Glendora's New Police Chief Lisa Rosales

By Jayam Rutnam

GLENDORA - The new Glendora Police Chief Lisa Rosales will begin her duties on February 6, 2017. Lisa Rosales will succeed Glendora Police Chief Tim Staab who retired after three years, from the position.

Lisa Rosales was chosen from 33 applicants, who went through two Boards to make their recommendations. The Boards agreed on three individuals, of which Lisa was the main choice. The three candidates were interviewed by Glendora City Manager Chris Jeffers, who chose Lisa Rosales. The Glendora City Council then ratified her as Police Chief, on January 11, 2017.

Lisa Rosales is a 19 year resident of the City of Glendora and has maintained a home in Glendora although she was stationed in other cities in Califor-

Lisa Rosales has extensive police experience having been with the Pasadena Police Department for 27 years, as Officer; Corporal; Sergeant; Lieutenant and Commander. She then applied and was appointed as Chief of Police in the City of San Pablo (near San Francisco) in 2014.

Lisa Rosales has a Bachelor of Arts from the University of San Diego and a Masters in Public Administration from the University of La Verne. She has received a number of California P.O.S.T. certificates including graduation from the prestigious Command College.

After earning her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of San Diego in 1986, she was a substitute teacher. Her interest in police work was the result of two friends who in 1977 were kidnapped and murdered around her quiet hometown area. The victims were killed at the hands of the "Hillside Strangler" who terrorized the Los Angeles area in the late 1970's with the killing of 10 women. While in the teaching field, Rosales somehow knew she had to do more to help people and families in the community terrorized by violent crime. She was hired by the Pasadena Police Department who sponsored her to attend Rio Hondo Police Academy.

"Her desire to contribute and live in Glendora has come true, and we are very fortunate to have her wealth of experience and leadership become part of the Glendora Police Department," said City Manager Chris Jeffers.

Glendora Mayor Gene Murabito said that all the members of the Glendora City Council were "very happy with the choice."

Literacy Garden Breathes Fresh Air into Science for Students in Azusa Unified's Program for the Visually Impaired

AZUSA - With shovels, dirty hands and the help of teacher Diana Dennis, Azusa Unified School District's visually impaired and blind students are learning the science of plants with a newly renovated Literacy Garden at Valleydale Elementary School.

Hauling soil, seeds and gloves from her car to the classroom is a routine the first-year Azusa Unified teacher adopted during the fall semester. As a teacher of visually impaired and blind students between first and fifth grade, her goal is to help them be active learners and thinkers through hands-on outdoor activities - specifically through the Literacy Garden.

"I feel that gardening offers a unique hands-on learning experience for my students," Dennis said. "The students need these kinds of learningby-doing experiences in order to build knowledge and support their concept development."

When Dennis first arrived on campus last summer, the existing garden space was in need of attention after the dry, summer months. Dennis saw it as an opportunity to give the garden new life while creating a living classroom that kinesthetically teaches students about science and gardening simultaneously.

Utilizing lesson plans from the American Printing House for the Blind, Dennis enlists the assistance of sighted peers to work alongside her students in the Literacy Garden. During the fall semester, students focused on learning about the process of plant growth, the maintenance required to produce flourishing plants and the difference in growth based on soil composition.

"For the visually impaired and blind students, it can be difficult to understand what people with sight can see and how things appear from different angles and vice versa," Dennis said. "Listening to the directions and observations of sighted students, the visually impaired and blind students receive a deeper understanding of the lesson."

Dennis was recently recognized by the California Retired

Valleydale Elementary School students water newly planted seeds in their Literacy Garden, a program orchestrated by teacher Diana Dennis for visually and blind students.

Teachers Association (CalRTA) for her work with the Literacy Garden, receiving a grant for creating a dynamic classroom experience that engages students in creative ways.

"CalRTA reaches out to support current teachers because we've been there," CalRTA Director of Communications Debbie Pate-Newberry said. "We know it can be tough. We support teachers, their students and the entire education community."

Due to increased interest, a waiting list has been created to ensure that all students have the opportunity to work in the garden. Dennis hopes to host an outdoor library where students will be able to check out books and study in a natural environment.

"Through the literacy garden, Ms. Dennis has created an innovative approach to student learning that is making a significant difference in the lives of our students," Superintendent Linda Kaminski said. "Finding and implementing creative ways for students to learn is what can make all the difference in the growth of a child, and Dennis is doing just that."

How To Express Sympathy

When a friend, family member or co-worker experiences a loss, it can be hard to know what to say, but just about any acknowledgment of sympathy is better than nothing.

