for 'safety concerns" and they don't give a crap as to why and they yell discrimination again.

We have a right to refuse service to anyone in my opinion. You walk into my business with your face covered, you can trust that "I have you covered". If I can't see who you are, a man and/ or a woman, and I can't tell if you have a weapon or bomb on your person, you are welcome to leave.

"That's Just the Way It Is!"

intoxicated by his rhetoric at a tea party, who assured his nomination.

The slur came after Alice endorsed the Egalitarian candidate. Dubbed the Evil Extremist of the East by the Mad Hater, that candidate was a woman long associated with the Establishment and a secretary in the cabinet of the incumbent president, whom The Mad Hater especially despised.

"For eight long years," The Mad Hater repeated at one rally after another, "in domestic matters we've been living in Neverland, not Wonderland. Under this president and his Evil Extremist adviser, you can't do this, you can't do that. Their motto is 'Never, Never, Never.' There is no foreign policy. We've simply drifted from one crisis into another. They've made it Wanderland, not Wonderland."

Repeatedly, the Mad Hater invoked his campaign slogan: "Make Wonderland a Wonder land again." When asked how he would do it, his answers sounded like riddles which neither he nor anyone else could explain.

The Mad Hater had a long list of hateful objects. Near the top of the list were the Munchkins.

For decades, poverty-stricken Munchkins had crossed illegally into Wonderland from Oz, on Wonderland's southern border, taking jobs that otherwise would have gone to Wonderland's plebeians. The Mad Hater declared the Munchkins criminals and promised that on his first day in office he would rouse them out and deport every last one. "Munchkins Go Home" became of fleeing, the war would be over and they would have won. Send them back."

The Mad Hater also hated the endless government regulatory agencies and their restrictions on business. The Mad Hater, as a shrewd businessman who knew how to make a buck and avoid paying taxes, found such regulations a hindrance. "My first day in office, those mind-boggling regulations have to go." The plebeians cheered, but a few wondered if that meant air bags would no longer be required, or if no one would monitor the content of packaged food.

The Evil Extremist of the East brought some questionable baggage to the campaign too.

While in charge of smoke signals for the incumbent, she had used a private incinerator rather than the secure government smokestack to send messages that contained confidential information. By the time her inexplicable conduct was discovered, most of the messages had dissipated, leaving insufficient evidence to bring criminal charges against her.

Relying on fringe scientists who predicted that within half a century there would not be enough air available, the Evil Extremist called for reducing the air pressure in tires by five pounds, a ban on air-filled balloons, and elimination of deep breathing exercises.

The Mad Hater countered with a pipeline from the largely uninhabited northern latitudes, bringing jobs and air to all parts of Wonderland. Native Wonderland-include television advertising this was intentional!

Here's what else Proposition 64 would do if passed:

• Let's pot shops sell marijuana candy, cookies and brownies near where our kids live. These things look just like the treats that children love.

· Let's convicted heroin and meth dealers who have been convicted of dealing up to 20,000 heroin doses or up to 10,000 meth doses receive marijuana licenses. These are the last people we want selling another addictive drug in California.

• Fail's to properly protect us from stoned drivers. Proponents refused to include a DUI standard for marijuana. This has become youth exposure to alcohol and tobacco. Proposition 64 elevates recreational marijuana above alcohol or tobacco and holds it to an even lower regulatory standard. Simply put, it will make the job of parents and teachers keeping our kids safe even more difficult.

I have deep concerns about Proposition 64 because it could permit the large-scale production, advertising and retail sales of recreational marijuana in California.

Please join me and a broad coalition of healthcare, law enforcement, education, business, community organizations and leaders across California by voting NO on Proposition 64.

Soroptimists to Offer Cash Grant to Women Seeking Financial Assistance for Educational or Training Expenses

AZUSA - Women who serve as the primary wage earners for their families and seek financial assistance to continue their education or receive training can now apply for the Soroptimist Live Your Dream: Education and Training Awards for Women (formerly the Soroptimist Women's Opportunity Awards).

Applications are available at Citrus College, Educational Programs and Services (EOP&S) office, or by contacting Marilyn Grinsdale, (626) 695-8615, mgrins1@verizon.net. The application deadline is November 15.

