Remembrance Service in Glendora By Jayam Rutnam

GLENDORA - There was an old lady, maybe over ninety years old, pushing her walker which was sporting a small flag, there were husbands and wives, parents and grandparents, veterans and children, ordinary citizens, firefighters, policemen. Over three hundred people were there outside Glendora City Hall. They were there for a common purpose, to remember, honor and mourn the over 3000 people who perished during and after the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center in New York, fell.

It was in the morning of September 11, 2001. There isn't one person who will not remember where he or she was, when they heard of the brutal attack in America, fifteen years ago. Glen Garber of Glendora carried a large American Flag which showed the names of all the people who died on 9/11. He attended the 10th Anniversary of 9/ 11 in New York.

Some of the dignitaries present were Glendora Mayor Gene Murabito, Glendora Councilman Mendell Thompson, Glendora School Board Members Cory Ellenson and Maura Murabito and City Manager

It was 6 p.m. on a beautiful day, chairs were lined up close to the Memorial for Military service members who gave their lives for our country. There were three fire engines parked in front of the City Hall building. The ceremony of "Patriot Day" started with a welcome speech by Reverend Karen Davis of the First Christian Church. Karen is the 15 years represents a genera-Chaplain for the Glendora Police Department and also a Glendora Council Member.

Karen gave a touching speech, which explained what happened and how we as Americans felt. A part of Karen's speech is as follows,

"We are here tonight because on September 11, 2001, four U.S. planes hijacked by terrorists crashed into the World Trade Center, the Pentagon and a field in Pennsylvania killing more than 3,000 people in a matter of hours.

Since 9/11 the number of individuals that have died as a result of illnesses and injuries is approaching the number of those killed that horrific day. Behind the staggering number of deaths are the individuals. each of whom left behind family, friends and co-workers who feel the national tragedy on a personal level. Today as I watched the news this morning and saw them reply the events of that terrible morning, it was as though 15 years were just 15 seconds ago. The emotion and tears of that morning returned. Fifteen years later as a community, as a nation, we remember. We remember the stockbrokers, office workers, maintenance workers, bystanders, windowwashers and all the others who went to work that day but never came home. We recall the firefighters who rushed upstairs as most everyone else was racing out. We recall the police officers who stood to protect and defend the people and performed their duties until the towers came crashing down on top of them. We remember selfless sacrifice for the safety of others. On that day we saw the worst of humanity, and we saw the best of humanity. It is said that

Baldwin Park Unified Community Reflects on September 11 Attacks

Sierra Vista High School students, staff and faculty commemorate anniversary of terrorist attacks

BALDWIN PARK - Sierra Vista High School students, staff and faculty shared their reflections Friday about the Sept. 11, 2001 terrorist attacks during the school's regular Friday Flashback activity. Individuals shared thank-you messages to first responders and military personnel, their thoughts about the event and personal memories on three posters displayed in different areas of the campus. Messages ranged from a teacher's memory of the shock at seeing planes strike the World Trade Center in New York City to Post-It Notes thanking firefighters and police officers for their heroism as the Twin Towers collapsed. Those contributing their reflections were encouraged to take photos and share their comments on social media with the hashtags #svthanksyou, #firstresponders and #armedforces. "The events of 9/11 have had a resounding impact across our planet and in all of our lives, even for students who may not have been born when the attacks took place," Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza said. "These tribute posters are a great way for our school community to come together and share their very different perspectives on its impact on their lives and to thank those who stepped up in our protection since that day."

The Sierra Vista remembrance

effort was organized by Sierra Vista history faculty, led by social studies teachers Wendy Payan, Ana Rios and Jessica Englebretson.

"Sept. 11 was a major event in U.S. history, and when regular citizens were running away from the chaos, first-responders and military men and women stepped up to save lives and ran toward it," Payan shared with the school community.

Her own memory, as a lifeguard at Citrus College, described how the impact of the second plane brought home the realization that this was an attack, not an accident.

"It was very overwhelming and scary," she wrote on a special reflections sheet provided for the effort.

Glendora Republicans Come Out to Reorganize

By Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

Glendora Republicans gathered Saturday to begin the rebuilding process of the club that had been dormant the last few years. Anxious to support the campaigns of Republicans in the 48th Assembly District and Trump's Presidential bid, the group wants to provide the necessary support to bring the Republican Club back to life and enlist other local Republicans to help the cause.

Jack Orswell, former FBI agent and now small businessman, is challenging Cong. Judy Chu for the 27th Congressional District, a portion of which covers the Glendora foothill areas. He took on Chu two years ago after the San Gabriel Valley residents became distressed over Chu's proposal to establish a National Recreation Area out of the San Gabriel Mountains and encroached into business and residential properties. When the legislation was held in Natural Resources, President Obama used his executive power and the Antiquities Act to declare a portion of the area a National Monument.