Here are helpful tips:

Funeral Etiquette in Different Religions

According to the experts at 1-800-Flowers.com, which handles nearly a million funeral and sympathy orders a year, it's best to keep in mind the religion of the mourners while you prepare to offer your condolences and support.

For Roman Catholic or certain other Christian funeral services, including Mormon, you can honor the deceased by visiting the funeral home during scheduled visiting hours and sending sympathy flowers, cards and donations in the name of the deceased. One arrangement that's a lovely choice features blue flowers to symbolize tranquility and white flowers to symbolize peace. A standing spray or floor basket is also a great choice.

Other religions for which sympathy flowers make an appropriate gift are Buddhist and Hindu.

For a Jewish funeral service, the funeral home hours are fewer, as the casket is usually Instead, bring fruit, desserts and other nourishing food, such as the With Remembrance Kosher Fruit & Sweets Basket.

Flowers are also not appropriate for Muslim funeral traditions—opt for a gift of food instead.

After the funeral, you may want to send flowers or a gift to the home.

County Votes To Expand "Mental Evaluation Teams" And Establish Mental Health "Triage Help Desk"

To help prevent use-of-force incidents and improve outcomes for individuals with mental health issues, the Board of Supervisors unanimously approved a motion by Supervisors Kathryn Barger and Mark Ridley-Thomas which seeks to expand the number of Mental Evaluation Teams (MET teams) from 10 to 23. "Proactive and compassionate engagement that includes a mental health expert will reduce confrontations and provide access to treatment for individuals in crisis instead of incarceration," said Supervisor Barger. "Expanding this vital program will also help law enforcement in its effort to avoid use of deadly force, protect the public, save lives and money.'

"These MET teams provide a proven and effective approach in dealing with individuals suffering from mental illness," said Supervisor and Board Chairman Mark Ridley-Thomas. "It makes per-LOSANGELES COUNTY - fect sense that we expand this for mental health treatment and program to ensure success throughout the County."

> MET teams consist of a mental health clinician paired with a Sheriff's Deputy who respond to emergency calls involving psychiatric crisis or critical incidents and provide immediate assistance to those in need. Los Angeles County was the first in the nation to develop co-response teams as a pilot program in the early 1990s. Since MET service began in January, 1993, the Department of Mental Health has partnered with 35 law enforcement agencies, including the Los Angeles Police Department, to develop more than 80 co-response teams.

MET teams responded to 1,154 calls for service during FY2015-2016. Of these calls, 64% resulted in hospitalizations less than 1% resulted in an arrest proving that these teams reduce adverse outcomes and prioritize treatment over incarceration.

LOS ANGELES C

Recent publicized reports describing confrontations between law enforcement personnel and individuals with untreated mental illness reveals the severity of the problem. Although most interactions between law enforcement and those with mental illness end peacefully, it is estimated that 10% of law enforcement calls involve individuals who are mentally ill -- and such interactions carry a high risk. In situations where minor crimes are driven by mental illness, rather than criminal tendencies, diversion into treatment - including psychiatric hospitalization – is a more effective response.

Man Killed By Azusa Officers After He Points Loaded Gun at Them

By George Ogden

AZUSA - Azusa Police were involved in an officer involved shooting with an armed suspect late Sunday night, January 15, around 11:30 p.m. Officers were responding to "shots

Officers had responded to the call and were in the residential neighborhood of Windsong Court and Ranch Road in Azusa. Officers were talking with the suspect's wife when the unidentified 49-yearold husband showed up pointing the gun at the police officers. The suspect failed to drop his weapon or follow commands and a shooting took place. The suspect was hit at least once. First aid was administered as paramedics arrived at the scene.

Residents in the area originally heard the suspect shooting before police arrived. After they arrived, they heard yelling, most likely the officers telling the man to drop his weapon, and then they heard a number of shots being fired. Paramedics treated the man but he died at the scene.

No other injuries were reported.

This is an ongoing investigation and there has been no motive stated for the shooting. The Los Angeles County Sheriff's homicide detectives will be investigating the shoot-

Why Republicans Should Let ObamaCare Self Destruct

by Jane M. Orient, M.D.

Suppose you are a surgeon who is called to see a patient who is bleeding from something in his abdomen. You are to consider an exploratory operation to try to find the bleeding point and stop the hemorrhage.

The problem is that the patient has widely metastatic cancer. He has already mostly depleted the blood bank's supply of his blood type. His clotting factors have gotten so diluted that it will be hard to control bleeding from surgery. He is already on the brink of multi-organ failure. His cancer is untreatable.

Should you tell the operating room to get ready? You might have a successful operation and keep the patient going a few months longer. Maybe the Obama Cancer Moonshot will have discovered a cure by then.