The Azusa-Glendora Soroptimist Chapter will provide a $1,500 cash grant to its award recipient, who will then advance to the Soroptimist Desert Region level, where recipients could receive up to an additional $5,000. The program culminates with three finalist $10,000 awards.

Recipients can use the Live Your Dream Award to offset costs associated with their efforts to attain higher education or additional skills and training. This includes tuition, books, childcare, carfare or any other education-related expense.

The Live Your Dream Award provides more than $1.6 million in cash grants to head-of- household women in need each year. Since the program's inception in 1972, approximately $30 million has helped tens of thousands of women achieve their dreams of a better life for themselves and their families. A study conducted by The Fels Institute of Government, a research and consulting organization based at the University of Pennsylvania, confirmed the efficacy and impact of this program. It improves the recipients' quality of life; builds their confidence; strengthens their self-determination and makes them want to, in turn, help others. Helping women in this way has the demonstrated effect of leading to stronger communities, nations and the world.

The Azusa-Glendora Chapter is part of Soroptimist International of the Americas, a global organization that works to improve the lives of women and girls through programs leading to social and economic empowerment. Members join with almost 80,000 Soroptimists in about 120 countries and territories to contribute time and financial support to communitybased projects benefiting women and girls.

Next Recession Likely To Be Severe

The expansion that began in July 2009 is now seven years old, making it the fourth longest since WWII. That does not necessarily mean it will end soon, but recession risk rises after years of expansion. It is difficult to time recessions, but there is no harm in planning for it early. My colleagues on Wall Street think there is particular value in forward planning this time because the recession is likely to be severe.

Why So Bad?

Some recent recessions turned out to be fairly mild, while others (the Great Recession comes to mind) were severe. The next one is likely to be severe again, though hopefully not as bad as the last one, which was the worst in 70-years. Several factors determine recession severity:

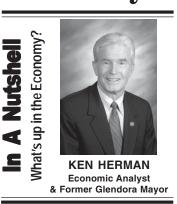

Vulnerable Asset Classes.

Everybody knows big declines in asset prices make recessions more severe. In fact, some seem to think "asset bubbles" are the only thing worth worrying about. There is usually one asset class hammered badly enough to dominate the regulatory agenda in the next expansion, which is one reason the worst sector is rarely the same in consecutive recessions, and of course people remember where they were hurt last time. Housing in 2006, tech stocks in 2000, commercial real estate in 1986 are all examples. It's hard to know in advance which sectors will prove most vulnerable, but we can think of a few candidates.

>Insurance companies and pension funds. Squeezed between the need to match long-term liabilities and a global assault on long-term yields by central banks, many insurance companies and pension funds have overweighted riskier asset classes, including collateralized loan obligations and non-performing loans.

>European banks. Seven of the 20 biggest banks are domiciled in the UK or EU. All have assets far in excess of their home country's GDP and all are globally systemically important. The failure of a too-big-to-save Systemically Important Financial Institution would have significant repercussions in the US.

five biggest banks in the world are owned by the Chinese government. The risks are different when the government backs a bank, but there are still risks. The last time the big-four Chinese banks suffered significant losses, in the early 1990s, it took years to clean up the mess with repercussions culminating in a recession encompassing 60% of the world economy. Estimates of bad loans currently on Chinese bank books are as high as 20%.

ever, the highest-quality bonds are safe from a significant selloff in recession. After all, investors have to hide somewhere. Treasuries, bunds, gilts and JGBs have all fallen in yield during every recent economic scare, and should drop even lower in yield in an economic downturn.

>Stocks are particularly vulnerable. S&P 500 market capitalization is close to 100% of GDP. It has only surpassed 100% once since WWII, a nine quarter stretch before the market crash in 2000. While stock prices have been inflated by near record buybacks, corporate stock repurchasing will likely decline substantially or cease (as they did in 2008). Stocks also drop in every recession and are vulnerable to weakness in other assets. (Last year, when oil prices tumbled, stocks were dragged down too). Currently excessive valuations also suggest that some stocks could drop more than 50% in the next recession, just as they did temporarily in the last two.

Rating Agencies and Spread.

