INSIDE Glendoran Rides On Donate Life Float In 2017 Rose Parade

by Howard Palmer

PASADENA - The Rose Parade fans who showed up to watch the 128th Rose Parade on New Year's Day found empty streets, except for those New Year's Eve revelers still celebrating. January 1 this year fell on Sunday and keeping with the "Never on Sunday" tradition the parade was moved to Monday, January 2. Early in the morning thousands of spectators could be found lining Orange Grove, Colorado, and Sierra Madre Boulevards.

After a weekend of rain the sky remained overcast and the air cool, not the typical weather for the parade. Shouts of "Happy New Year" could still be heard and right on schedule the opening ceremony gained the attention of the crowd. A fanfare and fireworks filled the air. The Rose Parade was underway with the theme "Echoes of Success" selected by Brad Ratliff, President of the Tournament of Roses.

Just as the parade turned the corner of Orange Grove and Colorado the crowd's favorite appeared in the sky to the West. "Here it comes" was shouted and all eyes and cameras pointed skyward as the Air Force B-2 Spirit stealth bomber swept over the parade route. The massive 172foot wingspan, more than half the length of a football field, could be seen headed toward the San Gabriel Valley.

Among the spectators on Colorado eagerly waiting for the parade to be underway was the family of a Glendoran who had been selected to ride on the Donate Life float. Karen Koch, a 32year resident of Glendora, has been the recipient of a heart transplant through the Donate Life America program. Karen is approaching her second anniversary enjoying her new life. In the evening of January 13, 2015, she received a call notifying her a heart had become available and surgery was scheduled for the next day. What a unique way to celebrate the anniversary with a ride on the Donate Life float,

"Teammates in Life", and to represent the thousands who have benefitted from this program.

Karen's story might be considered typical leading to the need for a new heart. At age 39 in 2001, Karen ended up in the hospital with heart failure and was diagnosed with Dilated Cardiomyopathy. Before being diagnosed she knew she wasn't feeling quite right, but hadn't considered it could be a heart issue. She was enjoying a "normal" life with two children who were 11 and 6 years old at the time. Many parents of Glendora school children know Karen from her involvement in coaching her daughter's cheer team and in community volunteering. The doctors ended up informing her she needed a heart transplant. The doctors' assessment that a new heart was the best solution led to an evaluation and addition to the wait list. Fortunately with medication and three defibrillators she was stabilized enough to delay the transplant need so she focused on raising her family. Karen had the benefit of her husband, Chris, working with a pace maker company, Boston Scientific, so she was under his daily guidance on the pace maker's performance.

In 2011, significant changes began arising and keeping up with daily life became difficult and by April, 2013 her cardiologist informed her it was time to reconsider the heart transplant and in July of 2014 she was officially listed. Receiving her new heart in January, 2015 made Karen realize her old heart had given her a great life. "I was able to see both my kids, Kelly and Kenton, graduate high school, my daughter graduate from college and also see her get married. I now have a grandbaby whom I love and adore". Son, Kenton, is studying business at Cal State University of Fullerton, and is a very accomplished race car driver. Karen supports his passion as they have partnered with Donate Life America to bring awareness to the importance of being a registered organ, eye and tissue donor. In 2016, Kenton raced in a prestigious 24 Hours of Daytona event and won. Thanks to her new heart she was able to witness his success. "A year ago I never would have thought I could travel to cheer him on. I will be forever grateful to my donor and her family and for the decision she made to be a registered organ donor."

Karen's life commitment, "Every opportunity I can find to participate in the promotion of the Donate Life program I have and will continue to do. I need to give back for what has been given to me." There are nearly 120,000 people awaiting an organ transplant in the U.S. To register to be an organ, eye and tissue donor visit www.donateLIFEcalifornia.org, or its Spanish counter-part www.doneVIDAcalifornia.org.

Pathfinders Ministry Gives Joy To Nearly 1500 Azusa Children

By Jorge V. Rosales

AZUSA - The culmination of a whole year's effort by Mayor Joe Rocha, Pastor Gilbert Becerril, community organizations, and dozens of community volunteers took place on Christmas Eve, when nearly 500 preregistered and non-registered needy parents gathered in front office parking lot of Lee Elementary School commencing at approximately 6:00 a.m. in order to receive one free toy for each of their children for Christmas. They endured the rain and cold weather, with some waiting for as much as four hours in order to receive what perhaps would be the only toy their children would receive this Christmas.