But almost certainly the patient will either die on the operating table, or a few days or weeks later, during which time some alleged error or complication will have occurred. And the surgeon, without doubt, will be

The surgeon will most likely decide that the patient is not an operative candidate. If unwilling to say so, he might just send the patient for more tests until the inevitable makes the question of surgery moot.

Now the Trump Administration and the Republican Congress is faced with a crisis in the Affordable Care Act. Most of the coops are gone. A large portion of the exchanges have only one plan to "choose" from. The money appropriated for shoring up insurance companies that experience losses is used up, and the Administration's illegal attempt to take money from other sources such as the Judgment Fund has run into a court challenge.

The patient named ACA has been in trouble since the beginning, but Dr. Obama has intervened unilaterally to save it with exemptions for powerful players (such as some big companies and a "small business" comprised of congressional staffers) and other types of executive finesse.

But now the Republicans are about to take charge. They have been promising, and dithering, and delaying, and gesticulating about using the power of the purse to stop this Democrat-created disaster since 2010. But now the whole health system is in trouble as ACA tentacles are deeply entwined in it, and millions of patients are counting on

ACA health plans. Whatever Congress does will have complications, and if the bipartisan fix or replacement has Republican fingerprints, the Republicans will be

A number of Republican ideas have been floated, and the differences between them are not trivial. Repeal the new taxes, or keep them but redistribute the takings in a different way? Restore hundreds of billions in Medicare cuts, or keep them in order to stay "revenue neutral"? Get rid of the individual mandate, or admit that without increasingly heavy coercion, young and healthy people will not pay the enormous premiums needed to subsidize the chronically ill? The very popular protection for people with preexisting conditions will inevitably destroy insurance.

At this point, the Republican Congress might be best advised to continue doing what it does best: keep talking. Send the patient for more tests.

But the nation's economy, the medical system, and our patients must be freed from the grip of the [Un]affordable Care Act. That monster must die-of its inherent disease, which was created solely by Democrats. Congress, if it can't do something right, needs to do nothing.

It's up to the executive branch to embrace its constitutional

• Stop illegal actions that have been resuscitating ACA and permitting its cancer to spread;

- Stop enforcing unconstitutional law; and
- Reverse the regulations that are blocking the development of better alternatives. Trump could take these actions immediately:

- Withdraw the Administration's appeal of the lawsuit that prevents funding insurers without congressional appropriations (U.S. House of Representatives v. Burwell);
- Order the IRS not to enforce the individual mandate;
- Repeal regulations that require a comprehensive benefits package, and allow insurers to offer low-cost plans;
- Greatly liberalize require-

Those who like their ObamaCare plan could keep it—they just couldn't force younger, healthier subscribers, or current and yet-unborn taxpayers to pay for it. But once allowed to escape from bureaucratic restraints, most Americans will choose something better.

Gov Brown's Budget: $1.6 Billion Short

The California budget has been released with preliminary reports of once again the economy in California under-performing. The Legislative Analyst Office reports the Personal Income Tax revenue, the largest source contributing to the state budget, has slowed and will not meet expectations this upcoming year.

Compounding California's budget issues is the discussion on-going in D.C. about the repeal of Obamacare. Currently the state is looking at $1.8 billion increased Medi-Cal cost over last year and facing a $17 billion lose of funding if Obamacare is repealed. Five million Californians are subsidized under the federal health care plan and most within the Medi-Cal program.

Because of fuel efficiency improvements on the vehicles that drive on California roads, gas tax money to the state budget has decreased. In an effort to shore up that fund that maintains highways and roads, SB 1077, De-Saulnier, was approved in 2014 and implemented a study to evaluate a road tax to replace the gas tax. The "road tax" would charge a driver for each mile driven.

State Transportation Commission was charged with creating a simulation with 5,000 drivers agreeing to participate and paying into an account, with no real money charged and collected, to evaluate the cost and income to the state to replace the gas tax. Those agreeing to participate included average citizens within the state, those traveling across state boundaries, and commercial vehicles. The pilot program will end in March 17, 2017 with a final report on the outcome due after that. That report should indicate the full impact on the average driver, state budget and business communities also who are already taking a hit on the mandatory minimum wage increases.

United Van Lines issued their annual report disclosing their findings of those moving in and out of states across the country. Basic finding: People tend to leave high-tax states to areas where the "tithing" to government is lower.

The Tax Foundation, using the United Van Lines statistics, re-

Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

1. South Dakota, Vermont, and Oregon were the states with the highest percentage of inbound

2. New Jersey, Illinois, and New York had the highest percentage of outbound moves. (For every 1 person entering New Jersey, 2 leave).