Rating agencies caught almost as much political heat in 2009 as mortgage underwriters. Political leaders were livid and only avoided eliminating them with the Dodd-Frank Act because no one could think of an alternative credit-risk management approach. Not surprisingly the rating agencies are now much quicker to downgrade bonds than they used to be. There are likely to be a lot more rating downgrades in this next recession than there were in any before the Great Recession, especially among industrials that borrowed heavily to finance stock buybacks.

In addition to downgrades, lack of liquidity will also boost >Chinese banks. Four of the borrowing spreads, as will banks new-found, Regulator enforced timidity toward corporate borrowers.

The turn for the worst comes after there are deep losses, as in the last two recessions. Diminished risk appetite means less risk taken in the next expansion and more risk reduction in the next recession, resulting in less robust expansions and deeper recessions. Such a down phase is typically accompanied by increased regulation which reduces risk, but also eliminates some profit opportunities and restricts liquidity, further restricting growth in the expansion phase.

Economic improvement comes when recessionary losses are smaller than expected, justifying an increase in risk taking in the next expansion. At best, that could happen in the upcoming recession, but it's more likely another one or two business cycles down the road.

The Policy Response.

When the economy goes into recession, automatic fiscal stabilizers like unemployment insurance kick in as they always do. But the Fed's ability to boost growth will be limited. Yellen's Jackson Hole optimism was not convincing. It is far more likely the Fed will be able to do little to help the economy in the next recession. They may follow Europe and Japan's lead by imposing negative interest rates, but there is little evidence it would do more good than harm.

Bottom line: Recession Forecasting May Be a Fools Game; Recession Planning is a Different Story

Speculation about when, exactly, the next recession will start is of limited value. After all, it's not just the Fed; no one is good at forecasting recessions with precision. Economic Cycle Research Institute's economists are among the best.

They were among the first to call the 2001 and 2007-09 downturns. But even their forecasting track record is not perfect. They mistakenly called a recession in 2012. Still, business cycles end. That's why we call them cycles. And when they do, there are predictable factors determining their severity. Congress tightened bank regulation and created the Financial Stability Oversight Council in 2009 to ensure a financial crisis like the one in 2007-09 never happens again. But markets have a way of burning around regulatory firewalls and the worst recessionary damage rarely occurs in the same part of the economy two recessions in a row. However the odds of a recession starting before the end of this year are fairly low. The odds of recession in 2017 and 2018 are over 50%, however. Now is the time for planning a response.

Your Money - Ask Julia

My CDs mature this month. The taxes I'll have to pay on the growth will mean that I net zero earnings. I want my money to be safe, I want more growth, and I want to pay less taxes. Do you have anything that can give me what I want?

Millions of people have purchased bank CDs over the years and banks now hold billions of dollars in CD funds. Folks invest in bank CDs for the safety - CDs are FDIC insured and people trust their banks. As you have discovered, the rate of return is low, and you must annually pay taxes on the growth. An alternative to investing with your bank is investing with insurance companies. The strength of the insurance company plays an important role in the safety of your investment dollars. Independent agencies, like A.M. Best and Standard & Poor's, rate and make public "grades" on each insurance company. Insurance companies offer a product that historically may outperform a CD because of higher rates along with the benefit of deferring taxes until accessing those funds. There are ways to access funds in some life insurance policies, tax free, while you are living.

What are my options for getting my money out of my annuity that is about to mature?

It depends on your annuity policy contract. With some annuities, you can take a lump sum upon maturity. With others, you leave the money alone during the growth period, and then you're required to take it out over a period of years. Some annuity policy contracts allow limited access to your money, usually starting at the beginning of the second year. Annuity contracts are commonly supportive of the government requirements for Required Minimum Distributions upon reaching age 70 1/2, regardless of other contract rules.

The rollercoaster ride of the stock market is driving me crazy! Is the market going to crash again? Is it time to take my money out?

Generally, the stock market is volatile. I don't know if, or when, the stock market might rally or crash. Investing in the stock market can be risky. When looking at the charts, rather than looking at one day, or one week, switch to the view showing 5 years. That will give you a much more balanced view of what is happening. There are many, many factors which affect the ups and downs of stocks. It is important to take a look at the amount of time you have to recover from losses. Some will tell you to buy when stock prices are low and sell when they are high. Others will tell you to not try to time the market, but rather buy a little each month, every month. And, some will advise you that if you do not have adequate time to recover losses before retirement, don't sell the stocks you own, but stop buying additional stocks. My clients like to diversify some of their retirement savings into safer products like fixed or fixedinterest annuities, or fixed-indexed universal life insurance.