Chu's desire to continue the effort to turn the entire region into a recreation area is marked by new legislation, San Gabriel Mountains Foothills and Rivers Protection Act. The new legislation would add almost 110,000 acres to the Monument and establish a new 51,107 acre National Recreation Area (NRA) along the San Gabriel and Rio Hondo Rivers and the Puente-Chino Hills Wildlife Corridor south of the National Monument. The bill was introduced October 2015 and referred to Subcommittee on Federal Lands on November 2015.

Orswell said, "[Chu] is rated as one of the top ten least-effective members of Congress. After seven years of serving in the House, she has introduced 38 bills and only one has made it out of committee to become a law, and that was for renam-

Biggest concern at the moment is the lack of funding for the Zika virus Orswell reported to the group. "Congress recessed for the summer before agreeing on a level of funding to attack this horrible virus that causes devastating birth defects ... The Zika virus is a public health crisis that Congress transformed into a political issue. Congress gets back to work this week, so maybe they will stop playing politics and agree to provide funding. Any bets?" asks Jack Orswell.

Cory Ellenson, Glendora School Board Member and small businessman, is running for the 48th Assembly District seat to replace Roger Hernandez who was termed out. Additionally, Hernandez had several problems during his time in office making front page news with his antics and addiction problems. Challenging Ellenson for the seat is Roger Hernandez's sister-in-law, Blanca Rubio, also a school board member in Baldwin Park Unified School District.

Ellenson believes not all students are college-bound and should be supported to make other career choices, like career technical education and trade/vocational career pathways in partnership with local community colleges and industry organizations. "To accomplish this, we must invest in career technical education and revise our annual state testing, which is currently geared toward college-bound students, so that individual school districts aren't faced with sacrificing high test scores by supporting career technical education."

Ellenson points out, "...we have to alter our spending priorities and invest in public education. California annually spends $9,000 per student and $62,000 per prisoner. Cory asks, "Shouldn't we be investing in students, not criminals? And isn't a quality public education the best solution to high crime?"

Cory Ellenson's website provides the following: "After AB 109 in 2011, [early release to solve prisoner overcrowding] approximately 30,000 inmates were reassigned to county jails, and approximately 18,000 fewer criminals were jailed in the subsequent year." After Prop 47 in 2014, [changing offenses to misdemeanors] there have been over 40,000 criminals released that would otherwise be in custody. Of those, approximately 20,000 have already been re-arrested for new crimes. These crimes include 83 robberies, 26 murders, and 14 rapes in Los Angeles County alone. In the first six months of 2015, violent crime in California cities jumped 11 percent compared to the same period in 2014, and among major U.S. cities, three California cities saw the largest increase in property crime in the country. Cory Ellenson is endorsed by three major local police organizations -Glendora, Covina and West Covina Police Officers' Associations.

Glendora's Legislative Action Committee will hold a series of candidates' forums. The first is on September 22nd at the Citrus Valley Association of Realtors, 504 Rt. 66 with Cory

Career Criminal Suspect Crashes During Pursuit by West Covina Police

By George Ogden

WEST COVINA - A career criminal and parolee was arrested again by West Covina police after a pursuit that ended in a crash.

Police officers were patrolling the Plaza West Covina shopping mall around noon on Wednesday, Sept. 7, when they saw the suspect trying to open car doors and looking into the cars. As officers drove towards him to attempt to detain him, the suspect saw them coming and took off in a stolen car.

He was able to make it to the eastbound I-10 freeway with the police following him. The suspect was driving crazy and the officers backed off hoping that this would slow him down, however, he ended up driving on the right shoulder to pass slower traffic. As the man got to Citrus, the officers lost sight of him, but soon found him on Barranca St. near the In-n-Out Burger where he had crashed into a light pole. He ran from the scene and a perimeter was quickly set up and he was spotted at Grand Ave. and the I-10 freeway and taken into custody.

They arrested Jesse Garcia, 22, of Los Angeles, who has been in the area less than two years, he has been arrested by most police agencies in the East San Gabriel Valley. He is a repeat offender with 17 arrests and charges against him. There are 7 felonies included. He was released from jail on Sept. 6 and already committing crimes on Sept. 7, where he was arrested again.

This extremely dangerous individual has been sentenced to over four years in jail, over this time, including a two year shot. He served hardly any of this time and keeps getting released most likely because of the Assembly Bill 109 that the Assembly members passed because of overcrowding.

He was charged this time on suspicion of felony evading, grand theft auto and vehicle tampering with his bail set at $75,000. Additional charges may be added.

The Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program (FFVP), administered by the California Department of Education (CDE), will provide students with a free fresh fruit or vegetable snack during the school day as a supplement to the existing breakfast and lunch programs offered. The purpose of the program is to teach students about good nutrition through expanded fruit and vegetable options.