3. South Dakota had a 68 percent inbound rate, while New Jersey had a 63 percent outbound

4. California, New Mexico and Delaware had the same number coming in as leaving qualifying them to be called "balanced

The California statistics surprised me. I would like to know exactly who is coming in and exactly who is leaving and how that affects the state overall.

First, these statistics were accumulated before the last round of November ballot measures in California and represent movement in 2016. This year, 2017, may see a totally different environment. The voters decided to support $23 billion in bonds to support education. Those bonds normally are paid off with additions to property tax bills. The demand for affordable housing in California under the increased taxing levels has produced highrise units with less green belt and higher density while ignoring the affordability component. The American Dream has always been a little house, white picket fence and a yard for the kids to play in. If it isn't in California, families will chose to go elsewhere.

Candidate Paul Chabot, Inland Empire candidate for Congress, lost his election bid, and he and his wife took a hard look at the direction California is headed and decided to move to Texas after determining housing was more affordable, taxes were lower and they found a community with excellent schools. Paul will have no problem finding a job in Texas.

California has supported boosting the minimum wage levels up to $15 an hour by 2022. Businesses are evaluating their business plans to be able to afford to stay in business by using lay-offs, importing products at a cheaper cost than manufacturing here and other creative mechanisms. The San Francisco model with support from Gavin Newsom raised their minimum wage prior to the statewide movement and saw many small mom & pops close their doors. You need a job to be able to pay the bills and spend money, not only to enjoy life a bit, but to fuel the economy of the community you live in. No job, you think about going elsewhere.

Incoming President Trump has "rescued" several large corporations that were proposing to relocate their operations out of country because of the environmental hoops they need to jump through and financial demands that put too much pressure on the bottom line of that business. Thanks to President Trump those employees still have jobs and can pay the bills.

Governor Brown needs to take a long, hard look at what is happening in California and why the Personal Income Tax is expected to grow by a mere 3% this next fiscal year. Perhaps his demands on environmental enhancements are too costly and deterring expansion of the business communities; minimum wage increases that are causing stagnation in business hiring practices; explore the reason for local education units supporting so many bond issues that maybe should have been replaced with the billions of dollars being dumped into his fantasy called the "train to nowhere," again billions overbudget; and, the Governor and his legislators should stop trying to solve all the economic woes with another tax or tax increase or a mandate on local governments to patch the holes in policies created by Sacramento liberals.

The Ethic Jesus Taught And Lived -And Our National Hyprocrocy

Last week I reminded our readers of Karl Barth's affirmation that authentic spiritual leaders must hold the Bible in one hand and the newspaper in the other. This Is not that the Bible should be interpreted by current events, but that current events should be interpreted by Scripture. Jesus did not detail how a nation or a city should be governed, but he both implicitly and explicitly laid out a set of ethical presuppositions in his teachings, parables and actions.

Jesus abhorred violence, and was later called "the Prince of Peace. While faithful to his people and his nation, his concern extended far beyond these borders. He welcomed those of other ethnic groups, including Roman soldiers and Samaritans. He consistently befriended the nobodies, the despised, the left out, the "ratted on and spat upon." His ministry was spent building bridges, particularly those that welcomed the nobodies. He gave himself to tearing down walls of bigotry and fear. He practiced radical hospitality. His first sermon at his home synagogue laid out this ethical agenda.

The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the

he has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the

to set the oppressed free....

He lived out a radical acceptance of the nobodies in his society. And the "poor heard him gladly." He railed against those whose lives were spent in the arrogant accumulation of riches, and the system in which the rich prospered at the expense of everyone else. Many of his parables focused on the need to care for the natural world God gave us.

Charles H. Bayer

Take that ethic and place against what Donald Trump described in his own words and in those he has called to execute his promises, and what you will have is the opposite of everything Jesus embraced! It begins by taking the greatest military force in history with a destructive power greater than the rest of the world combined, and spending billions of dollars to make it stronger. In confronting the despised others who might challenge us, there is no torture that is to be disallowed—even beyond water boarding. What is more, guns in everyone's hands are to be welcomed and celebrated. And that is just the beginning of Trump's ethical blaspheme.

Someone is brought in by Trump to deal with the problems of the poor who believes that the poor need to be blamed. The American health system is delivered to someone who has no use for the modest effort to protect the millions of uninsured Americans. Tax supported education is now to be controlled by someone who promised to devalue and defund the nation's public schools. Any alternative to fossil fuel is to be downplayed by those who do not believe in the scientific findings on climate change; and the Department of Energy is to be disbanded by someone who could not even remember its name. What seems more important is the short-term ability of fossil fuel corporations to make trillions of dollars. I could go on and on describing how the Trump agenda is the opposite of anything Jesus had to say about how we are to live individually and with each other. And all that could be detailed without discussing Trump as a boastful, egomaniac billionaire who will determine how we spend tax money even through he probably does not pay taxes. Or I could go on to discuss his personal life, his treatment of women, his vulgarity, his life-style, his distain for most of us.