I've inherited some U.S. Government bonds. How do I find out their value?

Go to www.savingsbonds.gov. If you don't have access to the internet, most banks can also figure out the value by using tables published by the Bureau of Public Debt and the Treasury Department.

Every 30-40 years, sentiment toward risk has shifted along with appetite for credit. A generally profitable expansion followed by a shallow recession diminishes fear. Regulations tend to be trimmed, more risk is put on in the next expansion and less taken off in the next recession. As a result, expansions are more robust and recessions shallower. This continues until eventually people find themselves using incredible leverage to chase mini-

Housing Rights Hot Topic at Workshop

BALDWIN PARK - Local many years. Under the contract, renters are encouraged to attend a free workshop designated to help them learn about and defend their rights and responsibilities when it comes to housing.

The special 2-hour informational gathering is slated to begin at 5:30 p.m. on Oct. 19 at the Esther Snyder Community Center, 4100 Baldwin Park Blvd. It is open to the public and is coordinated through the Housing Rights Center (HRC), which provides housing-related services to communities including the city of Baldwin Park.

According to Ruelas, her division has implemented federal funding to contract with HRC for HRC officials coordinate housing-affiliated services and events for both Baldwin Park residents and property owners. "There are several aspects of fair housing that tenants and landlords are not aware of. Through these services and workshops, we try to bridge the gap between both groups," added Ruelas.

On tap for the Oct. 19 gathering will be several popular topics - including evictions, rent increases, substandard conditions, sexual harassment, and rights for those with disabilities - that residents may face when it comes to renting or maintaining a property.

The upcoming workshop is specifically geared for tenants of Baldwin Park, although Ruelas noted that HRC also provides various fair housing events throughout the year.

HRC is a non-profit, civil rights organization that offers fair housing services to residents throughout the Los Angeles and Ventura counties. With its nearest office in Pasadena, the group is a catalyst in advocacy and litigation services, landlord-tenant counseling and discrimination investigations, as well as community outreach and education that relate to federal and statewide housing laws.

Various brochures and flyers, in both Spanish and English, will be distributed to attendees during the October 19 event. These resources are intended to outline further information and support that is available to current or potential renters.

New National Survey Finds Americans Have Dim Outlook on K-12 Education, Want School Choice

of all ages are pessimistic about the direction in which K-12 education is heading today, and most are supportive of expanding school choice options, according to an annual survey conducted by EdChoice and Braun Research, Inc. The 2016 Schooling in America Survey measures the nation's public opinion and awareness topics and policies, such as school performance, schooling preferences, educational choice reforms and more.

This year, the survey found: 1. Most Americans-and nearly every demographicthink K-12 education is on the "wrong track". Only 24 percent said they think education is headed in the "right direction".

The majority of Americans on a range of K-12 education And negative sentiment has increased by 2 percent since last year's survey.

> 2. Most parents are not accessing the educational options they say they prefer for their children. More than 53 percent of American school parents give their district schools a rating of C, D or F. When asked their preferred school, 42 percent said a private school; 28 percent, a public district school; 11 percent, a charter school; 10 percent, home school. Yet actual enrollments today show 84 percent of children attend public district schools.

> 3. Americans are more likely to favor education savings accounts (ESAs), the newest, most flexible type of educational choice program. Education savings accounts (ESAs) allow parents to withdraw their children from public district or charter schools and receive a deposit of public funds into government-authorized savings accounts with restricted, but multiple, uses. Those fundsoften distributed to families via debit card-can cover private school tuition and fees, online learning programs, private tutoring, community college costs, higher education expenses and other approved customized learning services and materials. With so many options to choose from, it would seem that finding a credit card that is right for you should be easy. Often overlooked, however, is the importance of finding one with a rewards program suited to your spending habits.

A recent study conducted by ORC International on behalf of Ally Bank explored consumer preferences when it comes to rewards. Of the 1,005 respondents nationwide, 589 had a major credit card in their name. qualifying for the survey.

The following themes were consistent with many respondents -- and they could help you choose a card that will deliver the greatest rewards that matter to you.

