Criminal Gang Arrested by Glendora Police after Break In

By Glendora PD / George Ogden

GLENDORA - On January 24th shortly after 9PM, a resident in the 200 block of North Greencroft Ave. called the Glendora Police Department while he was monitoring his home surveillance cameras and saw subjects wearing ski masks in his yard. Officers responded to the area, set up a containment of the neighborhood and saw a suspicious silver Mercedes SUV occupied by two male adults. This vehicle was stopped and the investigation led to both occupants being arrested in connection to the burglary. At about the same time officers heard a resident screaming inside of her residence and then saw three males run from that home. Investigation into the incident revealed that these homeowners had just arrived home and interrupted a burglary in progress at the same time the Glendora Police Officers were containing the area from the original call. When the female resident screamed, the suspects fled and ran in different directions with officers chasing them on foot. One suspect was captured immediately, while the other two ran in separate directions. Several loaded firearms that had just been stolen from the residence were thrown by the suspects in the street and in a nearby yard.

Soon after, a separate resident in the area called to report a suspicious person in her neighbor's yard. Based upon this tip, officers located the second suspect hiding in a crawlspace on this property and he was taken into custody without incident. An area search was conducted for the third suspect with Glendora Police K9 "Bo" and K9 teams from El Monte PD and Alhambra PD. Pasadena PD Foothills Air Support Team and Azusa PD also assisted. At this time a second suspicious vehicle entered the area driven by a female from Lancaster. Investigation revealed she was attempting to rescue the final outstanding suspect and she was arrested for accessory to the burglary. Glendora K9 Bo alerted police to a covered vehicle in a residential garage within the containment area. The final outstanding suspect was found hiding in that vehicle and was arrested after struggling with officers and Bo. A short time later, a third suspicious vehicle occupied by two females was seen driving slowly in the area. This vehicle had the license plates removed and as a result of the investigation both were arrested for accessory to the burglary. The passenger of that vehicle was later released without charges.

Arrested were Doncell Hannah, 23 of Palmdale, Christopher Hicks, 24 of Pasadena, Howard Vaughn IV, 24 of Pasadena, Elante Gilliam, 25 of Altadena, Roger Tillotson, 22 of Adelanto, Jonee Barnett, 25 of Lancaster, and Kayla Hunter, 28 of Pasadena. Christopher Hicks and Howard Vaughn are on probation and are being held without bail. Doncell Hannah, Elante Gilliam, and Roger Tillotson are being held in lieu of $500,000 bail. Jonee Barnett and Kayla Hunter were being held in lieu of $20,000 bail, but have since posted bond. The suspects were charged with crimes including residential burglary, home invasion robbery, kidnapping, conspiracy, felon in possession of a firearm, resisting arrest, and ac-

It is suspected that two of the vehicles that were impounded may have been stolen.

The show will feature "Lucha Libre" professional-style wrestling, which entails six matches, a sixman tag team, a female match, and an "over the top rope battle royal" in which wrestlers are eliminated until a winner is declared.

> This weekend's showdown is the continuation of an annual event that began in Baldwin Park in 2015. The success of that event has prompted city officials make it a community tradition.

> "Now, we're adding a new feature to the program every year," said Mike Salas, a program supervisor with the city's Department of Recreation and Community Services. "We want to hype it up. There's even a match lined up with one wrestler representing the [Atlanta] Falcons and one for the [New England] Patriots," he said. "We want to get the crowd involved to cheer one team on. Maybe that'll give an idea of who will win the next day."

Also new to the Wrestling Extravaganza is where profits will be allocated this year. Organizers said proceeds will be benefit the Department of Recreation and Community Services' Scholarship Foundation to help support a local high school senior in pursuing a higher education.

GLENDORA - The Glendora Country Club main banquet area was filled to capacity (350) on January 21, 2017, for the Retirement Celebration honoring retired Glendora Police Chief Tim Staab. Glendora Council Members Mendell Thompson, Karen Davis, Judy Nelson, Mayor Pro Tem Gary Boyer and Mayor Gene Murabito, along with many City employees, and of course, police cadets, auxiliary officers, police officers of various ranks were all present to wish their friend and superior, Chief Tim Staab, off with a fond farewell. Tim's wife Dawn and two daughters were also present at the celebration. Tim's immediate predecessor, Glendora Police Chief Robert Castro (now the Police Chief of Glendale) and his wife Linda, were also present.