But the thrust of this column is not about Trump or his policies. He is what he is. What is difficult for me is to understand is how 83% of Christian evangelicals backed him and secured his election. I invite any Christian who has supported these policies to show me where anything in the teachings of Jesus is in harmony with what Trump has as his agenda. It is conservative religionists, as well as Trump, who are to be called to account. If following Jesus bears any relationship to the agenda we are now inheriting, let those who support him demonstrate it.

Jesus' call was for his disciples to follow him, not to believe things about him. What does it mean to follow Jesus? Is it not to take him seriously so that we walk "In His Steps?" If not, then the secularists who claim that these self-identified "Christians" are false, hypocritical and simply politically motivated are not spiritually committed, and as such are part of the problem, not part of the answer.

The Way We Are Today!

The younger generation has a lot to learn, or is it that the older generation needs to catch up. Some of us still use the old terms we grew up with and those young-ins don't have a clue what it actually means or why we say

Today, we are in the world of cell phones of all types. Kids wonder why we make certain comments: Why do we "hang up" a phone? Why do we "dial" a phone? Why does a phone or an alarm clock "ring"? Why do we "roll" a car window up or down? Why do we "turn" the device on or off? What is "clockwise"? What do we say "rewind" for a doover? And what the heck is a floppy disk?

Some of the young ones will have to look this up on Google on their smart phone.

Some phrases that we old folks used to use are: "Out of sight", "Groovy", that's "Rad" or "That's smoking".

Some phrases you don't hear too much today when it applies to girls or ladies on how nice they look. "She's a fox", "she's a knockout", "check that out, she's a 10", "she's smoking hot", are just a few of the terms you don't hear too often anymore. The reason for this is because there has been some changes over the years from everything at the office to everyday life.

Back in the old days, girls and women dressed more ladylike. Even in schools there were dress codes. In the old days you would go into any kind of an office and the women would be dressed in skirts and dresses very feminine and professional. Today we find them wearing jeans or pants, sometimes wearing a sweatshirt or dressed down altogether. Often it does not look very professional for the job that they are doing. Tattoos have been a big thing for ladies and girls lately along with piercing in their nose, lips, eyebrows or whatever else. Then they go to work representing their company like that. For some people this is a real turnoff. As you can probably figure, I'm not really a fan of this for young ladies. I don't think a girl is an easel for ink work. I find myself not using photos for press pieces if a girl has piercings and/ or tattoos. I am concerned with other people might think. I will give you an example. When a Congresswoman in the area attended an event and made some Congressional Presentations, I took a group picture of 6 women with the Congresswoman. Five of the girls and the Congresswomen were in either a skirt or dress with one lady in jeans. She had tattoos on one arm and piercings in her nose and eyebrow. She was a nice looking girl without all that stuff on her, but, to me, it looked nasty. I got a couple of other opinions as to whether or not I should use the picture in the article. Out of respect for the Congresswoman and the other ladies, I pulled the picture, and did not submit it. It disappointed some of the people in the picture that it wasn't printed in the paper.

I can imagine your fingers in your nose trying to install this thing or one of those earrings stuck in the side of the nose and your finger jammed in there up to the second knuckle, and guess what, you're my waitress.

Guys aren't much better, business suits or jackets have been thrown out the window. Showing up at a business meeting wearing jeans or sandals doesn't seem very professional to me.

Women who were skirts and/ or dresses and men who wear suits and/or ties, don't have to demand respect, it comes automatically when you're dressed somewhat professionally.

Sadly, that's not the way it works in our society today, and I guess we just have to live with it. "That's Just the Way It Is!"

By Joe Castillo RECORD FLOODS .... The recent heavy storms have brought much needed precipitation to the entire state but most especially to the southland. Green plants and yards have replaced the rusty brownish tint which spread in abundance as a result of our fiveyear drought. Since October 1, the Los Angeles region has received 8.75 inches of rainfall as compared to last years' 3.75 inches in the same time frame. The normal amount of rain is 5.47 inches so clearly we have received more rain than our usual share. Since history has been recorded in California, rainfall amounts and resulting floods have made its way into the states record books.