"We place tremendous value on ensuring our students have healthy food options on campus," AUSD Superintendent Dr. Linda Kaminski said. "I am grateful to the state for helping Azusa Unified enhance our nutritional menu."

The District offers fresh salads daily at the middle and high schools and a fresh fruit and vegetable salad bar at all its K-5 campuses. District employees encourage each student to select a half a cup of fruit or vegetables with their lunch.

Additionally, the District has new low fat yogurt parfait stations for breakfast or lunch at the middle and high schools. The District has also recently partnered with JUST Water, a supplier of sustainable bottled water, to help promote its breakfast program while increasing water consumption among its students.

system, many foster youth find themselves unemployed, on public assistance, homeless, or incarcerated," said Supervisor Antonovich. "This proposed program through the YWCA is an innovative workforce development partnership for foster youth who can learn job skills while living in a supportive housing environment with other youth."

Today's board action will further improve integrated service delivery to serve non-minor dependent foster youth. Programs such as the one offered by the YWCA are a vital part of ensuring foster youth emancipate from the system with the skills necessary to achieve self-sufficiency and lead productive successful adult lives.

Court Hands California the Bill

By Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

The Supreme Court, August 29th ruled the MS4 permits (Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System ) in Los Angeles County are state mandated and as such the state must pay the costs for local jurisdictions for implementation under the California Constitution. If the Federal EPA issues an additional requirement to an existing law or a new regulation is implemented, no reimbursement is required. If the State enhances those requirements for local government to implement, it becomes a mandate and the state is required to reimburse local governments.

by Congress and became the 1972 Clean Water Act that regulates water quality standards for surface waters and made it illegal to discharge any pollutant from a point source into navigable waters unless a permit was obtained. Regulations are created and overseen by the U.S. EPA. In 1990, U.S. EPA required cities and counties to obtain a National Pollution Discharge & Elimination System Permit (NPDES) to measure and control discharges from pipes, manmade ditches and discharges from industrial and municipal sources, including parking lots, into surface waters.

In 1999, under Phase II of ments made by the Governor and NPDES, called MS4, or Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System, U.S. EPA issued an order requiring urbanized areas, like cities and counties, to create a Storm Water Management Program (SWMP) to reduce the contamination of storm water runoff from their jurisdiction to storm drains/channels/rivers and ultimately to the ocean.

In 1969, California enacted Porter -Cologne Act that established the State Water Resources Control Board with 9 regional water quality control boards with the responsibility / authority for coordination and control of water quality. These are appoint-confirmed by the Senate. The State Board is 5 full-time positions and salaried for a four year term; and, the Regional Boards have seven part- time members.

The counties and cities were required to develop plans to implement to MS4 EPA requirements and because Regional Water Boards have a role under Porter Cologne to ensure water quality, they reviewed those Plans either approving or setting additional requirements. From initial reading of the decision, the rub comes in when the regional boards issued requirements to local jurisdictions that exceeded the requirements of the Federal EPA therefore causing a state mandate that the State of California is required to pay out on to local jurisdictions.

Cities had talked about funding mechanisms to meet the high cost of implementing the plan but under the 1979, voter-approved Prop 13, charging fees for this mandate was not allowable. Voter-approved Prop 218 would have required any charges to pay

But wait! When I was much younger I used to spend time almost every evening at my local YMCA swimming pool. While I lack the drive to engage in competitive sports, I often compete with myself. I have a passion to run each mile a little faster and stay on the exercise machine a little longer. At the Y I committed myself to swim underneath the surface half a length without breathing, then three-quarters of a length, then the whole length. But I wasn't satisfied until I could make it down and back without taking a breath. I never made it, and about halfway back I had to

Costs to implement MS4 and available funding sources to make L.A. County with no stable secure funding source:

• $20 billion of infrastructure improvements with deadlines to meet over 15 to 20 years

• Equates to $1,300 per parcel per year

• $349 per year per person • Upper L.A. River - $6 billion on capital costs and does not include operation and maintenance • Lower San Gabriel River is

$64 million with compliance in 10 years

• Green streets in Sun Valley cost $2.7 million. (Captures storm water and allows to percolate through the ground to clean naturally into the basin)

Lopez, a brilliant columnist for the Los Angeles Times. For a long time Steve has had attention focused on what is going on in LA, mainly offering human-interest stories. A month ago he decided to come up for air. So he and a photographer spent about six weeks traveling along the Pacific coast from the Oregon border to the Baja Peninsula, and his is an amazing series of essays on topography, climate, governance, animal life, human incursion an to going d what is happening to the shoreline. My guess is that Lopez will shortly will be back focusing on what is happening with people in Los Angeles.

So I intend to come up for air, taking a few deep breaths before I dive back down into the political world. Come to think of it, I may have already stared to gasp for air with this column.