There were speeches by most of the dignitaries, most of them hilarious, recalling Tim's three years spent as Police Chief. Glendora Council Member and Pastor Karen Davis delivered the

There were many other speeches.

It certainly was an enjoyable and classy evening, and a fitting tribute to a gentleman who gave Glendora and the Police Department 33 years of service.

We at the San Gabriel Valley Examiner wish Tim Staab a wonderful retirement, and we are confident that he will visit Glendora, which holds a special place in his heart, often.

LOS ANGELES COUN February 2 - 8, 2017 Baldwin Park's Thoroughfares To Undergo Makeover

Water-friendly project expected to save city money, beautify streets

few makeovers to be made along some of Baldwin Park's primary thoroughfares. That's because officials with the Department of Public Works are moving forward with a plan to beautify a few of the city's center medians.

"All our medians are dry with dead grass now, so we're going to be revamping the entire irrigation system and making some water conservation improvements," said Sam Gutierrez, interim director for the Department of Public Works.

Beginning this week, landscaping experts will start renovating center medians along some the city's major streets - specifically Ramona and Baldwin Park Boulevards, Badillo Street, Amar Road, and parkways along Sterling Way. The move comes in response to Governor Brown's passing of a law that limits landscape watering in an effort to conserve water.

"Because of the severe drought, all [Los Angeles Coun-

BALDWIN PARK - Expect a ty] cities were mandated to stop watering their grass. So we're trying to figure out what looks good for our city, and applying medium- to low-water demand type of landscaping in the community," said Gutierrez.

> Last September, City Council approved a $1.9 million project to follow suit with the law while keeping Baldwin Park in good aesthetic shape. Gutierrez added that, last month, the city awarded a construction contract to Yakar General Contractors, Inc., of Covina to spearhead the upcoming renovations. Yakar was the lowest responsive bidder out 10 companies bidding for the project. Project officials will be putting in drought-tolerant plants and trees that require less upkeep into the future. Workers will also be revamping the irrigation system along the target medians in order to allow for improvements in water conservation.

The entire beautification project should be completed by early May, weather permitting.

That means that the next few months will be filled with workers clearing out as many as 100 trees along Ramona Boulevard and replacing them with 416 new trees - including 200 palm trees - that are more compatible with the new irrigation system.

"The trees that we're pulling out are trees that are dead or dying or those that won't survive under the new water requirements," Gutierrez said.

Per the plan blueprints, Ramona Boulevard will be designed following a subtropical theme, and Baldwin Park Boulevard will have a Mediterranean theme. All trees and plants have already received approval from City Council and will lend toward a "very colorful palette" for those center medians, Gutierrez added.

He noted that traffic near project areas should not be majorly impacted during the makeover project, as there should be an open lane for locals and other travelers in each direction at any given time.

The beautification project comes at a good time for Baldwin Park, as other cities are also moving toward similar landscaping renovations.

"I think it's going to change the look of the medians for the better. Other than that, the biggest benefit is we're going to be saving a lot of water," said Gutierrez.

"Plus, it's good for the environment."

BPUSD Elementary School Launches New Discipline System

Walnut Elementary is the 11th BPUSD campus to kick off Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports in 2016-17

BALDWIN PARK – Baldwin Park Unified's Walnut Elementary School on Friday, Jan. 27 will become the District's 11th campus to kick off a new discipline system designed to reinforce positive behaviors and boost academic success.

The system, called Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS), emphasizes ways of teaching students behavioral expectations and reinforces those lessons with praise and incentives. At its core, the system is their second year, communicating expectations and outlining systems for acknowledging positive behaviors and referring students for interventions. The program's third year includes full implementation, leadership planning, coaching and assessment of progress.

So far, eight Baldwin Park Unified elementary schools and two middle/junior high schools have launched the program. After Walnut, the remaining two elementary schools will launch in MONROVIA – At their January meeting on January 25th, the Foothill Gold Line Construction Authority (Construction Authority) Board of Directors approved an updated workplan and schedule for the 12.3-mile, six-station Foothill Gold Line light rail extension from Glendora to Montclair. The updated schedule, which assumes ground breaking in October 2017 and substantial completion in late-2025 to early-2026, is based on detailed constructability reviews completed late last year on the project's draft advanced conceptual engineering (ACE) documents.