Popular Kids Can Help Curb Bullying

by Dr. Colleen Logan

Contrary to previous research that suggested that as students' popularity increased so did their bullying behavior, many parents may be surprised to learn the results of a recent study from Princeton, Rutgers and Yale Universities. It found that popular kids who publicly stand up against bullying may actually help more than school officials' efforts to curb the behavior. While this new research is hopeful, targets of bullying are more likely than nontargets to consider suicide, which leads to nearly 4,600 young lives lost each year, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

in activities they used to enjoy. They may also experience a decrease in academic achievement and participation.

Those who were bullied and survive the challenging tween and teenage years may face mental health issues in adulthood, including from anxiety and depression, and may even consider selfharm and suicide later in life.

While all children face conflict, disagreements among peers can usually be resolved in some way; however, experts say, it's the repetitive nature of bullying that can cause harm. Even as kids start standing up for each other, parents must remain involved and watch what their kids say and do face-to-face and online. Consistent and early intervention at schools and in the home can help mental health issues in adulthood

Get Rewarded for Loyalty

Eighty percent of consumers with credit cards surveyed said they would prefer to have multiple financial products, such as a bank account, loan or credit card, with the same bank if they earned rewards for doing so. For example the Ally CashBack Credit Card (ally.com/cashback) rewards program offers cash back on all purchases as well as a ten percent bonus on rewards when those rewards are redeemed into an eligible Ally Bank account.

Don't Miss Out

Interestingly, only 36 percent of consumers with credit cards use their card for daily purchases, often missing out on rewards on purchases like gas and groceries. Another 28 percent of respondents admitted to losing out on rewards because they expired or were too difficult to cash in. Choose a simple rewards program and reap your benefits that you have worked to earn.

When weighing your credit card options, don't forget to consider the value of a great rewards program to keep extra cash in tel points, miles or cash back, a your pocket. (StatePoint)

> During October, which is Bullying Prevention Month, and throughout the year, you can encourage your children to stand up for their peers. One way is to approach bullying from a strength stance and teach youths to be upstanders, not bystanders.

What Kids Can Do

• Children should be encouraged to say something if they see bullying behavior. By standing up and saying that it's not OK, they will show others that bullying will not be tolerated.

• Kids should also get a responsible adult involved and properly report the bullying incident. Bystander silence won't help curb the bullying behavior.

Xers, those most likely to be parents of school-aged children, have stronger support for ESAs than older generations. Millennials' top reasons for supporting ESAs are "more freedom and flexibility for parents" and "more individual attention".

4. Parents take inconvenient. often life-altering, steps to secure the best education for their children's needs. More than a third have changed their children's school: 20 percent because they didn't like their previous school, 14 percent because they preferred another school type and nearly one in 10 because they were seeking more one-on-one personalized education. To secure a better education for their kids, 14 percent changed jobs, 21 percent took on a second job, 11 percent took out a loan and 22 percent paid for tutoring. Notably, 41 percent of millennials have significantly changed their daily routine to accommodate their children's education.

Warning signs that children have experienced bullying include depression, anxiety, loneliness, changes in sleep and eating patterns, and loss of interest

 Befriending those who are bullied can go a long way. While there are many reasons bullies pick their targets, those who seem less vulnerable may no longer be targets.

• Participating in school zerotolerance policies can help shape the future of bully prevention methods. As kids are empowered to stand up for each other, administration and faculty as well as parents should reward the good behavior instead of only punishing the bad behavior.

• To help even more, children can actively participate in antibullying activities and projects.

Sleep Is Key To Helping Teens Recharge For Success In School

For most teens, one of the best ways to find success in school is to get enough sleep.

When well rested, teens are more likely to be healthy, energetic and have a positive attitude toward life in generalhelping them be their best and do their best in school and at home.

Healthy Sleep Awareness Project launched the "Sleep Recharges You" campaign, urging teens to get eight to 10 hours of sleep per night to promote optimal health.

"It's important to make sleep a priority," said Dr. Ronald Chervin, president of the American Academy of Sleep Medicine (AASM) and spokesperson for the National Healthy Sleep Awareness Project. "Setting and sticking to a routine to get as much sleep as possible is one of the best things teens can do for their health, academic achievement and athletic performance."