• 2014 water bond for state was $7.5 billion statewide for rain water capture infrastructure • Glendora - $10 million year

• Baldwin Park - $8.2 million vear

• Covina - $6 million year

• Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas and Pomona - $8 mill a year each

• Average income in El Monte is $41,000 so a parcel tax of $1,300 is not affordable

• Average income in San Marino is over $100,000 so a parcel tax may be feasible but not equitable.

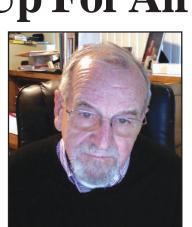

That's a lot of money for the State to come up with especially trying to get approval of a $9 billion school bond that will take $500,000 a year out of the state general fund; get the train to nowhere running with cap and trade dollars down; and, maintain the long-sought after "rainy day fund" at an acceptable level.

Maybe the Governor and state leaders need to take another look at Porter-Cologne. And, even harder look at those appointed to water boards.

for MS4 to go to a vote of the lion nationwide

Now that Labor Day is behind us, it is time to consider our personal agendas from now until November 8th. For those of us who keep our noses glued to the political campaign via the TV or newspapers, it will be difficult to think about anything else until the election. At least that is true for me.

For the next couple of weeks I plan to forget the election-at least in these columns-and focus somewhere else. My guess is that this hiatus will clear my obsessive head and allow me to take a fresh look at the campaign. At least, that is my goal.

When Public and Private Interests Intersect

When developer City Ventures asked the Glendora City Council years ago to allow them to do required improvements on Sierra Madre Ave. and Fairmount Pioneer Cemetery "later in the phasing of the project", the SOS Glendora Homeowners Association was the only one who spoke out in opposition.

Many didn't even know what that "inside baseball" phrase really meant. In plain English, it means allowing the developer to perform already specified and required public improvements at a later point in time than they agreed to do them.

For the developer, retroactively changing the deal is to their advantage because they get to delay spending millions of dollars on public improvements for years. For Glendora residents, it means putting up with antiquated facilities for additional years with no additional benefit at all to compensate for the danger and inconvenience.

So why is developer Lyon Homes widening Sierra Madre Avenue from Yucca Ridge to the Azusa city line now, even though they don't have to do it this year or even next year? It's because their model homes are just below that stretch of road, and Lyon is looking for ways to encourage Great News! We spoke and our legislators listened.

Recently, I wrote an article about my opposition to Senate Bill 1298 which, if passed, would allow stormwater management costs to be added to property tax assessments without a citizen vote. SB 1298 was deeply flawed from a Constitutional and legal standpoint. It aimed to create a loophole in Prop 218, the "Right to Vote on Taxes Act" and was a clear disregard of the voting rights of California residents.

I'm pleased to announce that

Sen. Hertzberg of Van Nuys, the author of SB 1298, has chosen to withdraw his bill, at least for this year. It is the second time in recent years that a proposed property tax assessment for stormwater management in LA County has been defeated, in large part, to grassroots opposition. Thanks to everyone who shared the word and contacted local legislators and Governor Brown to voice opposition.

However, we must stay vigilant because there is another tax threat in the pipeline: Los Angeles Supervisor Sheila Kuehl is crafting a "funding strategy" called the "Drought Resiliency Funding Plan" which will be unveiled in 2017. I will be following this closely and keeping residents informed.

Sincerely, Judy Nelson Glendora

"Meet Me In Pomona, Mona...

With the annual Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona now in progress, we're reminded of the story, probably apocryphal, about the origin of one of the most popular songs in the country a little over a century ago.

In the early 1900s, a secondrate composer on Tin Pan Alley decided he'd make more money if he traveled around the country selling his songs than if he stayed in New York. He heard about an upcoming county fair upstate at Elmira, so he went to his piano and composed words and music that the fair directors could use as an advertisement forever. He figured that there were enough county and state fairs across America that even at $25 per song he would make a small fortune - certainly more than he made currently.

He boarded the train for Elmira after contacting fair officials, and played his tune for them, singing the lyrics as well. "Meet me in Elmira, Myra, Meet me at the fair." The committee was delighted and paid him $25 for the song.

Elated and encouraged, our intrepid composer decided to head west. He had found a list of state fairs posted in the Farmers' Almanac and he plotted out a course that would take him to most of the state capitals. It wasn't long before he realized that many of the fairs were held in cities with either two or four syllables in their names, and his melody required three. Even some with the correct number of three wouldn't work because of where the accent fell. So he did not disembark at Harrisburg, Columbus, Indianapolis, Springfield, St. Paul or Bismarck.

Out of desperation he tried to sell the song in Montana but the boys at the capital straightened him out, informing him that "Helena" was pronounced "HEL-en-a," with the accent on the first syllable, and not "hel-EEN-a," with which it would have rhymed with Lena.