"We have a more detailed understanding of this project and how we will build it," explained Habib F. Balian, CEO of the Foothill Gold Line Construction Authority. "It is really two major projects in one – the freight and Metrolink relocation/reconstruction will have to be completed first, followed by construction of the light rail system. And to reduce risk for the future design-build contractor, the first year of the project will be used to relocate utilities and conduct pre-construction activities."

The previously approved schedule, approved in 2015, had estimated completion in 2023; however, since then the Construction Authority refined the project scope through the ACE process and also put in place Master Cooperative Agreements (MCAs) with each of the project's corridor cities, Metrolink and other third parties that provide more details on the project and how it will be built. The agency integrated this new information, including new constraints agreed to through the MCAs (such as constraints for grade crossing construction and Metrolink station and track relocation, and requirements to build several temporary rail detours), resulting in two years of construction being added to the project schedule.

"This is an important step in our project development process and a natural part of the progression of a major infrastructure project like the Foothill Gold Line as it advances through planning and design," added Balian. "Our estimators and scheduling experts were given much more detailed information about the project and construction constraints and created a 7,000-activity construction phasing plan. This is the best information we have to work with until a designbuild contractor is hired and provides their plan for the work."

Based on this new schedule, the Construction Authority Board also approved an updated financial plan for the agency that incorporated a new project estimate for the Glendora to Montclair extension. The latest estimate confirmed that the construction costs in the previously approved 2015 estimate for the project remain accurate; however, costs associated with the additional two years of work, along with new prevailing and minimum wage increases that will take effect during construction, add about $118 million to the overall budget estimate for the project. The latest project estimate totals $1,374 million for the six-station Glendora to Montclair extension (including Los Angeles and San Bernardino County construction).

"Baldwin Park Unified has committed to PBIS as a key tool in our efforts to continually raise student achievement," Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza said. "It is the perfect complement to our host of rigorous academics and other student support services."

PBIS is credited by schools across the nation for reducing office referrals and suspensions, reducing bullying and keeping students focused on the academics that will help them succeed.

The system typically rolls out over three years, with the first year dedicated to training administrators and teachers. Schools launch the program to students in

A team of Walnut teachers trained and planned for the launch for more than a year. Azusa Pursuit Ends in Duarte with Arrests

By George Ogden

AZUSA - On Friday, January 27, around 8:00 p.m., a man and woman led Azusa police on a pursuit that ended with a crash in Duarte.

It all started when officers attempted to pull over a car at 5th Street and Dalton. The driver failed to yield or stop and took off and the pursuit was on. The vehicle was chased through Monrovia and into Duarte where it crashed into a number of parked cars in the 2000 block of Mountain Avenue. Both suspects were arrested at the scene and treated for their injuries. They were taken to the hospital and later transferred to jail.

The driver Dennis Ayon, 36, of Azusa was arrested and booked on suspicion of evading police and felony drug possession. He is being held without bail because he is a felon on parole. He was an early release because of the AB 109. His passenger Darla Abriel, 30, of Glendora was booked on suspicion of a misdemeanor drug offense and outstanding warrants. Her bail was set at $45,000.

Both suspects had extensive criminal records. They are both pending court appearances.

Where Do We Start?

Many of us, even a majority of America's voters, remain startled and depressed over what happened on November 8th. How could we have possibly elected an egomaniac who shoots public policy from his Twitter account without taking careful aim or even knowing about the target. So he claims that if we are to be great again we must reinstitute the nuclear arms race and take over the world with the very Strong Man image we have been sacrificing thousands of our young people to dethrone.

If we progressives had boasted that the Republican Party was in shambles, we had better look at what is going on with the Democrats. Certainly the GOP, as we have known it, is no more. It has been confiscated by a buffoon who conned the neglected working class and America's evangelicals with the help of Russia, but cannot deliver on his ill-advised promises. While a hearty section of the GOP despises Trump, party loyalty trumped deeply rooted policy, and these "never Trumpers" slowly came into line saluting the inevitable. Few have had the courage to abandon the party, no matter how obnoxious its leader.