It was the Azusa Pathfinders Ministry Eleventh Annual Toy Giveaway organized by Mayor Joe Rocha with the support of Pastor Becerrill, MeLisa Dominguez as coordinator, and a group of nearly 100 volunteers, including the Girl Scouts, Foothill and Slauson Middle school students, and members of the Azusa Canyon City Friends which on Sunday, November 27, held the Pancho Padilla Christmas Toy Drive Breakfast consisting of Menudo, Pozole, and eggs and pancakes breakfast.

The Ministry gets its toys year-round from individuals, businesses, and toy drives. Toys are also collected through a toy drive by the Azusa Chamber of Commerce on December 6 at the Azusa Eagles and by Mike and Yvonne Milton during their 5th annual toy drive at their residence in Azusa on Saturday, December 17, both events with a special visit from Santa Claus.

The Ministry, with the help of MeLisa Dominguez and the Azusa Unified School District staff, develops a list of all the children in need by having their parents sign up weeks in advance and by verifying the number of children that each family has at the Ministry's weekly food bank and referrals from the AUSD. The day of distribution the toys were distributed to the parents in the order that they signed up.

Toys were stored at the Mayor's home, so before they were transported to Lee Elementary School on Saturday morning, on Friday morning they were dusted and price tags removed by volunteers. On distribution day, after a prayer and blessing by Pastor Becerril the toys were unloaded from about a dozen pick-up trucks and brought into the cafeteria, and then volunteers began to unpack and sort them out on top of the school lunch tables into girls, boys, and infant categories, and by approximate age breakdown.

By 9:00 A. M. over 2000 toys were ready to be distributed. This year there were four families allowed to enter the cafeteria with their children to select their toys. The first family was escorted by Azusa Police Chief Steve Hunt and his wife. The second family was escorted by AUSD's Board President, Yolanda Pena. The other two families were escorted by Mike and Yvonne Milton, and Richard Lugo, respectively. For all other families, only one parent was allowed into the cafeteria to select a toy for each of their children as designated by Ms. MeLisa.

As parents' names were called, each parent was accompanied into the cafeteria by a volunteer escort with a color coded card to indicate the number of toys they were allowed to select; one for each of their children. Once they had completed their selection, they were escorted

Suspect Arrested by Police after Chase and K-9 Assist

By George Ogden

COVINA - Covina Police on Sunday, around 9:30 a.m., January 1, were in the parking lot of the Park Inn, 1211 E. Garvey Street when they spotted what they believe was a wanted dangerous felony suspect. He was driving a vehicle and had a female passenger with him. Officers tried to pull him over in the parking lot, but he was able to take off and a pursuit was initiated.

The pursuit lasted only about 3 miles but it was stated that he drove 100 mph. The suspect tried to lose the police and made a number of turns, however, he made the mistake of going down Bender Avenue, just north of Navilla Place, in an unincorporated county area just outside of Covina and this street was a dead end. The suspect got out and ran. SWAT teams where brought into the area along with surrounding area officers and Sheriff deputies.

Covina Officer Rasmussen and his K-9 partner Jarno were soon on the scene. A yard to yard search was conducted and around noon, they were sure they located the suspect in a shed behind a vacant house. The suspect was in fact inside the shed and failed to comply with officers instructions and the K-9 was used for a safe apprehension of the suspect with a minor dog bite.

Officer Rasmussen and his partner Jarno.

Arrested was Bryan McMaster, 46, a male white and a habitual criminal, was booked on felony evading police, as well as warrants for robbery and smuggling drugs. Detectives believe that McMaster was responsible for the Saturday morning armed robbery at a CVS Pharmacy in Glendora. The woman in the car was McMaster's wife and she was being held and investigated as a possible participant in the robbery.

McMaster has been in the area for about four months and has been arrested six times by various agencies. This time, he is being held on three charges and there is "no bail" hold on the criminal.

Assembly Bill 2172 (Jones) permits individuals to bring beer they made at home into an ABC licensed club, restaurant or bar, brewpub, beer or small beer manufacturer premises but only in connection with a home brewers club meeting or home brewed beer competition. ## Into a New Year and Old California Challenges

Happy New Year to all with best wishes for a more successful year than ever before loaded with challenges local and state leaders will face, especially those in California.

