Re-opening your Business or Building and Reducing the risk of Legionella

Legionella bacteria are commonly found in many types of human made water/plumbing systems and can grow to high numbers in stagnant water in closed buildings due to the shutdown. The following actions can be taken to prevent the risk and keep your staff and customers healthy:

 Flush hot and cold water through all points of use (e.g., showers, sink faucets) to replace all water inside building piping with fresh water

 Clean all decorative water features, such as fountains. Ensure that they are free of visible slime or biofilm

Ensure cooling towers are cleaned, disinfected, and maintained according to manufacturer's instructions to prevent Legionnaires'

 Take a free training on Legionella water management to ensure the safety of your staff and customers. Visit the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and access the free training!