The Democratic Party is in even worse shape. I have been a life-long member and financial supporter of this political organization, but what I have trusted now seems to be a collection of people my age, who long to face backward as if the vision held by Bill Clinton could make it in the

Charles H. Bayer

21st century. Whether I am talking about the local Democratic organization or the national leadership, we are terribly dated and are mostly a collection of the already retired, while much of the new generation is looking in the opposite direction. Hillary, our candidate for President, was 69. Bernie Sanders is 75 and Elizabeth Warren is 67. In four years they will be that much older. So as vital as it has been in influencing my political life, for me the Democratic Party is no longer the polar star of national hope.

The other dynamic force which has shaped my vision of a better world has been the progressive American church and its conviction that to be faithful is to follow Jesus, not just to believe things about him. But the National Council of Churches is a skeleton, and most of the churches which have been part of it are now half filled with grayhaired worshippers who long for the good old days. "Christian" now seems to mean "evangelical" or even "fundamentalist," and much of what those groups stand for is the opposite of what Jesus called us to be and do. I cringe these days at anything in our culture that is called "Christian." And that, for me, is a very depressing reality.

So if the Democratic Party and the mainline church no longer have the energy to shape a responsible future, where do we turn? My guess is no better than yours, but here is the best I can come up with at the moment.

Clearly while the Democratic Party and the mainline churches can no longer be counted on to do any of the heavy lifting, there are persons and groups within each of them that still have enough energy to fire the engines of change. Sooner or later, however-hopefully sooner-the discontent with what these dated bodies can produce will generate a new dynamic progressive movement that will replace these ageing organizations. This dynamic may result in another or reshaped political party. Is it the right time for the emergence of a new progressive movement? My hope is that one will shortly arise. Bernie can stimulate the movement, but what is needed is a young charismatic person or persons to lead the way. Any suggestions as to who may be about ready to break out of the progressive incubator?

Walls and Vetting Make America Safe Again

I've been watching all the Sunday news programs and one right after another has been addressing President Trump's determination to vet all the incoming people from seven identified countries, previously red-flagged by the Obama administration and Congress, to ensure we have no more disastrous blood-letting like the incident in San Bernardino and others that have occurred recently.

This is after the huge blow up with rallies, marches, and protests over Trump's wall at the southern border to curtail the flow of illegals from Mexico. What no one seems to take time to acknowledge when we talk about walls to establish and protect borders and vetting properly and completely those incoming from home-based terrorist areas is the damage that has been done to our legal law-abiding citizens because that hasn't been done.

From the DailyMail.com is an article all should read, "Now Mexico wants to build a border wall with Central America to keep out illegal immigrants from El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala". From the article:

"It seems Mexico agrees with Donald Trump's plans to build a wall to keep out illegal immigrants - but only on its southern border with Central America. Mexicans are calling for the border wall to keep out

Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

Guatemalans, Salvadorans and Hondurans fleeing violence in their own countries. They complain 'hordes' of immigrants pass through on their way to the United States who are then simply deported back to Mexico rather than their home countries by the US. "

What the article doesn't say is how many of those traversing border to border to border are from outside the countries south of our border and Mexico's border. Do we know how many of those who wish to do more harm to our country and our citizens are actually from the seven countries targeted for vetting before entering the U.S. are using the Mexican border to get here? How many of them know, if you get to Central or South America, you can just walk your way into the U.S. and begin wreaking havoc and destroying American lives?

The article uses information from EL Manana, a newspaper in the border state of Tamaulipas that did an article documenting the Mexican people's support for a wall south of Mexico ... but not the North border. According to the DailyMail.com, El Manana criticized Hillary Clinton for not addressing the issue of border security.

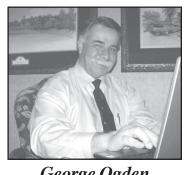

It is a fact, when people don't have jobs or the money to support their families they look harder to find a solution. And even harder when faced with corrupt governments and uncontrollable violence in their communities. Mexico according to reports in the DailyMail.com is suffering from the same condition we are here in the U.S. — a huge migration from the south of those looking for security and a job. Mexican citizens fall prey to crime and violence from illegals into their country as some of our citizens have reported here in the U.S.

The world is in a state of unrest to put it mildly. But opening up borders worldwide is not a solution. I believe, as did Ronald Reagan, "A country without borders, isn't a country." I also believe President Donald Trump is right on when he says, "Good walls make good neighbors," and it sounds like Mexico and their legal, law-abiding citizens do too.