President Trump is moving forward fast and pulling no punches. Talk with House and Senate leaders on repeal of the ACA or Obamacare has California facing some financial pain based on a study by UC Berkley Labor Center.

Painful numbers provided by the Labor Center:

• ACA reduced the state's uninsured rate from 27.2% in 2013 to 8.6% in 2015.

· California would lose approximately $20.5 billion in federal funding for Medi-Cal and Covered California subsidies

• 209,000 lost jobs • $1.5 billion lost state and local tax revenue

• $20 billion in lost GDP

The UC study also advices the final analysis will come forward when the Republicans put forth their replacement plan after the January 20th swearing in of the new President. Predicted is a partial repeal of the ACA with strong commitment by Trump to preserving two components of the Obamacare package: 1 - retain provisions for pre-existing conditions; and, 2 - continued coverage for children still living at home.

Lois M. Shade Former Mayor of Glendora

More pain for Gov. Brown and California came when California State Auditors came out with their annual report that is noticeably three years or so late as reported by Cal Watchdog that went on to note a Sacramento Bee article:

"The report, which covers the fiscal year ending June 30, 2012, says that the state's negative status - all of its assets minus all of its liabilities - increased that year, largely because it spent more than it received in revenue," the Sacramento Bee reported. "About half of the $127.2 billion in accumulated red ink came from the state's issuing general obligation bonds and then giving the money to local governments and school districts for public works projects, the auditor pointed out. The assets built with the bonds remain on local balance sheets while the bonded debt accrues to the state."

Orange County Register, November 2016, cited a Legislative Analyst report predicting a $2.8 billion budget surplus this year.

"The legislative analyst said his projection accounts for ballot measures approved by voters, including the extension of a temporary tax increase on the wealthy. It does not reflect changes in federal spending that may come from President-elect Donald Trump and the Republican-controlled Congress."

Let's see how this year goes folks. We have changes coming from Washington, D.C. that will affect California and it will be somewhere between interesting and painful to see how Governor Brown and the Democrat leadership in Sacramento reacts and deals with those changes.

To Be A Great Nation Again - An Alternate Version

Every new year offers a fresh opportunity to think and act in generative new ways. If that is true for individuals, perhaps it might also be true for nations. A few weeks ago I outlined one version of what it might mean to be a great nation. I indicated that there were those leaders, including President-elect Trump who defined the greatness he promised to recover as follows:

Military superiority, even if our military might is already greater than the rest of the world's nations' put together. And now the restart of the nuclear arms race. The ability of the nation to dominate the world's economy by the use of deals, tariffs, trade policies and boycotts. The absolute control of borders and the elimination from the nation of those believed to be undesirable. Religious tests for entry. The reinstitution of torture in the hope of gaining information. National interests first. Tax policies that benefit the already affluent. "Law and Order." The disavowal of scientific opinions that might compromise national economic interests. Subtle versions of racism, sexism, etc. The proliferation of firearms in civilian hands. All this and much more, under the direction of a strong dictatorial national leader, namely Trump himself.

I want to offer a very different version of what makes a great nation.

I begin by examining today's world and observing what great nations currently look like. US News and World Report-hardly a left-wing publication-from time to time offers a well-researched listing of what are considered to be the world's present greatest nations. The most recent report lists the following: Germany, Canada, Great Britain, US, Sweden, Australia, Japan, France, Netherlands, Denmark and New Zealand.

What are the commonalities that make these nations great? Each of these nations (except for ours) has long since adopted a mixed economy, with a heavy investment in both capitalism and socialism. They are essentially social democracies. All of the ten offer universal governmentsponsored health insurance and health care. Each provides the right to a free education, adequate care for infants, women, the aged and the differently abled. Their first concern is the well-being of ordinary citizens. People first!

In these nations, other than persons on drugs, there seems to be no significant slums or the debilitating poverty approximating that which can be found in any sizeable American city, or in even our much smaller communities.

All of these nations are governed by some form of democracy, mostly dedicated to parliamentary systems. In these critical days each of these nations has found ways to receive its appropriate share of the world's refugees from a series of wars begun when the United States intervened in Iraq on the false accusation that the nation both possessed and were preparing to use weapons of mass destruction.