By now he had given up on state fairs and was just trying to pay for train tickets by going back to the county fair idea that he had started with. In California, he disembarked in Salinas. He'd never heard of Salinas, but it fit his melody and lyrics. When the fair committee met with him he banged out the tune and sang: "Meet me in Suh -LINE - us, Linus." That's when the committee stood up and departed.

Over in the San Joaquin Valley our now nearly penniless songwriter finally made a score. "Meet me in Tulare, Mary" was as big a hit as the tune had been in Elmira. With another $25 he moved on to Los Angeles, where the county fair was held in Pomona. "Meet me in Pomona, Mona, Meet me at the fair," was a natural, but the directors shook their heads

"No." Mona was the name of the local woman who had dismembered her boyfriend the previous week and no one wanted to meet Mona in Pomona.

But as the committee left, one member suggested that there was to be a big fair in Missouri and why didn't he try there. With his last ten dollar bill. he bought a ticket to Missouri, where he met with fair executives. When he played the song, the officials were beside themselves. This was exactly what they were looking for, the musical theme song that the fair needed to arouse potential patrons. Their enthusiasm was so great that when they asked him what he wanted for the song he boldly blurted out "$50." They didn't hesitate, paid him cash and took possession of his song.

Wiser but not richer, he returned to New York and never again left his work place with dreams of sudden wealth. For the remainder of his career he pounded out one failure after another, but at least he made a living.

And that's the story of how the local fair at a little city in Missouri got the song that begins, "Meet me in St. Joseph, Joseph, Meet me at the fair."

Oh, the little fair at St. Joe was canceled because another Missouri town was having a bigger exposition, so the directors sold the song for a thousand dollars to some guys planning a World's Fair at St. Louis.

Voters Are In A Foul Mood Financial - Ask Julia

The 2016 election season is already nasty with two months remaining. Two remarkably unpopular candidates are vying for votes from an electorate fed-up with the whole process. How we got here and where it leads are of critical importance to economic and market outcomes for the next four years, and perhaps the next eight. Understanding the level and source of the anger is an important part of investment decision making.

The conventional narrative explaining America's remarkable political angst is simple. In 2008, Barack Obama was elected. He was a lot of things to a lot of people, but to a significant majority he represented Hope and Change in the form of centrist leadership, a post-racial culture and the quick end of a long, twofront War. That was the high point.

The slide downhill began in 2009 when Congress got to work on his first major piece of legislation, the 2009 Stimulus Act. (Later renamed the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.) The cordial, bipartisan atmosphere in Washington was replaced with acrimonious, dysfunctional gridlock within months. How it happened depends on who you ask.

In eight years, President Obama reached across the aisle only once, while drafting the 2009 stimulus bill. Congressional leaders met him and his economic team at the White House. They explained that government spending would be a tough sell at home. Many had run campaigns promising to reduce the deficit. They understood the need for action, however, and agreed to compromise and support public spending as long as 40% of the stimulus was in the form of tax cuts. The President agreed.

Speaker Pelosi then entered the picture. First, she broke precedent by bypassing the Congressional committee process and writing the bill behind closed doors, with no Republicans in the room. She slashed tax cuts to make room for handouts and patronage, then told the President and Republicans they could support it or watch the country go down the economic drain Senate Republicans threatened to filibuster, but in the end, a handful sacrificed their principles and voted with the Democrats.

Republican leadership was incensed, and it got even worse when the President labeled Republicans "part of the problem," no better than bankers and fat cats. In his two terms, the President widened the political gap despite losing control of the House of Representatives less than two years after taking office.

Republicans who wanted to compromise with Obama went down in flames in their primaries, allowing more right wing conservatives to swarm the Capitol. Democrats' statehouse losses were the largest in three generations.

Dysfunction continued even after the political tide turned. Republicans regained the Senate in 2014.

It was too late to fix the stimulus or stop Dodd-Frank and Obamacare, however. And because of the way they were written, these three bills resulted in years of ever-mounting regulation, painful tax increases, and sticker shock from insurance deductibles. By 2014, the will of most people leaned toward the Republicans, but the President refuses to see it even now.

The media has also become more polarized and increasingly politicized. That is, stories are not just distorted because reporters see through a partisan lens, they are also distorted because media outlets are increasingly financed in part, or in whole, to push a particular partisan agenda. In the US, politicization happens in part because media consumers hate polarization, but are just fine with skew, as long as the skew is in the direction of pre-conceived ideas. Because middle-ground, compromising voices have been voted out of office-or disappeared from the media scene most Americans see choices that are only left or right of center. The middle remains a vacuum.

Economic growth is painfully slow and productivity, the source of rising living standards, has stalled. People are angry and distrustful because an increasing number are falling further behind in the world's most consumption-focused country. The income gap has been widening for years. Investment income has dried up as interest rates have fallen and margins have been squeezed. A growing share of wealth creation comes from speculative investment, which is unsettling even to some of those enjoying speculative success, and is certainly unsettling to those with no capital to throw into the mix.