Pioneer Memorial .... In 1846, the Mexican-American War was coming to a conclusion in Southern California. On August 13, a small force of American soldiers arrived in Los Angeles and raised the United States flag without opposition. Commodore Robert Stockton and his naval forces, along with 50 US Marines, under the command of Captain Archibald Gillespie, built a small barricade of walls and named it Fort Hill. The fort overlooked the Pueblo of Los Angeles which now includes Olvera Street. Captain Gillespie instituted a strict marshal law on the citizens of the pueblo and rather than yielding to the unjust orders, the Californios organized themselves into a force of 600 men under the command of General Jose Maria Flores. The Californios surrounded the fort and negotiated the withdrawal of American forces in September of 1846. But in October, Stockton regrouped with 550 men and sought to reverse the trend of recent American defeats. However, Stockton and his men were soon defeated at the Battle of Rancho Dominquez and were forced to retreat to the feated the American forces under the command of General Stephen Kearny who then attempts reorganization and move northward to meet up with Colonel John C. Fremont. The American troops rally and defeat the Californio forces at the Battle of Rio San Gabriel and the Battle of La Mesa and set their sights on recapturing Los Angeles. But the Californios are ready to negotiate the end of hostilities and agree to the terms of the Treaty of Cahuenga which is signed in January 1847, and effectively ends the conflict in California. American forces return to Fort Hill and rebuild it just in case hostilities start up again. On July 4, 1847, the fort is dedicated as Fort Moore, named after Captain Benjamin D. Moore of the 1st Dragoons, and one of 22 men killed in the Battle of San Pasqual. Fast forward to 1957, when a stone, terra-cotta walled monument is built on the site of Fort Moore. The monument is known as the Fort Moore Pioneer Memorial and depicts American forces raising the US flag on July 4, 1847, the first time the US flag was raised in honor of the first American Independence Day in Los Angeles. The memorial is nearly 50 feet tall and extends for over 400 feet with multiple sculptured panels and a concrete waterfall. Today, the memorial can be seen on Hill Street, just off the 101 Freeway in downtown Los Angeles. The memorial oversees the Plaza of Los Angeles, a short 500 yards south of the former Fort Moore Hill. In addition to the flag raising depiction, small hand-carved images of pioneers arriving in Los Angeles are also included as part of the memorial.

There are laws that are supposed to help prevent these kind of crimes; however the penalties are not very strong. The citizens need to contact the legislators and let them know that we need to have something more seriously done in the way of penalties for this type of crime. As it is, many people think that the legislators are deliberately not addressing this issue because it is also a racial issue.

If you become a victim of one of these terrorists and you feel you have to take care of business yourself, be careful and think it through. You could end up committing a crime yourself.

Sadly over the past 60 years, the memorial has succumbed to the years and elements and fell into disrepair and vandalism. But the Board of Los Angeles County Supervisors and the City of Los Angeles recently earmarked nearly $600 million to restore and preserve the historical memorial, a memorial dedicated to the soldiers who fought to free California and the pioneers who made this great state what it is today.....

Will We Ever See 4% GDP Growth Again?

It's hard to believe but in fully half of the years from 1950 to 1999, the U.S. economy grew by over 4%, yet there has not been a single year of 4% GDP growth since Y2K. From 1950 to 1999, the average growth rate was 3.68%, almost twice the average since 2000.

The latest GDP figures were announced on Friday, January 27. Real GDP grew at a 1.9% annual rate in O4, three-tenths under the 2.2% consensus estimate. GDP rose just 1.6% in 2016 as a whole, the weakest since 2011. Final sales rose 2.0%, however, which is respectable. The low water mark for GDP was the second quarter, while the final sales positive turning point followed in the third quarter. Weakness in both output and demand traces from the collapse in oil prices in 2015. With oil prices stable now and oil output rising again, 2017 GDP growth is likely to be 2.5% even before any policy changes go into effect. Slow growth came under both Republican (Bush) and Democrat (Obama) Presidencies. There are many contributing causes to this chronic decline in growth since the 1990s, but a primary reason is the dearth of new small businesses growing into large businesses.

Back in 2001, America was justifiably outraged about corporate excesses in such companies as Enron and Worldcom, so our legislators created complex new regulations for financial accountability of companies. The resulting Sarbanes-Oxley ("SOX") law was signed by President George W. Bush into law in July of 2002. As with many such laws, the unintended consequences (restraint on growth) have outweighed the intended outcome - which was preventing corporate fraud. One unintended consequence was an impenetrable jungle of rules and regulations that intimidated small-to-medium-sized private companies from going public. SOX's large array of internal controls is costly and cumbersome, putting smaller firms at a disadvantage to big firms if they are considering going public.