In each of these nations the economic goal was to generate a substantial middle class without dramatically limiting the avenues for the creation of wealth by entrepreneurs and investors. In every case that goal has been faithfully met.

America again finds itself at a crossroad. Which fork will it take? Mr. Trump and the generals and billionaires he will bring with him, hold that the way to make America great again-as if it no longer were-would be to move in the direction of military and economic domination overseas and a plutocracy at home. Many of the rest of us believe America's continued greatness lies in a very different direction. At present we seem to have lost that struggle. But as the historian Charles Beard once quipped,

The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small.

Though with patience He stands waiting, with exactness grinds He all.

"Time Jockey" - Naming A City

By Joe Castillo

Beginnings of Glendora .... For thousands of years, indigenous people lived throughout Southern California, from the foothills, through the valley and even along the coastal regions. When the Spanish arrived in 1771, the Portola expedition noted the location of their villages as they continued on their destination of trying to find a route to Monterey. When the Spanish returned, they founded the location of a future mission which eventually was named Mission San Gabriel.

In time, the local indigenous people were named Gabrielenos after the mission itself and the Spanish soon needed them to build their mission as well as grow crops which were to be located on mission lands. In the secularized, the Mexican government opened up previously assigned Mission lands to prospective new owners who would be loyal to the Mexican government. The new owners needed to apply to the Governor of California requesting a land grant to be awarded. One such land grant was awarded to Henry Dalton, a wealthy Los Angeles businessman who made his fortune by establishing a shipping and trading business to South America. Dalton was awarded 4,431 acres in the foothills of the San Gabriel's and his holdings became known as Rancho Azusa de Dalton.

Today, the cities which were included within his land grant area were Azusa, Monrovia, Glendora, Irwindale and Baldwin Park. When California became a state,

As the land boom of the 1880's continued to grow, Whitcomb decided to acquire additional property in order to subdivide into home sites with a new town he was in the midst of establishing. Whitcomb planned his future town including the naming of streets and location of city buildings. But before he could do anything Whitcomb needed a new name for his new city. He came up with a unique name which has remained to this day. On his property where his house was located, a narrow glen ran through most of his property. He combined the word glen with his wife's nickname of Dora, from her own name of Ledora, to come up with the word Glendora. Whitcomb used the name Glendora in designing a plan for his new town and when it was incorporated in

2016 Not a Great Year for All

Hopefully 2017 will be a better year for everyone around the world. Terrorists have been on the rise and have been around for decades, and they are now in the United States. Why they attack innocent people is mainly because of their culture and the failed ability to know right from wrong. My guess is that they have a primitive brain development and still somewhere in the low-life area of their evolution. Who really knows? Some say it is the religious beliefs that are not common beliefs but that of Satin and they are his disciples creating havoc on innocent people. Sadly, if these people are not irradiated in some way, this will continue.

George Ogden That's just the way it is! William Christopher, best known can still arrest you under the "Federal Statute" as it is still against the Federal Laws. You tick off a cop and you can get busted, car impounded, weed taken and possible a search warrant for your home. Just be cool and it's not a good idea to have 20 or 30 pounds of weed on your person.

One final "crime at the end of the year" was an act of vandalism... You would have to admit, foothills of the San Gabriel Mountains, a large number of local indigenous people lived off the land, rivers and resources which the foothills provided. The mission system established by the Spanish allowed large amounts of lands to be assigned for use by the mission administrators with acres of land extending as far as San Bernardino assigned to the Mission San Gabriel. When the Missions were Dalton had to file evidence of ownership to his Rancho Azusa land grant and after years of litigation, he was forced to give up his claim to the land.

In 1887, a Chicago businessman named George Whitcomb came west for health reasons and with a large bankroll he acquired nearly 200 acres in the foothill areas and proceeded to build his own home on his parcel of land.

1911, the name of Glendora became the official name of Whitcombs' town.

From the Gabrieleno's to Henry Dalton to George Whitcomb, the unique name of Glendora has remained as a reminder of the unique history of this foothill community. ....

With the help of these terrorists coming into this country unchecked, 64 of our police officers were killed out of the140 killed in the line of duty across our nation. Untold number of injured officers. Some of these terrorists are home grown.