People want government to fix all this, and get angry when the other side, with its perceived boneheaded thinking, makes things worse. Unfortunately, there may not be a viable, fastacting solution.

After all, this is not a uniquely American problem. It is a global problem. Six decades of borrowing against future income to fund current spending meant six decades of mostly above trend growth, but it also meant less money to spend in the future. And, with the debt crisis of 2007-12, the future arrived.

Above-trend growth during the debt binge resulted in decades of above-trend expansion of capacity. Today's below-trend growth means there is now excess capacity in manufacturing, commodities, and labor. Labor slack means fewer opportunities and lower wages, promoting income inequality. If it drags on long enough, of course people grow angry and acrimonious. The next step is political change. In places where peaceful transition of government is blocked, there is protest, violence and revolution. It is easy to be altruistic and open minded when living standards rise. It is hard when living standards fall. The fallout is everywhere.

Bottom Line: A Short Honeymoon For most of us it's not all had news. The US economy is stronger than most. We still enjoy some growth, we are six years into an economic expansion, job growth is strong and as a result there is considerably less labor slack than there was a few years ago. As a result, we have enjoyed real wage growth since 2012. In part, this is likely because our system allows desperate debtors off the hook. Over a trillion in debt - mostly mortgage debt - was forgiven after the financial crisis. Banks were encouraged by regulators to sell nonperforming loans, allowing for further debt forgiveness. It was painful, but maybe the pain prevented US banks from following their EU counterparts into the risky world of emerging-market lending. The global debt bubble has not yet burst, but global debt growth has clearly slowed since 2008, meaning there is likely more pain to come before the good time's return. Even if we have soaked up most of the available labor slack in the US, as the Fed believes, there is still likely to be an awful lot of slack elsewhere in the world keeping wage growth low even here (thanks to our willingness to outsource goods and service production). It's almost certain neither Hillary Clinton nor Donald Trump can deliver prosperity. Whoever becomes the 45th President of the United States will more likely than not disappoint a lot of people. And challenges the judicial system to stop him. LIVE LOCAL, SHOP LO-CAL - THIS IS THE TIME OUR MERCHANTS NEED US I welcome your questions and

What's the difference between a Medicare HMO and a Medicare Supplement plan?

With Medicare HMO plans: 1. The HMO company takes over Medicare, 2. The customer has to get the approval of the HMO before having most procedures, and 3. The customer typically pays less per month than with a Medicare Supplement plan. With Medicare Supplement plans: 1. the supplement helps pay what Medicare does not cover, 2. supplements do not change Medicare; they work with Medicare, 3. The customer can still use any provider who accepts Medicare, and 4. Supplement plans are more expensive than Medicare HMO plans because they do not control usage.

life insurance is often the best place to save retirement dollars because it offers tax-free living benefits and tax-free money for beneficiaries. The second-best tax-advantaged place to save retirement dollars is in a fixed-indexed annuity. nology of our cars is constantly changing supposedly for the better...yet AAA recorded a record number of breakdowns in 2015 (32 million) despite all the advances. This isn't just with older vehicles but vehicles that are under five years of age. Why is this happening? According to AAA, they are seeing a lot of battery, tire issues and key problems. The electronic key and ignition systems drain the battery. The elimination of a spare tire to get better fuel economy is also being felt. The inflator kit can't fix everything. What is another surprising problem? Over half a million drivers ran out of gas last year!

GDI Engines - Gasoline direct injection engines or GDI increases our vehicle's fuel economy and controls emission levels...however...it also causes carbon build up on the intake valves which hurts our fuel economy and causes our ride to be sluggish. Currently, all gasoline will leave a deposit.

combustion chamber where the temperature is over 500 degrees, and under a great deal of pressure, resulting in carbon buildup. If your vehicle has a GDI engine, it is important that it have a complete fuel system cleaning to remove these deposits.

Refrigerant - In order to help reduce global warming from air conditioning refrigerant, the USA is starting to phase out R-134a refrigerant by 2021 in new cars. Some manufacturers are already phasing in the replacement, R-1234yf. It comes with some challenges, however. Apparently, R-1234yf can be a fire hazard. Daimler says it will add an under hood fire extinguisher that will spray the lines to keep leaking refrigerant from igniting.

Coolant - Using the correct coolant is vitally important to your car's health. Use the wrong type for your car and it can cause serious damage over time. Low coolant levels can your car. Did you know that 95% of water pump failure is due to never flushing/exchanging the coolant in your car? Even clean looking coolant can collect abrasive particles that cause damage. It starts by eroding the water pump seal...then the impeller. Then it starts on the radiator/heater core. Next up is the head gasket. Even with all the additives to give coolant long life...over time the additives will fail.