In the nine years before SOX, there were an average 528 initial public offerings (IPOs) per year. After SOX, the average was only 135 IPOs, a decline of 75% per vear.

In the last 15 to 20 years the total number of new securities coming to market has been shrinking extremely fast. Large companies can afford lobbyists and lawyers to navigate these complex regulations or to push Congress into protecting their corporate moats in the name of "saving jobs," but shutting out small businesses also kills millions of potential new jobs, which come more from small businesses than large.

It should come as no shock that big businesses want to shut out their smaller, hungrier competition. It's self-interest. It's rare when a big-time CEO admits this fact, but recently Charles Koch, CEO of Koch Industries told ABC's This Week that regulations are rigged in favor of large firms. "Corporate welfare," he said, "benefits established companies and makes it difficult for somebody to get started."

The new Trump administration has discussed a potential rollback of some of the most counter-productive financial regulations. This has tended to make business owners feel more confident. A Business Journals survey taken on November 9th, the day after the election, found that 82% of businesses felt confident that their prospects would improve over the next 12 months. That's the highest reading in nearly a decade.

Wall Street does not know yet if the Trump team can repeal or reform onerous regulations, but with a repatriation of overseas corporate cash, you have reason to hope a return to a more sensible level of regulation could deliver 4% growth by 2018.

pated amount of my tax bill?

You have until April 18, 2017 to take action. If you qualify, (mostly based on income limits), you might consider putting up to $5,000 ($6,000 if you are 50 or older) into an IRA (Individual Retirement Account). (Roth IRA's don't give you an upfront tax break.) Some lower-income taxpayers might qualify for a Retirement Savers Tax Credit. Note that a tax credit has a lot more impact on your tax bill than a tax deduction.

My tax bracket went from 15% to 25% because of my investment earnings. I don't need those earnings at this time. Is there a way to get back into the 15% bracket? My CPA suggests I get a mortgage on my paid-off house so I can write off the interest. This is not something I want to do. Is there another way to lower my tax bracket?

Financing a paid-off home in order to get the mortgage-interest write-off is throwing your money away. First of all, it takes time to recover the costs involved in getting a mortgage. Secondly, if you work out the math, you would be paying roughly $2 - $3 per $1 of mortgageinterest deduction. You'd be better off to just pay the tax. Since you do not need the investment earnings, you could reposition your investment dollars into a tax-deferred product. That way, you'll only pay taxes on the earnings when you decide to use the money.

What are the different retirement accounts, and which one(s) are best?

There are traditional IRAs, Roth IRAs, 401(k)s, Simple IRAs, SEP IRAs, Solo 401(k)s, and Roth 401(k)s. With some, you contribute as a deduction from your wages through a company your employer has selected. With others, you contribute directly through an institution, usually a bank or insurance company. There are pro's and con's of each type of account, so determination of which one(s) you qualify to utilize, and which of those are best for you, comes down to an individual, educated choice. Learn what you can online, and consult with a good financial professional.

What's currently happening in the real estate world?

The real estate market is showing signs of turning to a "buyer's market." Less than a year ago, it was clearly a "seller's market" as buyers were paying more than the asking price for a home. Now, we're starting to see price reductions on the asking price of a home in order to sell. If your retirement plans were put on hold because of the 2009 drop in value of your California home, now's the time to dust off those plans and reconsider selling. Beat those who wait until the spring and summer rush by putting your home on the market now. You can stipulate a long escrow in order for the kids to finish out the school year. Get a free market analysis from a trusted Realtor or two. (Don't just trust Zillow, etc.)

I don't even come close to meeting the high deductible each year, so I don't get much of anything from having the government-required health insurance. Is there anything that would help to reduce my out-ofpocket expense?

Normal driving conditions through dust, caused by the wind and the smog and exhaust of daily driving, will cause some cabin air filters to get very clogged with pollutants and cause your vehicle's ventilation system to run very inefficiently. # Show The New Year Who's Boss -Sticking To Your Fitness Resolutions

Whether you are resolving to maintain a nutritious diet, lose weight or run your first marathon this year, managing your personal health is a common resolution that can be difficult to keep. Alan Lobel, a 70-yearold SilverSneakers member, set out to achieve his personal fitness goal nearly seven years ago, and is still going strong today.