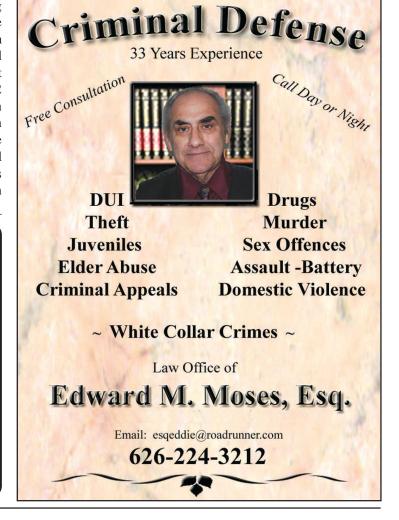

Father Juan Crespi who recorded the travels of the early Spanish expeditions wrote of the Los Angeles River overflowing its banks in 1770 and flooding the entire countryside running alongside the river. During the 19th century, at least sixteen major floods were reported throughout the state. The most devastating flood was in 1861-62 when it was reported that the San Joaquin Valley was so swollen with rain water that an area the size of Lake Michigan was filled with enough water that boats would sail over the telegraph poles which had been installed throughout the Sacramento Valley communication routes. The floods took a large toll on human lives and livestock populations through the 20th century.

TIME JOCKEY" - Waterlogged

In 1916, the San Diego area suffered heavy flood damage caused by over 16 inches of rain falling in a 24-hour period. In 1955, the largest amount of rain was recorded from Santa Barbara north to the Oregon border with over 1 million acres of land inundated with water. The amount of damages exceeded $200 million with 64 lives lost from the wild floods. More recently, 1969 also provided to be a heavy rainfall year with a 195% of normal rainfall total reported in the northern part of the state and a 550% increase in the southern coastal areas. Forty counties were declared emergency disaster areas including Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside.

California has always had a wide range of rainfall throughout its nearly 1,400 mile length. The largest annual amount of rainfall recorded in the state was 153.54 inches in Monumental, Del Norte County in 1909, which was also the same year over 71 inches of rain fell in a single month at Helen's Mine, Lake County. This year's rainfall amount of nearly nine inches pales in comparison to record rainfall years but damages caused by flooding is still a very real possibility. Southern California desperately needs the rainfall but not at the expense of damage to property and lives. ....

Last year at this time, the S&P 500 fell 6% in the opening week of 2016, the worst opening week ever. This year, the S&P rose 1.7% in the opening week. Last week, the Dow Industrial index rose 1.02%, but 20,000 remains a temporary ceiling. As soon as we break through 20,000, Wall Street expects 20,000 will become more of a launching pad for the overall market; earnings season will reward stocks that post strong sales and earnings growth.

Most new year's begins with optimism and 2017 is no exception. On January 20, we will have a new President who wants to be a cheerleader for America. This has sparked an outbreak in the Capital Markets, including a stock market rally and an incredible surge in the U.S. dollar. The bad news is that a super-strong dollar could cause analysts to revise their earnings estimates lower for some manufactures as well as multinational stocks.

Many of my colleagues on Wall Street expect 2017 may be a spectacular year! Typically, Americans give every new President 100 days or so to implement his agenda before becoming more critical. This time around, it will be interesting to see how long it takes the Trump administration to implement its agenda before criticism mounts. With control of Congress, it is possible that the Trump administration may have an even longer honeymoon, despite a largely cynical news media. Right now, I expect the stock market will be relatively strong through April, but if Wall Street anticipates accelerating earnings growth from corporate tax reform, the rally could last even longer.

S&P 500 is forecasted to post 3.2% annual earnings growth for the fourth quarter, but the S&P is also expected to post 1.25% annual sales decline. However, the overall earnings environment is expected to improve immensely as 2017 unfolds. In April, when first-quarter sales and earnings are announced, the annual pace of earnings growth is expected to pick up to as much as 8% due in part to easier year-over-year comparisons for energy stocks as well as higher natural gas and crude oil prices. If the Trump administration can get Congress to implement corporate tax reform, then the S&P 500's earnings could explode to a 20% annual rate. Mass repatriation of overseas cash might boost corporate stock buy-backs. In other words, the upcoming months could be quite exciting.

The Dollar, at a 15-Year High, Limits the Fed's Options

The U.S. dollar hit a 15-year high on Tuesday. However, the dollar abruptly sold off on Wednesday after the Fed released dovish Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) minutes of their December 13-14 meeting, which cited "considerable uncertainty" about the impact of the incoming Trump administration. acknowledged that the prospects for fiscal stimulus, such as infrastructure spending and tax cuts, should boost economic growth in the upcoming years. The bad news is that the FOMC seems to have no idea how market interest rates would react to all the fiscal stimulus, even though market rates have risen considerably since the election on the anticipation of more government spending.