I don't have the final statistics of how many innocent people got killed by terrorists and criminals, but so far the numbers are shocking. With the new gun laws put into place by the people you elected, this statistic will go up as citizens will find it harder to protect themselves and others.

We have also had other losses in 2016 with those with celebrity status. Natalie Cole, R&B singer and daughter of music legend Nat "King" Cole, died New Year's Eve at age 65 from heart failure caused by lung disease. (Although she died New Year's Eve 2015, it wasn't announced until New Year's Day 2016). With Carrie Fisher, actress who played Princess Leia in "Star Wars," died Dec. 27 at 60, her mom, Debbie Reynolds, "Singin' in the Rain" actress, died Dec. 28 at 84, and for playing Father Mulcahy on "M*A*S*H," died Dec. 31 at 84 closing out the year.

In between we had sport legends and greats, astronauts, porn stars, singers, movie stars and those in the political arena depart this past year. Tough year for many.

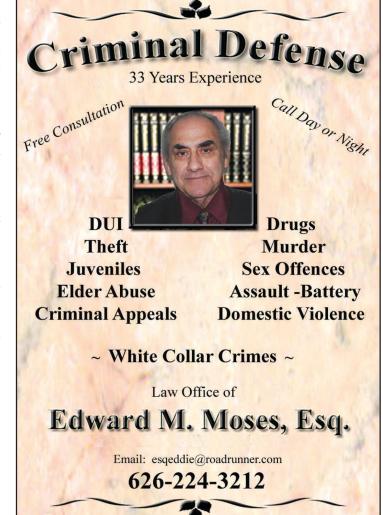

Crime was on the rise, however, some crimes have been deleted from the books. Pot will be legal in California with some restrictions with the law. Have a better 2017 everyone.

As for a New Year's Resolution... How about "Peace to All Mankind"? Ha, ha...he, he... what a joke, we know that will never happen.

The Same Old Same Old And The Trump Transition es."

Nearing the end of 2016 it's interesting to look in the rearview mirror and see how the investing landscape surprised us. Up until November 8th (with the exception of a few improving economic data points) the economy and the stock market were expected to just plod along at a tepid rate of growth into next year. A Hillary Clinton-led economy was expected to be defined by more regulations, higher taxes and the furthering of global trade. She was generally viewed as a more unpredictable and scarier version of President Obama. Then, along came The Donald.

The election of Donald Trump and his populist agenda altered the investing landscape more radically than any previous Presidential election I can remember. The magnitude with which the market has embraced the likelihood of his sweeping changes wouldn't be so strong without the majority of the House and the Senate being Republican, along with the conversion of previous Trump-haters in the Republican establishment suddenly finding a change of heart. This is what the stock market has bought into - either you are on board with Trump's agenda or you won't last the next reelection campaign as a Republican.

Nevertheless, at least one of Trump's "bucket list" items hopefully will not materialize as planned. Financial deregulation, including the repeal of Sarbanes-Oxley, passed in 2002 to protect investors from fraudulent accounting activities by corporations, and the 2010 Dodd-Frank Act (the Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act), places regulation of the financial industry in the hands of government.

Donald Trump has vowed to either eliminate Dodd-Frank or defang it greatly, including a major overhaul of its many components, saying it crimps business as usual and has been a large drag on economic growth. Unchecked, the banks and Wall Street sorely lack the Boy Scout character traits to operate freely, much less in a self-policing manner that can be trusted - or taken seriously.

In 2016, we saw leading Wall Street firms pay out $5 billion in a mortgage settlement, and $2.6 billion in connection with misleading investors regarding mortgage securities. We also saw two of Europe's leading banks agree to pay $7.2 billion and $5.3 billion to settle similar charges in recent high-profile cases. The numbers related to banking wrong doing are simply staggering.

According to an in-depth report from The Wall Street Journal, bankers were fined roughly $110 billion for their misdeeds in the mortgage market which contributed to the financial crisis. About $50 billion of these fines (from 30 settlements) ended up with the entity that levied it: the U.S. government. About $49 billion of fines ended up at the Treasury Department. Treasury, which manages the country's budget and taxes, usually puts fines in its general fund (where federal taxes usually land as well), which can be used for any item in the budget, including employee salaries, Medicare and military costs. It's not exactly clear, though, what Treasury is doing with its portion of the bank's mortgage fines. A spokesman for the Treasury told The Wall Street Journal that it is being spent "as Congress authoriz-

Your Money - Ask Julia

We bought our first home in 2016. What are our tax deductions?