Lobel started his fitness routine on a stationary bike in hopes of keeping the most important muscle in his body his heart—healthy. Through targeted goal setting and dedication to improving his quality of life, Lobel made it his personal mission to ride 14,000 miles. Today, Lobel has surpassed his goal and shares he's in the best shape of his life.

Sheri Pruitt, Ph.D., Vice President and Chief Behavioral Scientist for SilverSneakers Fitness, shares that Lobel likely met his goal due to changing his everyday behaviors. "The secret to behavioral change comes down to setting a goal, monitoring your progress, arranging your world for success, recruiting a support team and treating yourself for your progress," she explains.

If you are determined to get more active this coming year and achieve a new goal, like Lobel, the following tips from SilverSneakers Fitness may help you stay motivated and avoid resolution setbacks.

1. Set Goals You Can Reach Set realistic and specific goals. For example, make a goal to walk 10 miles a week, or to exercise twice a week, and increase from there. Big commitments tend to be overwhelming and unsustainable.

2. Write it Down

If you want to stay committed to your fitness routine, plan for the week ahead and map out which classes fit into your schedule. Writing down the schedule will help you stay accountable for your goals.

3. Become an Early Bird By waking up early and knocking out your exercise in the morning, you ensure that the day's unexpected surprises don't interfere with your exercise plans.

4. Make it a Date

Find a workout partner to attend classes with to ensure you stick to your goals. According to the SilverSneakers annual participant survey, 49 percent say the desire to spend time with other SilverSneakers members motivated them to exercise.

For more than 20 years, SilverSneakers has been helping older adults reach their fitness goals, maximize their health, maintain their lifestyle and improve overall well-being during retirement years.

Christ Healing – Still Possible Today

By Don Ingwerson

To everyone engaged in the current quest for health, the healing works that Christ Jesus did centuries ago invite a search for truth about our own relationship to God and how that relationship directly affects our health. Jesus' influence on life and spirituality still speaks to us, and his success in treating disease remains unparalleled by modern medicine.

For centuries people believed that his healing works couldn't be repeated. But as the age of scientific inquiry dawned, the question inevitably came up: were there scientific laws behind what Jesus did that could be repeatedly demonstrated?

One person whose life was directly affected by Jesus' healing message was Mary Baker Eddy. Almost 2000 years after Christ Jesus, Eddy experienced and consistently demonstrated the same healing power of God and went on to write Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, found the Christian Science church, and profoundly affect the current conversation on health, healing, and mankind's unbroken connection to God by proving that Jesus' healing method continues to be practical today. Because of the insights Eddy gained through her study of Christ Jesus' healing works, a new paradigm was presented to spiritual seekers – our divine right to health and harmony. A while back, I published an article on health from this spiritual perspective, and one reader was irate over the description of Mary Baker Eddy as a theologian and religious leader. But as Jesus expressed while teaching the multitudes, "Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him;" this commenter's animosity was softened when other readers suggested he was unreasonable in his comments. I was grateful for this Christian resolution of a difference in opinion.

What his comment did do was inspire me to explore what others have said in support of Mary Baker Eddy and Science and Health. She received many awards and comments about her work and healings. One in particular was by Mitch Horowitz. In The Atlantic's "100 Most Influential Americans," Horowitz put Science and Health in the category of thought-provoking books that may change your life. In addition to publishing Science and Health, Eddy also founded The Christian Science Monitor, a Pulitzerprize-winning newspaper dedicated to fair and balanced reporting of the news. She continued to emulate Christ Jesus' love for mankind in her writings and her life, as reflected in her statement in No and Yes, "True prayer is not asking God for love; it is learning to love, and to include all mankind in one affection."

These are powerful statements and examples of Eddy's contributions, but probably her most profound contribution was discovering that Christ Jesus' healing method continues to be demonstrable today. She presented her findings in Science and Health, taught the healing method she had discovered, and healed many who came to her for help with health issues. A powerful component of these healing results was the voluntary and inspired sharing of healings that helped encourage others to find a higher, more spiritual view of themselves. Perhaps this is one aspect of what Eddy meant when she wrote in Science and Health, "...progress is the law of God." What she accomplished still offers healing answers for anyone looking not only for better health but also for their connection with God, divine Love.