The FOMC also "expressed the need for caution" about the "substantial changes" in financial conditions. This essentially means that the FOMC may not be raising key interest rates further until it gets a better handle on the impact of the Trump Administration's fiscal stimulus. In fact, Fed Chairman Janet Yellen said, "We're operating under a cloud of uncertainty at the moment." The FOMC cited three primary risks: (1) the impact of a strengthening U.S. dollar, (2) financial instability overseas, and (3) the fact that interest rates are close to zero overseas. In other words, the Fed may be taking its cues from global market rates moving forward. Due to low interest rates overseas, Wall Street thinks the Fed should be increasingly cautious, especially since a strong U.S. dollar could hinder exports and possibly begin to impact overall economic growth. Since the Fed is "data dependent," Wall Street will be watching the economic statistics very closely in upcom-

Your Money - Ask Julia

Do you think the stock market will crash right after President-elect Trump takes office? If it does, I can't take the loss. What do I do?

The stock market is risky. Go online and get the big picture by looking at a chart that covers 5 to 10 years of the stock market ups and downs. Overall, from the beginning of year one to current, do you see that the stock market has gone up? It's very hard to ride out the lows. If you have only a few years until retirement, it could be critical that you take another look at your financial plan. Either way, you should look into diversifying the types of investments you are using to reach your goals. Don't limit yourself to only investing in the stock market. There are safer places to

I got a bonus in December and cashed the check in January. Can I claim it as income in 2017?

No. You'll need to claim it as income received in 2016 because that's when your employer paid you. In the future, if you anticipate a bonus next December, talk to your boss to see if other arrangements can be made. Beware that in some cases, unless you specify, some employers do not subtract withholding taxes when they issue bonus checks.

Why was half the cost of my $100,000 group term life insurance policy through work added to my income on my W2?

Only the cost of the first $50,000 of group term life insurance is considered a tax-free fringe benefit. Additional bad news: The IRS uses its own table to determine the cost of group term life insurance. This frequently is higher than the actual amount being paid by the employer, resulting in a higher "phantom" income on your W2. You might want to consider accepting your employer's $50,000 "free" coverage and looking into purchasing your own life insurance policy outside the company. Besides, if you were to lose your job, you'd need your own coverage anyway.

I'm a Realtor, and I'm frustrated with mortgage loan people who say my buyer has loan approval and then days before close of escrow that lender says there's a problem with the appraisal and their mortgage insurance certification! Is there a way to avoid this disaster?

Yes. Get a loan originator / loan officer who has access to loans offered by a wholesale lender who stands by their mortgage insurance certification from early in the loan process all the way to funding. They really do exist!

I have some money that I'd like to pass on to my beneficiaries. What do you suggest?

It really depends on what's really suitable for your individual situation. If you qualify, I'd recommend putting your money into a paid-up life insurance policy. That way, upon your death, your beneficiaries could receive the money income tax free. If you use the right kind of life insurance policy, you could have access to those funds during your lifetime - just in case your plans change. If you don't qualify for life insurance, I'd recommend putting your money into a fixed, or equity-indexed annuity. You could select a bonus annuity, have access to the funds in your lifetime, and choose between methods for your beneficiaries to receive their inheritance via a lump sum, or a gradual payout over five or more years

Baldwin Park Elementary School Hosts College and STEM Event

Volunteers seek to inform Central Elementary families about pathways to a college education

BALDWIN PARK - Central Elementary School parents and their children will take part in a Family College and STEM Night at 6 p.m. Thursday, January 19 thanks to a partnership between the school and a group of community volunteers.

The 90-minute event will provide parents with a workshop on college attendance while students engage in a STEM activity.

"We cannot thank the volunteers who coordinated this event enough for their selfless devotion to helping ensure our students are on a trajectory that leads them to college," Baldwin Park Unified Superintendent Froilan N. Mendoza said.

The volunteers are young professionals who have been sharing their talents at Baldwin Park Uniyears. Much of the group's work has focused on STEM assemblies. This year, leaders decided to begin evening workshops to engage parents as well.

The Jan. 19 event is the second of four evening workshops planned for this year. Events are also set for March 16 and May 11. The events target students in fifth and sixth grade and their par-

"We realized that inspiring the students to go to college is one part of the process," said Gonzalo Aranguiz, a civil engineer who leads the group. "The other side of the story is what the parents do to guide their kids to go to college."

Aranguiz's parents did not go to college and were limited in how they could help him. His goal face the same hurdle.

"We saw that gap and so now we are providing information to the parents as well," he said.

Speakers include Corinna Jaramillo, a financial aid expert from Rio Hondo College in Whittier, and Edgar Lozano, a mechanical engineering student at the University of California, Merced.