Soroptimists to Offer Cash Grant to Women Seeking Financial Assistance for Educational or Training Expenses

AZUSA - Women who serve as the primary wage earners for their families and seek financial assistance to continue their education or receive training can now apply for the Soroptimist Live Your Dream: Education and Training Awards for Women (formerly the Soroptimist Women's Opportunity Awards).

Applications are available at Citrus College, Educational Programs and Services (EOP&S) office, or by contacting Marilyn Grinsdale, (626) 695-8615, mgrins1@verizon.net. The application deadline is November 15.

The Azusa-Glendora Soroptimist Chapter will provide a $1,500 cash grant to its award recipient, who will then advance to the Soroptimist Desert Region level, where recipients could receive up to an additional $5,000. The program culminates with three finalist $10,000 awards.

Recipients can use the Live Your Dream Award to offset costs associated with their efforts to attain higher education or additional skills and training. This includes tuition, books, childcare, carfare or any other education-related expense.

The Live Your Dream Award provides more than $1.6 million in cash grants to head-of-household women in need each year. Since the program's inception in 1972, approximately $30 million has helped tens of thousands of women achieve their dreams of a better life for themselves and their families. A study conducted by The Fels Institute of Government, a research and consulting organization based at the University of Pennsylvania, confirmed the efficacy and impact of this program. It improves the recipients' quality of life; builds their blood to help ensure a stable and diverse blood supply for patients in need. Blood donors may be helping patients like 11-year-old Martin Mwita who has sickle cell disease. His body doesn't produce enough healthy red cells to carry adequate oxygen through his body, so he relies on monthly transfusions to stabilize his health.

A diverse blood supply is important to ensure the needs of all patients are met. Red blood cells carry markers that determine one's blood type, and some blood types are unique to certain racial and ethnic groups. Because blood from donors of the same ethnic background as the recipient is less likely to cause complications, the Red Cross must maintain a diverse blood supply to meet these diverse patient needs.

Whether blood is needed for a chronic condition such as sickle cell disease, a surgical procedure or a large-scale emergency, it's the blood already on the shelves that helps save lives. Donors of all blood types are needed.

To make an appointment to give blood, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Donors are encouraged to make appointments and complete the RapidPass online health history questionnaire at redcrossblood.org/rapidpass to help reduce wait times.

Those who come out to give blood or platelets Sept. 1-30 will receive a free haircut coupon via email, courtesy of Sport Clips Haircuts. The coupon is valid through Nov. 6, 2016, at participating Sport Clips locations, and donors must have a valid email address on record to receive the coupon.

VH1 Grants Duarte USD $175,000 For Instruments

DUARTE - The next Yo-Yo Ma could be sitting in a 5th grade classroom in the city of Duarte but no one would have known without the generosity of the VH1 Save The Music Foundation.

This charitable organization started by the music channel has invested $175,000 in musical instruments for five Duarte Unified elementary schools, helping to expand the music program for 4th -6th graders in the schools.

Not that the goal is to find another world-class cellist like Ma. Rather, it is to broaden the education of Duarte students by opening the doors to music, and if any students succeed and advance to higher levels, all the better.

VH1's Save The Music Foundation invested $35,000 each in two schools in Duarte last year, then added the same amount for the remaining three schools. Along with additional grants from the Duarte Education Foundation, and partners like Arts for All and The Mr. Holland's Opus Foundation, every student in 5th and 6th grades, and even many in 4th grade, will be given a chance to learn an instrument.

"As we know in education, picking up a musical instrument is like speaking another language," said Margaret Rasmussen, principal of Valley View Elementary. "It's another chance to connect the synapses in the brain and to allow the students to grow in another way. It's a chance to feel the joy of accomplishment."

The VH-1 Save The Music Foundation is one of the best stories of a successful venture deciding to help fund education in less-than-affluent districts. It began with a routine school visit by VH1 President John Sykes in 1991.

"He was 'principal for a day' at a school in Brooklyn," explained Jaclyn Rudderow, director of the foundation. "John was appalled with the musical instruments he saw at the school -- some were held to-nearly 3 million students have had the chance to learn to play an instrument through the generosity of the foundation.

Duarte USD is the only local school district currently reaping the benefits of this program, and part of that stemmed from a commitment by the school board and previous Superintendent Nichols and current Superintendent Mucerino to hire two fulltime band instructors for the elementary schools and to commit to a music curriculum. "Our partnership with the VH1 Save The Music Foundation and our commitment to be the San Gabriel Valley's host for the California School for the Arts underlines the belief this district has in the importance of arts education," said Mucerino.

structors, are busy unpacking the boxes of clarinets, flutes, trumpets, trombones, saxophones and other instruments, and preparing to begin the instruction that will lead to a band at each school. There are enough instruments that every 5th-6th grade student and many 4th grade students will have one of their own to prac-sional in one of these classes," he said, "but exposing kids to the musical experience and giving them a full understanding of music will do so much to improve their educational experiences."