By itemizing, using Form 1040 and Schedule A, you have the opportunity to deduct mortgage interest paid, any points connected with the loan, and property taxes paid.

How can you use life insurance to reduce taxes and as part of a retirement plan?

Some life insurance policies can potentially build up a cash account. You can arrange with the insurance company to get a monthly loan based on the collateral in that investment policy. Since this investment incorporates life insurance, if you choose to not repay the loan in your lifetime, the loan can be paid off with the proceeds from the death benefit. Loans are not taxed. Death benefit proceeds from a life insurance policy are not taxed.

Will I have to pay taxes on my $200-a-day long-term care benefits received in 2016?

The IRS excludes from income the lesser of either a policy holder's actual expenses for qualified long-term care OR the IRS' stated amount maximum benefit (over $300 per day in 2016). Since the IRS' maximum benefit allowable exceeds your $200 per day, you will not have to pay taxes on your long-term care insurance benefits for 2016. How are annuities taxed?

With qualified annuities (funded with money you have not paid taxes on yet), withdrawals are fully taxed as ordinary income. With non-qualified annuities (funded with money that you already paid taxes on), only the earnings are taxed upon withdrawal. Avoid the possibility of a 10% federal income tax penalty by waiting until you're at least 59 1/2 years old before making withdrawals. Be aware of the rules of your annuity. If you have several sources of income that fulfill your current cash-flow needs, consider delaying withdrawals that would increase your income and possibly result in having to pay more taxes.

I get statements in the mail from several old 401k's I've had with several different employers over the years. Is there a way to combine these so my life is a little simpler?

Yes! Gather all your most recent statements. Then contact your financial professional. Be prepared to talk about what you have, what your goals are for that money, and what choices are available, for you and your money, to best fulfill those goals.

My annuity is past its surrender fee period. Can I cash it out and put that money into a new annuity without paying taxes and penalties?

A 1035 exchange can be used to exchange an existing cash-accumulating life insurance policy or an annuity contract for a newer contract without creating a taxable event or resulting in a pre-59 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> early withdrawal penalty. Initially we'd use established guidelines to ensure that an exchange is in your best interest. Newer annuities carry several more benefits, often serving to eliminate the negative enigma too many folks still hang onto regarding annuities. Annuities and life insurance aren't what they used to be! The industry listened to the consumer and made great changes.

California's Sales Tax Rate to Decrease

SACRAMENTO - On January 1, 2017, the statewide sales and use tax rate will decrease one quarter of one percent (0.25%)from 7.50 percent to 7.25 percent. The decrease in the statewide rate is effective for all cities and counties in California; however, in many jurisdictions in California the actual sales and use tax rate may still be higher than the statewide rate due to the addition of district taxes.

Why is the sales and use tax rate decreasing? Proposition 30, The Schools and Local Public Safety Protection Act of 2012 that was approved by California voters in November 2012 to tem-

To find the correct rate in your city or county, visit https:// maps.gis.ca.gov/boe/TaxRates/ and enter the address as prompted. Additionally, a listing of sales and use tax rates for each city and county is available on http:// www.boe.ca.gov/app/rates.aspx. Please note, however, the 0.25 percent statewide tax rate decrease will not be reflected on these webpages until January 1, 2017.

A retailer who continues to charge and collect the higher statewide sales and use tax rate after January 1, 2017, must either refund the excess tax collected to their customer or pay the excess tax to the Board of Equalization (BOE). If the excess tax collected has been paid to the BOE, the retailer may request a refund on behalf of their customer by completing form BOE-101, Claim for Refund or Credit.

For merchandise delivered after January 1, 2017, the applicable sales and use tax rate is the rate that is in effect at the time the sale occurs. Generally, the sale occurs when the merchandise is delivered to the customer, unless the sales contract specifically states that title to the merchandise passes to the customer prior to delivery. With returned merchandise, the customer should be refunded the amount of tax at the rate that was charged and collected from the customer at the time of the original sale.

For information on how this affects fixed-price contracts, partial tax exemptions, fuel sales, and filing split returns, visit the BOE website, or call 1-800-400-7115 (TTY:711).