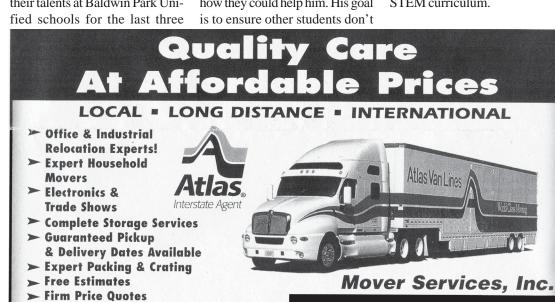

Central Elementary, a California Gold Ribbon School, offers a strong emphasis on STEM topics. This year, every student at the school participated in the annual Hour of Coding. Principal Esther Garcia said the school is also exploring the possibility of offering courses with curriculum from Project Lead The Way, the nation's leading provider of STEM curriculum.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the City Council of the City of Covina will conduct a PUBLIC HEARING in the City Hall Council Chamber, 125 East College Street, Covina, on Tuesday, February 7, 2017, at 7:30 p.m. to consider resolutions approving Community Facilities District No. 2007-1 (Public Services) Annexation No. 10, and authorizing submittal of levy of special taxes to the qualified electors.

On December 20, 2016, the City Council adopted Resolution No. 16-7574 ("Resolution of Intention") declaring its intention to annex into Community Facilities District No. 2007-1 (Public Services) (the "CFD") certain territory referred to herein as Annexation No. 10. The territory of Annexation No. 10 is specifically described in that certain Annexation Map, attached as Exhibit "A" to the Resolution of Intention. The types of public services to be provided and financed by the CFD are (i) police services, (ii) fire protection and suppression services, (iii) paramedic services and (iv) park maintenance. Except where funds are otherwise available, a special tax sufficient to pay for the above services will be annually levied and collected upon all non-exempt property within the CFD and Annexation No. 10 in the same manner as ordinary ad valorem property taxes, as more particularly set forth in that certain First Amended Rate and Method of Apportionment, attached as Exhibit "B" to the Resolution of Intention. Reference is made to the Resolution of Intention on file in the office of the City Clerk for details about the extent of the CFD, the Services, the Special Tax, the protest proceeding and the proposed voting procedure. A copy of the Resolution of Intention and the associated staff report are on file and available for public inspection in the office of the City Clerk, located at 125 E. If a majority protest against Annexation No. 10 into the CFD is filed, as determined in accordance with Section 53324 of the Act, no further proceedings for Annexation No. 10 or to authorize the Special Tax upon the certain property proposed for annexation shall be taken for a period of one year from the date of the decision of the City Council. If the majority protests are only against the furnishing of a specified type or types of services within the proposed annexation area of the CFD or portions of the Special Tax within Annexation No. 10, those services or that portion of the Special Tax shall be eliminated. The hearing and protest procedures with respect to Annexation No. 10 are more particularly set forth in the Resolution of Intention.

If the City Council determines to establish the CFD and proposes to levy the Special Tax, the City Council will submit the levy of the Special Tax to the qualified electors of the CFD. ## Changing Your Mind About Resolutions

By Dr. Lori LaCivita

For many people, the start of a new year is a time to reflect on where they are, what they've accomplished—and what they still need to do. While nearly half of Americans make New Year's resolutions, only 8 percent report being successful in achieving their goals, according to a study by The University of Scranton. There is hope, however, for those who want to turn their good intentions into something they can be proud of, anytime of the year.

Resolving to Succeed

The reality is, change takes time and can be difficult. There are advantages to thinking differently about goal-setting. For example, goals are not meant to be set only on January 1. Instead,

You're more likely to attain your goals and go on to others if you reconsider your approach to goal-setting and keep in mind that perfection isn't realistic—strive for progress and improvement. Tips for Successful Goals

Focus your efforts. Determine the outcome you want to achieve and focus your efforts toward that result. Some people come up with 10 goals and become so overwhelmed, they don't achieve any of them. Concentrate your energy and your goals can come into focus. Think small. Avoid such grandiose goals as losing 50 pounds. Instead, make short-term goals that lead to long-term goals, such as losing five pounds in three months. If you aim for something small and achievable that encourages you to reach your ultimate goal, the journey will be more manageable and therefore more successful.

Be specific. The more distinct you make your goals, the clearer your path toward achieving them. When writing down goals, include a timeline and how you plan to measure progress. Define what the goal means to you and how it will benefit you.

Take care of yourself. Stop all-or-nothing thinking. Remember, it's better to do something than to do nothing. When you make any life change, whether it's going back to school or starting a new job, you need to make sure you're practicing self-care at the same time.

Stay motivated. It's not how many times you get knocked down but how many times you get up. Failure is temporary, so don't beat yourself up. Instead, celebrate milestones of your progress along the way as you reach your goals.