The VH1 Save The Music Foundation's commitment to districts like Duarte does not end with the packages of instruments being delivered to the schools through a partnership with a retailer in Glendale. The foundation also follows up with a curriculum program and professional development sessions for the music educators. "We believe in staying close to the districts we work with," said Rudderow, who is based in New York City. "We'll be out for classroom observations, plus we'll meet with the Board of Education and the Superintendent. We're a very active partner." As the classes are formed, and students select the instrument they will learn, the campuses and the instructors will work towards not just individuals learning to create music, but the ultimate collaboration of a band experience. "One of the theorems of band instruction is to create the ability to do a performance with an appreciative audience," said McDonald. "Music is made to perform. Very seldom do you just listen by yourself. So when you're in a band, the goal is to put on a performance. That's our expectation."

gether with gaper's tape - and came back to the offices at Times Square and wrote out a check to help buy the school new instruments."

When Sykes realized that the school in Brooklyn was indicative of the funding abyss for music education, the VH1 Save The Music Foundation was created. Nearly 20 years later, nearly $53 million worth of quality band instruments have been distributed to schools in 247 districts around the country, with more than 2,000 schools benefiting. A total of you have enough different instruments so that every student can learn and practice," said McDonald. "Students can see how the various instruments mesh and come together to produce a performance. It's so much more than just sitting and practicing notes."

At each of the schools, the music has been sweet.

"We're excited to be bringing this program to our fifth graders," said Kelly Buckley, principal at Maxwell School."

"Expanding the band program to the 5th grade is a thrill for us at Andres Duarte," said Joilyn Campitiello, principal.

For McDonald, this is particularly special, because he parlayed school musical instruction into the scholarship money that led to his teaching credential and graduate degree at Azusa Pacific University.

Azusa Mayor Continues With His "Neighbors Helping Neighbors" Program

By Jorge V. Rosales

AZUSA - Azusa Mayor Joe Rocha is 70+ years old and by all standards he is considered a senior. However, given all the activities in which he is involved as Mayor of Azusa, his part-time employment with the Azusa Unified School District, his involvement in numerous organizations such as Veterans Memorial Committee, Azusa Cares and Be a Walker, and NHN Program, one would think he is much younger. He considers himself very fortunate for not having any physical handicaps; as a matter of fact he is hands-on when it comes to helping clean other senior's vards, especially if they happen to be handicapped.

On Saturday, September 3, Mayor Rocha gathered a group of community volunteers and students from Azusa High School to go and help Jenny Cornejo clean-up part of her back yard, trim overhanging branches from several trees, and even remove a couple of dead trees. Mrs. Cornejo's back yard is odd shaped and it borders City of Azusa and L. A. County Flood Control District properties.

It took a couple of hours to remove part of the debris from their back yard and to trim some of the trees. The rear yard was cleaned up to what was believed her property line but was later discovered by one of the cleaning volunteers that her property line extended further east, leaving approximately an additional 2500 square feet needing to be cleaned. Many of the same NHN Program volunteers are scheduled to go back to complete the clean-up efforts on the remaining piece of property on Saturday, September 17 at 8:00a.m.

Mrs. Cornejo was very appreciative of the help she received and as a token of appreciation she wanted to order Pizza and re-

The Coffee Bean and Tea Leaf to Join Sprouts and Marshalls

GLENDORA - Redevelopment of the shopping center on the southwestern corner of Route 66 and Grand Ave. is diligently under way. The City of Glendora and the developer, Champion Real Estate Company, can now confirm that The Coffee Bean and Tea Leaf will be joining Sprouts and Marshalls, and will occupy the drive thru pad along Grand Ave.

The Coffee Bean and Tea Leaf (CBTL) originated in Southern California in 1963 and has grown to over 1,000 stores worldwide. It is the oldest and largest privately held specialty coffee and tea retailer in the United States, offering handcrafted beverages made to order and customized to each guest's preference.

"We are very excited to welcome CBTL to our project. CBTL will operate a flagship, full-sized drive thru restaurant in 2,000 square foot along with a 400 square foot outdoor patio. The building and patio will be CBTL branded. We expect the community to welcome an alternative to other national branded coffees presently located in Glendora," stated Chris Wilson, Executive Vice President and Retail Partner of Champion Real Estate Company.

There continues to be strong interest for the additional inline space and the building pad along Route 66. "We are pleased to see the progress Champion is making with the center and fully expect it to include additional tenants that will be well received by the community," added Valerie Escalante, Assistant to the City Manager, "The center is poised to be a be a vibrant destination where residents can shop, dine and unwind with a cup of tea."

"CBTL will be a key component in the environment we are striving to create - a grocery-anchored neighborhood center with a healthy lifestyle focus," remarked Wilson.

The center is scheduled to open in July 2017. For more information, please visit the City's web page found at www.CityofGlendora.org/ CurrentProjects.