Lack of Sleep Jeopardizes Teens' Grades, Health and Safety

More than two-thirds of high school students in the U.S. are failing to get enough sleep on school nights, according to a

Here's eye-opening news: 2016 study published by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Results show that 69 percent of surveyed students in grades 9 to 12 reported sleeping less than eight hours on an average school night. Insufficient sleep in teens can impact everything from grades to safety.

Sleepy teens may fare worse To help, the National in school than their well-rested peers. Studies show that teens who are sleep deprived may be more easily distracted and recall information more slowly. Sleeping fewer than the recommended hours is also associated with attention, behavior and learning problems.

> Lack of sleep may also affect teens' athletic performance. When teens sleep, hormones are released that help them grow taller and develop muscles. Sleep helps restore energy to the brain and body.

> Studies show that teens who sleep less than the recommended hours are more likely to be overweight and develop hypertension and diabetes. Additionally, insufficient sleep in teenagers has been found to increase the risk of depression and is associated with increased risk of self-harm, suicidal thoughts and suicide attempts.

Insufficient sleep also significantly increases teens' risk for drowsy-driving accidents. A 2014 study found that teen drivers who start class earlier in the morning are involved in significantly more motor vehicle accidents than those with later start times. Motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death for teens in the U.S., according to the CDC.

Parents, Caregivers Play Crucial Role

Teens should be encouraged to get enough sleep every night to recharge. The AASM advises parents and caregivers to help by modeling healthy sleep habits, promoting a consistent sleep schedule and creating a quiet sleep environment for their teens.

Additionally, setting restrictions on screen time before bed is key to helping teens get to sleep on time. Teens may be tempted to keep using their laptops, smartphones and game consoles late into the night rather than going to sleep.

"Teens are still growing and developing and sleep is a crucial part of these processes," said Dr. Chervin. "One of the best things parents and

According to the AASM, a natural shift in the timing of the body's internal "circadian" clock occurs during puberty, causing most teens to have a biological preference for a latenight bedtime.

It is also important that parents and local school boards work together to implement high school start times that allow teens to get the healthy sleep they need to meet their full potential.

Official Consensus

The AASM recommends that teens sleep eight to 10 hours per night on a regular basis to promote optimal health.

Parents concerned that their teen is sleeping too little or too much should consult a boardcertified sleep medicine physician or visit www.sleepeducation.org to find an accredited sleep center nearby.

Four Ways To Prepare Your House For The Cold

keep your home cozy and comfortable when it's cold outside when you consider these four tips:

• Drain outdoor water sources: Before the next big freeze, make sure to drain all hoses, outdoor faucets and irrigation systems of any remaining water and cover exposed areas with some form of insulation. Leftover water can expand when it freezes, causing pipes to burst.

• Clean your gutters: Branches, leaves and debris have likely been falling onto

You can be better able to your roof and making a permanent home in your gutters. It's important to keep gutters free of debris so water drains properly. Blocked gutters can create ice dams, letting water leak back into the house and cause roof damage.

• Inspect the furnace: The last thing anyone wants to deal with when colder weather arrives is the furnace not working. Get your furnace inspected

The City applied for and received a grant in the amount of $30,000 from Mobile Source Air Pollution Reduction Review Committee's (MSRC) Grant and South Coast Air Quality Management District's (SCAQMD) Clean Transportation Local Government Match Program for the purchase of one heavy-duty natural gas vehicle.

AZUSA - With grant support by Clean Transportation Funding from the Mobile Source Air Pollution Reduction Review Committee (MSRC), Azusa Public Works Department was eligible to receive $30,000 for the purchase of one heavy-duty compressed natural gas (CNG) vehicle.

A utility truck was purchased from National Auto Fleet Group of Alhambra, California. It was put into service in October, 2016 by the Streets Division. This dump truck will be utilized in the performance of weed abatement and illegal dumping throughout the City. The CNG component allows for reduction of emissions while increasing efficiency within the Public Works Department by providing adequate equipment.

"This morning at 9:00 A.M. we inaugurated the new clean energy work truck into service at the City's Public Works Yard," said Azusa Mayor, Joseph R. Rocha. "We are honored to have received this grant from the MSRC for the purchase of this vehicle. It will go a long way to make Azusa clean and beautiful by serving as the primary vehicle to be used to clean-up illegal dumping and weed abatement in the city."
